GLASSES ARE PLENTIFUL

But it is almost a certainty that they would be even more common still if everybody wore them who should. You find people doing without them just as long as they possibly can which is a very wrong thing to do, indeed, every day makes the case harder to deal with. If you, reader, have the slightest cause to believe that your eyes need the attention of an optician, we shall be pleased to advise you if you need glasses, and if glasses are not necessary we will tell you so. We invite you to call and ask us about your eyes.

BOARD OF TRADE TO HOLD MEETING

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Trade in the city council chambers tomorrow night at eight o'clock sharp to consider the question of the radial railway extension to Stony Lake. A full attendance of the members is requested.

The Inthon Men's Bible Class

The attendance yesterday was the bumper one this year, Seventy-three being present.

The class contest, which has just been started, was responsible for this.

The contest is between three sides of the class. The Reds, Whites and Blues, and the captains are Messrs. J. W. Johnston, G. W. Powell and S. A. Oke respectively.

This contest ought to keep the attendance pretty well up to the seventy-five mark and the fight for supremacy will cause much excitement and hard work for the side that stays on top.

The morning service was well represented by the class, about fifty being present.

Sixty were present at the temperance meeting at the Crystal. This ought to help some in the fight for local option.

Secretary P. M. McCarrell, who sustained a bad sprain in his ankle some two weeks ago; will likely be able to resume his duties at the class next Sunday.

The prayer circle held between 6.30 and 7 p.m. every Sunday evening, is rapidly gaining in attendance. The circle is led by C. G. Clarke and is held in the primary parlors.

A presentation was made to "Col." Bob Howland yesterday afternoon for his regular attendance.—Com.

LETTER CARRIER COMMITTED FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE OF STEALING JEWELLERY

On the charge of stealing a quantity of valuable jewellery that came through the mails, Charles Mitchell, the letter carrier who was arrested last week for taking three dollars from each of two letters, the property of the Postmaster-General appeared before Magistrate Dumble in the Law Library at the Court House yesterday afternoon and not before his Honor Judge Weller, as was stated in yesterday's issue. After hearing the evidence, his Worship committed him for trial.

Alf. Frederick Perkins was sworn and said;—

I live in Peterborough at the present time. I formerly lived at Westham, Essex County, England. I came to this country in December, 1907. I left in England most of my goods, including those mentioned in the information. Mr. wife came to me here in February, 1908. I wrote to my brother-in-law to send me the goods mentioned in the information by mail. He wrote me saying that he sent them on January 4th. I never got letter or parcel. I wrote him for an explanation. My letters are delivered to me at 268 King street. The prisoner is the postman on that beat. I told him to take care of the parcel I expected and to deliver it. He promised he would do so. About a week ago I met him on King street and asked him if he had anything for me. I said, "I don't know where my letters go." He said, "I notice you have not got any lately."

Mr. Perkins identified the articles found.

P. C. Newhall said, that on Thursday evening last he accompanied Mr. Perkins to prisoner's house to search for jewellery. Mrs. Mitchell and her mother were present. He said;

I told Mrs. Mitchell our business and asked her if she had any of the goods stated on the list. She said that she did not know, but said that if they were there he could have them. She began to search around and soon produced a ring. Then she found a shield and after a little while, every one of the articles with the exception of the ear rings. In turning out a lady's work-basket found the ear-rings. They were all identified by Mr. Perkins. Mrs. Mitchell went up stairs and brought down a neck chain. Two articles mentioned in the list were not found.

BOWMANVILLE PHYSICIAN HANGED HIMSELF TO-DAY

Special to the Review.

Bowmanville, Feb 9— Dr Charles Harnden committed suicide here this morning by hanging. He has been confined in the lockup here for about ten days owing to having shown manifestations of insanity. He had been examined by the physicians and was waiting for the papers from the inspector of prisons and asylums for admittance to public institution for treatment and safe keeping.

Dr. Harnden was at one time a very clever dentist and practised his profession for many years. He leaves a wife but no family living. He was about 50 years of age.

WHY THIS LETHARGY ?

Editor of the Review,

Dear Sir,—In reading last evening's Review, I noticed an item of news from Havelock referring to a street railway running from Cobourg to their town and was impressed with the earnest and enthusiastic way in which their council voiced approval of the proposed railway.

Now sir, at about the same time that an item first appeared in the local press stating that an electric road was talked of from Cobourg to Havelock, another item also appeared, mentioning another electric road to run from Cobourg and Port Hope to Peterborough, coming around by the head of Rice Lake, and calling at Bewdley, Gavenville, Fraserville and other villages on the route. This road if built would certainly bring a large amount of trade to our city which now finds its way to other places, but I have not heard of a move being made by our Council, Board of Trade or merchants, to encourage the building of the road mentioned. How different this is from the action taken by the Havelock council. We like to think how much larger we are than Port Hope, Lindsay and other places, but if we do not bestir ourselves we will not hold that position very long. If an electric road is going to be built northward from Cobourg, why could not the promoters be induced to bring it to Peterborough. Surely we are as important a place as Havelock.

Ask Toronto, Hamilton and other western cities whether or not electric railways bring any trade to their cities. It is quite true we have an electric road here and I believe they call it a Radial Railway but no person can tell where it radiates to. It does not even come over to Ashburnham. Why is it that the people living in the north, west and south of the city can have an electric car, while we in Ashburnham have to walk. We have two aldermen sitting in the city council and yet I have not heard of either of them making a move to give us the benefits which the rest of the citizens enjoy. If the road now running in the city does not intend to branch out why not encourage the other road to come in. We might be able to get that on this side of the river, and if we happened to get the two of them, why so much the better.

BISLEY DATES HAVE BEEN SET

London, Feb 9.—The National Rifle Association meeting at Bisley will be held July 12 to 24. A special prize in connection with the jubilee of the association will be added for colonial teams, for an aggregate score in the Kolapore and Mackinnon competitions.

At a meeting of the association yesterday, Lord Sheylesmore intimated that there was still a possibility of Great Britain being represented in the competition to be held in America in September. The council, he said, had originally decided that, as this was the jubilee year of the British Association and there would be an unusual attendance from the colonies at Bisley, it would not be feasible to accept the "very cordial invitation" from America, but in view of a later communication from America it had been decided to reconsider the matter. and, if possible, arrange for the representation of Great Britain.

PRESS IN POLITICS

German Papers Hopeful for Good as Result of Royal Visit.

Berlin, Feb. 9.—The visit of King Edward to-day is regarded generally in itself as an event at the present moment of the greatest political significance and with the feeling that it would be an excellent thing for both nations if the meeting of the two monarchs resulted in a mutual understanding tending to allay international tension.

King Edward is accompanied by Queen Alexandra and official circles welcome the royal visitors in the most courtly tone, regarding their coming to Berlin as a return for the Emperor's visit to England and making no comment on the political importance of the event.

The semi-official Nord-Dutsch Allegemiene Zeitung, says: "We expect the meeting to effect good in the relations between the British and German peoples. The demonstration of friendly feeling and kinship to which the visit gives rise, will be a further encouragement for all who are striving both in Germany and England, against the estrangement of the two nations, and for those who desire to lead the relations in a same direction. Assiduous efforts will, however, be necessary in order to attain the goal of enduring friendship, founded upon mutual esteem between the two great civilized nations."

The German newspapers, in many instances, are inclined to view the King's visit as a mere return courtesy, adopting the tone that the British nation is not with the King and his journey to Berlin.

BETTER CARE OF INSANE IS RECOMMENDED BY JURY

In Connection with Shelburne Tragedy—Advises Consideration of Self-Supporting Refuges—Mrs. Spanhouse's Condition Has Improved and Other Victims of Assult Will Recover—Stewart in Jail Exhibits Signs of Madness —Attacks His Guards.

Shelburne, Ont., Feb. 9.—George Ernest Stewart, the crazed perpetrator of Sunday morning's atrocities in the northern part of Melancthon Township, yesterday was committed to the county jail at Orangeville by Magistrate Rutherford, and will appear for further hearing at 1 p.m. Thursday. Chief Constable Joseph Thompson and Special Constable Jeremiah Brundige escorted him to Orangeville. They drove instead of going by train as at first intended, and wisely had him heavily manacled. In spite of this he made a break for liberty on the street, knocking the constables aside, but was stopped by a spectator.

In the cells Sunday night Stewart gave very decided signs of lunacy in most of his actions. Manacled as he was, he made a desperate attempt to assault Chief Thompson and attempted to lay out Reeve Thomas Babe by kicking at him. His chief amusement during the night was in dancing his handcuffed hands up and down between the light and the wall and watching the shadows made thereby.

It transpires that Stewart had greatly alarmed the inmates of his father's home at Maple by his sleeplessness and strange actions. This accounts for the close watch his brother William was keeping on him the night before the tragedy.

The coroner's jury yesterday returned the following verdict:

"That the said John Spanhouse and James Spanhouse came to their deaths on Sunday, Feb. 7, 1909, at their own house, in the Township of Melancthon, from the effects of wounds inflicted by a heavy club or weapon, at the hands of George Ernest Stewart, who appeared at the time he killed the said John Spanhouse and Jas. Spanhouse, to be of unsound mind.

"We strongly and unanimously recommend that a closer scrutiny be kept upon all feeble-minded people in the Province of Ontario and that proper refuges be established, where they will be as far as possible self-supporting, which, we believe, can be accomplished by a careful consideration of the questions involved."

Word from Maple Valley late last night indicates that William Wilson and Mrs. Gowan, two of the people who were attacked, are getting along allright and in no danger of serious results. Mrs. Spanhouse is alive and conscious, but very weak. George Beaumont, the hired man of E. J. Pound, who was very badly used up, was in somewhat better condition yesterday, though not out of danger.

John Spanhouse, Sr., and his wife have had a family of ten children: James, Jr., Shrigley, aged 44, dead; William, Badgerow, aged 40, farmer; John, Reddickville, aged 25, farmer; Mrs. W. Phillips, Collingwood; Mrs. A. Moat, Toronto; Mrs. W. T. Foggett, West Toronto; Mrs. C. Huggins, Shrigley; Mrs. W. McKenzie, Reddickville; Mrs. Hiram Stantenbery, Collingwood; Mrs. W. London, Shelburne.

SPLENDID RALLY OF YOUNG PEOPLE HELD LAST EVENING

Interesting Address at Murray St. Baptist Church by Rev. F. W. Anderson, of Toronto—Officers of Local Young People's Institute Were Elected.

Murray street Baptist church was well filled last evening with a large number of young people representing the different Young People's Societies in the city. It was a splendid gathering and everyone who availed themselves of the opportunity to hear Rev. F. W. Anderson, of Toronto, must have gone away with a fuller knowledge of missionary work and a greater desire to do something towards the spread of Christ's Kingdom on earth.

Rev. H. J. Keith, pastor of Knox church, president of the Young People's Institute, presided and after devotional exercises. new officers were elected for the year, as follows;

President—Rev. J. R. Webb.
Vice-President—Rev. J. G. Potter,
Secretary—Wilfrid Shiner,
Treasurer—R. J. Cox.

The feature of the evening was the address by Rev. F. W. Anderson, secretary of the Young People's Movement in Canada, and he gave an instructive and interesting talk. His subject was the "Proper Investment of Life." He pointed out that the modern idea was to gather together as much of this world's goods as possible, and then to invest it profitably. There was too much selfishness in the world and too great a desire to possess richess. That was not the true life. He quoted from Scripture;—He that saveth his life shall lose it; but he that loseth his life for my sake shall regain it in heaven." The first thing to remember was that, "I am a soul, not a body." He urged his hearers to remember that the soul came first and to lay up treasures in heaven. All that was necessary in this life for the body was sufficient to keep it together. In conclusion, Rev. Mr. Anderson referred to the great work that was waiting to be done in the mission field, and the large share which the Young People's Societies could do.

TWENTY DEATHS DURING PAST YEAR FROM TUBERCULOSIS

Absence of Any Outbreak of Contagious Diseases in Peterboro'—City in Good Sanitary Condition—Annual Meeting of Board of Health.

The annual meeting of the Board of Health was held this morning when the report of Dr. Bingham, Medical Health officer, for the year was received. Those present were Drs. Burnham, Young, Mayor Rush and Messrs. Edgar and Murty.

Dr. Burnham was re-elected chairman of the Board.

DR. BINGHAM'S REPORT.

Dr. Bingham then presented his report as follows:—

Gentlemen of the Board of Health:

It becomes my duty once more to lay before you a brief notice of the sanitary condition, and the mortality report of the city during the year 1908

The city council and the ratepayers have nobly discharged their duties in laying the foundation of a model city, on the most improved sanitary principles. This will be seen from the fact that Peterborough has now over 40 miles of granolitic sidewalks and about 13 miles of wooden ones. The city has been free from any fatal scourge of infectious diseases.

We had an outbreak of scarlet fever of a very mild type, and no deaths resulting therefrom. There were a few cases of typhoid fever and only one or two of diphtheria.

As usual the grim reaper has not been idle, and although the ratio of mortality has not been excessive still, during the year, many from amongst us have gone to the narrow house and the long sleep. Some so young that they seemed only to be born to weep and die. And some have been called away in the midst of a busy life with all their plans unfinished. Some of the aged too laid down the heavy burden of life to go where the weary are at rest. And yet there are still many amongst us in active life many who have passed the chlorform period.

There were 273 deaths in the city during the year some of these occurred in the hospitals and should not be reckoned in with the deaths in the city.

That much dreaded disease tuberculosis caused 20 deaths in the city during the year. This disease is sometimes called consumption and sometimes the white plague. The scientists have a theory that our incestuous ancestors, the cave dwellers, transmitted that loathsome disease to posterity, and the burning question of the day is how to get rid of it.

The well meaning philanthropist is working at the wrong end and will never accomplish anything in that way. All the sanatoria in the world can only give temporary relief but will never eradicate the disease from the human race.

One step in the right direction would be early marriages from sound stock and the healthy pedigree of the contracting parties should be examined for three generations, the same as for a life insurance policy. With a good start made in this way, and afterwards a life of strict temperance in all things, and a close observance of all sanitary laws, the race in time would be free from the ravages of tuberculosis.

As the custom prevails at present many people get married who are better adapted for a health resort, than for the cares of married life. Moreover it may be said in this connection, that if we hope to get rid of tubercolosis in Canada, we must cease importing it from the slums of other countries.

During the year a large amount of important sanitary work was done by the chief and his men.

Notices served—509.
Yards in good condition—3690.
Houses placarded—49.

The citizens are well aware that pure water, pure air, and pure food are the best safeguards of good health. The dwelling house and all its surroundings should be absolutely clean as the best defence against infectious diseases and sickness of any kind

The general depression has touched Peterborough very lightly, and all her industries have an air of prosperity and bright hopes for the future.

J. BINGHAM
Medical Health Officer.

It was moved by Mr. Jas. Edgar and seconded by Dr. Young, that the city be requested to make sewer connection and the necessary sanitary appliances to the stores under the old market building in Ashburnham.—Carried

The Board then adjourned.

ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT OF GEORGE STREET CHURCH; ANOTHER MARKED SUCCESS

To train over three hundred pupils in the remarkably short time she had to do so and to instruct them in such a thorough manner that they attained the state of gratifying efficiency displayed by those taking part in the annual entertainmet of the George street Methodist Sunday School last night reflects decided credit upon the ability of the directress, Miss Amy L. Doty. The excellence of the programme also speaks well for the talent of those contributing.

The audience at the George street Methodist church last night was a very large one, over eight hundred being in attendance and were very appreciative of all the numbers given. The programme was a long one and Sunday School pupils who supplied all the entertainment were given plenty of opportunity to show their versatility. There were solos, choruses, dialogues, recitations, etc. and all were presented in a most satisfactory way. While the work during the entertainment was very pleasing special mention should be made of the manner in which the little tots acquitted themselves. They displayed intelligence and considerable feeling and the selections in which they appeared were among the most charming of the evening.

A praiseworthy feature was the costuming which was appropriate and in good taste. An attractive picture was presented at the opening and close of the entertainment when two hundred of the Sunday School children occupied the choir benches and the platform constructed for the evening, on the occasion of their singing the inspiring chorus, "Praise the Lord," and the National Anthem.

Mr S R Armstrong, superintendent of the Sunday School took the opportunity to thank the audience for their attendance and spoke of the painstaking work of preparation and complimented Miss L Smith and Mr J S Knapman for the share they had taken in it. Dainty Little Miss Ruth Knapman then presented Miss L. Smith with a handsome bouquet.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS WILL BE GIVEN ON FEB. 19TH.

An event of interest in local amateur theatrical circles, will be the presentation of Alexander Dumas "The Three Musketeers," at the Conservatory Music Hall on Feb. 19th. by Mr. D. Oscar Waring and a capable cast of local amateurs. The play will be given under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's church and rehearsals have been held for it some weeks.

Mr. Waring, who has had a wide experience, playing heavy and character parts with several first-class organizations, is director of "The Three Musketeers" and will appear in the role of Cardinal Richelieu.

It might be of interest to note that among his portrayals Mr. Waring has played the part of Rev. Robt. Spalding in "The Private Secretary," the English farce presented here on the first of the month by local players.

"The Three Musketeers" is a standard production and the book and the drama are well known to the lovers of Dumas.

THE TREATY NOW CERTAIN

French Senate Committee is again Considering an Agreement—Meet Again on Friday

Paris, Feb. 9.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Customs Committee of the Senate resumed consideration of the revised French-Canadian treaty yesterday. M. Viger, ex-Minister of Agriculture, and M. Trouillot, who is also an ex-Minister, reported on the latest Ministerial statements with reference to the treaty, dealing especially with the supplementary convention signed on Jan. 26, which set up a special tariff on imports of cattle from Canada. The Ministers of Foreign Affairs, Commerce and Agriculture then addressed the committee, replying to questions received through the president of the committee. M. Pichon, Foreign Minister, insisted strongly in the name of the whole Cabinet that the committee should examine the treaty as completed by the supplementary convention of Jan. 26, without delay, and should come to a prompt decision. The committee will meet again on Friday and decide as to its action according to the opinion of the members. The ratification of the treaty may be regarded as certain.

CURTAIL BONUSES

Mr. Graham Says Government Will Curtail Subsidies—What is Happening at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—Hon. Mr. Graham made the announcement in the House of Commons yesterday that there will be no new railway subsidies this session.

This statement was made in reply to a question by Mr. McCarthy of Calgary as to the Government's decision in reference to the request of the Premiers of Alberta and Saskatchewan for a federal aid to further railway building in these provinces.

"It is not the Government's intention this year," said the Minister. "to add to the obligations already incurred in the way of aid to railways."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, rising to a question of privilege yesterday, said he desired to correct a statement in The Toronto News, observing that it was the first time in his 34 years of Parliamentary experience that he had taken occasion thus to correct a newspaper report. The News had said that in the House the other day he persisted in using the garbled version of Mr. Borden's "Asiatic Exclusion" telegram, although he had previously been told otherwise by Mr. Templeman.

Sir Wilfrid said he had been informed by Mr. Templeman, just after the elections, that he had written Mr. Borden about the telegram, but had received no answer. That was all. Sir Wilfrid then read a letter just received from Mr. Templeman in which the latter corroborated this, adding that he had not yet received a written reply from Mr. Borden; that one day in the club Mr. Borden spoke to him about it, his recollection being that Mr. Borden had merely told him he was awaiting further information. This, said the Premier, was proof that he didn't know the telegram was a forgery, when he quoted it in the House.

R. L. Borden observed that he had not answered Mr. Templeman's letter, but he was quite convinced that he had left the impression upon that gentleman's mind, when they spoke on the matter, that there was a mistake in the telegram.

"In fact," said Mr. Borden, "in his letter to me he expressed his own conviction that I had not sent the telegram in the terms in which it was published."

"While on this matter," added Mr.

A CANADIAN HYMN

It is time we settled upon a Canadian national hymn. "The Maple Leaf" is very elementary, not to say childish. We do not refer to the words, for what could be worse than those of the imperial hymn. We refer to the music, which ranks with "Tommy Dodds" and "Put Me in My Little Bed." It served its time, however. "O Canada!" is admittedly inoffensive, but mediocre. There is nothing either solemn or stirring about it. Let us have something at once artistic and musical. We have musicians enough. Why do some of the great journals such as The Montreal Star, the Toronto papers, La Patrie or La Presse not inaugurate a "concours musicale" with that end in view? "O Canada!" is not half bad, but why should we not have something good? Could not his Excellency help us out?

A NEW LIGHT

In America we are so accustomed to think that we are so much more in the light than the poor benighted heathen of the older countries that the possible introduction of a new light to the American and Canadian public from those dark lands will provoke a smile. The "flaming arc" unlike the carbon arc, is not so glary as the latter, but gives much more light and distributes that light to a much greater advantage. Its efficiency is much greater. In Germany this light is in general use. In England it is being rapidly introduced. In Canada it has not yet been more than heard of. The arc lamp, such as we have, will be, or ought to be, superseded at the termination of the present franchise, by this magnificent improvement. The proper method of placing it is said to be high in the air where, like another sun, the agreeable light is more widely diffused than at present. The expense attendant upon its installation is said to be not greater than that of the present light.

THE DEATH-ROLL

We of these modern times often wonder how the Persians and the Orientals generally could reconcile themselves to a repressive fatalism that strongly savored of a condition of slavery. To call it resignation is to misname it. Life was considered among the masses as the cheapest of commodities. It is so in China today, where for a yen a substitute can be found for any punishment up to and including the capital sort. It is so in the United States and Canada today. The "fatalities" as they are euphemistically called are frightfully numerous. Employees are slaughtered without mercy, simply because protective measures are dearer than lives. The modern despot is the powers that assume to govern and represent the people. If they are doing their best to protect their ailments we are truly smitten hip and thigh. The truth is that the whole affair is a scandal but it will never be righted until the people themselves right it and meanwhile what else can we expect? We are reaping the harvest of our own neglect.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A New York journal savagely attacks the tendency in the United States to create a privileged class—the murderers.

Private advices say that when "our curlers" appeared in Scotland in Xmas that the natives "askit whar the imitation Scotchmen cam frae." It was a severe blow which "our curlers" have taken ample vengeance for.

"I believe in God and in the ultimate victory of good, but I have little admiration for those easy-going optimists who treat such a question lightly and by comforting themselves with the supposition that everything will turn out all right, just let things go."—Prof. Cross of McMaster University.

"But though the present situation was somewhat paralleled by the position of Christians in Europe 1500 years ago, it is far more serious. Then the issue related to a little more than half of the small continent of Europe; now it relates to the whole world."

The faith of the unified world will be settled in a decade. What shall the councils of the nations decide upon—Christianity, or Humanism, the worship of a providential God or the esteem of virtue FOR ITS OWN SAKE?

At Ste. Scholastique, a French-Canadian judge sent to gaol for eight days a man who applauded in court upon the acquittal of his son. "Justice" surely might have been a little bit deaf as well as blind upon such an occasion. It is very amusing to read of such punctiliousness in little things when the country at large is rotten to the core as Judge Cassels says. Had the grateful father been a banker or a railway magnate, it is 6 to 1 with no takers that the Judge would have shaken hands with the father and also with the son. It is such absurdities as these that make the administration of "law" ridiculous.

CHAPPED FROM FINGERS TO ELBOWS

Boy's Agony Relieved by Zam-Buk

If you are suffering from badly-chapped hands you will be able to comprehend a little of the agony which Henry Walker, of 14 Manufacturers Street, Montreal, endured before Zam-Buk gave him relief. His mother, telling of the case to a Press representative, said:—

"Henry works with his shirt sleeves rolled up above his elbows, and passing from a warm room to the biting cold as he was obliged to do, he got the worse case of chapped hands and arms I have ever seen. From his fingers to his elbows was one mass of raw flesh, with bad cracks here and there. Whenever he washed, it brought tears to his eyes, the pain was so acute. He tried several kinds of salves, but nothing relieved him really until he tried Zam-Buk. This balm seemed to take away the burning and smarting almost at once. The cracks began to heal, and a few applications of the balm cured him. His hands and arms are now smooth and soft.

"We have also used Zam-Buk for other emergencies. I sustained a burn on one of my fingers. Zam-Buk took the fire out and healed up the sore. It really seems a wonderful household preparation.

"On one occasion my son Harry had his foot frozen. It was very swollen and discolored, but Zam-Buk both relieved the swelling and removed the discoloration. Zam-Buk is so handy and so effective that we shall always keep a supply handy."

Miss Hattie Bertrand of Salisbury, Ont., says:—"Every winter I suffer from chapped hands but I have found a cure in Zam-Buk. Applied night at night, it heals the cracks by morning and takes away all the soreness."

Similar effects follow its use for eczema, scalp sores, blood-poisoning, ulcers, ringworm, children's sores, cuts, burns and bruises. It also cures piles. All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box; or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Denman Thompson Ill.

West Swansey, N.H., Feb. 9.—That Denman Thompson, the aged actor, who is ill at his home here, had had a very comfortable day, was the report given out last night. Mr. Thompson is suffering from a heavy cold.

OF INTEREST

French Canadian Folklore.

I have an intimate friend at Tadousssc, where Jacques Cartier first landed in September 1535 —mountainous Tadoussac, where the dark and mysterious Saguenay joins the river. My friend, Jean Baptiste Morin, crosses his beef-moccasined legs before the blazing pineknots, and stuffing his corncob pipe with pungent home-cured tobacco, tells me tales—tales that vary according to the wind. With the southwesterly gale to the roar of the great waves pounding on the rocky shore without his "cabane" door he loves to "raconte," with shuddering awe how he once saw the phantom canoe with its four occupants, glide from Isle aux Coudres to the mainland on a smooth track, amid the foaming waters rising mountain high on either side.

"J'avais dix ou quinze ans, ca fait rien," grunts the slightly indefinite Jean Baptiste, crossing himself, "wen I see de canot of de good Pere Labrosse who tell de mass of Tadoussac, in 1615, he go for die at 'minuit' dat night, and dey mus' get quick for him de pries' at Isle aux Coudres. Den win she blow—Mon dieu c'etait terrible dat night. Four gens dey each say 'C'est pour moi,' but after pray de good sainte dey go down to de big canot of le pere Labrosse and shove out 'les femme comme ce coutume, dey fall on dere knees and pray; den sudden a great big 'lumiere' shin' out, an' dere along a chemin smooo lak' do ice road in winter, went dose four men in dat big canot safe and sound straight to de Isle aux Coudres. Dere on de plage le pere Brossard he stan.' 'Je sois pret, he cry—mes enfants, de good Saint she tell me for be ready for I am went chez Tadoussac.' And as he jump in, the canot start back de bell in dat Chapelle—and dere was no one in dat chapelle —she ring and ring like nevare for stop. An' wen dose five lan at Tadoussac, the big 'lumiere' she go and de great waves dey crash down on dat smooth pat,' and de bells dey ring and ring in every Chapelle on de banks of de riviere dat night—de fun'ral ring—and no man he touch dose rope. Den all de peoples les sauvages pi tout—dey follow le pere Brossard, dey claimb up an' up and as dey get to de lil' Chapelle top of de grand Mamelon de sun he com' up behind de montagne—la porte etait ouverte—and dere, on de alter step, under la sainte Vierge, lay de good pere Labrosse, dead —an' he smile lak he ver' glad he dead—and de cross mak' shadow over him in de sunlight, and dat shadow still dere; an' me, wen I was lil' boy, j'avais dix ou quinze ans, me I see dat canot wen de sout win' she blow one night —Mon Dieu, c'etait effrayant—and now when she blow an' its ver' dark, Tors mon ame au bout d'un piquet, me j'reste dans me cabane, and smoke ma pep and dos foies—wen it's ver' bad, you bet, moi—J'dit mes prieres."

In the third category, the legends of Old France adopted by the New, we have the "Chasse-Galerie," as the most striking example. In Europe, whether in France, Holland, or in Germany, it means a mysterious course high through the air at night by evil phantoms in pursuit of phantom prey. It is also known in France as "Le Grand Veneur," and "Le Chasseur Noir." It developed into a Canadian legend through some pious habitants of St Jean Deschaillons seeing a mirage by brilliant moonlight one Christmas Eve on their way to midnight mass. Michel Dubois, of St Dominique, whose great grandfather once saw the "Chasse-Galerie," or phantom bark, paddled by the twelve lost souls, chilled my brothers' and my young blood, with the tale one bitter night, as he drove us, rolled in our buffalo robes, in our burlesu down our frozen river. It was 23 below zero and absolutely windless —frost drew the iron nails of our sleigh like pistol shots in that awful stillness—Michel's freezing breath whitened his bushy eyebrows and his eyelashes, from out of which his coal-black eyes gleamed uncannily in the radiant starlight. "C'etait des mauvais hommes —des voyageurs du pays en haut," he whispered. "Dose shantymen up pas Bytown dey was wil' fellers. C'etait le soir avant Noel—dey was mad aves le whisky blanc—and dey think pret' 'ard of dere best girl an' de fun after Mass at St Rosalie, four ban mil away, dat night. Den Martin Lenoux he cry 'Viens mes braves on va mettre le Bon Dieu en cache —den le's give our soul to le Diable an' 'chasse-galerie' to St. Rosalie tonight to de reveillon chez Pierre Boule.' Day all shout 'Oui oui, moi —si. Den mes enfants dose twelve bad voyageurs claimb up a great big pine tree and jump into the big canot de debil he have all ready; off dey go—le diable he steer—dey paddle lak' for mad; de wolf below he 'owl as over de big foret, over de gras' lac dey fly—no steeple must be approached—no 'oly word or sacred name spoke, or dey all go crash down. Dey fly on—on! and bien vite ils arrive chez le reveillon apres la Masse at St. Rosalie—dey dance, de gigue simple l'ail-de-pigeons, tout candey drink la sangree—den sudden a cock he crow, an' avec un cris terrible dey all run out; an' de people of St. Rosalie wen dey run out of Pierre Boule dey see one great big canot go up—up 500 pieds—off an Nord—an' ses douze voyageurs dey paddle, and le diable he steer and dey all sing lak dey was crazy, and dose people of St. Rosalie dey shake as dey listen:

Mais ayra personn' que ceux qui sav danser
Vogue marinier, vogue,
Vogue beau Marinier.

"Mais peutetre tu a peur mes enfants!" said the repentant Michel, who saw we were shivering. We decidedly had "peur," and the lights of home never gleamed so soothingly as on that cruel, cold night in that long ago Christmas week.

Another of these imported legends is "The Mass of the Ghost." The late M. Chauveau, speaking at the Canadian Institute in Quebec in 1877, places the incident in the Canadian Parish of l'Islet. The Abbe Plinquet, in "Les Bulletins des Recherches Historiques," places it at Ile Dupas, near Montreal. The tale is that a singularly brilliant midnight illumination of the parish church being annually noticed five brave habitants of Ile Dupas determined to solve the mystery, and, proceeding to the sanctuary, were frozen with horror on entering to see at the foot of the altar a skeleton priest in full canonicals celebrating mass. All the men fled —but one, Jacques Valois, bravely returned and repeated the responses. When all was over, and His Skeleton Reverence had bowed to the Cross—he turned towards Valois saying "For three years I have come here to say over a mass I once omitted—being condemned to do so until I should find a person brave enough to serve the mass. I thank you, for now my penance is at an end." And so saying he vanished. Both Louis Frechette and the late William Maclennan heard the same legend told in France, at Pellerin, on the Loire Superieure, 15 miles from Nantes, where once stood an ancient chapel known as the Chapelle de Bethleem. There the ghostly mass had been celebrated for two hundred years before a brave coachman, assisting at the celebration, freed the unfortunate spirit of its penance.

HEADACHES ARE DANGER SIGNALS

They Tell Us Plainly That Something Is Wrong Inside.

There are tablets and powders that will stop a headache promptly—but removing a danger signal does not take away the danger.

In nearly every case a headache—of whatever kind—is a symptom of poisoned blood, due to Bowels, Kidneys and Skin failing to thoroughly remove indigestible food and waste, worn-out tissue from the body. Then digestion is poor, causing sick headaches, or uric acid is formed and deposited on the nerves, causing neuralgia.

Not only the danger signal, but the danger itself as well, is quickly removed by "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" are tablets made of the combined juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, containing all their medicinal properties, concentrated and intensified. They cause the liver to secrete more bile, which moves the bowels freely and regularly, and cures the most obstinate cases of Constipation. They stir up kidneys and skin to throw off all the urea, or dead tissue, which has been poisoning the system. They sweeten the stomach, improve digestion and tone up the whole body. The headaches disappear—because the source is removed. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Trial size, 25c. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

At this time Bansemer lived in comfort at one of the middle class boarding houses uptown, and the boy was just leaving the kindergarten for a private school. Bansemer's calloused heart had one tender chamber, and in it dwelt the little lad with the fair hair and gray eyes of the woman who had died.

Late one November afternoon just before Bansemer put on his light topcoat to leave the office for the day Droom tapped on the glass panel of the door to his private office. Usually the clerk communicated with him by signal, a floor button by which he could acquaint his master with much that he ought to know, and the visitor in the outer office would be none the wiser. The occasions were rare when he went so far as to tap on the door. Bansemer was puzzled and stealthily listened for sounds from the other side. Suddenly there came to his ears the voices of women, mingled with Droom's suppressed but always raucous tones.

Bansemer opened the door. Looking into the outer office, he saw Droom swaying before two women, rubbing his hands and smiling. One of the women carried a small babe in her arms. Neither she nor her companion seemed quite at ease in the presence of the lank guardian of the outer office.

CHAPTER IV.

"LADY to see you," announced Droom. The shrewd, fearless genius of the inner room glanced up quickly and met the prolonged, uncanny gaze of his clerk. Unwillingly his eyes fell.

"Confound it, Lias! Will you ever quit looking at me like that? There's something positively creepy in that stare of yours!"

"Lady to see you," repeated the clerk, shifting about uneasily and then gliding away to take his customary look at the long row of books in the wall cases. He had performed this act a dozen times a day for more than five years. The habit had become so strong that chains could not have restrained him. It was what he considered a graceful way of dropping out of notice, at the same time giving the impression that he was constantly busy.

"Are you Mr. Bansemer?" asked the woman with the babe in her arms as he crossed into the outer office.

For a moment Bansemer purposely remained absorbed in the contemplation of his finger nails; then he shot a sudden, comprehensive glance which took in the young woman, her burden and all the supposed conditions. There was no doubt in his mind that here was another "paternity case," as he catalogued them in his big black book.

"I am," he replied shortly, for he usually made short, quick work of such cases. There was not much money in them at best. "Would you mind coming in tomorrow? I'm just leaving for the day."

"It will take but a few minutes, sir, and it would be very hard for me to get away again tomorrow," said the young woman nervously. "I'm a governess in a family way uptown, and my days are not very free."

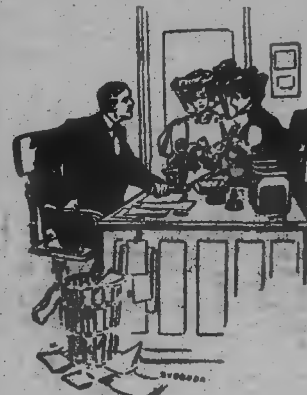
"Is this your baby?" asked Bansemer, more interested. The word governess appealed to him. It meant that she had to do with wealthy people at least.

"No—that is—well, not exactly," she replied confusedly. The lawyer looked at her so sharply that she flinched under his gaze. A kidnaper, thought he, with the quick cunning of one who deals in stratagems. Instinctively he looked about as if to make sure that there were no unnecessary witnesses to share the secret.

"Come into this room," said he suddenly. "Both of you. See that we are not disturbed," he added to Droom. "I think I can give you a few minutes, madam, and perhaps some very good advice. Be seated," he went on, closing the door after them. His eyes rested on Droom's face for an instant as the door closed, and he saw a particularly irritating grin struggling on his thin lips. "Now, what is it? Be as brief as possible, please. I'm in quite a hurry."

It occurred to him at this juncture that the young woman was not particularly distressed. Instead, her rather pretty face was full of eagerness, and there was a certain lightness in her manner that puzzled him for the moment. Her companion was the older of the two and quite as prepossessing. Both were neatly dressed, and both looked as though they were or had been breadwinners. If they had a secret it was now quite evident to this shrewd, quick thinker that it was not a dark one. In truth, he was beginning to feel that something mischievous lurked in the attitude of the two visitors.

"I want to ask how a person has to proceed to adopt a baby," was the blunt and surprising remark that came from the one who held the infant. Bansemer felt himself getting angry.



"I want to ask how a person has to proceed to adopt a baby."

"Who wants to adopt it?" he asked shortly.

"I do, of course," she answered, so readily that the lawyer stared. He scanned her from head to foot critically; her face reddened perceptibly. It surprised him to find that she was more than merely good looking. She was positively attractive!

"Are you a married woman?" he demanded.

"Yes," she answered, with a furtive glance at her companion. "This is my sister," she added.

"I see. Where is your husband?"

"He is at home, or, rather, at his mother's home. We are living there now."

"I thought you said you were a governess?"

"That doesn't prevent me from having a home, does it?" she explained easily. "I'm not a nurse, you know."

"This isn't your child, then?" he asked impatiently.

"I don't know whose child it is." There was a new softness in her voice that made him look hard at her while she passed a hand tenderly over the sleeping babe. "She comes from a foundlings' home, sir."

"You cannot adopt a child unless supported by some authority," he said. "How does she happen to be in your possession, and what papers have you from the foundlings' home to show that the authorities are willing that you should have her? There is a lot of red tape about such matters, madam."

"I thought perhaps you could manage it for me, Mr. Bansemer," she said plaintively. "They say you never fail at anything you undertake." He was not sure there was a compliment in her remark, so he treated it with indifference.

"Can't you tell me how I'll have to proceed? I must adopt the child, sir, one way or another." Her manner was more subdued, and there was a touch of supplication in her voice.

"Oh, you go into the proper court and make application, that's all," he volunteered carelessly. "The judge will do the rest. Does your husband approve of the plans?"

"He doesn't know anything about it."

"What's that?"

"My dear madam, I don't believe I understand you quite clearly. You want to adopt the child and keep the matter dark so far as your husband is concerned? May I inquire the reason?" Bansemer naturally was interested by this time.

"If you have time to listen, I'd like to tell you how it all comes about. It won't take long. I want some one to tell me just what to do, and I'll pay for the advice, if it isn't too expensive. I'm very poor, Mr. Bansemer. Perhaps you won't care to help me after you know that I can't afford to pay very much."

"We'll see about that later," he said brusquely. "Go ahead with the story."

The young woman hesitated, glanced nervously at her sister as if for support and finally faced the expectant lawyer with a flash of determination in her dark eyes. As she proceeded Bansemer silently and somewhat disdainfully made a study of the speaker. He concluded that she was scarcely of common origin and was the possessor of a superficial education that had been enlarged by conceitedness. Furthermore, she was a person of selfish instincts, but without the usual cruel impulses. There was little, if any, sign of true refinement in the features, and yet there was a strange strength of purpose that puzzled him. As her story progressed he solved the puzzle. She had the strength to carry out a purpose that might further her own personal interests, but not the will to endure sacrifice for the sake of another. Her sister was larger and possessed a reserve that might have been mistaken for deepness. He felt that she was hardly in sympathy with the motives of the younger, more volatile woman.

"My husband is a railroad engineer and is ten years older than I," the narrator said in the beginning. "I wasn't quite nineteen when we were married, two years ago. For some time we got along all right; then we began to quarrel. He commenced to"—

"Mr. Bansemer is in a hurry, Fan," broke in the older sister sharply, and then, repeating the lawyer's words, "Be as brief as possible."

There was a world of reproach in the look which greeted the speaker. Evidently it was a grievous disappointment not to be allowed to linger over the details.

"Well," she continued half pettishly, "it all ended by his leaving home, job and everything. I had told him that I was going to apply for a divorce. For three months I never heard from him."

"Did you apply for a divorce?" asked the lawyer, stifling a yawn.

To Be Continued.

IMPORTANT ADVICE
TO
SPECTACLE WEARERS

THREE PLAIN FACTS.

I.—That more eyes are injured by the injudicious use of Glass than by any other known cause

II.—That a great number of people are wearing spectacles unsuitable for them, and for which their eyes have not been tested.

III.—That the old fashioned and unscientific method of testing the eyes by trying on various spectables of different strengths until the sight is apparently suited, is to say the least of it, dangerous.

It cannot be too forcibly impressed upon the minds of those who suffer from defective eyesight that proper lenses and correctly fitting frames are absolutely essential for comfortable spectacle wearing. We grind our own lenses. Charges moderate.

PRESENTED WITH A SIGNET RING

Bro. R. N. Jones Honored by Members of Sherwood Forest Camp, W. O W.

There was a very interesting event at the regular meeting of Sherwood Forest Camp, No 50, Woodmen of the World, last night. After the regular business had been put on and five candidates were initiated a presentation of a beautiful signet ring and an address were made to Bro. R. N. Jones, the present counsel commander. The ring was handsomely engraved and bore the emblem of the order with the letters WOW to R N Jones. The gift was in recognition of the valuable service the recipient had rendered the lodge in the past in the way of securing new members.

Mr A. A. Haskill, clerk, received the following letter from the head clerk of the order which he presented with the ring to Mr Jones—

London, Feb 6th, 1909.

A A Haskill, Clerk,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Esteemed Sovereign—I cannot help recognising the good work done in your camp in the past year by Sov R. N Jones.

It is certainly gratifying to see the members take such an interest in our Order and I feel that we must make some recognition of the good work done by such members as Sov. Jones, and I wish we had more members in our subordinate camps like Sov Jones. I am sure the order would go ahead by leaps and bounds.

I take the liberty of asking you to present Sov. Jones with this signet ring, as a token of the appreciation of the head office of the Canadian Order of the Woodmen of the World, and trust that Sov Jones may long be spared and take the same interest in your camp in the future as in the past.

Wishing your camp every success for the coming year, I remain,

Yours fraternally,
W C FITZGERALD,
Head Clerk.

Letter to Editor

Editor of the Review,

Dear Sir,—In a recent issue of your paper an anonymous writer makes the statement that canvassers for the submission of the local option bylaw to a vote of the people are misrepresenting facts that only bars would be closed and shops continue to sell as usual.

Such a statement would be absurd and in our Saturday's issue of local option information we pointed out that not only were liquor shops closed but that in local option constituencies the Government would not issue even a wholesale license, neither are club licenses permitted in local option districts.

Public sentiment is so strong for prohibition measures that a plea of partial restriction would have no weight as for the old cry of the evils of local option. We refer this "Observer" to observe what the people say where they have tried it and know the facts and note no place has ever repealed local option where it has once been carried by even a bare majority.

The verdict of January 4th, 1909, is the doom of a legalized liquor traffic in Ontario and a great majority of the citizens of Peterborough are eager for the issue. No half way arguments are required. Please read our regular Saturday information columns in the Review.

Yours truly,
A B CUNNINGHAM,
Secretary of the City Temperance and Moral Reform League.

REHEARSAL AT CONSERVATORY

The young people taking part in "The Princess Chrysanthemum" are requested to meet for rehearsal tomorrow afternoon at 4.15 at the Conservatory of Music instead of on Thursday as usual. This change is made necessary on account of the Hope Morgan concert on Thursday.

The plan of the Conservatory Music Hall for the Hope Morgan Concert, Thursday eve'ng Feb. 11 and tickets for sale is at Macdonald's Drug Store.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor of the Review:

Sir,—On behalf of a number of young people, who are lovers of hockey, and who have paid their good money in the past for the pleasure of seeing a good game, I would ask these young speculators who have bought up the plan of the rink for to-morrow (evening's game, if they wish to advance the love of sport more than they wish to make a dollar or two.

By running up the prices of tickets to one dollar these young financiers are going to debar a great many who cannot afford that price, and who are going to stop away. It is not the hockey players who have done this, of course, but outsiders. Now is the time to put down that kind of meanness.

THE RING

There is every probability of the prize ring sport being abolished in its American stamping ground of California. A despatch states that Senator John P Hare of California has introduced a bill which if it carries will prohibit all fistic encounters where fees are charged for admission and besides will make a misdemeanor to witness a fight the maximum penalty for this offence being a fine of $500. It looks as if the game would be killed entirely in America.

LITTLE BOY'S BODY FOUND

About 35 Yards From Where He Fell in---Discovered by Uncle in Shallow Water Near Shore---Funeral To-morrow

The body of little Maxwell Roberts who was drowned yesterday afternoon in the creek at Murray street was found at half past four, about 35 yards down from where he fell in. Mr. Will Roberts, an uncle of the deceased, discovered the body. It was lying in shallow water quite near the shore.

Chief Howard, of the fire department, and a couple of firemen, with a large number of other willing helpers, worked for a couple of hours breaking up the ice in an endeavor to locate the body. The scaling ladders were thrown across the creek and by means of axes and crow bars the ice was broken up.

The drowning fatality is made even more sad by the fact that the father of the boy, Mr. Walter Roberts, is quite ill at the present time and the news of his son's death was a great shock to him. The deceased boy was four years and seven months old.

The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from the family residence, 502 Stewart st., to the Little Lake cemetery.

Between the acts excellent specialties were put on and they made a big hit with the audience. The vocal numbers were excellent.

APSLEY WANTS ELECTRIC RAILWAY FROM PETERBORO'

Apsley wants an electric railway and Mr. Wm. Gallon of that place has written the Peterborough city council asking that the matter be considered. The question was taken up at a meeting of the Manufacturers committee yesterday afternoon at which the chairman, Ald. Gillespie, presided. The letter pointed out the many advantages of such a road, not only to the rural district through which it would pass, but also to the city.

Mr. Gallon stated that he had seen in the press the announcement of the proposed electric road from Cobourg to Stony Lake. He thought it was a good thing and asked why not continue it through to Apsley. He referred to the large amount of money spent by the people in the farming communities in Toronto, principally at Simpson's and Eaton's. He also referred to the large quantities of provisions bought into the stores all through the district. All this might be diverted to Peterborough retail and wholesale stores, while the freight traffic on the electric road would be considerable and the passenger traffic would soon develop.

Mr. Gallon suggested that if the people of Peterborough would take the matter up the Apsley people would be glad to co-operate with them.

The committee considered the matter and instructed the city clerk to reply to Mr. Gallon's letter and also to send a copy of it to Mr J.H.Larmonth, manager of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company.

HAVELOCK ON ITS WAY TO INCORPORATION AS A TOWN

New Buildings Have Replaced Those Destroyed by Fire Last August---How the Railroad Town is Growing Rapidly.

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Feb. 9.—Havelock has indeed arisen from its ashes and the bare and barren spot which six months ago was one of ruins of burnt buildings, is to-day the site of the finest buildings that have ever adorned this flourishing railroad town.

The fire of unknown origin, which occurred in this village early in the morning of August 26th, 1908, and which in a very short time wiped out $40,000 worth of property, may have been a check to the advancement of the town, but now, not only the burnt buildings have been replaced, but several others have been erected. And the new buildings are certainly a credit to the town, being up to date and fire proof in every possible way.

Mr. S. S. Joyce was the first man to rebuild, putting up a fine boot and shoe and gent's furnishing store, Messrs. Coon and Chiles have also erected a magnificent building followed closely by Mr. Jos. Knox's new building and that of the Standard Printing Office. In the Coon and Chiles block, Mr. Jas. Fowler, jeweller of town, will establish his quarters, while Dr. Thompson will open up dental parlors above the Standard Office, on March 1st.

Besides, Mr. Jas. Thompson has erected a fine brick veneered block adjoining Mr. Jas. Watson, which will be occupied by Mr. McGregor, baker and Mr. McKay, tailor.

Another very important building erected during the past year, is the new $4,000 addition to the school, making one of the finest schools in the country. With a frontage of 90 feet and with the new part of cement block and the old cement veneered, it presents a beautiful appearance on its lofty elevation directly opposite the Opera House. During the year there has also been a large number of excellent dwellings erected in different parts of the village, especially at the west end of the town and on Park street, directly east of the Havelock park and pleasure grounds.

With the addition of the proposed new club house and a magnificent skating rink, which is now under consideration, Havelock is on its way to incorporation as a town.

RINK MANAGEMENT NOT TO BLAME FOR WHAT HAPPENED

At noon to-day the one hundred reserved seats in the centre of the west side of Brock street rink, the price of which is fifty cents each, had been disposed of. It has since developed that speculators have been at work as it is said that private parties have been offering the tickets for sale around town at a dollar each. Some fault has been found with the rink management for allowing the tickets to get into the hands of speculators. The management are not to blame however. They had no idea that speculators would be at work and no suspicion was aroused owing to the fact that no person purchased a large number of the tickets.

Only the one hundred reserved seats have been sold. The 25c and 35c tickets will be placed on sale at the rink this evening and to prevent any speculation not more than six tickets will be sold to any one person.

The prices for to-morrow night's game are the same as those which prevailed for the game last Friday night. It is unfortunate that some of the reserved seat tickets got into the hands of the speculators but the public will no doubt look upon the matter in the proper light.

MR. R. M. WADDELL WAS VICE SKIP ON WINNING RINK

Glasgow, Jan. 27.—Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the play of the Canadian curlers against Scottish teams during the past few days has been the varying fortunes of the visitors. This, however, is explained to some extent by the composition of the teams that have been opposing them. When I wrote on Saturday last they had played for a day and a half against a team composed of curlers drawn from different parts of Scotland and when the mail left they had still the afternoon to play before the match was concluded. The sides were well matched, and at the interval there was a majority of 18 in favor of the Canadians. On Friday's scoring Scotland had a majority of 9, so that it seemed as if the visitors were improving in their play as they became accustomed to the new conditions. Saturday afternoon, however, saw the position almost reversed, as the score at the close of the day stood: Canadians 190; Scots 189. As Friday's scores were: Canadians 170; Scots, 179; this gave totals for the match of: Canadians 360; Scots, 368; a majority of 8 in favor of the home players.

At the close of the play, Rev. John Kerr, of Dirleton, said they were all delighted that in their first game in Scotland the Canadians curlers had done so well. If Scotland was to win her men would have to play their very best. Mr. A. Logan replied for the visitors.

Monday's play resulted in a complete turning of the tables, and a great victory for the Canadian team. They met the Scots who visited Canada some years ago, and scored 119 to their opponents 52. All through the game there was no doubt as to which side was winning. It was said that the ice was too keen for the Scots, but the visitors certainly showed much superior skill, and except Sir H. Ballantyne, of Peebles, there was not a home player on the ice capable of trying conclusions with them. Of the 24 players who toured Canada, no fewer than 20 took part in Monday's match. Rev. John Kerr was captain of the home team, and Mr. H. G. Wills, of Montreal, of the Canadians, in the absence of Lieut.-Governor Cameron Fraser.

In rink No. 3 competition the Canadians won by 19 shots to 8. Mr. R. M. Waddell, Peterborough's representative on the tour was vice skip for the winning rink.

The score:

R. L. Patterson, Toronto.	D. Provand, Stewarton,
T. J. Hamilton, Fergus.	Mark Sanderson, Duddingston.
R. M. Waddell, Peterborough.	D. R. Gordon, Bathgate.
S. Rennie, Toronto.	R. Cousin, Merchiston.

ROGERS AND MOHL AGAIN

Will Wrestle at Riverdale Rink Toronto on Friday Evening

Fritz Mohl who was twice defeated here by Yankee Rogers and by Gene Hurtubise still keeps in the limelight and will wrestle Rogers again at Riverdale rink, Toronto, on Friday night.

Last night's Star says;

Yankee Rogers, the famous Buffalo wrestler, will arrive in Toronto on Wednesday ready for his big match with Fritz Mohl at the Riverdale rink on Friday night. Rogers is in excellent shape and thinks Mohl will have no cause for complaint when he gets through with him. Mohl is one of the heaviest men in the business and came to this country with George Hackenschmidt four years ago. The wrestling fans in this city have never had a opportunity of seeing men who are at the top of their profession, and men of the Rogers-Mohl calibre can always be relied upon to wrestle and wrestle to win.

SPORTING TALK

What's puzzling the New York public is the inconsistency of allowing bookmakers to openly do business at the Longboat-Shrubb race and prohibit them from making books on the race tracks.

Fred Simpson is undoubtedly the coming Indian. With Tom Flanagan behind him Simpson should be able to get into shape to stay with any of them. All he has needed while he has been in the running game is a good trainer and adviser.

YOU CAN CURE CATARRH

J. H. Taylor, 54 Bond St., Toronto, Breathed Hyomei and Cured a Long-Standing Case of Chronic Catarrh That Defied All Other Remedies. Also Toronto and New York Specialists.

Without taking a drop of medicine into the stomach, J. H. Taylor, 54 Bond street, Toronto, tells how the distressing troubles of catarrh were overcome by simply inhaling Hyomei air. It's the history of tens of thousands similar cases on record, proving that Hyomei can be depended upon to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Croup. It has no equal for any distress of the breathing organs:

Mr. Taylor says: "Some years ago while on a hunting trip in Northern Canada, I contracted a severe cold that settled in my head and finally affected my throat. It rapidly developed into catarrh and caused a miserable throat weakness. My head would become clogged during the night and there was a catarrhal dropping from the nose into the throat. Many days I had been unable to breathe other than through my mouth and the constant hawking and spitting was almost unbearable. I had been treated by the best throat specialists here and in New York, but nothing benefitted my condition. I obtained Hyomei and soon found relief, the throat dropping ceased and my head began to clear. I continued with Hyomei for six weeks and after that time I was well in every detail. There has been no return of the trouble since, and I feel grateful in speaking well of Hyomei, as it cured me when all else failed."

A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1 and Wm. Madill, druggist, will refund your money, if it fails to cure.

Borden, "I wish to refer to comments made in at least one Liberal journal, The Montreal Herald. For the third time I repeat in this House that I did not know anything about the altered telegram until the middle of December."

In reply to Mr. Edwards, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the question of granting lands to veterans of 1866 was now receiving the attention of the Government.

Mr. Arthurs was informed that the cost of revising the voters' lists in the disorganized townships in Parry Sound district for the last election was $751, the number of names on the list being 2,353.

The Minister of Justice informed Dr. Beauparlant that of 280 persons sentenced to death in Canada in the past 25 years, the sentences of 88 had been commuted.

Mr. Paquette was informed that during the fiscal year, 1907-8, the Government paid $149,657 in immigration bounties. The arrivals of immigrants were: From the United States, 58,312; from Great Britain and Ireland, 120,182; from France, 2,671; from Belgium, 1,214.

During the year 1,172 immigrants had been refused permission to land from steamships, and 1,907 had been deported after landing.

The militia training would be carried out as usual, Col. Hughes was informed by Sir Frederick Borden. It is not the immediate intention to supply miniature rifles for practice in rifle shooting.

R. N. Lewis introduced a bill to establish for vessels on inland waters and for coasting vessels a safety load line, compulsory from Sept. 15 to May 15 in each year. It was also to be made compulsory for a master in clearing outwards to leave with the collector of customs the names and addresses of his crew. The bill was read a first time.

When public bills and orders were reached Dr. Barr (Dufferin) was not ready to proceed with his bill to amend the Railway Act because it was not printed in French. Even Sir Wilfrid could not forbear to laugh at this point.

In compliance with a motion of W. F. Maclean (South York), Hon. G. P. Graham yesterday laid on the table the order in council approving of the increase in the capital stock of the C.P.R. from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000.

"The company represent," says the memorandum, "that looking to the general development, it is essential that they should have money to pay for the added equipment that is sure to be required in order to keep pace with the progress of the country, and they ask for approval of an increase of $50,000,000 on the authorized capital, making the authorized issue $200,000,000.

"The Minister recommends that the application of the company be granted, provided that none of such new stock be issued at less than par; and, further, that no part of the capital so to be raised shall be applied to the construction of any works outside of Canada.

"The Minister further recommends that the said $50,000,000 of stock shall not be deemed capital expended in construction, and the power of the Parliament of Canada or the Governor-General in council to reduce the tolls upon the railway of the company shall in no wise be affected."

THE CLEVELAND MOVEMENT IS CHRISTIANITY POSSIBLE?

The word "possible" in the heading should perhaps read "practicable," were it not for the fact that the earnest Christians of all denominations which form the Cleveland Movement agree that if Christianity is not practicable it is not possible. It is realized that "the world" is breaking through all restraint—that divorce, peculation, suicide are rampant—that the world social, scientific and political, is without Christ—that the mere practise of the primary virtues honor, kindness, etc., is not nor can it ever be claimed as the outcome or characteristic of Christianity alone. Christianity it is conceded in the present agitation, must be something infinitely more or it is something infinitely less. The Cleveland movement is the evidence of a realisation of the true question at issue. The Rev. C. A. Eaton resigned his Rockefeller pastorate to espouse the new cause. Everywhere in the U.S. the movement is discussed as of one accord, because it is a legitimate and long-awaited conclusion to which all things on this continent are tending. The Episcopal Recorder of Philadelphia asks: "Is the religion of Jesus still upon its trial in the sense that young people are to see whether the divine life can be lived?" The Chicago Interior attacks what it calls the "conventional expressions of religion."

The Baptist Standard of Chicago asks "Why two weeks?"

The Catholic Universe regards the movement as ridiculous as it emphasizes the fact that it is not the rule of Christian life at present.

Meanwhile the Cleveland people have found two weeks of Christ-life not too long and have renewed their vows. They appear to be quite different from the ordinary plain everyday type of Christian. Which is the real and which the imitation? Is Christianity something real or merely an unattainable system of idealism? Has it had so little effect upon the world at large because it needs a revival within itself? In what way is the true Christian superior to the true man or woman? These are questions all demanding an answer at the present day. If they are not answered satisfactorily the world will be found to have turned to other gods. The crisis is at hand. The Rev. Prof. Cross, Ph.D., of McMaster University, says of it:

"We are therefore in the presence of a great crisis. The anxious question we now must ask is this:—Will the new world that is forming be a better world?"

. . . . .

"It is a time for stock-taking, for a review of the past and a forecast of the future. I say this, not because we happen to be meeting on the threshold of a new year, but because we are confronted by a remarkable conjunction of circumstances in the world. It becomes us to study them. Of old it was once said to a people in reproach, "Ye are able to discern the signs of the sky, but ye are not able to discern the signs of the times." We are able to understand the course of nature. Why should we fail to understand the course of divine providence. Men who wish to serve their day effectively must study it thoroughly."

NOMINATIONS ARE STILL BEING RECORDED FOR CONTEST

The Most Flattering Thing You Can Do For Your Friends in This Contest is to Vote For Them—Encourage Them Now by Your Promise of Support.

WATCH FOR THE BIG BALLOT THIS WEEK

Thursday's Issue of the Daily Review Will Contain a Ballot for 10 Votes, Friday's Weekly Coupon Will Be Worth 25 Votes —No Extra Copies Will be Printed—Get Them Regular Subscribers.

About the liveliest contest ever started in this part of Ontario, is that of the Peterborough Review's European Tour and Diamond competition. Every day sees new and increased interest, and before the end will be as pretty a contest as was ever held in any city.

Many of the candidates are receiving promises of support from their friends, and unless all signs fail the number that will materialize within the next few days will work some surprising changes in the bulletin. The nominations that have been made heretofore could hardly be more representative in the field to be covered, and no newspaper could but be gratified at this feature of the contest. It shows that those whom it was intended to reach have entered into the spirit of the thing and are giving it their heartiest co-operation.

Some people being in doubt as to the various ways of securing votes, we wish to explain the plan again. Clip the coupon which is being published in the Daily and Weekly editions of the Review, fill in the name of the person you wish to vote for and send it to this office, and it will be credited to your candidate. If your subscription is paid in advance you pay further in advance and secure votes on your payment. If you are a new subscriber you will receive double the vote given to an old subscriber. This is done as an inducement to secure new names on our list, but an old subscriber can vote, no matter how old the account may be, by making a payment of $1 or over.

Every day shows additions to the active candidates. The fact that many have a very few votes to their credit does not indicate that they are not actively at work. The rules of the contest allows all candidates to control their own voting. When votes are issued upon payment of subscription it is not necessary to vote them at once. Many candidates are beginning to realize that to appear in the "running" they must get into the "thousands" class.

In District 2 Sidney A. Smithson comes into the contest with a nomination, 10 newspaper votes and 3,000 of the "pink" counters. At present he is the King Bee in his list.

In the ladies' list in this district Miss Lila Finley enters the contest as a new candidate. Miss Ida Holcombe passes into the certificate class and Miss Rose P. Moore again increases her score.

The ladies' list in the city is the banner one in regard to four-figure candidates, Miss Birdie Dawson joining the ranks with a splendid vote. Miss Maude Perry increased her standing, almost reaching the 10,000 mark, and leads all others in the contest. Miss Maude Adams, Miss Mamie Thompson, Miss Tryphena Chasty and Miss Ethel Bell are also strong contestants in this list.

There is no relative change in the men's list in the city, W. G. Rundle retaining the first place. Things are "brewin'" though, and there is certain to be several sprinters here within a few days.

The standing of candidates follows;

GLASSES ARE PLENTIFUL

But it is almost a certainty that they would be even more common still if everybody wore them who should. You find people doing without them just as long as they possibly can which is a very wrong thing to do, indeed, every day makes the case harder to deal with. If you, reader, have the slightest cause to believe that your eyes need the attention of an optician, we shall be pleased to advise you if you need glasses, and if glasses are not necessary we will tell you so. We invite you to call and ask us about your eyes.

THE REGISTRATION OF MAIL MATTER DISCUSSED IN HOUSE

Compensation Act Given Second Reading.

On the second reading of Mr. Lemieux's bill to amend the Postoffice Act, providing for compensation up to $25 by the Department for the loss of registered domestic letters, the Postmaster-General explained that of over six million registered letters in the past five years, the total number lost was 651.

Haughton Lennox thought the new regulation should require the Postmaster to ascertain the amount placed in a letter, and Mr. Lemieux added this would be done, adding that the Department always makes good any loss through the dishonesty of any officials.

E. Guss Porter called attention to the case of a constituent who had entrusted money to the Postmaster for delivery in a foreign country and had not been able to recover for failure to deliver.

T. W. Crothers (West Elgin) asked why the Government did not guarantee payment of larger amounts.

Mr. Lemieux said he had under consideration a plan of Government insurance for larger amounts.

David Henderson again pleaded for a one-half cent drop letter rate for rural communities, and moved an amendment to section two of the act to that effect. The Postmaster-General asked him not to press his amendment, as he desired that a full fiscal year should elapse since the reduction of the drop letter rate in cities, before making further reductions. The amendment was withdrawn.

Mr. Fisher's animal contagious diseases act amendment was given its second and third readings. The Minister said the quarantine regulations owing to the prevalence of foot and mouth disease in the United States had not been relaxed except as to horses.

W. F. Maclean observed that it was the view of drovers that the export of inferior grades of cattle to Buffalo during the recent outbreak was not in the interests of trade, and should have been prohibited.

J. D. Taylor and Martin Burrell urged an increase in the compensation for horses slaughtered in British Columbia owing to the high prices of horses there, but Mr. Fisher said it would be difficult to discriminate between the provinces.

Mr. Graham's amendment to the Government Railways Act was then taken up and reported.

During the hour for private bills last night, Haughton Lennox objected to proceeding with a bill to incorporate the Salisbury and Harvey Railroad on the ground that Parliament should first have a declaration of policy from the Minister in respect to level crossings.

Before incorporating any more railways the Minister should lay down a policy, but he would agree to advance the bill if given the assurance that some safeguards will be incorporated when the bill goes to the committee. Mr. Graham assured Mr. Lennox that whatever safeguards were decided upon would be made applicable to every charter put through this session.

Dr. Sproule also urged prompt action by the Minister. W. F. Maclean protested against the idea that the proposed level crossing legislation should apply only to the new railways. It should cover the old roads. The bill was read a second time.

During the discussion of the canal estimates last night, Hon. G. P. Graham stated that the plans for the deepening of the Welland Canal had not been completed, and until they were he would be unable to say what policy would be adopted with regard to the transportation question.

He admitted that something would have to be done, either to deepen the present highway or cut a new channel, build the Georgian Bay canal or do both.

Mr. W. F. Maclean is not yet satisfied that the Government has pursued the proper course in authorizing by order-in-council the increase of C.P.R. capital stock. Last night he took the opportunity presented by a motion to go into supply to reopen the subject, and in support of his claim that Parliament should have control of such matters, referred to what happened in 1902, when a similar application by the C.P.R. was discussed. He quoted from Hansard to show that the then Minister of Justice took the view that it was necessary to pass an act to authorize the additional capital stock, and that certain conditions should be imposed, among them that the additional capital should only be applied to the specific purposes for which it was asked, and that the new stock should not be sold at less than par. He also called attention to a promise made by the then Minister of the Interior, that a reference would be made to the courts to ascertain the actual cost of the C.P.R., ad asked whether that promise had even been fulfilled.

Hon. Mr. Graham did not think an act was necessary, but promised to look into the matter. As for the conditions imposed in 1902, he thought they were covered in the order-in-council passed in the present case.

REBUILD VIAMEDE

Work to be Commenced at Once to Replace the Buildings Destroyed Last Fall

Mrs. W. M. Graham's summer resort "Viamede," at Stony Lake, which was badly gutted by fire, is to be rebuilt. This information has been given the Review by Mrs. Graham, and it is learned that work on the new "Viamede" will be commenced at once. The buildings burned will be replaced by large and even more modern ones than the old and the same high standard that characterized "Viamede" in the past will be maintained.

Work on the new building is to be rushed as they are to be ready for the opening of the tourist season the coming summer.

BLYTHE WAS FOUND GUILTY

Agincourt Man's Crime is Murder in First Degree---Will be Sentenced on Monday.

Toronto, Feb. 10.—"Guilty" was the verdict rendered by the jury against Walter Blythe, charged with murdering his wife on Sunday, Jan. 3, last, and tried before Justice Riddell in the jury Assize Court yesterday.

Not a muscle of the prisoner's face moved as he received the verdict and when asked by the judge if he had anything to say he stood up and shook his head.

"I will not pass sentence upon you at this moment, but I will sentence you at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning," said Justice Riddell, and the prisoner walked quietly from the court room accompanied by two constables. The jury were out fifty-six minutes.

Thus, within six weeks, a home in the quiet village of Agincourt has been broken up, the mother being buried in the silent churchyard, the father living in the shadow of the gallows, and the two children taken across the Atlantic to live among strangers, as the result of Walter Blythe losing his temper and beating his wife to death with a poker.

The trial lasted but the one day. T. C. Robinette, who on Monday withdrew from the defence of the prisoner because a postponement of trial was denied, reappeared and after another vain argument for delay, consented to defend the prison. G. T. Blackstock was crown counsel.

His Lordship in his charge to the jury dealt first with the points of law relative to assault in all its forms and the penalty for each. "If he wanted to rebuke her," proceeded his lordship, "why didn't he use his hand? It made my blood run cold when I heard the story told that a man, brawny and strong, had taken this delicate woman and tortured her to death with a stove poker. Before going on the Bench, I practiced law for 26 years, but this is the most atrocious crime I have had to deal with in my official position. According to all the witnesses, when the man made the murderous attack he was perfectly sane. To chastise a wife with a poker is an unlawful act."

NO QUORUM AT THE MEETING

And Board of Trade Could Not Transact Business Last Night

A meeting of the Board of Trade was called for last night, but it did not materialize. The president, Dr. M. A. Morrison, and Secretary Quartermaine, were on hand at 8 o'clock. Then three press representatives turned up, followed by Mr. A. P. Pousette, and later by Mr. Lillicrap, of Lakefield. Ald. Duffus was the next to come and by half-past eight Mr. Lasmonth and Mr. J. R. Bell were also present. There being no quorum it was impossible to transact business, but the agitation for an extension of the Grand Trunk of Lakefield and for increased wharfage at that point was discussed informally. It was decided to have the president and secretary of the local Board of Trade draft a letter along the same lines as that proposed by the Lakefield Board and forward it to the the proper officials at Ottawa.

The meeting then adjourned for two weeks.

Valentine Day Is Approaching

Valentine Day is drawing nigh and valentines of a variety of types are on exhibition in a large number of local shops. Valentine day is on Sunday, February 14th and already the sale of valentines, handsome and otherwise, has commenced. The demand is said to be unusually large this year,

THREE YEARS IN THE PENITENTIARY

Charles Mitchell Sentenced by His Honor Judge Weller To-day—Three Years for Stealing Letters Containing Money and Two Years for Stealing Jewellery—Sentences to Run Concurrently.

Charles Mitchell, the letter carrier, was sentenced to three years in the Kingston penitentiary, having been found guilty of stealing two post letters, the property of the Postmaster-General. On the charge of stealing a parcel of jewellery from the mails, he was sentenced to two years, the sentences to run concurrently.

Mitchell came up for trial this morning before his Honor Judge Weller, Crown Attorney, R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution and Mr. F. D. Kerr defended the prisoner.

THE CHARGES.

The charge against the prisoner of stealing two post letters each containing three dollars, the property of the Postmaster-General, was changed by the prosecution into four charges. The indictment as changed, charged Mitchell first with stealing two post letters, the property of the Postmaster-General, each containing three dollars; secondly, stealing six dollars from the Postmaster-General, thirdly, stealing three dollars from Mrs. Albert Head, Bethune street, and fourthly, stealing three dollars from Mrs. Robt. Martin.

Mr. Kerr, on behalf of the prisoner, pleaded not guilty.

THE EVIDENCE.

The evidence taken was that of Mr. Henry Merrick, Inspector of Post Offices for this district, and Postmaster Col. H. C. Rogers, of this city. It was the same as was given before Magistrate Dumble in the preliminary, telling how the decoy letters had been taken by Mitchell to deliver, and the finding of them opened and the money gone in the post bag at his house. Mr. Kerr did not call any witnesses for the defence, but rested the case at this juncture.

"WHAT IS A POST LETTER?"

Mr. Kerr based his defence on the argument that the letters which had been given Mitchell to deliver were not post letters. He referred to a case in England, where the court decided that the decoy letter used by a Post Office Inspector to entrap a letter man was not a post letter. However, the Canadian Post Office Law was a little broader than the Imperial law, and had a close hold on anyone committing an offence. Mr. Kerr argued that when the Rochester letter was received by the Inspector it had on it a cancelled stamp and therefore when placed in the local post office was not a post letter.

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood pointed out that under section 2, sub-section 1 of the Canadian Postoffice Act whether addressed to a real or fictitious name and no matter of what nature it was, it was a post letter. Therefore the decoy ones used were post letters.

His Honor Judge Weller, said that he did not see how English cases of years ago, which had been mentioned by the defence, could effect the Canadian law. A letter, properly stamped and placed in the Post Office for delivery was a post letter. He had been unable to come to any other conclusion but to the one that the letters opened by the prisoner were post ones.

FOUND GUILTY.

Since the letters stolen were post letters, His Honor found the prisoner guilty of the above mentioned offence. The charge of stealing a parcel of jewellery from the mails was next taken up. The prisoner pleaded guilty. The jewellery was the property of Mr A M Perkins and was sent from England to him, during the month of January.

"Have you anything to say?" asked His Honor of the prisoner.

Mr. Kerr asked that only the minimum sentence of three years be imposed. The prisoner had a wife and child. The family was without means. He did not know how they would get along while Mitchell was in the penitentiary and the counsel asked on their behalf for the leniency of the court.

JUDGE'S REMARKS

"You now no doubt begin to appreciate the serious difficulty in which you have placed yourself," said His Honor, addressing the prisoner. "You know that when you took those letters, you did not intend to deliver them. You knew you were doing wrong but probably you were not aware of the severe punishment the law inflicted for offences or this kind I do not know that the fact that you have a wife and child should have an effect on me. I am inclined to believe that your wife is equally as guilty as you. Is it possible for all that jewellery to be in the house and for her not to know anything about it. One's sympathy naturally goes out to your wife but I am inclined to think your wife knew, you have betrayed the trust given you. I thought it might have been that the stealing of the letters was the result of a sudden, irresistible impulse to steal but instead of that I learn that you had been doing it before last week. I think you thought then it was an easy matter to rob the mails. Your act was most deliberate. The law imposes a severe punishment for such an offence, but in consideration of your wife and child I will only impose the minimum sentence, three years. It will be a warning to others in similar positions and if hereafter any person comes before me on a similar charge, I will deal more severely with him."

PRISONER UNAFFECTED

The prisoner stood throughout His Honor's remarks and seemed unmoved or perturbed by the sentence.

WIFE OF ACCUSED POSTMAN RETURNS MEDAL TO POLICE

Mrs. Mitchell, wife of Chas. Mitchell the accused letter carrier, brought to the police station yesterday afternoon the silver medal, the property of Mr A. F Perkins, and one of the articles which P. C. Newhall and Mr. Perkins were unable to find when making a search of Mitchell's house.

The medal was among other valuables contained in the parcel of jewellery that was sent from England to Mr. Perkins and which was intercepted by Postman Mitchell.

Mr. Perkins prized it very highly, it having been donated to his grandfather at an exhibition in London, England. It was dated 1822.

The officers and Board were re-elected as follows:—President James Acton; Vice-President S. Henderson; Sec.-Treas. H. Sutherland. Directors (in addition to officers) Hon. J. R. Stratton R. Neill, Wm. Irwin, E. S. Piper F. Addison, A. L. Davis and J. Nugent.

JOHN SMALL IS DEAD IN TORONTO

Collector of Customs Passed Away This Morning --- Had Been Member of Parliament

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Feb. 10.—John Small, collector of Customs for the port of Toronto died at his residence on King street, east, this morning. He was stricken with paralysis some weeks ago, and had been in a dangerous condition since.

Mr. Small was one of Toronto's well known citizens, having been a life long resident of the city and vicinity. His father, C. C. Small, was the first Crown Clerk of Osgoode Hall. Mr. Small before his appointment as Collector of Customs in 1891, represented East Toronto in the House of Commons for thirteen years.

TEMPLEMAN IS ELECTED

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 10.—W. McKay, secretary of the British Columbia Conservative Association, has received a telegram from Prince Rupert from Manson, who was to have been the Conservative candidate at Comox-Atlin, but did not run: "Owing to lack of financial backing and other support, have retired. Templeman elected."

McKay then authorized the statement that "the association at its headquarters in Vancouver does not understand the reference in the telegram to lack of financial backing, the districts of Comox and Alberni having raised sufficient funds to carry on the campaign."

A BAN ON POSTERS

Morality Department at Toronto Refused to Allow Them on the Boards

Toronto, Feb. 9.—There is a sadly puzzled man in town to-day. He is C. W. Smith, of the Riverdale Arena.

Mr. Smith is bringing together Friday night at his rink Fritz Mohl, the German giant, and Yankee Rogers the big U.S. grappler. To advertise the affair he brought in a hundred dollars' worth of colored stock posters showing wrestlers on the mat. In one two wrestlers are locked in a head hold while the other shows Tom Jenkins with a half Nelson and bar hold on an opponent. In both cases the wrestlers are clad in regulation wrestling tights, but are bare from the shoulders up.

To-day Smith received a letter from the Morality Department censor saying that the posters could not be posted in Toronto.

"What do you know about that?" remarked Mr. Smith. "They prohibit posters which have absolutely nothing indecent in them, and which are used all over the country, from being used here. They are ordinary stock posters. I cannot figure out what caused the police to reject them. Anyway I'm out $100, the price of the posters."

TROUBLE FROM THE TREATY

United States Senators War Over International Waterways Compact.

Washington, Feb. 10.—A somewhat sensational charge made in the executive session of the Senate yesterday by Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan during the consideration of the international waterways treaty precipitated a lively row between that Senator and Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts, who is a leading member of the Foreign Relations Committee. Mr. Smith, who is fighting the ratification of the treaty, asserted that the convention was not written by former Secretary of State Root at all, but by Chandler Anderson, a New York attorney, formerly connected with the Joint High Commission. He said that Mr. Anderson had told him so. Mr. Lodge retorted that this was to be viewed as closely related to mendacity, for it was not made in the presence of the gentleman concerned. Thereupon Mr. Smith replied, in effect:

"Then I will repeat it, and add that the Senator from Massachusetts also told me so."

Senator Smith continued his statement in regard to Mr. Anderson's alleged connection with the treaty, declaring that he is the attorney for large power interests at Niagara Falls and that the treaty was framed for the benefit of these interests. The charge made more impression on the Senate than anything that has yet come out in the discussion of the treaty, and it became evident that the opposition to the convention will continue for some time. Senator Lodge, who is practically in charge of the treaty, will try to keep it before the Senate in frequent executive sessions until the matter is disposed of.

The waterways treaty has aroused a surprising degree of acrimony in the Senate. During the debate behind closed doors yesterday, Senator Smith turned fiercely upon Senator Lodge, saying in unparliamentary terms: "You irritate me; you always irritate, and you irritate others here. Your patronizing manner is offensive."

Mr. Lodge ignored the personal attack, but answered Mr. Smith on the points raised against the ratification of the treaty.

TOLD TO HAVE SON SENT TO THE ASYLUM

Ottawa, Feb 10.—Dr. John Barr of Shelburne, M.P. for Dufferin, said yesterday that only about a fortnight ago he had advised the Stewart family to have George, the maniacal murderer, confined to an asylum.

"The brother came to me," said Dr. Barr, "and told me about George Stewart. He said that his father would come down next day and see me, or else they would send for me. The father came down and gave me the history of his son. From what he told me, I concluded that the man could not be trusted at large, and I told the father so. I said then that the man should be placed in an asylum, and that I would have the papers prepared if they wanted it done. Stewart replied that he would see his wife about it, but that he did not think she would consent."

A Bad Actor.

Orangeville, Feb. 10.—Stewart, the insane murderer, is very violent in his captivity in the county jail here, taking very nasty "spells." Yesterday morning, after having asked for a drink of water, he dashed the contents of the glass in the jailer's face.

William Holden, a powerful railwayman, has been secured as an extra guard.

THE KING AND KAISER MEET WARM WELCOME AT BERLIN

Hearty Greeting to British Royalty.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra received a hearty welcome from the Emperor and the German people yesterday.

The principal interest in the first day of the British monarch centred in the speeches of the Emperor and the King, when proposing healths during the course of the gala banquet at the imperial palace last evening. The utterances of both were of the most cordial nature, each emphasizing the peaceful sentiments and the close relationship of the two nations.

The Emperor, speaking in German, said:

"Your Majesty may be assured with me that my capital and the whole German empire see in your presence a token of friendly feelings and sentiments which induce Your Majesties to pay this visit. The German people greet the ruler of the mighty British world empire with the respect due him and perceives in his visit a new pledge of future peaceful and friendly development in the relations between our two countries.

"I know how much our wishes for the preservation and the strengthening of peace are in accordance, and can offer no better welcome than an expression of the firm conviction that Your Majesty's visit may contribute to the realization of these, our wishes. In giving voice to the hope that the vast empire over which Your Majesty rules may continue to prosper and flourish, I pledge this glass to the health of Your Majesty and the Queen."

King Edward replied in German, saying in part:

"With regard to the aim and desired result of my visit, Your Majesty has given eloquent expression to my own feelings, and I can therefore only repeat that our mission is of the purpose not only of recalling before the world the close ties of relationship between our two houses, but also aims at strengthening the friendly relations between our countries, and thus at the preservation of a general peace, towards all my efforts are directed."

The dinner was a brilliant spectacle. King Edward sat between the Emperor and Empress, with Queen Alexandra at the Emperor's left. All the imperial princes were present. Prince Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor, was seated opposite Their Majesties, surrounded by the British suite and the German Ministers. The table was strewn with red, white and blue flowers and the dinner service was of gold. The Emperor wore the uniform of the British Royal Dragoons, while the King was attired as a Prussian general. The Empress appeared in white and the Queen in black.

After the dinner Their Majesties held a reception and the Emperor bestowed decorations on the members of the King's suite and the British embassy.

These exchanges over, the procession for the march to the palace was at once formed.

The route of march to the palace was line with large crowds that had been waiting for at least two hours. The weather was cold and nipping.

Within the Brandenburg gate the mayor, Herr Kirschner, and the aldermen of Berlin, welcomed the visiting royalties.

A demonstration by the unemployed of the German capital, planned to coincide with the arrival of the visiting monarch was only partially successful. A number of meetings of the unemployed were held in various parts of the city, after which those present formed in two processions and started to march to the palace, whither King Edward had been escorted by Emperor William, and the town hall. Their progress was intercepted, and the police attacked it with drawn sabres. A number sustained sabre wounds and others were arrested.

SWYREDA WILL GO TO GALLOWS

Brampton, Feb. 10.—Radcliffe, P.E., has erected his scaffold in the backyard of the jail here and all arrangements for the execution of Steffan Swyreda at dawn Thursday morning are completed.

The last hope for the condemned man was swept away yesterday afternoon when the Court of Appeal refused to reopen the case. The court, consisting of Chief Justice Moss and Justices Osler, Garrow, Maclaren and Meredith, were addressed by T. J. W. O'Connor, counsel for the prisoner, who moved for leave to appeal to the court and to have a reserved case submitted by Justice Riddell, the trial judge.

The condemned man still protests his innocence of the murder of Olecka Liuteck, a Galician compatriot, in Joseph Fasken's bush, near Clarkson, on or about Good Friday last, and for which he was brought to book by the skilful work of Provincial Detective Miller.

J. C. Lloyd's house at Westborne was destroyed by fire.

A CANADIAN HYMN

It is time we settled upon a Canadian national hymn. "The Maple Leaf" is very elementary, not to say childish. We do not refer to the words, for what could be worse than those of the imperial hymn. We refer to the music, which ranks with "Tommy Dodds" and "Put Me in My Little Bed." It served its time, however. "O Canada!" is admittedly inoffensive, but mediocre. There is nothing either solemn or stirring about it. Let us have something at once artistic and musical. We have musicians enough. Why do some of the great journals such as The Montreal Star, the Toronto papers, La Patrie or La Presse not inaugurate a "concours musicale" with that end in view? "O Canada!" is not half bad, but why should we not have something good? Could not his Excellency help us out?

A NEW LIGHT

In America we are so accustomed to think that we are so much more in the light than the poor benighted heathen of the elder countries that the possible introduction of a new light to the American and Canadian public from those dark lands will provoke a smile. The "flaming arc" unlike the carbon arc, is not so glary as the latter, but gives much more light and distributes that light to a much greater advantage. Its efficiency is much greater. In Germany this light is in general use. In England it is being rapidly introduced. In Canada it has not yet been more than heard of. The arc lamp, such as we have, will be, or ought to be, superseded at the termination of the present franchise, by this magnificent improvement. The proper method of placing it is said to be high in the air where, like another sun, the agreeable light is more widely diffused than at present. The expense attendant upon its installation is said to be not greater than that of the present light.

THE DEATH-ROLL

We of these modern times often wonder how the Persians and the Orientals generally could reconcile themselves to a repressive fatalism that strongly savored of a condition of slavery. To call it resignation is to misname it. Life was considered amongst the masses as the cheapest of commodities. It is so in China today, where for a yen a substitute can be found for any punishment up to and including the capital sort. It is so in the United States and Canada today. The "fatalities" as they are euphemistically called are frightfully numerous. Employees are slaughtered without mercy, simply because protective measures are dearer than lives. The modern despot is the powers that assume to govern and represent the people. If they are doing their best to protect their clients we are truly smitten hip and thigh. The truth is that the whole affair is a scandal but it will never be righted until the people themselves right it and meanwhile what else can we expect! We are reaping the harvest of our own neglect.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A New York journal savagely attacks the tendency in the United States to create a privileged class—the murderers.

Private advices say that when "oor curlers" appeared in Scotland in Tamo that the natives "askit whar the imitation Scotchmen cam frae." It was a severe blow which "oor curlers" have taken ample vengeance for.

"I believe in God and in the ultimate victory of good, but I have little admiration for those easy-going optimists who treat such a question lightly and by comforting themselves with the supposition that everything will turn out all right, just let things go."—Prof. Cross of McMaster University.

"But though the present situation was somewhat paralleled by the position of Christians in Europe 1500 years ago, it is far more serious. Then the issue related to a little more than half of the small continent of Europe; now it relates to the whole world."

The faith of the unified world will be settled in a decade. What shall the councils of the nations decide upon—Christianity, or Humanism, the worship of a providential God or the esteem of virtue FOR ITS OWN SAKE?

At Ste. Scholastique, a French-Canadian judge sent to gaol for eight days a man who applauded in court upon the acquittal of his son. "Justice" surely might have been a little bit deaf as well as blind upon such an occasion. It is very amusing to read of such punctiliousness in little things when the country at large is rotten to the core as Judge Cassels says. Had the grateful father been a banker or a railway magnate, it is 6 to 1 with no takers that the Judge would have shaken hands with the father and also with the son. It is such absurdities as these that make the administration of "law" ridiculous.

CHAPPED FROM FINGERS TO ELBOWS

Boy's Agony Relieved by Zam-Buk

If you are suffering from badly-chapped hands you will be able to comprehend a little of the agony which Henry Walker, of 14 Manufacturers street, Montreal, endured before Zam-Buk gave him relief. His mother, telling of the case to a Press representative, said:—

"Henry works with his shirt sleeves rolled up above his elbows, and passing from a warm room to the biting cold, as he was obliged to do, he got the worse case of chapped hands and arms I have ever seen. From his fingers to his elbows was one mass of raw flesh, with bad cracks here and there. Whenever he washed, it brought tears to his eyes, the pain was so acute. He tried several kinds of salves, but nothing relieved him really until he tried Zam-Buk. This balm seemed to take away the burning and smarting almost at once. The cracks began to heal, and a few applications of the balm cured him. His hands and arms are now smooth and soft.

"We have also used Zam-Buk for other emergencies. I sustained a burn on one of my fingers. Zam-Buk took the fire out and healed up the sore. It really seems a wonderful household preparation.

"On one occasion my son Harry had his foot frozen. It was very swollen and discolored, but Zam-Buk both relieved the swelling and removed the discoloration. Zam-Buk is so handy and so effective that we shall always keep a supply handy."

Miss Hattie Bertrand, of Salisbury, Ont., says:—"Every winter I suffer from chapped hands, but I have found a cure in Zam-Buk. Applied night at night, it heals the cracks by morning, and takes away all the soreness."

Similar effects follow its use for eczema, scalp sores, blood-poisoning, ulcers, ringworm, children's sores, cuts, burns and bruises. It also cures piles. All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Denman Thompson Ill.

Peas Choked Infant.

London, Feb. 9.—Herbert William Jolly, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jolly, recently out from England, choked to death Sunday night by swallowing a handful of peas with which he was playing.

OF INTEREST

French Canadian Folklore.

I have an intimate friend at Tadoussac, where Jacques Cartier first landed in September 1535 —mountainous Tadoussac, where the dark and mysterious Saguenay joins the river. My friend, Jean Baptiste Morin, crosses his beef-moccasined legs before the blazing pineknots, and stuffing his corncob pipe with pungent home cured tobacco, tells me tales—tales that vary according to the wind. With the southwesterly gale to the roar of the great waves pounding on the rocky shore without his "cabane" door he loves to "raconte," with shuddering awe how he once saw the phantom canoe with its four occupants, glide from Isle aux Coudres to the mainland on a smooth track, amid the foaming waters rising mountain high on either side.

"J'avais dix ou quinze ans, ca fait rien," grunts the slightly indefinite Jean Baptiste, crossing himself, "wen I see de canot of de good Pere Labrosse who tell de mass of Tadoussac, in 1615, he go for die at 'minuit' dat night, and dey mus' get quick for him de pries' at Isle aux Coudres. Dat win she blow—Mon dieu! c'etait terrible dat night. Four gens dey each say 'C'est pour moi,' but after pray de good sainte dey go down to de big canot of le pere Labrosse and above out 'les femme comme de coutume, dey fall on dere knees and pray; den sudden a great big 'lumiere' shin' out, an' dere along a chemin smooth lak' de ice road in winter, went dose four men in dat big canot safe and sound straight to de Isle aux Coudres. Dere on de plage le pere Brossard he stan.' 'Je suis pret,' he cry—mes enfants, de good Saint she tell me for be ready for I am went chez Tadoussac.' And as he jump in the canot start back de bell in dat Chapelle—and dere was no one in dat chapelle —she ring and ring like nevare for stop. An' wen dose five man at Tadoussac, the big 'lumiere' she go and de great waves dey crash down on dat smooth pat,' and de bells dey ring and ring in every Chapelle on de banks of de riviere dat night—de fun'ral ring—and no man he touch dose rope. Den all de peoples—les sauvages pi' tout—dey follow le pere Brossard, dey climb up an' up and as dey get to de lil' Chapelle top of de grand Mamelon de sun he com' up behind de montagne —la porte etait ouverte—and dere, on de alter step, under la sainte Vierge, lay de good pere Labrosse, dead —an' he smile lak he ver' glad he dead—and de cross mak' shadow over him in de sunlight, and dat shadow still dere; an' me wen I was lil' boy, j'avais dix ou quinze ans, me I see dat canot wen de sout win' she blow one night —Mon Dieu, c'etait effrayant—and now when she blow an' ats ver' dark, Tors mon ame au bout d'un piquet, me j'reste dans ma cabane, and smoke ma pap and des foies—wen it's ver' bad, you bet, moi—J'dit mes prieres."

In the third category, the legends of Old France adopted by the New, we have the "Chasse-Galerie," as the most striking example. In Europe, whether in France, Holland, or in Germany, it means a mysterious coursing high through the air at night by evil phantoms in pursuit of phantom prey. It is also known in France as "Le Grand Veneur," and "Le Chasseur Noir." It developed into a Canadian legend through some pious habitants of St Jean Deschaillons seeing a mirage by brilliant moonlight one Christmas Eve on their way to midnight mass. Michel Dubois, of St Dominique, whose great grandfather once saw the "Chasse-Galerie," or phantom bark, paddled by the twelve lost souls, chilled my brothers' and my young blood with the tale one bitter night, as he drove us, rolled in our buffalo robes, in our burleau down our frozen river, it was 25 below zero and absolutely windless —frost drew the iron nails of our sleigh like pistol shots in that awful stillness—Michel's freezing breath whitened his bushy eyebrows and his eyelashes, from out of which his coal-black eyes gleamed uncannily in the radiant starlight. "C'etait des mauvais hommes —des voyageurs du pays en haut," he whispered, "Dose shantymen up pas Bytown dey was wil' fellers. C'etait le soir avant Noel—dey was mad avec le whisky blanc—and dey think pret' 'ard of dere best girl an' de fun after Mass at St Rosalie, four hun'red mile away, dat night. Den Martin Lenoux he cry 'Viens mes braves au was' mettre le Bon Dieu en cache —den le's give our soul to le Diable an' 'chasse-galerie' to St. Rosalie tonight to de reveillon chez Pierre Roule.' Dey all shout 'Oui oui, moi —si.' Den mes enfants dose twelve los' voyageurs claimb up a great big pine tree and jump into the big canot de debit he have all ready; off dey go—le diable he steer—dey paddle lak' for mad; de wolf below he 'owl as over de big foret, over de gran' lac dey fly—no steeple must be approached—no 'oly word or sacred name spoke, or dey all go crash down. Dey fly on—on! and bien vite ils arrive chez le reveillon apres la Masse at St. Rosalie—dey dance de gigue simple l'ail-de-pigeons, tout ca—dey drink la sangree—den sudden a cock he crow, an' avec un cri terrible dey all run out; an' de people of St. Rosalie wen dey run out of Pierre Roule dey see one great big canot go up—up 500 pieds—off au Nord—an' ces douze voyageurs dey paddle and le diable he steer and dey all sing lak dey was crazy, and dose people of St. Rosalie dey shake an' dey listen:

Mais n'yra personn' que ceux qui sav danser
Vogue marinier, vogue,
Vogue beau Marinier.

"Mais peutetre tu a peur mes enfants?" said the repentant Michel who saw we were shivering. We decidedly had "peur," and the lights of home never gleamed so soothingly as on that cruel cold night in that long ago Christmas week.

Another of these imported legends is "The Mass of the Ghost." The late M. Chauveau, speaking at the Canadian Institute in Quebec in 1877, places the incident in the Canadian Parish of l'Islet. The Abbe Plinquet, in "Les Bulletins des Recherches Historiques," places it at Ile Dupas, near Montreal. The tale is that a singularly brilliant midnight illumination of the parish church being annually noticed five brave habitants of Ile Dupas determined to solve the mystery and, proceeding to the sanctuary, were frozen with horror on entering to see at the foot of the altar a skeleton priest in full canonicals celebrating mass. All the men fled—but one, Jacques Valois, bravely returned and repeated the responses. When all was over and His Skeleton Reverence had bowed to the Cross—he turned towards Valois saying "For three years I have come here to say over a mass I once omitted—being condemned to do so until I should find a person brave enough to serve the mass. I thank you, for now my penance is at an end." And so saying he vanished. Both Louis Frechette and the late William Maclennan heard the same legend told in France at Pellerin, on the Loire Superieure, 15 miles from Nantes, where once stood an ancient chapel known as the Chapelle de Bethleem. There the ghostly mass had been celebrated for two hundred years before a brave coachman, assisting at the celebration, freed the unfortunate spirit of its penance.

HEADACHES ARE DANGER SIGNALS

They Tell Us Plainly That Something Is Wrong Inside.

There are tablets and powders that will stop a headache promptly—but removing a danger signal does not take away the danger.

In nearly every case a headache—of whatever kind—is a symptom of poisoned blood, due to Bowels, Kidneys and Skin failing to thoroughly remove indigestible food and waste, worn-out tissue from the body. Then digestion is poor, causing sick headaches, or uric acid is formed and deposited on the nerves, causing neuralgia.

Not only the danger signal, but the danger itself as well, is quickly removed by "Fruit-a-tives."

"Fruit-a-tives" are tablets made of the combined juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, containing all their medicinal properties, concentrated and intensified. They cause the liver to secrete more bile, which moves the bowels freely and regularly, and cures the most obstinate cases of Constipation. They stir up kidneys and skin to throw off all the urea, or dead tissue, which has been poisoning the system. They sweeten the stomach, improve digestion and tone up the whole body. The headaches disappear—because the source is removed. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Trial size, 25c. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

At this time Bansemer lived in comfort at one of the middle class boarding houses uptown, and the boy was just leaving the kindergarten for a private school. Bansemer's calloused heart had one tender chamber, and in it dwelt the little lad with the fair hair and gray eyes of the woman who had died.

Late one November afternoon just before Bansemer put on his light topcoat to leave the office for the day Droom tapped on the glass panel of the door to his private office. Usually the clerk communicated with him by signal, a floor button by which he could acquaint his master with much that he ought to know, and the visitor in the outer office would be none the wiser. The occasions were rare when he went so far as to tap on the door. Bansemer was puzzled and stealthily listened for sounds from the other side. Suddenly there came to his ears the voices of women, mingled with Droom's suppressed but always raucous tones.

Bansemer opened the door. Looking into the outer office, he saw Droom swaying before two women, rubbing his hands and smiling. One of the women carried a small babe in her arms. Neither she nor her companion seemed quite at ease in the presence of the lank guardian of the outer office.

CHAPTER IV.

"LADY to see you," announced Droom. The shrewd, fearless genius of the inner room glanced up quickly and met the prolonged, uncanny gaze of his clerk. Unwillingly his eyes fell.

"Confound it, Lias! Will you ever quit looking at me like that? There's something positively creepy in that stare of yours!"

"Lady to see you," repeated the clerk, shifting about uneasily and then gliding away to take his customary look at the long row of books in the wall cases. He had performed this act a dozen times a day for more than five years. The habit had become so strong that chains could not have restrained him. It was what he considered a graceful way of dropping out of notice, at the same time giving the impression that he was constantly busy.

"Are you Mr. Bansemer?" asked the woman with the babe in her arms as he crossed into the outer office.

For a moment Bansemer purposely remained absorbed in the contemplation of his finger nails; then he shot a sudden, comprehensive glance which took in the young woman, her burden and all the supposed conditions. There was no doubt in his mind that here was another "paternity case," as he catalogued them in his big black book.

"I am," he replied shortly, for he usually made short, quick work of such cases. There was not much money in them at best. "Would you mind coming in tomorrow? I'm just leaving for the day."

"It will take but a few minutes, sir, and it would be very hard for me to get away again tomorrow," said the young woman nervously. "I'm a governess in a family way uptown, and my days are not very free."

"Is this your baby?" asked Bansemer, more interested. The word governess appealed to him. It meant that she had to do with wealthy people at least.

"No—that is—well, not exactly," she replied confusedly. The lawyer looked at her so sharply that she flinched under his gaze. A kidnaper, thought he, with the quick cunning of one who deals in stratagems. Instinctively he looked about as if to make sure that there were no unnecessary witnesses to share the secret.

"Come into this room," said he suddenly. "Both of you. See that we are not disturbed," he added to Droom. "I think I can give you a few minutes, madam, and perhaps some very good advice. Be seated," he went on, closing the door after them. His eyes rested on Droom's face for an instant as the door closed, and he saw a particularly irritating grin struggling on his thin lips. "Now, what is it? Be as brief as possible, please. I'm in quite a hurry."

It occurred to him at this juncture that the young woman was not particularly distressed. Instead, her rather pretty face was full of eagerness, and there was a certain lightness in her manner that puzzled him for the moment. Her companion was the older of the two and quite as prepossessing. Both were neatly dressed, and both looked as though they were or had been breadwinners. If they had a secret it was now quite evident to this shrewd, quick thinker that it was not a dark one. In truth, he was beginning to feel that something mischievous lurked in the attitude of the two visitors.

"I want to ask how a person has to proceed to adopt a baby," was the blunt and surprising remark that came from the one who held the infant. Bansemer felt himself getting angry.

"I want to ask how a person has to proceed to adopt a baby."

"Who wants to adopt it?" he asked shortly.

"I do, of course," she answered, so readily that the lawyer stared. He scanned her from head to foot critically; her face reddened perceptibly. It surprised him to find that she was more than merely good looking. She was positively attractive!

"Are you a married woman?" he demanded.

"Yes," she answered, with a furtive glance at her companion. "This is my sister," she added.

"I see. Where is your husband?"

"He is at home, or, rather, at his mother's home. We are living there now."

"I thought you said you were a governess?"

"That doesn't prevent me from having a home, does it?" she explained easily. "I'm not a nurse, you know."

"This isn't your child, then?" he asked impatiently.

"I don't know whose child it is." There was a new softness in her voice that made him look hard at her while she passed a hand tenderly over the sleeping babe. "She comes from a foundlings' home, sir."

"You cannot adopt a child unless supported by some authority," he said. "How does she happen to be in your possession, and what papers have you from the foundlings' home to show that the authorities are willing that you should have her? There is a lot of red tape about such matters, madam."

"I thought perhaps you could manage it for me, Mr. Bansemer," she said plaintively. "They say you never fail at anything you undertake." He was not sure there was a compliment in her remark, so he treated it with indifference.

"Can't you tell me how I'll have to proceed? I must adopt the child, sir, one way or another." Her manner was more subdued, and there was a touch of supplication in her voice.

"Oh, you go into the proper court and make application, that's all," he volunteered carelessly. "The judge will do the rest. Does your husband approve of the plans?"

"He doesn't know anything about it."

"What's that?"

"My dear madam, I don't believe I understand you quite clearly. You want to adopt the child and keep the matter dark so far as your husband is concerned? May I inquire the reason?" Bansemer naturally was interested by this time.

"If you have time to listen, I'd like to tell you how it all comes about. It won't take long. I want some one to tell me just what to do, and I'll pay for the advice, if it isn't too expensive. I'm very poor, Mr. Bansemer. Perhaps you won't care to help me after you know that I can't afford to pay very much."

"We'll see about that later," he said brusquely. "Go ahead with the story."

The young woman hesitated, glanced nervously at her sister as if for support and finally faced the expectant lawyer with a flash of determination in her dark eyes. As she proceeded Bansemer silently and somewhat disdainfully made a study of the speaker. He concluded that she was scarcely of common origin and was the possessor of a superficial education that had been enlarged by conceitedness. Furthermore, she was a person of selfish instincts, but without the usual cruel impulses. There was little, if any, sign of true refinement in the features, and yet there was a strange strength of purpose that puzzled him. As her story progressed he solved the puzzle. She had the strength to carry out a purpose that might further her own personal interests, but not the will to endure sacrifice for the sake of another. Her sister was larger and possessed a reserve that might have been mistaken for deepness. He felt that she was hardly in sympathy with the motives of the younger, more volatile woman.

"My husband is a railroad engineer and is ten years older than I," the narrator said in the beginning. "I wasn't quite nineteen when we were married, two years ago. For some time we got along all right; then we began to quarrel. He commenced to"—

"Mr. Bansemer is in a hurry, Fan," broke in the older sister sharply, and then, repeating the lawyer's words, "Be as brief as possible."

There was a world of reproach in the look which greeted the speaker. Evidently it was a grievous disappointment not to be allowed to linger over the details.

"Well," she continued half pettishly, "it all ended by his leaving home, job and everything. I had told him that I was going to apply for a divorce. For three months I never heard from him."

"Did you apply for a divorce?" asked the lawyer, stifling a yawn.

To Be Continued.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

GIRLS' GUILD OF GEORGE ST. CHURCH

Interesting Meeting at the Home of Mrs. Shortly—Miss McGuffin Tells of Work of Mission in China

The Girl's Guild of George street church held a very interesting meeting last evening at the residence of their vice-president, Mrs. Benjamin Shortley. There was a large attendance of the members. The President, Mrs. James Kendrey, was in the chair and reports were received from the Charity Committee in regard to relief work.

After all business had been dealt with Miss McGuffin, a former missionary to China, from the Methodist church, gave a short talk on the work amongst the Chinese women. Miss McGuffin was listened to with much interest and the Guild was much pleased to have her with them.

IMPORTANT ADVICE
TO
THREE PLAIN FACTS.
I.—That more eyes are injured by the injudicious use of Glass than by any other known cause.
II.—That a great number of people are wearing spectacles unsuitable for them, and for which their eyes have not been tested.
III.—That the old fashioned and unscientific method of testing the eyes by trying on various spectables of different strengths until the sight is apparently suited, is to say the least of it, dangerous.
It cannot be too forcibly impressed upon the minds of those who suffer from defective eyesight that proper lenses and correctly fitting frames are absolutely essential for comfortable spectacle wearing. We grind our own lenses. Charges moderate.

GRAND CONCERT AT COLLEGIATE LAST EVENING

First Annual Event of the Athletic Association—An Excellent Programme

The Athletic Association of the Collegiate Institute held their first concert last evening. It was in every way a great success, and it is putting it mildly when it is said that the excellent programme was thoroughly enjoyed. Judging from the hearty applause that greeted each number, the audience was well pleased and in several instances encores were demanded.

The spacious assembly hall was well filled with the parents and friends of the pupils and it must be indeed very gratifying and encouraging to the scholars to know that their entertainment was appreciated.

The choruses by the boys and girls were exceptionally well given, the voices blending in perfect harmony. The singing showed careful training on the part of the instructress, Miss Helen Davies. The newly organized school orchestra rendered a selection splendidly, their playing being the subject of much favorable comment.

Mr L. M. Hayes, chairman of the Board of Education, acted as chairman of the evening and introduced the following numbers;

PART ONE

Instrumental selection by school orchestra.
Solo—Miss Helen Davies.
Violin solo—Miss E. Palmer.
Reading—Miss Stinson.

PART TWO

Selection by orchestra.
Boys chorus.
Reading—Miss W. Blewett.
Violin solo—Miss K. Wallis.

Proposed to Hold Big Gathering at Ottawa in Near Future

Ottawa, Feb 10—It is very probable that one of the largest YMCA gatherings ever convened in Canada will mark the first winter of the Ottawa Association in their new building. At the regular monthly meeting of the board of directors last night a letter was read from the provincial committee suggesting that a provincial convention of Ontario and Quebec should be held in this city some time during next winter. It is desired to hold a gathering which will make its influence felt from ocean to ocean and the central committee consider the Capital the spot for the holding of such a convention.

BLAMING THE WRONG MAN

Special to the Review.

Keene, Feb 9—A number of the citizens of this place are rather indignant over some items penned by the Keene correspondent of the Peterborough Times, under the heading of 'The Sons of Rest.' Now, Thomas McIntyre informs us that he is accused of being fundamental in the composition and penning of these items. By way of refutation he asks us to kindly favor him by inserting the following;

"I emphatically deny writing these or any other items, nor did I take any part either directly or indirectly in the composition of any items for the Keene correspondent. If I had done so I would own up to it like a man and not try to burden my uncalled for jests on innocent shoulders."

SPECIALTIES ARE STRONG FEATURE

A strong feature of the Power Stock Co. is the splendid bill of specialties which supply bright entertainment and amusement between the acts. The vaudeville features are above the average of those given by repertoire companies and have been thoroughly appreciated by the large audiences that attended the plays Monday night and last night.

"Sunshine and Shadow" was last night's offering. The different members of the company took their parts splendidly and the presentation was much appreciated. It is generally conceded that the Power Stock Company is the best representative organization that has filled an engagement at the Grand.

To-night an exceedingly funny comedy in three acts "The Whole Damm Family" will be presented. Tomorrow the play will be "The Heart of a Hero" and on Friday the sensational New York success "The Devil" will be given when full returns of the Lindsay-Peterborough game in Lindsay will be announced as the match progresses.

DANIEL RYAN NEXT WEEK

Monday at the Grand Opera House, Daniel Ryan will open a week's engagement with "A Royal Lover" as the offering. Mr Ryan's appearance will be greeted with pleasure by the many patrons who have witnessed his previous performances. His plays are clean and meritorious and enhanced as they are by his splendid scenic equipment, they afford an excellent night's entertainment. "A Royal Lover" is said to contain a charming love story and the play vibrates with thrilling and dramatic episodes, the interest of the audience being maintained from the very start until the final drop of the curtain.

As the leading character, Mr Ryan's acting and interpretations are powerful and finished and he well deserves the popularity which he has attained. His various productions are said to rival many high priced attractions.

RINK MANAGEMENT NOT TO BLAME FOR WHAT HAPPENED

At noon to-day the one hundred reserved seats in the centre of the west side of Brock street rink, the price of which is fifty cents each, had been disposed of. It has since developed that speculators have been at work as it is said that private parties have been offering the tickets for sale around town at a dollar each. Some fault has been found with the rink management for allowing the tickets to get into the hands of speculators. The management are not to blame however. They had no idea that speculators would be at work and no suspicion was aroused owing to the fact that no person purchased a large number of the tickets.

Only the one hundred reserved seats have been sold. The 25c and 35c tickets will be placed on sale at the rink this evening and to prevent any speculation not more than six tickets will be sold to any one person.

The prices for to-morrow night's game are the same as those which prevailed for the game last Friday night. It is unfortunate that some of the reserved seat tickets got into the hands of the speculators but the public will no doubt look upon the matter in the proper light.

MR. R. M. WADDELL WAS VICE SKIP ON WINNING RINK

Glasgow, Jan. 27.—Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the play of the Canadian curlers against Scottish teams during the past few days has been the varying fortunes of the visitors. This, however, is explained to some extent by the composition of the teams that have been opposing them. When I wrote on Saturday last they had played for a day and a half against a team composed of curlers drawn from different parts of Scotland, and when the mail left they had still the afternoon to play before the match was concluded. The sides were well matched, and at the interval there was a majority of 18 in favor of the Canadians. On Friday's scoring Scotland had a majority of 9, so that it seemed as if the visitors were improving in their play as they became accustomed to the new conditions. Saturday afternoon, however saw the position almost reversed, as the score at the close of the day stood: Canadians 190; Scots 189. As Friday's scores were: Canadians 170; Scots, 179; this gave totals for the match of: Canadians 360; Scots, 368; a majority of 8 in favor of the home players.

At the close of the play, Rev. John Kerr, of Dirleton, said they were all delighted that in their first game in Scotland the Canadains curlers had done so well. If Scotland was to win her men would have to play their very best. Mr. A. Logan replied for the visitors.

Monday's play resulted in a complete turning of the tables, and a great victory for the Canadian team. They met the Scots who visited Canada some years ago, and scored 119 to their opponents 52. All through the game there was no doubt as to which side was winning. It was said that the ice was too keen for the Scots but the visitors certainly showed much superior skill and except Sir H. Ballantyne, of Peebles, there was not a home player on the ice capable of trying conclusions with them. Of the 24 players who toured Canada no fewer than 20 took part in Monday's match. Rev. John Kerr was captain of the home team, and Mr. H. G Wills, of Montreal, of the Canadians, in the absence of Lieut. Governor Cameron Fraser.

In rink No. 3 competition the Canadians won by 19 shots to 6. Mr. R. M. Waddell, Peterborough's representative on the tour was vice skip for the winning rink.

The score:

R. L. Patterson, Toronto.	D. Provand, Stewarton.
T. J. Hamilton, Fergus.	Mark Sanderson, Duddingston.
R. M. Waddell, Peterborough.	D. R. Gordon, Bathgate.
S. Rennie, Toronto.	R. Cousin, Merchiston.

Yankee Rogers, the famous Buffalo wrestler, will arrive in Toronto on Wednesday ready for his big match with Fritz Mohl at the Riverdale rink on Friday night. Mohl is one of the heaviest men in the business and came to this country with George Hackenschmidt four years ago. The wrestling fans in this city have never had a opportunity of seeing men who are at the top of their profession, and men of the Rogers-Mohl calibre can always be relied upon to wrestle and wrestle to win.

SPORTING TALK

What's puzzling the New York public is the inconsistency of allowing bookmakers to openly do business at the Longboat-Shrubb race and prohibit them from making books on the race tracks.

YOU CAN CURE CATARRH

J. H. Taylor, 54 Bond St., Toronto, Breathed Hyomei and Cured a Long-Standing Case of Chronic Catarrh That Defied All Other Remedies. Also Toronto and New York Specialists.

Without taking a drop of medicine into the stomach, J H Taylor, 54 Bond street, Toronto, tells how the distressing troubles of catarrh were overcome by simply inhaling Hyomei air. It's the history of tens of thousands similar cases on record, proving that Hyomei can be depended upon to cure Catarrh, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, Croup. It has no equal for any distress of the breathing organs:

Mr. Taylor says: "Some years ago while on a hunting trip in Northern Canada. I contracted as evere cold that settled in my head and finally affected my throat. It rapidly developed into catarrh and caused a miserable throat weakness. My head would become clogged during the night and there was a catarrhal dropping from the nose into the throat. Many days I had been unable to breathe other than through my mouth and the constant hawking and spitting was almost unbearable. I had been treated by the best throat specialists here and in New York, but nothing benefitted my condition. I obtained Hyomei and soon found relief, the throat dropping ceased and my head began to clear. I continued with Hyomei for six weeks and after that time I was well in every detail. There has been no return of the trouble since, and I feel grateful in speaking well of Hyomei as it cured me when all else failed."

A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1 and Wm. Madill, druggist, will refund your money if it fails to cure.

"The company represent," says the memorandum, "that looking to the general development, it is essential that they should have money to pay for the added equipment that is sure to be required in order to keep pace with the progress of the country, and they ask for approval of an increase of $50,000,000 on the authorized capital, making the authorized issue $200,000,000.

"The Minister recommends that the application of the company be granted, provided that none of such new stock be issued at less than par; and, further, that no part of the capital so to be raised shall be applied to the construction of any works outside of Canada.

"The Minister further recommends that the said $50,000,000 of stock shall not be deemed capital expended in construction, and the power of the Parliament of Canada or the Governor-General in council to reduce the tolls upon the railway of the company shall in no wise be affected."

WILD TIME ON A SPECIAL HOCKEY FANS CUT LOOSE

Lindsay, Feb. 9.—There was a warm time around Barrie last night, according to G.T.R. Detective W. E. Scott, who was in town to-day as a witness in the trial of the two Lindsay men implicated in the "scrap" on the G.T.R. special to Peterborough, last Friday night. Collingwood played a sudden death game to decide the championship of that district, and excursion trains were run from both towns to Barrie where the game was played. Detective Scott has been detailed for duty on the hockey specials owing to the spirit of uproarious riotousness which pervades the crowds on board such excursions, and was on the train from Collingwood to Barrie last night. He says that the crowd fairly went wild. The men inflamed by whiskey started innumerable fights and several arrests were made. Whiskey bottles flew in every direction and pandemonium reigned for a while. Collingwood's victory seemingly went to the heads of the team's rooters.

The railway is determined to put down rowdiness on hockey specials and hence the presence of detectives.

MISS McGUFFIN GAVE A VERY IMPRESSIVE ADDRESS

The address given by Miss McGuffin of Toronto, at the opening meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the George street Methodist church yesterday, was an earnest and most impressive one. The speaker addressed the meeting, which was a public one and largely attended, on the great need of workers at home and abroad in the Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

At home the parents should pray and give of their means and of their daughters. It was necessary that young women take an active part in the work on account of the great need of young lady teachers, nurses and doctors in West China and of trained nurses on the Pacific Coast. The address was most interesting and was listened to with great attention. At its conclusion a young lady who is attending the Normal School offered herself as a teacher in West China.

Previous to the address Mrs. Davidson sang "Just for a Day," and Mrs. Frances Manning rendered "I'll Go Wherever You Want Me to Go." Miss Gladys Pentland recited "The Gift of a Doll." All of the above numbers were much appreciated. Mrs. E. A. Pearson presided at the meeting.

LOTS OF SEATS

There are lots of 25 and 35 cent seats left for the game to-night. Those sold out are only one hundred and thirty-five 50 cent and reserved seats.

THE CONTEST IS WARMING UP FOR THE FRIENDLY STRUGGLE

Have You Pledged Your Support to Your Friend?—If not, Prepare to do so—Secure Your Voting Certificate Now, Vote it any Time Before March 22.

Everyone has commenced to realize that this contest is a huge affair and that it will take some hustling to be in the lead at the finish.

It is not hard to get votes. All that is necessary is work and determination. Let you friends know that you really mean to compete and you will find them ready to assist you. But they will not give subscriptions to the half-hearted ones who have expectations of winning and act accordingly. Go in to win and make your friends believe that you are going to win and then they will feel you are the particular one in this contest whom it will pay to support.

More About the Trip

To those who have never traveled and believe they should "see their own country first" we would say this is a laudable desire as everyone should if possible, travel both in their own country and Europe. If, however, it is a choice between the two we would recommend the foreign tour. With the exception of a few great works of nature in our own country, the cities, the scenery and the people would not be unlike those in our own province. In foreign lands the tourist is continually meeting with monuments of history and works of art of world wide fame. As a means of education, nothing compares with foreign travel. Because you have not seen your neighbors at home is no reason why you should not make a tour abroad among strange people.

The number of persons in this excursion is limited so that all may receive personal attention, and in each party there is sure to be found kindred spirits with whom it may be agreeable to associate while those who prefer more independent action have the fullest freedom. Perfect liberty can be enjoyed but there is always pleasant association for those who desire it.

The gentlemen who conduct this excursion have been carefully selected. They are gentlemen of sufficient education and culture to be able to afford valuable information and to deal with difficulties while their long experience and intimate acquaintance with the routes enable them to be of very great service to members of the party.

The directors are pleased to give special attention to ladies travelling alone, so that ladies unaccompanied by gentlemen need not hesitate joining the excursion. The routes of travel offers a most agreeable variety of scenery as well as an opportunity to visit the great cities of Edinburgh, Glasgow, London, and Paris. The lover of magnificent scenery and pleasing landscapes, the antiquarian, the artist, the student of natural history and the pleasureseeker will alike have an opportunity to gratify his inclination. And what can be more attractive as a vacation among old European cities, connected, as they are, with the most stirring events in the history of the world? Every foot of this journey in Europe will be over historic ground. Marks of the bloody French revolution, the Tower of London, Westminster Abbey, the last resting place of the renowned kings and queens of England—these and much more lie in the pathway of the tour.

Attention is called to the delightful experience of a voyage across the Atlantic. The best possible opportunities are offered for recreation and enjoyment. During the day games may be participated in on deck or the tourist may enjoy the comforts of a steamer chair while enjoying the ever-changing phases of the scenes. The evenings may be spent in the music room or in the grand saloon, where pleasant conversation will serve to while away the time most agreeably. The time spent on the voyage is never dull or tedious. Numbers of flying fish are seen skimming over the surface of the water, and porpoises plunging through the waves while the festive whale sprouts for the entertainment of the voyagers.

New Nomination

William A. Mowry, of 457 Cedar street entered the contest to-day. Thus is the prediction being fulfilled that the men's list in the city will be a good one. Every list stands an equal chance to carry off the high prize, and every list is independent except for the trip or piano, and is sure of two awards regardless of the vote in any other list.

The men in the county seem a little slow in coming to the front. It is not too late to enter the contest, and there are too many wide-awake gentelmen in the county to miss the grand chance offered by the Review to gather in two fine prizes with a little effort. Who will be the next one to come from "under cover" in the men's list in the county?

The following is the vote to date:—

URGES A PROPAGANDA TO BRING BACK QUEBECKERS

Mr. Paquette Discusses Matter in House.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux Replies That Tariff Policy Has Checked the Exodus.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—Urging an active propaganda for the repatriation of French-Canadians residing in the United States, Dr. Paquette (Conservative, L'Islet), started a discussion in the House which occupied nearly the whole of the afternoon. The debate was in French.

Mr. Lemieux, replying, said the Liberals by their tariff had stopped the exodus to the United States, and started the movement of emigration to the Canadian west. The Postmaster-General did not think the priests of the New England States would support a movement to scatter their flocks.

F. D. Monk followed with a criticism of the character of immigration that is pouring into the west. He ridiculed the idea that the tariff had anything to do with the exodus, and claimed that French-Canadians were still leaving the country.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur quoted statistics to show that the French-Canadian population of the New England states was diminishing.

Many other Quebec members took part in the discussion. The resolution was finally adopted.

Before this, however, some questions were answered. Mr. Armstrong was informed by the Postmaster-General that the number of mail and stage routes in Canada on March 31 last was 8,091; the total number of miles traveled in the year being 17,102,214.

Mr. Graham said in answer to Mr. Gervais that the Government had not entered into an agreement with regard to the construction of a branch line between Montreal and the G.T.P., nor was it about to make such an agreement.

Mr. Marshall was informed that in four years the sum of $16,458 had been expended on Port Bruce harbor and the matter of expending money on dock this year was under consideration.

"I am sorry, but my hon. friend will have to wait for the budget speech," said Sir Wilfrid, replying to Mr. Blain, who asked if it was the intention to increase the tariff on hogs coming into Canada from the United States.

Mr. Fisher, replying, to Mr. Perley, said the total expenditure from 1904 to 1908 for animals slaughtered was $1,[illegible]. There was no compensation for the slaughter of animals on account of bovine tuberculosis.

Major Sharpe (North Ontario) was told by Sir Frederick Borden that no militia officers in Ontario supplied at their own expense armories for storing the property of the Government, but 188 officers were paid an allowance for the credit of arms and they were required to provide accommodation out of that allowance. It was the policy of the Government to supply armories at company's headquarters of infantry regiments, but in carrying out this policy it was necessary to have regard to localities and the militia appropriation.

Col. Sam Hughes gives notice of a resolution declaring "that the best interests of Canada as well as of each component part of the British Empire would be served by a full partnership union of Great Britain and Ireland and the colonies of Canada, New Zealand, Australia, South Africa and India, wherein each retaining under its own control all matters specially concerning it, all would unite on an equable and independent footing, in a full partnership union government, dealing only with intro-imperial, international, imperial fiscal and imperial defence questions."

George Talbot (Bellechasse), will query the Government concerning the address given by Major-General Sir Percy Lake in Toronto on Feb. 4.

TO BE TAKEN TO KINGSTON

Clas Mitchell, who yesterday was sentenced to three years in the Kingston Penitentiary will be taken to Kingston on Saturday morning. He will be in charge of the Deputy Sheriff, Mr. Fred Hall.

FREIGHT TRAINS ON GRAND TRUNK

Two Accidents Near Bowmanville ---No Persons Were Injured.

Bowmanville, Feb. 11.—Singularly contemporaneous were two accidents last night on the Grand Trunk between here and Darlington, three miles to the west. Two freight trains came to grief, one west bound, the other east bound, both through the breakage of trucks. It was about 9.45 when No. 744, westbound, broke down near Darlington station, with Conductor Cleverdon in charge. It is not possible to get full particulars, but it is known here that one car is derailed. The mail and express, eastbound, passed without difficulty, and proceeded from here without detention. Train No. 700, Conductor Young, eastbound, was stalled in the yard here at 10 o'clock by a broken truck and delayed the Montreal express, westbound, some time until the track was cleared. The line is open now and trains are running on a single track between the stations passed. No one was injured.

STORES BURN AT CHATHAM DAMAGE AMOUNTS TO $75,000

Conflagration in Ball's Dry Goods Store Spreads Until Three Places of Business Are Ruined—Two Firemen Overcome by Smoke.

Chatham, Feb. 11.—One of the most serious fires that this city has seen in years started yesterday afternoon at a quarter to five o'clock, in the basement of H. W. Ball's dry goods establishment on King street.

The alarm was promptly sounded, but it was not until 7 o'clock that the flames were got under control. Owing to the dense smoke the firemen could not reach the flames. The store was completely gutted and the stock is a complete loss. The firemen were able to keep the fire from spreading to the other buildings, although it looked for a time as if the whole block would have to go.

Three stores were damaged, the two adjoining the Ball establishment suffering from the smoke and water. The Ball stock is valued at $45,000. Nothing is saved. There is about $26,000 insurance.

The stock in G. W. Gowan's shoe store was damaged to the extent of $11,000, fully covered by insurance. The stock in Wm. Somerville's shoe store was damaged to the extent of $9,000, partly covered by insurance. The cellar of Cowan's store alone contained $7,000 worth of stock, and it is filled with water.

The loss on the Ball building, which is owned by Kenneth Urquhart, will be $8,000, fully covered by insurance. The office of W. B. Wells, the division court clerk, was also damaged by water and smoke. The living apartments of E. J. MacIntyre was damaged; loss $1,500.

It is estimated that the total loss will be fully $75,000.

A. Harker, an employe in the Ball store, was the first one to notice the fire. He rushed down to the basement and in trying to extinguish the flames he was very badly burned. He was driven to the street by the smoke. Parnell Welsh, another employe, was also burned in his efforts to assist Harker.

Ball himself was overcome by the smoke and had to be carried to a store across the street.

Arthur Darling and Geo. Pritchard, two firemen, were overcome by the smoke in their desperate fight. Darling, who was on a ladder on the second floor, fell to the street and sustained several serious injuries.

JUDGMENT IN FAVOR OF DOMINION STEEL COMPANY

Special to the Review.

Montreal, Feb. 11.—A London cablegram announces the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today gave judgment in favor of the Dominion Steel Company in its big fight against the Dominion Coal Company directing that the latter pay damages for the repudiation of its 90 years' contract to supply coal to the Steel Company at $1.24 per ton. The judgment orders the case to be remitted to the Supreme Court of Canada to have damages for repudiation of contract and for breaches committed before the repudiation assessed. The appellants are to pay the cost of the principal appeal but both parties are to pay their own costs in the cross appeal.

King Drinks Wine From Golden Cup.

In Address at Diplomatic Banquet He Makes Another Plea for International Peace.

Berlin, Feb. 11.—King Edward, who arrived here on Tuesday from London and was given a hearty reception by Emperor William and the people of Berlin, yesterday enjoyed the distinction of being the first foreign monarch who ever has been the guest of the Berlin municipality.

Shortly before noon His Majesty, dressed in the uniform of a Prussian general, proceeded in an automobile through the richly decorated streets of the city, to the Town Hall, where Mayor Kirschner and the other members of the city government greeted him at the head of the great stairway.

The King was then escorted to the spacious public reception hall, which was splendidly decorated with evergreens, shrubbery and wreaths and festoons of natural flowers. Here an assemblage of several hundred persons awaited the King.

According to the expressed wish of King Edward, no speeches were made. Herr Kirschner asked the King to accept a drink of honor from the city in a golden cup, and His Majesty, answering in the affirmative, the mayor's daughter handed him the beaker, filled with a rare wine, which King Edward emptied.

His Majesty then proceeded to the British embassy, where the ambassador, Sir William E. Goschen, gave a luncheon in his honor.

Previous to this repast His Majesty received a deputation from the British colony in Berlin, to present him with an address. In reply the King made an important speech, which he read from a manuscript. He said among other things:

"The hearty and enthusiastic welcome which the Queen and I met with in Berlin will surely find a grateful echo amongst my people on the other shore of the North Sea, and it will conduce to a consolidation of the friendly feelings between them and the German people, for whose culture and progress in the realms of art and music we all have a sincere and warm admiration. You who reside in this fine capital can do much to convince the Germans of the sincerity of our friendship towards them."

Her Majesty the Queen also was present at the luncheon and the guests included Chancellor von Buelow and his wife, Foreign Secretary von Scheon and all the foreign ambassadors in Berlin.

The Berlin press almost unanimously refrain from commenting on King Edward's visit. The slight references in the editorial columns, however, reecho the peaceful sentiments uttered by the monarchs.

CARNIVAL OPENS AT MONTREAL

Winter Fete Inaugurated Very Quietly---Governor-General is in Attendance.

Montreal, Feb. 11.—The winter carnival opened yesterday very quietly. Evening trains yesterday brought in a fair number of visitors, but they are hardly noticeable yet. Though the Governor-General is in town no formalities in connection with the carnival were observed.

There was plenty of skating and tobogganing going on, and the picturesque costumes of male and female snowshoers were seen in goodly numbers last night for a torch-light tramp over the mountain.

There are several features promised during the celebration. To-night the ice-palace will be stormed under support of the Montreal Field Battery.

Hundreds of quaintly dressed men carrying vari-colored torches will crowd about the glistening walls, and the lights of the Roman candles and the other pyrotechnical works will be reflected from the surface of the ice-palace.

The carnival will last for ten days.

TWO OFFICIALS HAVE RESIGNED

Commander Spain and J. F. Fraser Quit the Marine Service.

Ottawa, Feb. 11.—Following the report of Mr. Justice Cassels on the Marine Department, Commander Spain, Dominion wreck commissioner, and Mr. J. F. Fraser, commissioner of light, will step out of the Government service. Their resignations are now in the hands of Hon. Mr. Brodeur. Commander Spain will complete his reports with regard to several recent wreck investigations before vacating his office. Mr. Fraser has been under suspension for nearly a year, and his retirement from the service was a foregone conclusion as soon as Justice Cassels' report was presented. It will be remembered that in the case of both these officials Justice Cassels found the charges made against them sustained. In the case of other officials of the Department affected by the report, further action will be taken by the Minister of Marine in the near future.

It is probable that Admiral Kingsmill, head of the fisheries protection service, will succeed Commander Spain as wreck commissioner, combining both offices.

THE MARGARET COX SCHOOL FOR GIRLS, FORMERLY KNOWN AS "HAZEL BRAE."
This building, which is used as one of the distributing points for girls brought to Canada by Dr. Barnardo's Homes, has lately been enlarged and improved through the generosity of Hon. Senator Cox. A large wing has been added facing Barnardo-ave. It is shown in the left of the picture.

STEWART MAKES ATTEMPT TO OVERPOWER THE GUARDS

Special to the Review.

Shelburne, Feb. 11.—The trial of George Ernest Stewart, who murdered old John Stanhouse and Stanhouse's son in Melancthon township early on Sunday morning last, did not go on here to-day. Stewart last night twice attempted to overpower the guards in the Orangeville gaol when the men tried to give him his evening meal, and as a result it was decided not to bring him here until his future is decided upon.

The trial before Police Magistrate George Rutherford consequently, was adjourned and an investigation will be held under the Lunacy Act.

KNOX CONGREGATION TO BUILD NEW CHURCH DURING THE COMING SUMMER

At a largely attended congregational meeting at Knox church last evening it was unanimously decided to build a new church within the coming summer. The matter was brought up and discussed and in view of the large numbers that Sunday after Sunday throng the present church building it was seen that a new edifice would have to be erected.

The announcement of several large donations from friends outside the congregation towards the new church was made last evening. The managers and session were appointed a committee to have plans and specifications prepared and the meeting last night was adjourned until called again by the committee.

WHERE SAVAGES BEAT US

The rude, uncultured savage did not sit most of the day in a padded office chair, a carriage or car. His food was not prepared by a chef. He had to hunt for something to eat. And dinner, when he got it, was none too rich.

But the rude, uncultured savage did not suffer from indigestion, constipation, biliousness, headaches, as we civilised beings do. Exercise and the amount of fruit and fresh vegetables in his diet, kept liver, bowels and kidneys working right.

None of us want to go back to the days of wigwams and tomahawks but a lot of us certainly would like to have the digestion of the savages.

We can, by taking "Fruit-a-tives." "Fruit-a-tives" act directly on the stomach, liver, kidneys and skin, and keep these organs in perfect condition. "Fruit-a-tives" bring back lost appetite and sound digestion to the Dyspeptic—regulate the bowels of those who suffer from Constipation — and build up the whole system. Trial size 25c. Regular size 50c, or 6 for $2.50.

FAITH AND WORKS

"Professor Dawson regrets that the Church is neglecting a supreme opportunity to make men moral by fitting them to live as individuals and in society. 'Actuated by the sprit of its founder,' he writes, 'and dedicated to do his work, it certainly has been. Yet it has failed; and the evidence of its failure exists in the fact that to-day the greatest moral forces of civilization are outside the Church, and, in a large measure working independent of it.' This, if true is a very serious charge."

This quotation from an editorial of the Montreal Witness which has been devoting itself with great insight and zeal to the work of disillusionizing those who have been rejoicing in the supposed present day triumph of Christianity when as a matter of fact this country is without even a conscience, brings forcibly to the front the case in dispute. "Faith without works is dead." To sermonize a little let us ask what is meant by "works." Do they not mean the Christ-life? If so can the Christlife be said to prevail in Canada? And if not, then as thoughtful men in and out of the Church are crying everywhere in college, in chapel, in conference, in public meetings, in season and out of season, "Why does our own country show so poor a harvest?" The answer is involved in the basic principle of all faith, conduct or moral system. When a faith ceases to carry all around it it is useless to attempt to carry all before it. The science of religion has been cultivated to the neglect of the religious life which seems now indeed to be no longer necessary. The earnest humble Christlife having become the jest of an overriding and ruling world has been largely set aside in all departments of our national life. It does not matter that a few of the self-satisfied are annoyed at the revelations. Let them sleep. They can do more when sleeping than when awake

A POSITIVE DISGRACE

"Of the operatives employed in the Quebec cotton mills 42 per cent. are females and 26 per cent. persons under 18 years of age. In normal times under normal conditions work begins on week days at 6.15 a.m., continues until 12 noon, resumes at 12.45 and continues until six with the exception of Saturday when there is work only in the morning. Although the minimum age at which children can be employed is fixed by law at 14, several children were brought before the committee who admitted that they had entered upon employment under the legal age. Some of these children were unable to tell the year of their birth or their age. One little girl did not know the meaning of the word holiday. She had never received a week's vacation."

This is not a despatch from China nor a message from Mars. It is from the report of Mackenzie King, of the Department of Labor at Ottawa, upon conditions found in Eastern Canada in the year of disgrace, 1909. Is it not time that we gave up our windworn egotism for a little common sense and a little common decency? The spending of millions chiefly for the benefit of the millionaires seems to be the only way in which the Laurier Government is distinctly successful. The poor children have to be discovered or they are lost. If the theorists would go about and look for the sore spots in our own make-up it would be better for both and for the ultimate good of the outside world as well. It is by "their fruits" alone that they are known and esteemed. What are ours?

AND NOW THE GLOBE!

The garbled Borden telegram was one of those instances of depravity which allow weak minds to fancy that an advantage stolen is an advantage gained. A similar case of "stealing a march" occurred in the "Toronto Globe on Oct. 12th last, just about the time that the "masterly stroke" of the youthful garbler was getting in its deadly work at Victoria, B.C. There appeared in the Globe of that date a flaring item in appropriate headlines:—

"CANADAS CREDIT HIGH" ETC.

And more to the effect that Canada ranked equal with England and France in the English market respecting her loans.

All of which was a detestable lie, and as Mr. J. Ross Robertson, President of the Canadian Associated Press, points out:

"The wire from the London manager of the C.A.P. (previously given was confirmed by a letter in which he stated that the loan was not issued, not advertised in the Press, not referred to in any way by the London financial papers, and, further, that the despatch was sent to the Globe by its representative in London."

It is now surely up to the Globe to state why it allowed such a gross conspiracy to be worked up against Canada let alone the Conservative party. Who can believe the protestations of a journal that has allowed itself to fall into the habits of a common foot-pad? The University Magazine showed "Why the Conservative party failed in the last election," putting it all down to this despatch. Well! The final day may have been postponed by such trickery, but it will come all the same. Is it any wonder that Judge Cassels found that Canada was a country without a conscience, and that as a consequence it was useless to punish?

EDITORIAL NOTES

Reports from Ottawa are that the session will not outlast the month of March. Everything points that way.

In view of the strictures placed upon wrestling advertisements by the old men-women of the Toronto alleged morality department, we demand that they go further and suppress the abominable nakedness of cupid.

OF INTEREST

French Canadian Folklore.

By Mr. F. Ta lor. (Continued)

The loup-garou is the "wehr-wolf" of Canada, where a moral has been added to the older German legend—for with us the loup-garou is not a sorcerer who transforms himself into a wolf, but a sinner so punished for neglecting overlong his religious duties. Baptiste Le May, of St. Eustache,—Marie Louise Pichette told me she knew positively—did not partake of the Easter Sacrament for seven years, and became in consequence every night a loup-garou, and was only released from his terrible punishment by Mr. le Cure bravely facing the foaming and ferocious animal, crucifix in one hand and knife in the other, and striking through the furry hide until the blood flowed—the only cure for this awful affliction.

The legend most frequently told by the habitants connected with the fourth period—that is, of the time of the coming of the English and their conquest of Canada—is of the divinely inspired destruction of Sir Hovenden Walker's fleet whilst on its way up the river to attack Quebec. On August 22nd, 1711, news reached the hamlet of Anse-a-Gilles that English men-of-war, fire, and many other ships, in all about eighty, were approaching Cap St. Ignace, and that Quebec, already struggling against a large army on the North newly arrived from the great lakes, and quite unprepared for this river invasion, must fall.

Amidst general consternation the aged Cure came forth and called upon his despairing flock to hollow a niche in the great elm on the cliff overlooking the wide river—to therein place the statue of the Blessed Virgin rescued from their recently burned Church—and all unite in supplication to her known as the "Help of the Christians" to help annihilate the enemy. Loud and long rose the chorus of prayer from beneath that shady elm—the morning sun, already reddened by the smoke of bush fires, grew grim and grey—the wondering peasants led by the Cure prayed on as the mist thickened until even the Holy Mother in her new shrine was wrapped from sight—then a low penetratingly sweet voice said, "Have no more fears—thy prayers are answered." Then followed a long blind silence—hours passed—no one habitant could see another—then a wail of coming storm swept up the river—greater darkness—great waves thundered—the earth trembled! From out the turmoil and darkness came the rending of timbers, and cries of agony of fear—eight men-of-war and many lesser vessels battering and breaking on the jagged rocks of Isle aux Oeufs!—and no one could see, but all could hear.

At evening, as the huge scarlet disc was sinking behind the distant heights of stately Quebec, the grey veil lifted and the waters stilled. Far to the eastward a few sails, blood-red in the sun's last rays, melted into the purple haze of coming night, the crippled remnant homeward bound. The white-haired Cure moved to the cliff's edge, and, gazing with horror upon those corpse-strewn rocks far below spread forth trembling hands in benediction and all in that weary throng surrounding him fell upon their knees, and after once looking into the darkening abyss, covered their streaming eyes and softly chanted, as the light slowly faded, that last sad intercession to St. Anne, patron saint of sailors, for the souls of them that go out in darkness upon the waters; one still to be heard in far away Brittany.

To this day the habitants and Anse-a-Gilles avoid the Pointe des Anglais—as it has since been known—when fog comes up the river. Many have seen the great phantom ships breaking and splintering on those cruel rocks, and heard the cries of soldiers, and seen sailors clothed in ancient garb, and until forty years ago, when a hurricane levelled it to earth, travellers could see the faithful of the village bow reverently and make the sacred sign as they passed an aged elm, whose bark, though grown over, still showed the outline of her whom these people call "Our well-beloved Mother."

Awful tales are told in remote districts to this day of the cruelties and atrocities committed by the victorious enemy. Back of Baie St Paul the doings of one Captain Gorham, of Wolfe's Rangers, are shudderingly told and retold by habitants and half-breeds. How he burned settlements and tortured prisoners, his men tearing out hearts and eating them; how he totally exterminated the porpoise fishers and bittern eaters of Isle aux Coudres, then, crossing to the south shore destroyed St Anne's—one of the 42 St Anne's of the Lower St Lawrence—and St Roch's, and sailed away with two prisoners wherewith to amuse himself. One, Tremblay, "was hoisted some way up the mast and thrown to the deck until he was dead." The other, Grenon, was spared on account of his great strength "Fort comme Grenon" is still to be heard about St Roch's. But their course with the outer world is almost impossible—in fact, at one place, 80 miles northeast of Quebec, one tiny mountain hamlet I went to only six years ago was totally ignorant of the fact that it was no longer under the lilies of France.

Sharp fighting took place at Pointe Levis, formerly Cap de Levis. Lemoine says: "A curious mistake is commonly made regarding the origin of the name of this lofty bluff opposite Quebec. It is not called after le Chevalier de Levi, hero of the battle of Ste. Foy, but commemorates the name of Canada's first Viceroy." "The Levi family," the historian Ferland tells us "claims descent from the patriarch Jacob, by his son Levi." There is a picture preserved in the Levi family representing the Virgin Mary with a magnificently attired Levi standing before her, hat in hand. An inscription beneath the Virgin, and another beneath the Cavalier, explains the situation. "Couvrey-vous mon cousin," says the Virgin. "C'est mon plaisir, ma cousine," replies the courtly Levi. Strangely enough, I saw in Paris last week an almost similar picture belonging to a descendent of the same family. In this picture they were entering a church.

Pointe Levis, unlike most prosperous modern communities, values its links with the past, and is now struggling for possession of an old iron cage, the instrument of torture of one reprehensible Marie-Josephte Corriveau, who for murdering two husbands, was in 1763 exposed therein without clothing, hanging from a tall gibbet, on the heights at Levis between the Churches of St Joseph and Bienville. A weird cage, the exact shape of a human body, head, trunk, limbs all outlined in solid iron bands, surmounted by a great hook, turning in a socket. Even after her slow and tortured death La Corriveau behaved so abominably that every door was securely barred at sunset—she tore open new made graves in the churchyards, and her ensuing conduct is best left undescribed. On Saturdays when midnight tolled from the belfry of the citadel she slid down and her clanking chains awoke the terrified villagers as she passed to dance the wild Saraband with the Sorciers de l'Ile at the Island of Orleans. But this state of affairs could not be allowed to continue, and one Sunday morning the habitants on their way to mass rejoiced to see no longer the hideous skeleton swinging in its cage. In 1849 the famous relic was unearthed in the cemetery of St. Joseph. It disappeared again a few weeks later— but reappeared —in the World's greatest show, owned by P. T. Barnum. What is now left of it reposes in a glass case in the Boston Museum labelled "From Quebec."

They Cured His Diabetes After the Doctors Had Failed to Give Him Relief—What Dodd's Kidney Pills Do and Why.

St. Pie De Guire, Yamaska Co., Que., Feb. 10.—(Special)—That there is one sure cure for deadly Diabetes, and that cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills is proved once more in the case of Mr. Antoine Cottenoire, a well known resident of this place.

"I am thankful I ever heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills," Mr. Cottenoire states. "They cure me of Diabetes. I suffered with backache. I always felt drowsy. I had severe headaches adn my limbs would cramp. I had dizzy feeling and felt tired in the region of the kidneys, with a dragging heavy sensation across the loins.

"I was treated by the doctors but got no benefit from them. Then I heard of cures made by Dodd's Kidney Pills and made up my mind to try them. I took in all three dozen boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. To-day I am free from Kidney trouble of all kinds.

"Dodd's Kidney Pills also cured me of stomach trouble from which I suffered for twenty-five years."

Diabetes is one of the most deadly forms of Kidney Disease. But Dodd's Kidney Pills cure any form of Kidney Disease. They also by curing the Kidneys cure all those diseases that come from disordered Kidneys, such as Rheumatism, Lumbago and Heart Disease.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Feb. 10.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market were light, about 50 carloads all told.

Exporters.

Export steers, of which there were few, sold at $5.25 to $5.40; bulls, $4 to $4.50.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots sold at $4.80 to $5.15; loads of good, $4.50 to $4.75; medium, $4 to $4.40; common, $3.75 to $4; cows, $3 to $4.25; canners, $1.50 to $2.50; butcher bulls, $3 to $4 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report receipts light, with a fair demand at unchanged prices, as follows: Best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, at $3.70 to $4.15; best stockers, 700 to 900 lbs. each, at $3.30 to $3.70; medium stockers, 600 to 800 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.50.

Milkers and Springers.

Liberal receipts of milkers and springers met a very strong market. The cause for this was that there were two buyers from Quebec, two from Montreal, and two from Ottawa. This extraordinary demand sent prices away up. Good to choice quality cows sold from $55 to $74 each; medium cows, $40 to $50, and common cows, at $30 to $37.50 each. See sales quoted below:

Veal Calves.

There was a fair supply of calves that sold at $3 to $6.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts were light and prices higher, as follows: Export ewes sold at $4 to $4.50 per cwt.; rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $5.50 to $6.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

The market for hogs seems to be easy at quotations given on Tuesday, as far as could be gathered. Some drovers who bought hogs at higher prices than authorized by the packers, were offering on the market at what they paid for them in the country, thereby losing freight and time. Selects, fed and watered, are still quoted at $6.75, and $6.40 to $6.45 to drovers at country points, for hogs, f.o.b.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 10.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market this morning the offerings consisted of 550 cattle, 100 sheep and lambs, 525 hogs, and 150 calves. Notwithstanding the stormy weather a large number of buyers turned out, including some exporters and as they all wanted some cattle, a brisk trade was done and the undertone to the market was strong, but prices show no material advance, owing to the fact that there were no really choice heavy cattle there, but if there had been buyers stated that they would have willingly paid ¼c per lb. more for them. A feature of the trading was the demand for export account and 100 head were bought to complete shipments with, at $5.10 to $5.50 for Northwest and Manitoba steers, $5.50 for Toronto steers, $4.75 for Manitoba cows, and $4.40 for bulls per cwt. The demand from local buyers was extra good, considering that they also bought very freely on Monday and by noon all the offerings were well cleaned up. A load of steers weighing 1100 lbs. each, sold at $5.25 to $5.50 per cwt., and in smaller lots picked steers brought 5½c; fairly good, 5c to 5¼c; fair, 4½c to 4¾c; common, 3c to 4c; cows, 4c to 4¾c, and bulls, 3¾c to 4¼c per lb. The supply of sheep and lambs was very small, for which the demand was keen and dealers stated that if the right quality of grain-fed lambs were offered 7c per lb. would be paid for them, but such stock was very scarce, and the best sold at 6c to 6¼c, and sheep at 3¾c to 4c per lb. The demand for calves was active and prices for all good to choice stock show an advance. One calf weighing 225 lbs., sold for $22, and the others at from $3 to $15 each, as to size and quality. Owing to a more liberal supply of hogs an easier feeling developed in the market and prices declined 12½c to 15c per cwt., but at this reduction the demand was good and an active trade was done, sales of selected lots being made at $7.50 to $7.62½ per cwt., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Feb. 10.—Cattle, steady; prime steers, $6.25 to $6.50.

Veals—Receipts, 300 head; active and strong, $7 to $9.25; a few $9.40.

Hogs—Receipts, 4300 head; active and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $6.85 to $6.95; mixed, $6.80 to $6.90; yorkers, $6.60 to $6.80; pigs, $6.50 to $6.60; dairies, $6.50 to $6.80.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Failure in Relief Work.

Boston, Feb. 11.—A number of Italian residents of this city, who returned yesterday after a fruitless search for the bodies of relatives at Messina, stated that while the Government seemed to have plenty of funds the people in the earthquake zone lacked food and the soldiers gave little help to those suffering from injuries.

That the fruit crop was not utterly destroyed was shown by the fact that the Canopic, which brought the Italians home, carried a cargo of 14,070 boxes of lemons and other fruits.

Another Tunnel Accident.

Windsor, Feb. 11.—Andrew Kolinsky, a tunnel employe, was struck by a heavy door of shaft No. 1 yesterday and died of his injuries a few hours later. The door of No. 1 shaft leading into the compressed air is exceedingly heavy and swings downward. It is thought that Kolinsky neglected to hang on to the door until the air pressure was put on.

There have been about ten fatalities on the Canadian side since operations were started.

Dies on Wedding Day.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 11.—Within a few hours of the date set for her wedding, Smila Marterfield, 18 years of age, the belle of the Russo-Creek Colony of Duquesne, a suburb, was found with her throat cut in the cellar of her home. She died twenty minutes later without having regained consciousness.

Whether it was suicide or murder has not been ascertained.

$100,000 Gift to McGill.

Montreal, Feb. 11.—A donor who desires to conceal his identity gave $100,000 to McGill yesterday, on condition that an additional half million dollars be raised, the total of $600,000 to be put into a general fund for the use of the university. The time is stated for the collection of the half million.

Guelph merchants have united and have engaged a solicitor to collect bad debts.

Newfoundland Legislature Called.

St. John's, Nfld., Feb. 11.—Public interest in the deadlock in the Newfoundland Legislature is renewed by the action of Governor MacGregor by issuing a proclamation summoning it to meet Feb. 25.

There has been no session since the general elections last November, when Sir Robert Bond, Premier, and Sir Edward Morris, leader of the Opposition, each succeeded in electing eighteen members.

If neither side is able to carry on the Government during the coming session, another general election will probably be ordered.

Assassinated In Court.

Calcutta, Feb. 11.—Ashutosh Biswas, a public prosecutor, was shot yesterday in the court of Alipur, a suburb of Calcutta by a youthful Bengali.

Biswas was the official who prosecuted the recent anarchistic conspiracy case.

This revival of assassination, after a period of comparative quiet, has caused a sensation. The murderer was arrested.

Was Bribed to Vamoose.

Moncton, N.B., Feb. 11.—Despite efforts to get Fred Allan, Scott Act informer, out of town, yesterday morning he gave evidence against Archibald Jesly in a Scott Act case. He also said that Daniel Dadden, Jesly's employer, bribed him by paying him $10 to make himself scarce.

Couldn't Wed, Took Lives.

Bowling Green, Ohio, Feb. 11.—Miss Margaret Brandon, 22 years of age, is dead, and William Davis, her fiancee, 19 years, is not expected to live, as the result of a suicide pact.

Miss Brandon drank carbolic acid at her home and Davis shot himself after going out into the woods.

It is believed the pact was due to lack of funds that prevented their marrying.

Stream of Lava Mile Long.

Mexico City, Feb. 11.—A special despatch says that another earthquake occurred in the vicinity of Colima. A violent eruption of the volcano followed the quake. A ridge of lava about a mile long is streaming down one side of the volcano. No fatalities have resulted so far as known. The region affected is barren.

Canadian's Death at Buffalo.

Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 11.—A man who is believed to be George M. Sheaver, or Shearer, whose home was in Montreal, died in a hospital early yesterday. At midnight Sheaver was rescued from drowning in the Evans' slip by two policemen. He was about 40 years of age. A letter, signed by a relative in Montreal, appealed to the dead man to return home, saying that his little daughter Evelyn was dying. Other letters lead the police to believe that he was traveling for some Canadian drygoods house.

Tramps Fire Barns.

St. Catharines, Feb. 11.—Tramps started a fire early yesterday morning that nearly caused a big conflagration in the residential district. A number of tramps went to a vacant barn on Niagara street, owned by the Wardell estate, and about two o'clock a man returning home from work discovered it to be on fire. The flames quickly communicated to Albert Hagen's barn adjoining. Firemen had hard work saving the neighboring houses.

An Army of Empire.

London, Feb. 11.—Speaking at a military dinner in London last night on the role of the territorial army in the various problems of defence against possible invasion, the Rt. Hon. R. B. Haldane, Secretary of State for War, announced that the Government is negotiating with its dominions over the seas with a view to the creation of an army of empire, and not of Great Britain merely.

Secretary Haldane referred also with great satisfaction to the fact, as the outcome of the recent agitation, 3,000 recruits had joined the territorial army and 100 applications had been received for commissions.

Roblin to Sifton.

Winnipeg, Feb. 11.—Premier Roblin, in an interview, has thrown down the challenge to Hon. Clifford Sifton in regard to the Manitoba lists. Knox In Quandary.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 11.—Is Senator Knox eligible for appointment as Secretary of State in the incoming administration, or must the President-elect select a new premier for his Cabinet?

This was the question that all official Washington was confronted with yesterday morning. Senator Knox was last elected for a six-year term, which will not expire until March 3, 1911. The constitution prohibits the appointment of a Senator to an office created, or the salary of which has been increased during the term for which he was elected.

tude to the Ladies' Aid Society, the session and Sunday school and the various Young People's Societies for their assistance and hearty co-operation.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. W. BUYERS,

REPORT OF SESSION.

Mr. W. J. Bennett presented the report of the session. During the year two additional elders were appointed, this having been made necessary by the marked increase in the membership. There are 262 names on the membership roll, 116 of whom were added in 1908. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered five times during the year. There were four deaths and the rite of Baptism was administered to two adults and eleven infants.

Much interest was taken in all the organizations of the church, especially in the Sabbath school. The increased interest in missions and the formation of a Missionary Committee were matters for praise. The large congregations were indications of the rapidly growing cause and should call forth the gratitude of the congregation to God.

BOYS' CLUB

Mr. L Ingram presented the report of the Boys' club. The club had enjoyed a year of good work under difficulties. Regular meetings were held under the care of Mr H Wilkie, until the meetings stoppped for the summer months. During this time the club sent contributions towards the support of a boy in India. A successful banquet was given the boys at the close of the season. Much regret was felt by the club at the departure of Mr Wilkie. The members are grateful to the managers for the use of the church.

LADIES' AID

Mrs J P Pollock presented the report of the Ladies Aid. Meetings were held regularly every month except August. The average attendance was twenty-five, a decided increase since last year. A tea was held last March the proceeds amounting to $63 being donated for the tinting of the church. The Society raised fifty dollars to pay towards the organ. Several things needed for the church were purchased. The visiting committees made a large number of visits among the congregation during the year.

W.F.M.S. REPORT

The reports of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and Mission Band were read by Mrs Will Sherwood. The W.F.M.S. had endeavored to take up both Home and Foreign work. Interest was increasing and the average attendance was now 27. It was the aim of the society to get every woman in the congregation a member. The work in the Home Mission field lay in British Columbia and the Mormons in Canada, and that of the Foreign field in China and India. A bale of useful garments had been sent to Highland Grove.

The Mission Band was reorganized in October under the superintendence of Mrs. McKenzie and Mrs Keith.

During the year Miss McLeod, missionary at Wakaw, Sask. and Miss King of the China Inland Missions gave addresses on their work which were much enjoyed.

The Mission Band had an attendance of from 25 to 50. The sum of $6.50 was sent by the Band to the Toronto board.

YOUNG MEN'S GUILD

Mr H. McLennan read an encouraging report from the Young Men's Guild, showing an increase in the membership over last year. $68.07 was raised during the year.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S GUILD

Miss Mamie Menzies read the report of the Young People's Guild. The Guild commenced their meetings on January 5th, continuing them up to June 30th. The meetings were closed for three months during the summer. There were fifty on the membership roll with an average attendance of thirty-five.

The receipts for the year were $19.24 the expenditures $13.50 with a balance on hand of $5.69. Missionary collections were sent to support a student at college.

REFORMLEAGUE IN BELLEVILLE

Belleville, Feb. 11.—A moral league has been formed in this city with the object, it is said, of instituting a local option campaign, the bylaw to be submitted next January. Henry Pringle, defeated Liberal candidate for the Legislature, was elected president; first vice-president, W. P. Hudson, ex-M.P.; second vice-president, J. M. Hurley, ex-M.P., Committees of three from each ward were appointed. Some of the speakers wanted to shelve local option for the present and elect a temperance council before the measure was introduced.

IMPORTANT ADVICE
—TO—
SPECTACLE WEARERS

THREE PLAIN FACTS.

I.—That more eyes are injured by the injudicious use of Glass than by any other known cause
II.—That a great number of people are wearing spectacles unsuitable for them, and for which their eyes have not been tested.
III.—That the old fashioned and unscientific method of testing the eyes by trying on various spectables of different strengths until the sight is apparently suited, is to say the least of it, dangerous.

It cannot be too forcibly impressed upon the minds of those who suffer from defective eyesight that proper lenses and correctly fitting frames are absoluely essential for comfortable spectacle wearing. We grind our own lenses. Charges moderate.

WARRANTS ISSUED FOR THE ARRESTS OF ALLEGED SPOTTERS

Lindsay, Feb. 10.—Considerable excitement prevailed in town this morning when the news became current that two alleged "spotters" had been stopping at a local hotel for the past few days, and that the proprietor had warrants issued for their arrests for using abusive language.

It seems that the two strangers arrived in town at the end of the week and registered at the hotel one claiming to be from Oshawa and the other from Toronto. Saturday evening one of them was very persistent in his demands for liquor, but he was refused.

They represented themselves on one occasion as travellers for electric supplies, and in another hotel claimed they were agricultural agents. They made the rounds of the different hotels and made enquiries regarding the rates.

Tuesday evening they were requested to settle up at the hotel where they were registered and it is alleged abusive language was used. It is contended by some that the mysterious individuals are not "spotters."

To-day acting chief of police Thornton served the two individuals with summons charging them with using both profane and grossly insulting and abusive language. They will appear in court to-morrow morning.

ADDRESS BY NATIONAL SEC. AT THE Y.W.C.A. YESTERDAY

The Association reception and drawing rooms looked very bright and pretty yesterday afternoon, a welcome to Miss Little, B.A., National Secretary and to the ladies of our city and friends of our Association.

Miss Little addressed the meeting telling most interestingly of the expanding work in Canada of this most important organization. There are now 21 city and 26 student associations with a membership of over 7000 in the City Associations, while about 1500 or 58 per cent. of the women Students of Canada are members of the Association. The Canadian Summer Y.M.C.A. Conference is to be held from January 52th to July 4th at the Elgin House, on beautiful Lake Joseph, Muskoka.

During the afternoon Miss Gladman presided at the piano and Mrs. Dickson Hall sang. At the close of the meeting a pleasant social hour was enjoyed in the tea rooms.

Mr. A. Mowat's literary class will meet to-morrow evening at 7.30 instead of this evening. "Pride and Prejudice," by Jane Austen, will be the study.

The Bible class will meet as usual to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. This is the monthly missionary hour. "Africa" will be the country studied. A welcome to all.

THE RETURN GAME ON FRIDAY HAVE THE LOCALS A CHANCE?

The return game is on Friday. Peterborough's chances for victory don't look very good after last night, but the team will practice with a view of getting down as fine as possible for the match, and can be depended upon to give the Scugog men a rattling good argument on their own ice.

The strongest team that can be gotten together will represent the local club and they will journey to Lindsay with the intention of redeeming themselves if possible. This looks like a big proposition and undoubtedly is one but if there is any possibility of the Peterborough septette getting away with the honors they will do so.

AN EXCURSION WILL BE RUN FOR THE GAME ON FRIDAY

Herb Long, of the Strathconas, will play centre for Peterborough against Lindsay to-morrow night. Ray had a small bone broken last night and will be unable to figure on the line-up. Long has been playing a great game for the Straths all season and is a good goal getter.

With the exception of Long the team will line up as it did last night.

An excursion will be run by the Peterborough hockey club, the train leaving the station at seven o'clock. The return fare will be $1.05. The players will go down at five o'clock.

EMPLOYEES BANQUETTED

Enjoyable Time at Coleman's Last Night—Pleasent Relations Between Employer and Employees

The first banquet given to the employees of McGregor and Reid, the plumbing, heating and electrical contractos, was celebrated at Coleman's last night. After an excellent supper had been enjoyed, the employees in neat speeches expressed their best wishes for the welfare of Mr. and Mrs. McGregor and hoped that the harmony that existed between employer and employees would continue.

Mr. McGregor expressed his appreciation for the interest taken in the business by his men and took advantage to thank them for the handsome gold-mounted walking stick which they had given him at Christmas.

McGregor & Reid now occupy new premises and the firm is going ahead rapidly.

ST. THOMAS TRIES TO STOP "SALOME"

Has Aroused Opposition of Clergy of That City Who Pass Resolutions

St. Thomas, Feb 11—The forthcoming production of "Salome" with Mr. Daniel Ryan in the role of John the Baptist, has aroused the opposition of the clergy of this city, several of the ministerial bodies adopting resolutions of protest today at their regular weekly meetings.

The drama will be presented nevertheless and the house was sold out two hours after the box-office sale opened. Several speculators reaped a harvest by buying blocks of tickets and selling some as high as three and a half dollars.

POWER STOCK CO. AT THE GRAND

Despite the hockey match between Lindsay and Peterborough last night a good sized audience saw the Power Stock Company's presentation of the hilariously funny comedy, "The Whole Damm Family." The work of the company was clever and amusing and the play was one big laugh from the first to the last curtain. The specialties won great applause and are an attractive feature of the show. The singing of the two colored artists Madame Boheme and May Hyers is one of the strongest specialty numbers and they both have good voices, bers and both have unusually good voices.

Tonight the well known drama 'The Heart of a Hero' will be presented and on Friday the dramatic sensation of the season, "The Devil" will be given. Last night the returns of the game between Peterborough and Lindsay were announced from the stage as the game progressed and the same service in connection with the return game in Lindsay will be given at Friday night's production.

WHAT ST. THOMAS THINKS OF DANIEL RYAN

The Daniel Ryan Company, which is playing a strong repertoire at the Grand every night this week, is easily the best and strongest repertoire company that has ever played in St. Thomas, and its productions are of a character requiring considerable histrionic ability. The play last night was the exciting Spanish drama, "A Royal Lover," the scenes being laid in the Castilian capital. Mr. Ryan as Don Caesar de Bazan, proved himself an interpreter of a difficult role, of unusual ability. Jeffrey Murphy, as Don Jose, ostensibly the villain of the plot made a favorable impression, and as the hero in some other play would have made an even greater hit. Miss Harriet Duke, as Lazarillo, a boy, was charming, her quaint accent being perfect and her male character entirely failing to disguise the fact of her being a decidedly pretty girl. Miss Singleton as Maritana, a dancing girl, gave perhaps the best and most graceful presentation of the tarantella dance ever seen on a St. Thomas stage. Grace M. Boyce, as a maid, was seen only occasionally, but the brief glimpses of her revealed an attractive young woman whom the audience would have liked to see oftener. J. S. O'Brien, as King Charles II. of Spain, gave an interpretation of the royal roue that lacked nothing of being perfect. Not to be wearisome it may be stated in brief that all the cast in their various roles were excellent.

The superior flavor and strength of "Salada" Tea makes it possible to make two cups to one from any other tea. Besides "Salada" is infinitely more delicious and healthful.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS READ AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

Of Knox Church Held Last Evening—Each Organization Shows Splendid Progress—Financial Statement Satisfactory—An Excellent Meeting.

The annual meeting of Knox church was held last evening. There was a large number present and the affairs of the church were interestingly discussed. Encouraging reports were presented from the different organizations and the financial statement showed the finances to be in a healthy condition.

The pastor, Rev. H. J. Keith, occupied the chair and the meeting was opened with devotional exercises. Mr. J. W. Byers was appointed secretary.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Mr. F. S. Mulligan presented the following statement of finances;

Total receipts	$2,561.21
Current expenses	1,900.98
Present balance	$650.23

The balance this year shows an increase of $500, over the balance of last year.

SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT.

The increase in the attendance was 23 per cent. greater than in 1907. There was an average attendance of two hundred. The total collection in the Sunday school for the year was $177.66.

MANAGER'S REPORT.

This the second annual report of the Board is one of progress and encouragement. Under the able ministry of Rev. Keith the has been a large increase in the church membership during the past year. The treasurer's report shows the finances of the church in a very satisfactory condition the expenditure has been considerably higher than the previous year, but several permanent improvements were completed and the balance on the gallery paid. Most of the members have now adopted the envelope system of contributing and for 1909 the new duplex envelopes have been approved by the session and managers and accepted by the members. There were 20 meetings held throughout the year comprising 12 regular, three special, three joint and two congregational. Three new managers were added to the Board, namely Messrs. H. G. McCannan, Wm. Menzies and H. Shurter. Three of the managers retired at this time namely Mr. Mulligan, Mr. Buyers and Mr. McKenzie, being eligible for re-election. The attendance at the services have been large, taxing the full capacity of the church. Under the superintendence of Sheriff Hall, Mr. Morrison and the efficient staff of teachers, the attendance at the Sunday school has increased so much that an appeal was recently made to the managers for more accommodation. The managers decided at their meeting in December to submit the plans of the new church to the congregation and at the joint meeting held in January resolved that the time had come for the congregation to provide more accommodation for the services and Sunday school. There were a number of enjoyable and successful concerts held during the year under the patronage of the Ladies' Aid Society, the managers and the Young People's Guild.

In conclusion the managers wish to express their appreciation and grati

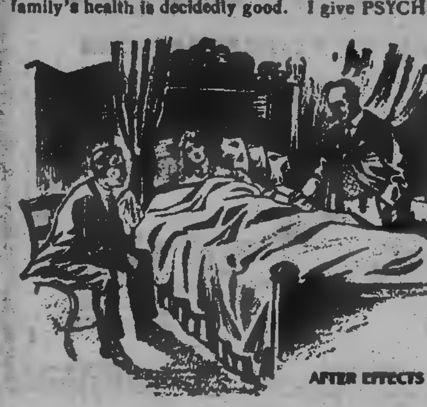
OFF TO THE PARTY



A WARNING TO WOMEN

AN EVENING PARTY AND ITS SEQUEL.

How lamentable and yet how true it is that our social pleasures are responsible for most of our ills. This is due largely to neglect and thoughtlessness. A slight chill or cold contracted on leaving an overheated room after the system has been lowered by breathing the poisoned air, develops more rapidly than otherwise. Neglect this cold or cough and you will have sown the seeds of disease which rapidly germinate. Mothers should therefore warn their loved ones to take the greatest care of themselves when forced to mix with large numbers of people in close confinement and at all times (if they would preserve good health) use Psychine, the greatest of tonics.

The pictures given here tell their own story. The timely use of PSYCHINE "The Greatest of All Tonics" has saved many of Canada's fair daughters and her sons from an early grave. The following testimonials prove this:—

CHILD'S LIFE SAVED!

Mrs. E. Obediah of Ohswekin, Ont., declares that PSYCHINE saved her child's life. It was then suffering from pneumonia. This was in March, 1907. On August 11th, 1908, 17 months after, she wrote: "The condition of my family's health is decidedly good. I give PSYCHINE to each member of my family, eight in number, and I consider their good health is due to PSYCHINE which we recognize and believe to be the greatest of Tonics. My husband and myself pin our faith to PSYCHINE because it has done so much for us in times past when hard pressed with sickness. I would be glad if you referred me to any skeptical person and you can use my name for this purpose."

MOTHER AND BABY BENEFITED.

Mrs. Wm. Haystead of Falding, Ont., says:—"I was very weak and run down when I commenced using PSYCHINE. I used two bottles and now feel like a new person. I also gave PSYCHINE to my little boy who had pneumonia, with good success. I shall always recommend PSYCHINE."

NO USE FOR DOCTOR NOW.

"I am glad to tell you I have not had to have the doctor since I have used PSYCHINE. I am now in good health, also the family. I used PSYCHINE for my boys who were growing too fast and were always pale and languid. PSYCHINE is now our family remedy," writes Mrs. Agnes Comber, 92 Wellington St., London, Ont.

WHAT PSYCHINE IS AND DOES

PSYCHINE is the greatest strength restorer and system builder known to medical science. PSYCHINE regulates and tones up all the vital organs. It cures stomach troubles, aids digestion, destroys disease germs in the system. The greatest of tonics, it makes the blood pure, rich and healthy, giving renewed vigor and energy to those who are weak and tired and run down.

USE YOUR OWN JUDGMENT!

There are times when a choice has to be made between following the advice of a physician and taking the responsibility of using Psychine without or in opposition to his advice. You have the fullest assurance that you will be perfectly safe and justifiable in taking Psychine irrespective of any physician's advice, and even contrary to it. The physician that opposes its use is either out of date and not in touch with the most successful systems of treatment, or his own interests are put before those of his patient. Such a system of treatment as Psychine, which has thousands of the most wonderful cures standing to its credit, cannot but be endorsed by every physician to whom the life and health of his patient is a matter of first importance. The best physicians, who have without prejudice looked into the great work Psychine is doing for humanity, are recommending it to many of their patients, and are unstinted in their praise of this remedy, the equal of which the world has never seen.

Psychine tones up every part of the system, and cures when all else fails. At all Druggists 50c. and $1.00. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, LIMITED, Slocum Building, Spadina Avenue, Toronto.

LINDSAY FURNISHED SURPRISE DEFEATED PETERBORO BY 6-5

Scugog Team Showed Better Form Than Locals and Won First Game of the Round—Match Played on Keen Ice and Before Crowded Rink—Locals Behind at Half Time.

Peterborough as a rule win their games on home ice when they are expected to, but last night furnished an exception that will likely cost the locals the championship of this district intermediate O.H.A. That clever aggregation of puck-chasers, the Lindsay Midgets, did it, and to give credit where credit is due, they did it well. The result of the match came as a shock and a surprise to the home team and its supporters and a very agreeable surprise to the great majority of the Lindsayites, who take an interest in the welfare of the team and the most people in the Scugog town do. While some of the Lindsay fans thought their seven boys in blue and white would claim the honors here, the majority anticipated a victory for Peterborough by a small margin with Lindsay pulling through on the round. But the score was 6—5, with Lindsay with the big end of it in their favor and there's nothing to do but to acknowledge the prowess of the winning outfit. And its a particularly hard outfit at that that can to steal a march on the fast homesters right on their own battle ground. The score at half-time was 3—2, with Lindsay having a goal of an advantage at the close of the period.

The game was a peculiar one in many respects. With the great exhibition the teams put up on soft ice at the Brock street rink last Friday the public looked for a gilt-edged exposition of the game in last night's match. The struggle was very fast and interesting from the first to the last bell, but the hockey was hardly as consistently classy as was looked for. The forward lines while they showed some good passing didn't have that sweeping clockwork combination that was looked for and the ice was in the best possible condition for effective team play.

In the matter of combination Lindsay showed a superiority and were more deadly in their shooting out from the nets.

The visiting team adapted itself to the ice in a surprisingly easy manner and seemed to know the corners just as well as if they had practised on it all season.

The match was a spasmodic one Peterborough at one time playing the decidedly better game and Lindsay playing in superior fashion at another. This is well indicated by the scoring. Lindsay made the spectators sit up in the first half by taking two straight goals after some hard, fast and exciting playing.

In the second half Peterborough made the hopes of the local devotees rise high by getting two straight before Lindsay realized that they were being outplayed. Then the visitors came back strong and they banged in 1, 2, 3, giving them a score of 6 to 5 and clinching the game.

Another capacity house saw the match and the crowd seemed at a loss to know why Peterborough didn't get busy and score enough goals to place the result beyond doubt. The team was at the same loss, but both the Peterborough supporters and the Peterborough team were unprepared for the form shown by Lindsay. It wasn't a case of overconfidence or the game being in the dressing room or anything like that, lost the match to the home boys. They came on the ice knowing they had a stiff argument before them and dug right in from the face off and took no chances. The only explanation is that Lindsay presented not a better team individually, but a better balanced seven as the result of playing together for so long a time.

The game was not a rough one although the checking was close all through. At times the players resorted to some tactics against which the penalty box is the only protection, but Referee Roy Thomas caught pretty nearly all of them and only 12 penalties, mostly for the minimum space, were handed out during the game. They were evenly distributed six being inflicted during each half. Five minutes was the longest given and that was when Dusty and Sullivan created a little fistic diversion that was soon quelled. Most of the offences were tripping and slashing and some of the tripping looked half accidental, if that expression is permissible.

The loss last night put a damper on Peterborough's chances for the district. There is still a possibility of the locals winning the round, but that is only a possibility and not a probability. When they go to Lindsay on Friday, however, they will make a desperate attempt to do so and it would be a bigger surprise if they did than when Lindsay did the unexpected last night by defeating Peterborough hockey team in a game that will be long discussed by the hockey gossips of Peterborough. Not on account of the merit of the game as a game, but on account of its unlooked for outcome.

The local septette has had quite a shake-up since the last match. Morgan at centre and Parnell on the wing were replaced by Quinn and Rose. The Lakefield boy made his first appearance an intermediate hockey last night and created a favorable impression. Considering he was out with fast O.H.A. company for the first time he did splendidly and next to Dusty, the reliable Strathcona graduate, was the most effective man on the Peterborough forward line.

Charlie Ray played centre but was a little new to the position and was handicapped by a bad hand. He seems more at home as rover but worked hard on his new job and showed speed and pretty stick handling.

"Jakey" Moore played a great game at cover and acquitted himself in fine style. He was there from the start to the finish with a nice variety of defence and aggressive work and played the stellar part for the local team. Rollie Glover was effective at point at all times and saved the flags many times by his brilliant work. Dusty was the pick of the forwards, and got through in a way that aroused great enthusiasm from the benches.

Lindsay shifted their forwards for the game and the change was an advantageous one, as far as placing Randall at centre was concerned. That mentioned puck pursuer shone as he probably never has before and displayed an article of hockey that marks Randall, on color, one of the cleverest and most useful forwards in the intermediate O.H.A. He is persistent, game and fast, and scored no less than four goals for the two The Midgets in each half.

Koyl played a magnificent game at point, his rushes being a big feature of the night. Whenever he broke away on one of his bewildering runs it was an awful proposition to head him off.

Newton shone in the flags, making some extraordinary stops. A large share of the credit for Lindsay's victory is due him.

THE GAME.

The teams faced each other as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH
Goal—Derocher.
Point—Glover.
Cover—Moore.
Rover—Quinn.
Centre—Ray.
Right—Dusty.
Left—Rose.

LINDSAY.
Goal—Newton.
Point—Koyl.
Cover—Sullivan.
Rover—Stoddard.
Centre—Randall.
Right—Cotey.

The referee gave evidence that he was going to watch matters closely, and called several narrow off-sides.

Dusty took the puck up to Lindsay goal and passed at close quarters, but Randall took the rubber and skated down the ice with it. Cotey made a fine rush, but lost to Glover. The checking was very close and the play extremely even. Quinn tore off a showy dash that set the spectators yelling. Taylor had a shot on goal but missed the flags by a narrow margin. Moore upset Stoddard and had to seek the timbers. Stoddard went to pen for slashing. Derocher stopped a difficult one that Cotey let fly at him on the first clean shot on goal of the game. Taylor was penalized. Two got in the way of a couple of slow ones, in succession, both being stopped at him within a minute. Ray sent a hot liner to Newton, but the Scugog net man was on and gave evidence of it during the whole game. Lindsay tallied, but the goal was made on an off-side play. Glover was given the penalty rest and while he was off Randall scored. 1—0. 14 min.

Dusty looked good to even things up, and sent in a red hot one, which was turned aside, however. Quinn was benched for tripping. Dusty scored on a long shot. 4 min. 2—2.

The home team was urged on and applauded by the crowd now that they were on even footing with Lindsay, but it just took Taylor one minute to break the tie. 3—2. Sullivan was sent to the side for rough play. Half time saw the score:

Peterborough 2.
Lindsay 3.

SECOND HALF.

The goals were coming easy and it looked like pie for Peterborough but it wasn't, and the locals only tallied one more before the call of time, while Lindsay connected for three counters.

"Goosie" Taylor was sentenced for tripping. Koyl got away on one of his many wonderful rushes and passed to Taylor who repassed to the Lindsay point. He shot at close range and the puck missed the goal. Stoddard scored on a pass from Cotey. 4 min. 4—4.

Randall scored. 1 min. 5—4.

Sullivan and Dusty were suspended five minutes for scrapping. Cotey made a few passes at the local man but the referee let him go.

Randall took the next on the most sensational play of the game, sliding the puck through after he had fallen. 3 min. 6—4.

Glover fell down and the referee put him off for that serious offence. The official made a mistake when he thought Glover had been doing anything against the code. The crowd hooted and jeered. There was a warm fusilade around Lindsay's goal. Derocher picked off an almost impossible one from Stoddard. Taylor was penalized for loafing and Moore for hooking Randall. Moore scored the last in 6 minutes. 6—5.

The final result:—

Peterborough 5.
Lindsay 6.

CURLING

Glasgow, Feb. 11.—To-day on the artificial ice rink at Glasgow the Canadians made 90 to Lanarkshire's 72 in a three-hour game.

The Canadian curlers seem to have settled down to a campaign of conquering their Scottish opponents, writes a correspondent from Glasgow. It is true that their superiority is not quite so striking as was that of the teams which met the Scotsmen who visited Canada, but it is sufficient to show, first, that Canada has sent a team of good players, and, second, that the Canadians have a considerable advantage in playing day after day on one rink, with ice of a practically unchanged character, and against Scottish teams which change from day to day. Apart from these things, however, the superiority of the play of the Canadians is now being admitted, as well as their great courtesy in everything connected with their visit and their associations with Scottish players. Whatever the general results of the matches may be there can be no doubt as to the extremely friendly feeling that has already been created by the visit of the Dominion curlers.

THE RING

New York, Feb 10—In a slashing ten-round fight at the Fairmount Athletic Club tonight Jem Driscoll, the English lightweight, had the better of his bout with Leach Cross of New York. The first four rounds were easily Driscoll's, the Englishman using an effective left jab, which had Cross often distressed. Cross showed to better advantage in the sixth and seventh rounds, but Driscoll took the aggressive again and had all the better of the final round.

Two Guilty of Murder.

Paris, Feb. 11.—Renard and Courtois, respectively a steward and a footman, the latter a mere boy, employed by the late August Remy, a wealthy retired banker were found guilty of the murder of the banker. Renard was sentenced to imprisonment for life and Courtois to 20 years' imprisonment. The jury found extenuating circumstances.

There was intense interest in the case. August Remy was stabbed to death in his home in the Rue de la Pepiniers last June. The killing was done with a desert knife and a large quantity of money and jewels were taken. Courtois had confessed to participating. The evidence was sensational and at times disgusting.

BASKET GOWN IS THE LATEST

Will Have the Directoire Force Out by the Autumn

Paris, Feb. 8.—The directoire gown is doomed, so say the costumers, and by next fall a new fashion which will revive the Louis Quinze basket dress will be the mode. The scabbard gown, which is a modification of the directoire gown, is now in vogue. This is practically as form fitting as its predecessor, but includes an overskirt which hangs to the knees.

The dressmakers hope to work into the new fashion from this. However, it will be difficult, as the directoire gown is very much the favorite with women, especially slender women. The Louise Quinze basket gown has great flounces of puffs on the hips and the bodice reaches far down to a point. A modification of this style was in vogue in 1880, but has not been fashionable since.

The transformation, of course, is to be gradual. During the coming summer the waists will gradually grow longer, the bottom of the skirts grow wider, and the hips be draped, and the basket gown will be evolved by the beginning of the fall season.

ECZEMA ON ANKLE FOR 20 YEARS.

MAGISTRATE'S ECZEMA

CURED AFTER 20 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

ZAM-BUK'S POWER PROVED BY SCHOOL COMMISSIONER & BAPTIST DEACON

So great are the healing powers of Zam-Buk that men of elevated rank all over the Dominion are glad to testify to its merits. One of the most recent converts to the Zam-Buk method of treating and curing disease is Mr. C. E. Sanford, of Weston, King's Co., N.S.

Mr. Sanford is a Justice of the Peace for the County, and a Member of the Board of School Commissioners. He is also deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick. Indeed throughout the County it would be difficult to find a man more widely known and more highly respected. Some time back he had occasion to test Zam-Buk and here is his opinion of this great balm. He says:—

"I never used anything that gave me such satisfaction as Zam-Buk. I had a patch of Eczema on my ankle which had been there for over 20 years. Sometimes also the disease would break out on my shoulders. I had taken Solution of Arsenic, had applied various ointments, and tried all sorts of things to obtain a cure, but all in vain. I was advised to give Zam-Buk a trial, and as I am a firm believer in nature's remedies, I did so. From first applying it I saw it was altogether different from the ordinary ointments and embrocations, and it soon began to show signs of clearing away the eczema on my ankle. This was so gratifying that I persevered for some time with it, and I am glad to say it had the desired result. I am now cured of the disease which defied every other treatment for twenty years. This is not the only direction in which I have proved the merits of Zam-Buk. I suffered for a long time from piles, and I found a perfect cure for this painful ailment in Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk soothes the pain, relieves the congested veins, and so restores the elasticity to the tissues that the piles gradually but surely disappear.

I take comfort in helping my brother man, and if the publication of my opinion of the healing value of Zam-Buk will lead other sufferers to try it, I should be glad. For the relief of suffering caused by piles or skin diseases, I know of nothing to equal Zam-Buk.

HOW WORKING PEOPLE BENEFIT FROM ZAM-BUK.

Every working man and woman occasionally sustains accidental injuries at business which give rise to great pain, and sometimes "take the wrong way." When Zam-Buk is kept handy, it gives speedy relief in such cases and ensures quick cures. The following cases are interesting in this connection:—

SEVERE BURN CURED.—Mr. J. Nixon, blacksmith, of 901, William Ave, Winnipeg, says:—"While working at the C.P.R. shops, about to weld two pieces of iron together, some of the hot metal fell on my foot, burning a hole through the shoe, sock, and into the flesh deeply. I suffered terribly all that night with the burning pain, and the next morning my foot was badly inflamed and showed signs of blood-poisoning. I had now an angry sore which discharged freely, and for three weeks could not bring about a cure though various remedies were applied. I was then advised to use Zam-Buk, and from the first application the balm gave me relief. The inflammation was thoroughly checked, and the poisonous matter cleared away in a very short time after beginning with Zam-Buk. Healing then began, and in less than two weeks the wound was healed."

SCALDS CURED. Mrs. M. Maskell, of 210 Gladstone Street, Winnipeg, says:—"Last February I scalded my right arm with the escaping steam from a kettle of boiling water. Large blisters formed quickly, and the burning heat and pains were almost unbearable. Inflammation set in, and before I was aware of it I had an angry sore on my arm. For upwards of a month I kept treating the sore with first one remedy and then another, but it refused to heal until I began using Zam-Buk. After three applications of this balm the inflammation was banished, the sore thoroughly cleansed, and healing began. In a week's time Zam-Buk healed the sore nicely, new skin having formed."

WHAT YOU SHOULD USE ZAM-BUK FOR.

Zam-Buk is a positive and certain cure for cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, piles, festering sores, ulcers, scalds, blood-poisoning, eczema, chapped hands, cold cracks, chilblains, ringworm, scalp sores, bad leg, diseased ankles, and all other skin diseases and injuries. Rubbed well into the parts affected, it cures neuralgia, rheumatism, and sciatica. All druggists and stores sell at 50c box, three for $1.25, and post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for prices. Refuse the harmful imitations sometimes represented to be "just as good."

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

"No, sir, I did not, although he did nothing toward my support." The woman could not resist a slightly coquettish attempt to enlist Bansemer's sympathy. "I obtained work at St. Luke's Hospital For Foundlings and after that as a governess. But once a week I went back to the asylum to see the little ones. One day they brought in a beautifully dressed baby—a girl. She was found on a doorstep, and in the basket was a note asking that she be well cared for. With it was a hundred dollar bill. The moment I saw the little thing I fell in love with her. I made application, and they gave me the child with the understanding that I was to adopt it. You see, I was lonely. I had been living alone for nine or ten months. The authorities knew nothing of my trouble with Mr. Cable—that's my husband, David Cable. The child was about a month old when I took her to his mother, whom I hadn't seen in months I told Mrs. Cable that she was mine The dear old lady believed me; half the battle was won." She paused out of breath, her face full of excitement.

"And then?" he asked, once more interested.

"We both wrote to David asking him to come home to his wife and baby." She looked away guiltily. For a full minute Bansemer did not speak.

"The result?" he demanded.

"He came back last month."

"Does he know the truth?"

"No, and with God's help he never shall! It's my only salvation!" she exclaimed emotionally. "He thinks she is his baby and—and"— The tears were on her cheeks now. "I worship him, Mr. Bansemer! Oh, how good and sweet he has been to me since he came back! Now, don't you see why I must adopt this child and why he must never know? If he learned that I had deceived him in this way he would hate me to my dying day."

The infant was awake and staring at him with wide blue eyes.

"And you want me to handle this matter so that your husband will be none the wiser?"

"Oh, Mr. Bansemer," she cried, "it means everything to me! All depends on this baby. I must adopt her or the asylum people won't let me keep her. Can't it be done so quickly that he'll never find it out?"

"How many people know that the child is not yours?"

"My sister and the authorities at the asylum; not another soul."

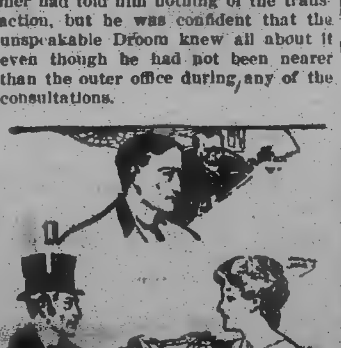
"It is possible to arrange the adoption, Mrs. Cable, but I can't guarantee that Mr. Cable will not find it out. The records will show the fact, you know. There is but one way to avoid discovery."

"And that, please?"

"Leave New York and make your home in some distant city. That's the safe way. If you remain here there is always a chance that he may find out. I see the position you're in, and I'll help you. It can be done quite regularly, and there is only one thing you'll have to fear—your own tongue," he concluded pointedly.

"I hate New York, Mr. Bansemer. David likes the west, and I'll go anywhere on earth if it will keep him from finding out. Oh, if you knew how he adores her!" she cried, regret and ecstasy mingling in her voice. "I'd give my soul if she were only mine!" Bansemer's heart was too roughly calloused to be touched by the wistful longing in these words.

Before the end of the week the adoption of the foundling babe was a matter of record, and the unsuspecting David Cable was awaiting a reply from the trainmaster of a big western railroad to whom, at the earnest, even eager solicitation of his wife, he had applied for work. Elias Droom made a note of the fee in the daybook at the office, but asked no questions. Bansemer had told him nothing of the transaction, but he was confident that the unspeakable Droom knew all about it even though he had not been nearer than the outer office during any of the consultations.



CHAPTER V.

TWENTY long years had passed since David and Frances Cable took their hasty departure, virtually fleeing from New York city, their migrations finally ending in that thriving western city—Denver. Then the grime of the engine was on Cable's hands and deep beneath his skin; the roar of iron and steel and the rush of wind were ever in his ears, the quest of danger in his eye, but there were love, pride and a new ambition in his heart. Now, in 1898, David Cable's hands were white and strong; the grime was gone; the engineer's cap had given way to the silk tile of the magnate, and the shovel was a memory.

But his case was not unique in that day and age of pluck and luck. Many another man had gone from the bottom to the top with the speed and security of the elevator car in the lofty skyscrapers. In the heartless revolution of a few years he became the successor of his western benefactor. The turn that had been kind to him was unkind to his friend and predecessor. The path that led upward for David Cable ran the other way for the trainmaster, who years afterward died in his greasy overalls and the close fitting cap of an engineer. One night Cable read the news of the wreck with all the joy gone from his heart.

From the cheap, squalid section of town known as "Railroad End" Cable's rising influence carried him to the well earned luxury. The lines of care and toil mellowed in the face of his pretty wife as the years rolled by. Her comely figure shed the cheap raiment of "hard old days" and took on the plumage of prosperity. Trouble, resentment and worry disappeared as if by magic, smoothed out by the satiny touch of comfort's fingers. She went upward much faster than her husband, for her ambitions were less exacting. She longed to shine socially. He loathed the thought of it. But Cable was proud of his wife. He enjoyed the transition that lifted her up with steady strength to the plane which fitted her best, as he regarded it. She had stuck by him nobly and uncomplainingly through the vicissitudes; it delighted him to give her the pleasures.

Frances Cable was proud, but she had not been too proud to stand beside the man with the greasy overalls and to bend her fine young strength to work in unison with his. Together, facing the task, cheerfully they had battled and won.

There were days when it was hard to smile, but the next day always brought with it a fresh sign of hope. The rough, hard days in the far west culminated in his elevation to the office of general manager of the great railroad system, whose headquarters and home were in the city of Chicago. Attaining this high place two years prior to the opening of this narrative, he was regarded now as one of the brainiest railroad men and slated to be president of the road at the next meeting.

Barely past fifty years of age, David Cable was in the prime of life and usefulness. Age and prosperity had improved him greatly. The iron gray of his hair, the keen brightness of his face, the erect and soldierly carriage of his person, made him a striking figure. His wife, ten years his junior, was one of the most attractive women in Chicago. Her girlish beauty had refined under the blasts of adversity. Years had not been unkind to her. In a way she was the leader of a certain set, but her social ambitions were not content. There was a higher altitude in fashion's realm. Money, influence and perseverance were her allies, social despotism her only adversary.

The tall, beautiful and accomplished daughter of the Cables was worshiped by her father with all the warmth and ardor of his soul. Times there were when he looked in wonder upon this arbiter of not a few manly destinies and for his life could not help asking himself how the Creator had given him such a being for a child, commenting on the fact that she bore resemblance to neither parent.

For years Mrs. Cable had lived in no little terror of some day being found out. As the child grew to womanhood the fears gradually diminished, and a sense of security that would not be disturbed replaced them. Then just as she was reaching out for the chief prizes of her ambition she came face to face with a man whose visage she never had forgotten—Elias Droom! And Frances Cable looked again into the old and terrifying shadows.

It was late in the afternoon, and she was crossing the sidewalk to her carriage, waiting near Field's, when a man brushed against her. She was conscious of a strange oppressiveness. Before she turned to look at him she knew that a pair of staring eyes were upon her face. Something seemed to have closed relentlessly upon her heart.

One glance was sufficient. The tall, angular form stood almost over her; the two wide blue eyes looked down in feigned surprise; the never to be forgotten voice greeted her hoarsely:

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Cable! And how is the baby?"

"The baby!" she faltered. Struggle against it as she would, a sort of fascination drew her gaze toward the remarkable face of the old clerk. "Why—why—she's very well, thank you," she finally stammered. Her face was as white as a ghost. With a shudder she started to pass him. Droom blocked the way.

"She was such a pretty little thing, I remember," and then insinuatingly. "Where is her father now?"

"He—Mr. Cable," answered Mrs. Cable, feeling very much as a bird feels when it is charmed by a snake, "why, he's at home, of course."

"Indeed!" was all that Elias Droom said, for she had fled to escape the grin that writhed in and out among the wrinkles of his face.

As her carriage struggled through Washington street an irresistible something compelled Frances Cable to glance back. Droom stood on the curb, his eyes following her almost hungrily. Half an hour later when she reached home she was in a state of collapse. Although there was no physical proof of the fact, she was positive that Elias Droom had followed her to the very doorstep.

In suspense and dread she waited for days before there was a second manifestation of Droom. There was rarely a day when she did not expect her husband to stand before her and ask her to explain the story that had been carried to him by a demon in the form of man.

But Droom did not go to David Cable. He went to James Bansemer with the news.

James Bansemer's law and loan offices were not far from the river and, it is sufficient to say, not much farther from State street. He who knows Chicago well cannot miss the location more than three blocks either way if he takes city hall as a focal point. The office building in which they were located is not a pretentious structure, but its tenants were then and still are regarded as desirable. It may be well to announce that Bansemer on reaching Chicago was clever enough to turn over a new leaf and begin work on a clear white page, but it is scarcely necessary to add that the black, besmirched lines on the opposite side of the sheet could be traced through every entry that went down on the fresh white surface. Bansemer was just as nefarious in his transactions, but he was a thousandfold more cautious. Droom sarcastically reminded him that he had a reputation to protect in his new field, and, besides, as his son was "going in society" through the influence of a coterie of Yale men, it would be worse than criminal to deteriorate.

Bansemer loathed Droom, but he also feared him. He was the only living creature that inspired fear in the heart of this bold schemer. It is true that he feared the effect an exposure might have on the mind of his stalwart son, the boy with his mother's eyes, but he had succeeded so well in blinding the youth in the years gone by that the prospects of discovery now seemed too remote for concern. The erstwhile New York shark was now an eel, wily and elusive, but he was an eel with a shark's teeth and a shark's voraciousness. He had grown old in the study of this particular branch of natural history. Bansemer was fifty-five years old in this year of 1898. He was thinner than in the old New York days, but the bull-like vigor had given way to the wiry strength of the leopard.

CANADA TO BE WELL REPRESENTED AT THE EXPOSITION AT SEATTLE

Special to the Review.

Seattle, Washington, Feb 10 —Mr. William Hutchinson, Commissioner of Expositions for the Dominion of Canada will, in a few days arrive from Ottawa to complete the pleasant task of erasing the boundry line and making Canada with her fruitful provinces full partner with the State of Washington and Alaska in the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition.

Commissioner Hutchinson has only recently returned from London where he had full charge of Canada's splendid exhibit at the Franco-British Exposition. He comes to Seattle for the purpose of selecting the site for the handsome building Canada will erect and to arrange for the installation of the exhibit which he brings home from London with so much credit. His arrival will be signal for an elaborate reception from which he will have no escape despite that he has recently been suffering from illness.

For the purposes of the exposition the Dominion appropriated the sum of $100,000 which means that Canada is to provide one of the leading features of the big fair. Several of the Provinces have also come in with independent offerings, just as have several States of the Union. Among these are Albert and Saskatchewan and it is believed confidently, British Columbia will shortly take advantage of that opportunity to display the resources that have made her famous from world's end to world's end. It is to be an exposition of the whole Northwest, not of any fractional part of it and down at this end of the line 'B.C.' looks just like "Wash.'

Special Canadian celebrations are being arranged, but as yet none except tentative dates have been given. The exposition directors are in communication with the officials at Ottawa and definite announcement of the special days will shortly be made. As they stand now, British Columbia week has been fixed from June 14 to June 1, inclusive. These dates have been selected for the reason that the period adjoins the Inland Empire week and the resources, productions, future and all else of the two are so closely related that it was deemed good sense to make it practically a continuous celebration by the one general district.

Dominion of Canada Day has been set for June 10, on which date the opening of the Canadian building will be celebrated and there will be one more big Dominion Day on July 1, Canada's real day to celebrate. A big lacrosse tournament is also being arranged, but the details are not sufficiently worked out to warrant anything like definite announcement. There is a very strong interest in the great game on this side of the line and it is more than probable that a team will be made up of many former well known Canadian players who are here and aching to get out their sticks.

The exposition is now about ninety per cent complete speaking of its principal buildings, and assurance is doubly sure that it will be complete in all details and open on June 1, as was first announced.

MEETING OF HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Historical Society invites the public to hear Mr. Barlow Cumberland's lecture on "The Attack on Fort York, April 27th, 1813," in the Collegiate Institute this evening. Those who heard the first lecture of the series know what a high standard has been set and will be interested to hear the President of the Ontario Historical Society give an address on such an important historical subject.

VOTE PASSES THE 80,000; OVER 12,000 CAST YESTERDAY

The Review's European Tour and Diamond Contest Only in Early Stages, But Creating Great Interest—Not too Late to Nominate.

The voting of certificates issued free with payments of subscriptions to the Review is becoming quite spirited, and a number of the candidates have swelled their score materially. The voting of the "big fellows" —the 300, 500, 1000 and 3000 kinds—now that the candidates and their friends realize the importance of securing votes through subscription certificates will undoubtedly make the struggle intensely interesting as the contenders battle for supremacy. Many certificates are issued daily which shows that the subscribers of the Review are ever ready to do a favor for a friend.

The majority of the candidates seem to be doing well and many advances are shown. While there is yet plenty of time, it is wise to get the vote now rather than wait till toward the end of the contest. It will be easier to get a subscription now than it will be later on when the ground will have been more thoroughly covered.

All the candidates in the ladies' list in the city made gains. The men's list in District 1, shows another candidate in the active list, Bruce W. Kemp joining the "thousands" list.

The ladies' list in the county still maintains the high individual vote, Miss Rose P. Moore, having a score today of over 12,000. Miss Ada Holcombe of Havelock improved her score through the certificate route and now has almost 5000 votes to her credit.

Sidney A. Smithson of Keene, added another lap to his lead over all competitors in his list. As far as the score goes it is a secret just now will race Mr. Smithson in his race, but it is very certain that other active contenders will appear in the near future.

ENTHUSIASM COUNTS

Enthusiasm counts in this contest, as well as in any other undertaking. It will rally support to your side never dreamed of. You start with your friends. They are ready to support you, as a matter of course; that is they will turn their votes in your direction. It is up to you to make every one of them an active worker in your behalf. Don't merely ask for their votes, secure them and see that you enlist them on your side. Talk to them and get them enthused about the contest. Let them see that once they cast their votes for you you are their candidate, and that they are interested in your success. Their votes are valuable but their influence is worth a lot more.

Every person who votes for you, knows other people, many of whom you do not know and whose support you would never dream of asking. After you have asked and secured their individual votes ask them about their friends. Have your friends tell their friends to wait till you see them. It is more than an equal chance that they'll have the votes all ready and cinched for you long before you arrive. You won't have anything to do but just gather them in.

Our European tour and diamond contest is already an assured success. We will observe the utmost impartiality, treating every candidate absolutely alike and giving all the same chance and our advice and counsel is to be had for the asking. If you live within reach of the city we invite you to call on us at any time and question us to your heart's content. If you live outside and there are any points on which you desire enlightenment, write or telephone us at our expense.

Mr. John Edgar, of Burk's Falls, who is a brother of Mr. James Edgar of this city, is leaving that place in the near future to reside in Peterborough. Recently he was tendered a farewell banquet at the Hotel Central by the citizens of Burk's Falls, and the Burk's Falls "Arrow" speaks very highly of the function. Part of the Arrow's report is as follows;—

"It is almost needless to add that all speakers devoted much of their time towards eulogizing the guest of the evening, and wishing him every happiness and prosperity in his new home in Peterborough."

"Mr. John Edgar, who was loudly cheered and most enthusiastically received upon rising, expressed his deep gratitude at the kindness shown him by his fellow-citizens of Burk's Falls in the past, and for their substantial token of good-fellowship and good-will on the present occasion. Burk's Falls, he said, would always have a warm place in his heart."

TO PRESERVE THE FORESTS A CONVENTION AT TORONTO

Governor-General is in Attendance.

Wholesale Slaughter of Trees is Responsible for Low Water Say Speakers.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The Canadian Forestry Association opened a two-days' special meeting at Convocation Hall yesterday morning. The opening session was attended by Earl Grey, Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Hon. Mr. Tweedie of New Brunswick, and a number of other leaders in the reforesting movement. President F. B. Snowball was chairman.

"For the last 133 years in the United States the principle of individual enterprise for personal benefit with selfish disregard for the public interest, would appear to have been allowed unchecked and unregulated away. It is now realised that unless the people of the whole continent of North America adopt the principle of subordinating individual interests to the well-being of the community, they must eventually drift into a state of material as well as moral bankruptcy."

Earl Grey suggested that the association should consider the desirability of publishing with illustrations President Roosevelt's message to Congress regarding forest destruction. He hoped that the care of the forests would for a time become the first object of the Canadian people.

Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor, gave an official welcome to the visitors from other provinces. For three years as Minister of Crown Lands he was at the head of the forests department of the province. When in that position he propounded the policy that areas unfit for agricultural purposes should be set apart as forest areas.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, said he feared the Canadian people traded too much in the vast figures publicly quoted of the forest reserves. A vast proportion of this lay outside the present commercial world. It was because he was going to Washington next week to the convention there that he had left his Parliamentary duties to obtain the benefit of the reports and addresses at this meeting. The general public should have the fact impressed upon them that deforestration has rendered it necessary to deepen several of the Canadian harbors, and is responsible for fluctuations in the depth of the St. Lawrence.

Frank Hawkins, secretary of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, said that the water in Lake Temiskaming was reported this year as 19 feet lower than ever before. This showed what deforestration meant.

The afternoon session opened with a paper by A. T. Drummond, who is in Europe. It was read by Mr. Campbell of Ottawa. The paper was on "The Practical Side of the Forestry Question," and emphasized the importance of the enforcement of the regulations for the prevention of forest fires. The writer declared the present penalties were too light and the law was ignored. Mr. Drummond urged the convention to call for a penalty of two years' imprisonment without the option of a fine.

President Snowball, in his address, said:

"As an association, we have every reason to feel that we have taken no small part in the awakening of public sentiment regarding forest preservation, along advanced lines. Largely through the instrumentality of our association, the University of Toronto has organized a faculty of forestry, with Dr. Fernow as dean. In my own province, too, we have established a department of forestry in the University of New Brunswick, with Prof. R. B. Miller, M.A., M.F., in charge. Personally, I do not think that any Government should stop with the establishment of forestry schools, but they should also appoint lecturers to visit the forested portions of the different provinces and give practical talks on forestry subjects in language easily understood by those who cannot attend college, but who are anxious to extend their present knowledge of the subject.

USED HIS KNIFE ON AN OPPONENT

Two well known citizens had an altercation and in the mix-up one of the party produced his jack-knife and proceeded to cut up his opponent. He inflicted two ugly cuts in the left arm, which required the attention of a physician. The wounded man has laid an information against his assailant and the matter will be ventilated in the police court.

DEVELOPING POWER AT CAMPBELLFORD

The Seymour Electric Power Company have begun operations in connection with power development at dam No 1, above the town. The company intend to push the work to completion so as to be able to put their power on the market at the earliest possible moment. Doubtless some of the villages in this vicinity that are without lighting privileges will soon be able to enjoy a longfelt want.—Campbellford Herald.

STEWART TO GO TO THE ASYLUM

Orangeville, Feb. 12.—Geo. Stewart, the maniacal murderer confined in the jail here, decided yesterday to take nourishment and eat a good dinner and supper. He was pretty restless on Tuesday night, and raged around in his cell like a caged lion.

After a lengthy discussion at Shelburne, Crown Attorney McKay stated that in all probability there would be no further legal procedure and the papers would be filled in at once and forwarded requesting Stewart's removal to Hamilton Asylum.

Yesterday was winter fair day in town and the county buildings was besieged with visitors requesting to see the lunatic, but the jailer refused to allow them inside.

WINDSOR AFTER INDUSTRIES

Will Engage Publicity Promoter to Induce Factories to Locate There

Windsor, Ont, Feb 11—At the annual meeting of the Board of Trade it was decided to engage a publicity promoter to visit the American cities with a view to inducing the factories to locate branches here.

Mayor Wigle urged prompt action along this line and pointed out that the new French treaty should attract industries to this side.

THE STEEL COMPANY WINS VERDICT OF PRIVY COUNCIL

As Result of Finding in Huge Lawsuit Coal People Must Supply Coal for $1.25 Per Ton for Ninety Years—Coal Securities Feel a Violent Depression

London, Feb. 12.—The Judicial Committee of the Privy Council gave decision yesterday in favor of the Dominion Iron & Steel Co., directing that the Dominion Coal Co. must pay damages for the repudiation of its 90-year contract to supply coal at $1.24 per ton. Thus the most important suit from a monetary standpoint in the history of Canada is won by the Steel Company.

The following is the last paragraph of the Privy Council's finding: "The judgment orders that the case be remitted to the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia to have the damages for repudiation of contract, and in respect of the breaches committed before the repudiation, namely, to Oct. 31, 1908, assessed. The appellants are ordered to pay the costs of the principal appeal, but no order is made regarding the costs of the cross-appeal, so both parties will have to pay their own costs in that regard."

Lord Atkinson, consequent upon the death of Lord Robertson, read the judgment. After a lengthy resume of the facts of the case, their lordships declared it was not a case wherein it was necessary to import by implication words into the contract in order to effectuate the common intention of the parties to it. The strenuous contention of the Coal Company that the phrase "reasonably free from stone and shale," which appeared in the contract, implied that the coal to be supplied to the Steel Company should be only as free from stone and shale as reasonable and proper picking could make it, apart from impurities in the laminae permeating the coal, cannot be sustained. The words meant that the coal must be reasonably free in fact.

Effect In Canada.

Toronto, Feb. 12.—The announcement of the decision was the prominent factor at the Toronto Stock Exchange. Brokers and clients collaborated and endeavored to get enlightenment from one another in regard to what the decision really meant, but at the close of the day no distinct opinion was held as to the actual influence which the two involved stocks should show from the announcement:

With the decision in favor of the Steel Company and the estimate that the Coal Company may have to pay the Steel Company untold millions in settlement, the pool in the Steel shares advanced their specialty many points. Steel common ran up 4 points, Steel preferred almost 20 points, and the bonds 5 points.

Dominion Coal shareholders were naturally depressed with the decision. Some frightened holders of stock sought to get out before the actual result of the verdict was announced, but be it said to the credit of local holders of the Coal shares only 150 shares represented the total transactions, although the decline was nearly 15 points below last Saturday's price.

At the close of the market the confidence in the belief the Coal Company would succumb under the decision of the Privy Council was not so pronounced.

PEWS MADE IN PRISON DISCUSSED IN THE HOUSE

TOOK SENTENCE WITH CALMNESS

Toronto, Feb. 12.—Walter Blythe was yesterday sentenced to be hanged May 13 for beating his wife to death with a poker at Agincourt early in January. He took the sentence quietly, in the presence of a crowded court-room.

Justice Riddell, addressing Blythe, said the evidence had been convincing and clear. His life and fate should be a warning to others.

"There is much that is good in you, and much that is good may, and should be said of you," said his lordship. "A hard-working man, a faithful servant, thrifty and careful, gladly thinking and, perhaps, modestly boasting of the small savings which you were able to make, you did not squander your earnings in unnecessary luxuries or debasing debauch. It would seem that your little home was kept well supplied with all that was necessary, and that you did not skimp your wife or child, or deny them proper food or clothing."

Justice Riddell attributed the final murderous assault to the influence of drink. There could be no plea of insanity—"Your temper was up," said his lordship. The law gave him no prerogative. "My prayer is that, having paid the penalty demanded by the human law, you may, with the guilt of sin washed away, meet your dead wife and, wholly forgiven and reconciled, pass with her an eternity of peace," he concluded.

Before entering the court-room, Blythe spoke to a friend, pitifully, as to his two children, and added that, in spite of appearances, he had loved his wife and she had loved him.

Serious Disorder in Prison Says Mr. Monk.

Col. Sam Hughes Will Ask Why Great Britain Overlooked Canada in Placing Beef Contract.

Ottawa, Feb. 12.—In supply, Hon. Jacques Bureau, Solicitor-General, yesterday had the penitentiaries' estimates to guide through. He declared that when supplies were required for the penitentiaries prices were obtained from all reputable firms.

Explaining a reduction of $40,000 in the amount required for the industries of Kingston Penitentiary, Mr. Bureau said the Department was not buying hemp for the making of twine. There were on hand 820,000 pounds of twine and 210,000 pounds of fibre. The average manufacturing of twine was 400,000 pounds of twine, but last year the sales fell off. Considerable sums were due the Department from farmers, and it had been decided to continue the industry on a cash basis.

Mr. Monk had been informed that 96 pews were manufactured in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary for a church in Ottawa at a cost of $100 or so, and that the pews were worth in the open market $960. Mr. Bureau explained that the lumber was supplied to the inspector of prisons, as his contribution to his own church. There were only 42 pews, and the actual cost of the labor, $106, was paid by the congregation.

"It was done before," said Mr. Bureau, "in Sir John Thompson's time when he paid for stone for a church in Portsmouth, out of his own pocket."

Col. Sam Hughes, however, was able to show that Sir John Thompson paid for the work so that it wouldn't come out of the people of Canada, and punished the officials responsible.

Mr. Monk said the truth was that there were "serious disorders of that character" at St. Vincent de Paul, and it was remarkable that the inspector had power to order work done for outside parties.

Col. Sam Hughes will question the Government as to the announcement that the British Government has contraced with foreign firms for large quantities of canned meat for the army and navy.

The colonel's concluding enquiry reads: "Is it the custom of the British Government to favor foreign nations with whom it wishes to cultivate friendship, and persons other than those loyal to Britain and her institutions, to the detriment and exclusion of those loyal and true to Britain and her institutions?"

"Then," said Mr. Foster, "I would like to know if the patronage system is to be abolished from all the Departments?" and Sir Wilfrid said, "I think that is the practice that is being followed in every Department, but to make doubly sure I will reserve my answer till I make further enquiries."

Dr. Barr moved the second reading of his bill to facilitate the crossing of railway tracks by telegraph, telephone, electric or water companies. It gets rid of a $5 payment for the privilege and requires the railway to take the application to the Railway Commission within 15 days if objection is taken.

Mr. Graham said it was a serious matter. Such application should be referred to the Railway Commission and entirely controlled by the body.

The bill went to the railway committee.

W. F. Maclean (South York) on Monday will move for a copy of all orders-in-council in regard to increases in the capital stock of the C.P.R. since 1882, and for an order-in-council passed about 1902; for an immediate reference to the courts to ascertain the capital actually expended in the construction of the C.P.R., described in the original charter of the company.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Maclean asked the Minister of Railways whether he could say after investigation if there had been a reference to the courts, as promised by Mr. Sifton. Mr. Graham promised an answer in a few days.

When the third reading of the Lancaster Level Crossing Bill was called, there was no word from the Minister of Railways as to the desired Mabee opinion, and the bill was declared carried without a protest.

MR. MACLEAN, M. P.

There can be no question that Mr. Maclean, M.P., has been doing a great service for the people in standing up for popular rights generally. It is customary to charge Mr. Maclean with self-seeking duplicity, &c. These opinions must now be revised. The ox that treads out the corn must not be muzzled or flogged. Let us accept great favors with good grace and make the acknowledgement due.

LYNCH LAW

The action of the Minister of Justice in pardoning Pfouffe, who was sent to penitentiary for no less than seven assaults upon little girls, is a bad business. The Minister has announced that he is against "the lash." Consequently in order to enable Pfouffe to escape the lash he pardons him. This is the sort of rot that produces lynching. Barley-water statesmen and pseudo reformers in the U. S. kept on with their mawkish theories of not using the rod for fear of of spoiling the depraved beast until the citizen who needed protection, joined himself with his brother and began the stringing-up process. What is likely to be the effect of the Minister's policy? Instead of developing tenderness it is developing punishment by white-caps and an ignoring of the law that is positively dangerous. Let us take an example. In a certain district there have been several assaults on women, girls, etc. The Law was called in. It fiddles about long after proof has been forthcoming, in an endeavor to forgive so far as at all possible, the criminal for what he has done. He is locked up. The judge does not give him the lash because the Minister of Justice has a theory. The crime occurs again. The punishment forthcoming has no terrors for the human brutes, hence the crime increases in frequency. Now what people are going to stand this sort of thing? Of course people are welcome to put up with it if they wish, but who is so silly as to do so? The reformation of criminals is quite another matter. It may mean the "careful consideration" of crime criminals and their regeneration. We do not deny that. But we do say that in our humble opinion that recurrence of primeval barbarism, known as lynching, whitecapping, night-riding, etc., is a direct result of the apathy or sympathy of the law with regard to crime. The remedy for all wrongs ultimately lies with the people and when the law givers get too corrupt or fanciful to preserve order and protect the defenceless the people can do and will do what in the last analysis is the bulwark of the law they are supposed to do, viz., rise up and set things right. Official foolishness is the worst form of that malady. If Blythe goes free and there is no doubt some form of official escape will be provided for him, then Blythe and Pfouffe may be regarded as the "highwater mark of Canadian justice." Then the real reformation will have to begin and it will begin—at the top. Why punish at all? If, however, it is admitted that some form of it must be inflicted, then the whole question becomes one of degree, not of principle, as supposed. Why then should the "reformers" moderate punishment in flagrant cases? The presumption that the degree of it is too this or that not being a question of principle, must be approved or disapproved, according as the blood in the boiler of crime goes up or down. If it is right to ease off it is still "more right" to ease off altogether. But as the French say, "C'est le premier pas qui coute." It is at the beginning that the danger lies, and it is there that the new Minister of Justice is doing his best to keep it. The history of crime incontestably shows the absolute necessity of its relentless extirpation. "All this business" has been tried a hundred times. It has always to be relinquished in the end. Educate, love, etc., as much as possible, redouble it if necessary, but do not at the same time render innocuous the arm of the Law as a protecting arm. At first it may seem as if hanging had engendered sheepstealing in the "good old days," but it did not nor did it abolish it. The development of the police system rendered it unnecessary and of course, at best, it was absurdly cruel. However, "steal a horse and hang," is the motto in the West yet. Why? Because it has to be. The guage of punishment is furnished by the frequency and character of crime and there is no easy way out of it.

MR. CUMBERLAND'S LECTURE

Mr. Cumberland's lecture last evening demonstrates two things amongst many others, viz., that a lecture, like everything else, must be advertised not in a perfunctory way, as if the public was anxiously waiting for the announcement, but in a way designed to work the people up gradually to the interest and importance of the occasion. The lecture was most interesting. The audience was delighted. The other point made prominent is that the Society's course of lectures should be exclusively on Canadian history, which is its real province, of which speaking intimately our people are necessarily ignorant. It is the want of persistent coaching in it that has left so many of us ignorant of the details which go to make up as interesting a record of really brave deeds well and nobly done as can be found in most places in the world. Self-depreciation is not as a rule a Canadian virtue, but in this respect it has been carried to the point of excess and of failing to understand "the short and simple annals" of a part of the human race worked out in the vast wilderness of early Canada, whose fruit we are now gathering in and enjoying. We are too material altogether, which is another name for saying that we have our child's eye perpetually on the table. A little more thought and a little more love would make us wiser and happier. The fault at present is we may be pardoned for saying, with the local Society itself. When our blood is once up we have a responsive and intelligent people, but they cannot be expected to do what indeed others have undertaken to do, viz., to arouse an interest which would take fire if touched, but whose lack is continually "lamented." We hope we may be pardoned for saying that the beam is being looked for in the wrong eye. Success is its own measure, and when it does not come we may upbraid the public, but in many cases, as in this, we are fully persuaded, it is our own fault. Nearly every organization in town it has been an uphill fight to develop and "get going" and if the Canadian Club has got on its feet after a wobble or two, why not the Historical Society, whose heritage is so rich as to leave it really no excuse whatever. Mr. Cumberland has given the cause a fillip. Now let us make Hay while the sun shines. The management is capable of bringing about the best results.

The nation, he said, was awakening to the importance of character.—Speech of Right Hon. R. B. Haldane, M.P.

It now appears that the fell propensity of the small boy to "steal" apples is a provision of nature since an overloaded tree does not mature its apples well. They are small and indifferent. If this becomes known stealing will probably cease.

German extravagance is becoming a by-word. The ordinary citizen drinks wines at $10.00 a bottle and smokes cigars at $2.00 apiece. This is a great change from the old days, and in view of high German taxation it is burning the candle at both ends. Prince Von Bulow is much exercised.

Twenty-four divorces before the Senate. This begins to look like Dakota. We must at all hazards beware of acquiring the dangerous conditions of matrimony in the United States, where out of every twelve marriages one is dissolved with privileges of remarriage.

The Japanese question is again becoming acute in the United States. White labor finds itself unable to compete with the little brown men who have become rather plentiful along the Pacific slope. There is a general feeling, too, that the country has quite enough of race problems just now, without adding another." —The Catholic Register.

OF INTEREST

Of the legends of German extraction the most convincing is that of "Rose Latulippe." Pretty Rose, the belle of Ste Madeleine, devoted to her fiance, Gabriel Lepart, was passionately fond of dancing. One Shrove Tuesday night, when fifty young guests were making merry at Latulippe's hospitable farmhouse, a stranger tall, dark with flashing eyes, drew up to the deep cutting through the snow banks that led to the door. "Mon dieu," cried someone, "What a swell. And what a splendid black horse. It will leap over the house." Meanwhile the gallant stranger had, after politely requesting permission, joined the dancers and forthwith never left the side of pretty Rose. 12 o'clock struck and old Latulippe endeavored in vain to stop the now sinful dancing, as it was Ash-Wednesday. He once drew aside his daughter, but the stranger seized Rose's hand so violently that she fainted as two young farmers ran in crying, "Who is this stranger. The six feet deep of snow has melted all about his horse, and its hoofs rest upon the dry earth." Terror fell upon the guests—but the stranger, undaunted, snatched at the crucifix and chain Rose wore about her neck, whilst throwing into her lap strings of huge gleaming pearls; the chain broke, and just as the stranger flung away the sacred emblem, and seized the unfortunate girl, Monsieur le Cure rushed in, sent by the good Ste Rose, for the protection of her protegee —"What art thou, Archfiend, doing amongst Christians?" cried the priest. "I did not," replied Lucifer, glaring about him with fiery eyeballs, "recognize as Christians those who disgrace their faith by dancing and carousing on the penitential days ordained by your damnable precepts —this girl has chosen to be mine—by the blood that flowed from her hand as I seized it, she has bound herself to me forever." "Hence, Satan, hence," roared the priest, striking the stranger with his stole and repeating Latin words none present understood— and with one deafening shriek of baffled rage the devil vanished amidst sulphurous smoke that nearly suffocated the horrified throng. Rose took the veil.—five years later peacefully passed to the Heaven she had so nearly lost by her vanity and disregard of her religion.

In the old German legend Gretchen dances with the devil, but more unfortunate than Canadian Rose, falls dead, as, with a mocking laugh the stranger disappears, whirling her soul away. This rather feeble translation is sometimes sung in both countries—

And evermore within that hall,
When midnight draweth near,
A strange, weird music fills the room,
And spectral forms appear.

Whirling with flying feet
Around the room in search of one
She seeks in vain to meet.

For it is said that she is doomed
Thus restlessly to dwell,
Until some Christian dance with her
And break the fearful spell.

There are legends galore in more stately setting. I could have told this evening of the days when something of the elegance of the Court of "Le Grand Monarque" was transplanted to New France by the Champlain, de Montmagny, D'Argenson de Vaudreuil, de Beauharnois, de Salaberry, Juchereau de Saint Denis, Montmorenci, when "Censitaires" humbly brought tribute to the "Manoirs" of their overlords, but I restricted myself to real folklore,—the simple tales heard in whitewashed farmhouses, in the "cataine carpeted "salle" of some country cure, under stately Northern pine, or amid the scarlet glory of an autumnal maple grove on the wide St. Lawrence's curving shores. Flags have changed— politicians can play the game—modern inventions can startle the world. Where once the small sailing vessels of one Jacques Cartier of St. Malo, ploughed heavily upon the glittering waters of the river, the leviathans of commerce can cleave clean their record breaking furrows; bays, where once the birch bark canoe slid silently from point to point, now ripple and quiver to the tuany flight of steam launch or throbbing motor boat. Up the Metapedia and Restigouche the millionaire angler delicately whips the pools and skilfully plays the noble salmon, where once ravenous Indian and hungering half breed speared for food—where once the snowshoed "coureur" followed the lonely trail in blinding snowstorm or black darkness of the pine forest, a "transcontinental" shrieks and flashes over cultivated field, or through the electric constellation of some great metropolis. But Jean Baptiste-Canayen remains unchanged, superstitious, thrifty industrious, true to monarchial France, true to his faith, true to his cure—yes, and true to his now proven kindly rulers. The late Dr. William H. Drummond knew Jean Baptiste as no other Anglo-Saxon ever did, and listen to the last verses of his 1897 Jubilee poem—

Yass, dat is de way Victoriaw Ca' us dis Jubilee.

Sometam' we mak fuss about not'ing, but it's all on de familee,
An' whenever dere's danger roun' no matter on sea or lan',
She'll find dat les Canayens can fight de sam' as bes' English man.

An under de flag on Angleterre, so long as dat flag was fly,
Wit dere English broder les Canayens is satisfy leev an' die.
Dat de message our faders geef us when dey're fallin' at Chateaugay,
An de was kippin' dem safe den, dat's de wan we will keep alway

HISTORICAL SOCIETY PASS RESOLUTION URGING THE RESTORATION OF FORT YORK

Splendid Address on the "Defence of Fort York 1813" by Mr. Barlow Cumberland of Port Hope Before the Historical Society Last Evening—Resolution to be Forwarded to Toronto City Council and Ontario Legislature

An interesting and enthusiastic lecture was given last evening in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute before the Peterborough Historical Society and a number of citizens, by Mr. Barlow Cumberland, of Port Hope, President of the Ontario Historical Society.

The outcome of last night's meeting was the passing of a resolution to the effect that the Historical Society of this city, after hearing the address on the defence of Old Fort York, 1813, urge the Ontario Legislature and the City Council of Toronto that the Old Fort be restored as a fitting monument to the valor of the Canadians who fell in 1813. The resolution was seconded by Mr. A. P. Poussette, who said that it would be a grand thing to have the fort restored. It would be a lasting memorial and would serve to bring before the youth of Canada the deeds of valor of the pioneers. A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to Toronto.

The chair last evening was taken by Mr. G. A. [illegible] President of the Society, who, in a few well-chosen remarks introduced the speaker of the evening.

The lecturer pointed out that while in other lands and notably in the United States the places where men had done their noble deeds for their country's defence and welfare were gratefully marked and preserved yet beyond the monument at Queenston Heights, erected by a previous generation, nothing had been done to record the gallantry of the defence of York in the engagement of April 27, 1813. Under the initiation of the Ottawa Historical Society a monument had been erected to Governor Simcoe, and it was hoped that by the restoration of the Old Fort something more would be done to record the memories of the other men of that garrison.

After stating the massing of the three armies at Lake Champlain, Detroit and the Niagara frontier comprising 17 000 men for the invasion of Canada in the spring of 1813, the positions of the 6 500 in Canada were detailed. Kingston was well manned and fortified. York, the capital of the province, was inadequately provided, and with forces of only 600 all told.

The American fleet of 16 ships with a force of 3000 men, including 1,700 picked soldiers sailed from Sackett's Harbor on the 25th of April.

After narrating the condition of affairs in York, where on the call to arms even men and boys had joined the ranks, the passing of the fleet at dawn on the 27th along the shores of the island as described by eye-witnesses was given. The fleet rounded to under the lea of the banks of the Humber Bay, and the landing commenced between six and seven in the morning. As the vessels neared the shore fire was opened by the Indians and Glengarries. The arms then used, it must be remembered, were only flint locks requiring powder from powder horns and available only at short distance.

It was late in April when the ice in the harbor had broken up and that in the island ponds was rotten. Tradition says that as the party was making their way to the shore the ice gave way and some were drowned and that was how Grenadier Pond gained its name.

Mr. Cumberland then went on to describe the landing of Captain Forsyth, telling how the thin red line of the Granadiers as they appeared the banks were swept down by broadsides from ships firing over the heads of the boats. Major King and the 15th Battalion of American infantry were landed in support of the riflemen, in the contest which followed. Forsyth, as a writer says, "Lost some men but no credit." The landing of the main body under General Pike enabled the enemy to advance more boldly, more than 1,000 troops having by this time landed. Here, the speaker said, on the shore of the Humber Bay was another memorial.

About 220 of the 3rd York and the Company of the Newfoundland Regiment joined the 8th and a gallant charge was made on the American column. It was in this that Capt. McNeill was killed. He was buried by the enemy near the spot where he fell. Others of the gallant men who fell were buried in the bank which is the high ground on the eastern end of the Humber Bay.

The speaker gave a vivid picture of the long line of ships at anchor, and the boats making for the shore. One could almost hear, he said, as he stood on those heights, the scream of the grape shot from the cannon, the pattering of the musket balls, and the war whoops of the Indians. This site was the third memorial.

Mr. Cumberland told of the landing of more reinforcements and the inability of the Canadian troops to sustain the contest against the enemy. A fierce conflict ensued; the Americans gaining ground and the numbers of both parties were decimated and their defences were destroyed. All this took place around the point on which the Stanley Barracks now stands. These Canadians should be admired for their bravery. In 1867 there were still remnants of the western battery to be seen but all have since been levelled. This was the fifth memorial.

Mr. Cumberland next told of the explosion of the magazine and the awful results of it. He believed that there was no doubt that the explosion was intentional.

It was in this that the brave young Captain Pike lost his life. He was mortally crushed with falling stones. Hearing the shouts of the victors, he asked what was meant, and was told "The British flag is down and the American flag is going up." He had wished that if he fell his fall should be like Wolfe's. He was carried to the shore, taken on board the Madison and with the British flag under his head, which he had begged might be placed there, he died as he had wished, "like Wolfe in the hour of victory." This standard taken at York is said to be preserved in the gunnery room of the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

After blowing up the fort, Sheaffe with his men retired to Kingston, leaving Colonel Chewett and Major Allan of the 3rd York to treat with Gen. Dearborn for terms of capitulation. The terms reached were that the resident militia should surrender on parole, that all public stores should be delivered up and that private property should be guaranteed safe. Notwithstanding this the private stores were plundered, the parliament buildings and court house were burned, the church robbed and the town library pillaged.

Four days later, the American troops sailed away and the sixth and last memorial was the spot where once Fort York stood.

"Shall we forget the gallant deeds of these brave men?" asked the speaker. He thought that Canadians repenting their miserable apathy should demand that memorials be raised where old Fort York once stood, that it might become "Our Upper Canada field of Abraham."

The land was now used as a dumping ground for refuse. Mr. Cumberland thought that historical societies should urge the Toronto Council and the Ontario Legislature that the old Fort should be restored.

At the conclusion of the address, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Cumberland, Sheriff Hall moving it and Col H. C. Rogers seconding it. Both referred to the great pleasure with which they had listened to the lecture.

Messrs. Duncan, Walker, A P Poussette, J H Burnham, A Mowatt and R H H Kenner made a few remarks supporting the resolution. In their opinion, every battle field spot should be kept in its original condition and that fitting memorials should be raised to mark the spots where once were scenes of valor.

LIVERY STABLE AND EQUIPMENT DESTROYED

Serious Fire at Rear of White House This Morning—Hotel Stables and Sheds Burned—No Insurance on Livery Stable

Mr. Bruce Lee, the local liveryman, will suffer serious loss as a result of a fire in his stables at the rear of the White House early this morning. The origin of the blaze is not known, but the stables were destroyed with the cutters, harness, buffalo robes and other equipment. Seven horses were stabled there but were saved. Mr. Lee is at present sick and the loss could not be learned. There was no insurance. The origin of the fire is merely a matter of conjecture. The sheds and stables of the White House were also burned and the scene at the rear of the hotel is one of great devastation. The loss in the last instance is covered by insurance. A considerable quantity of tea stored in a place reserved in the building for the Daly Tea Company of Toronto, was damaged by water.

The alarm was given by Mr. M. Levick at 4.40 this morning. He was going to attend to some horses at a stable at the foot of Aylmer street, when he noticed the blaze and sent to the police station, from where the alarm was sent in by telephone. The brigade arrived very quickly, but the blaze had gained great headway.

WANT A FULL INVESTIGATION IN ILL-TREATMENT CHARGES

Cobourg, Feb 11—A full investigation of the charges of alleged ill-treatment of Jobyn Maynard while an inmate of the Counties House of Refuge here is desired by the Board of Management for the counties. The members of the Board, Col Hughes Clarke, chairman; Warden A A Powers, Orono, and Reeve Geo Wolfrain, Haldimand township met at the House of Refuge today and decided to ask the Provincial Secretary to send Dr Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons here at as early a date as possible to make a thorough investigation.

Superintendent McMillan has said that he would be very glad to have a thorough investigation. He did not want any cloud resting over the institution. With regard to the dissatisfaction expressed by some in Bowmanville because of the way the previous investigation was conducted, it is but fair to that committee to say they would have been glad to have had any of Mr Maynard's friends or his physician present to give their evidence.

The Board of Management of County Institutions today also discussed the question of endeavoring to get an exchange of inmates from some other Provincial institutions who could be cared for here, in order that three insane from these counties now be cared for—two in the jail and one at the House of Refuge—could be taken in at the Provincial asylums, where at present there is no room.

MISSIONARY OFFERINGS IN BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE

The Port Hope Guide says;—On Sunday Feb. 14th, the Rev. W. J. Crothers D.D., of St. Catharines, will preach missionary sermons in the Port Hope Methodist church, both morning and evening. Dr. Crothers has filled some of the leading pulpits of this Conference at Napanee, Belleville, (Bridge Street), and Peterborough (George Street.) He is now stationed in one of the leading churches of the Hamilton Conference at St. Catharines. His many many friends here will be delighted to greet him and hear him again.

Last year of the givings of individual churches in this Bay Conference to Missions, Home and Foreign, Port Hope Methodist church stood fourth. Belleville Bridge Street gave $1429. Lindsay Cambridge Street gave $1 337. Peterborough George street gave $1 161, and Port Hope gave $801. Of the givings by towns Port Hope stands sixth. Peterborough as a city with three churches gave $2 183, an increase of $488. Belleville, three churches, gave $2,046 an increase of 357. Lindsay, two churches, gave $1463, increase $371. Napanee, two churches, gave $1,232, increase $30. Picton, two churches, gave $947, increase $206. Port Hope gave $801, increase $143.

The amount given by Port Hope Methodist church last year, is a gratifying one indicating as it does an increase of 22 per cent. But if Port Hope Methodism is to do its share with other leading towns of our Conference it will call forth our best efforts.

IMPORTANT ADVICE
TO
THREE PLAIN FACTS.

I.—That more eyes are injured by the injudicious use of Glass than by any other known cause.
II.—That a great number of people are wearing spectacles unsuitable for them, and for which their eyes have not been tested.
III.—That the old fashioned and unscientific method of testing the eyes by trying on various spectacles of different strengths until the sight is apparently suited, is to say the least of it, dangerous.

It cannot be too forcibly impressed upon the minds of those who suffer from defective eyesight that proper lenses and correctly fitting frames are absolutely essential for comfortable spectacle wearing. We grind our own lenses. Charges moderate.

A VERY LARGE ADVANCE SALE

Will be a Big Audience for the Presentation of "The Three Musketeers"

The advance sale for "The Three Musketeers," which will be given on Feb. 19th, at the Conservatory Music Hall, under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's church, is most gratifying and from present indications the seating capacity of the hall will be taxed to its capacity.

The producing company of local amateurs have been rehearsing the piece under the direction of Mr. Waring for a considerable length of time and the various characters will be given a careful and satisfactory interpretation.

PETERBORO' TALENT AT HASTINGS

The Hastings Star says;—

"The members of the church are to be congratulated on having passed their 51st anniversary so successfully. Large audiences enjoyed the services of Rev. Robt. Pogue, of St. Paul's church, Peterborough, on Sunday. Mr. Pogue is one of the most eloquent, pointed and practical preachers of the church. His services are greatly in demand and Hastings may congratulate itself in having the privilege of hearing him."

On Monday night a concert was held and among those who contributed to the programme was Mr. George Lynch, of Peterborough. Speaking of his work the Star says;

Mr. George Lynch, of Peterborough, is a host in himself. He is an inimitable mimic and a versatile entertainer. Among the many pieces rendered may be mentioned, "The Black Sheep of the Family," "The Duke's Soliloquy," and "Little Baptiste." His selections are of a good moral tone. This is Mr. Lunch's first appearance and we are sure it will not be his last.

MAKING A CITY IN THE WEST

Winnipeg, Man. Feb. 11—Every city and town in Western Canada today is watching with envy the rapid growth of Melville, the little Saskatchewan town selected by the Grand Trunk Pacific as its operating centre.

That Melville will be a thriving city before the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific becomes more apparent daily. On the outskirts of the town several large Eastern concerns have purchased sites and, judging from their present activity in clearing the sites, will lose no time when spring comes in erecting warehouses.

Everywhere in Melville can be witnessed the making of a city. No narrow streets or awkward corners are being allowed, the survey of the town being as nearly perfect as the experience gained through centuries will enable.

The property owned by the Grand Trunk Pacific is also the scene of much activity for preparations are there being made for an early start on the branches surveyed to run north and south from Melville this year. All through the winter gangs of men have been employed enlarging the Company's yards for every available mile of track in Melville will be required when the spring rush commences, already the advance guard of the American invasion has arrived —always ready to get into a new city on the ground floor.

AN EXCELLENT ART EXHIBIT

The Women's Art Association has been rewarded for the persistent patience of some of its members who a few years ago began the course of "exhibitions" which has culminated this year in the present "brave show" at the old Bank of Montreal. "It is gratifying to know that crowds attend. Walter Crain's "Decorations" are exquisite. The oils and colours are without exception delightful. while the sculpture is of the Salon standard. Mr. Waldeman, of Paris has some beautiful bronzes of lions, etc. Miss Wallis has excelled herself in the lovely marble bust of "August's Child," and in the bronze baby where the spectator beholds a laughing lump of fat rising out of its appropriately concomitant cabbage many will see nothing more—others will. As works of art their merit is above question, even to the uninitiated who, after all, may be trusted to "know a hawk from a handsaw" in matters which they are most familiar with. Neither clay nor stone, nor marble, nor bronze is intended for more than a hard imitation of a soft original and since all representations succeed only in so far as they appear to be the original in babies and the like mothers are the best judges. In some exhibitions the maxim that true art is to conceal art has been carried to excess. In this one it is otherwise. The exhibition closes to-morrow evening.

ATTENDED THE CONVENTION

Of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions --- Held There This Week

Messrs R. H. Leary and Wm. Collins returned last evening from Toronto where they had been attending during the past two days the ninth annual convention of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions. The meetings were held in the city hall and some splendid addresses were given.

The East Peterborough Agricultural Society was represented by Messrs John E. Roxburgh of Norwood, Frank Birdsall, of Birdsall's Station and Ed. Hawthorne of Warsaw. Mr. Roxburgh read a paper on "Should an entry fee be charged on exhibits at Fairs?" at the evening meeting on Wednesday at which the Honorable J. S. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, acted as chairman and gave an address.

Mr Leary was re-elected to the executive of the Association and Mr Collins was elected an auditor.

THE YOUNG CONSERVATIVE CLUB

The first session of the mock parliament at the Young Conservative club will be opened on Saturday evening at eight o'clock.

Members of the club who have not yet been chosen or been alloted their constituencies will kindly endeavor to be on hand before that hour.

The first order of business will be the election of a speaker. The speech from the throne will then be read. We learn from a reliable source that the most sensational portion of the speech is that a measure will be introduced by the Government giving women the right to vote in parliamentary elections. We understand from the same authority that this bill is a very radical one, giving women also the right to sit as representatives in the Legislative Assembly. It is whispered that a final agreement on the bill was only reached at a late hour last night after a very stormy Cabinet meeting. There are rumors that at least two members of the Cabinet threatened to tender their resignations. The trouble it seems, was that the younger portion of the Cabinet insisted that women be given the right to sit as members in the House. Ultimately this section had their way and a truce was temporarily patched up.

It would not, however, be much of a surprise if, when the House meets, it will be found that the bill will be opposed by some of the prominent Cabinet members.

Another measure to be introduced refers to motor cars.

DANIEL RYAN AND COMPANY

Will be the Attraction at Grand Opera House All Next Week

In the last thirteen years Mr. Daniel Ryan has appeared in every form of drama from broad farcical comedy and melodrama to the very highest forms of classical endeavor. Such a training for an intelligent actor surely should develop his artistic resources to a degree beyond that of the circumscribed actor who is limited to few parts and a strict adherence to characters written to suit his personality as is the mode with many of the magazine made players of the present day.

Mr. Ryan during his engagement here, keeping abreast of the times offers us Salome; The Bells, and the Merchant of Venice, the latter being a piece de resistance, that is demanded of him by the public everywhere that he plays.

His Shylock ranks with any artistic effort of the decade, and in truth is a wonderful piece of acting.

A notable feature of Mr. Ryan's performance is the intelligence displayed by the various actors he employs and the straightforward methods used to attain dramatic effect.

No chicanery or petty stage tricks mar his performance and a delightful lighting and scenic detail enhance the succession of natural stage pictures offered by the players.

The dressing og the players has his minutest attention and nothing that can jar the most sensitive person is tolerated in any of his presentations.

His engagement here is for all next week, when the following productions will be presented in the order named, A Royal Lover, The Bells, Salome, Dr Jekyl and Mr. Hyde, Thou Shalt Not, with Don't Tell My Wife, for matinee on Saturday.

Among the company are found the following players of recognised ability,—Mr Daniel Ryan; Mr J J Flannigan, Mr Karl L Way, Mr Jeffry Murphy Mr J S O'Brien, Mr. Geo. Fisher, Mr F A Roslyn, Mr. Frank Spellman, Mr W H Boyce, Mr Geo. Foster, Miss Ann Singleton, Miss Ada Wadsworth and Miss Harriet Duke.

Mrs. Catherine Brown, of Halifax, widow of Hugh Brown, is dead, aged 90.

WORK ON THE NEW DAM AND LOCK AT LINDSAY TO START

Lindsay, Feb 11—The idle workingmen of Lindsay will be pleased to hear that work on the new dam and lock will be commenced in the course of a few days the prospect being that many of them will be given employment on the work.

Mr. J. Ritchie, of Beamsville, the successful contractor, arrived in town this morning with several of his foremen and has taken up his quarters at the Benson House. He was met here by Messrs Sam Clegg and Clem Gordon of the Trent Canal staff, who discussed with him certain details of the contract.

One of the surveys made for the new lock provided for a material change in direction, the west entrance to the channel being swung about twenty feet to the north. This would involve the cutting away of a considerable portion of the land opposite the town wharf, which would afford greatly needed room for steamers and tugs with tows, and likewise involve the construction of a new swing bridge, which would extend twenty feet farther north. As the swing at Wellington street bridge is to be renewed, the Public Works department might as well complete both jobs at once.

THE LINDSAY PAPERS GIVE THEIR VIEWS OF THE GAME

The Post ;—Too much praise cannot be given the members of the Lindsay team for their brilliant work. Randall was here, there, and everywhere and he played stellar hockey, taking a lot of punishment without flinching. Koyle's grand rushes during the night brought the immense crowd to its feet. His playing bordered on the sensational and he was the brightest star on the defence of of both teams. Sullivan had his working clothes on and played a wonderful game. He was cool, steady and reliable, and his many brilliant rushes as well as his successful blocking at opportune times was of the gilt-edged character. Newton in goal last night plucked the laurels from Derocher's brow, playing a phenomenal game between the nets. He stopped innumerable hot ones and cleared in a wonderfully accurate manner.

Stoddard was in the limelight last night and played stellar hockey. He had speed to burn and his splendid rushes on different occasions were responsible to a great extent for Lindsay's victory. Although closely watched, he eluded his check at will and scintillated freely during the night. Cotey, on the wing, excelled himself last night. He played a good, heady game, using excellent judgment and rushing and shooting in a manner that left nothing to be desired. He dug in at times and managed to secure the puck whenever he went after it. Cotey was closely watched during the night, but that did not bother him. He notched one of the goals during the night by clever work. Gooney Taylor, "the hero of a hundred fights," was there with the goods and played a hard, consistent game, characterized by brilliant stick work, splendid passing and rushing, and accurate shooting. He held his position down in perfect style. The management did a wise thing in changing the positions of some of the players, as the septette worked like a clock last night.

THE DEFEATED ONES.

Derocher in the nets played a good game, but the shots came in thick and fast for him, and he naturally became bewildered. Glover at point, and Moore at cover, both dished up a splendid quality of hockey and their work prevented the score from going up into big figures.

The Free Press—Peterborough saw their finish last evening on their own ice before a crowded building of both Lindsayites and Peterborough rooters who constantly roared out their different team yells, but nothing to be compared with the Lindsay yells while going and leaving. The score was 6—5.

The hockey special left town sharp at seven o'clock, arriving in Peterborough about 7.50, calling at Omemee by the way and after entering the Quaker town, a mad rush was made for the rink to secure seats, which was so hard to procure, as the Peterborough team supporters had already filled every vacant seat from the gallery to the floor, even up in the steel rafters of the building the Peterborough youngsters were perched. The ice was in the pink of condition, the kind the Lindsay Midgets like to play on, it being hard and without a speck of snow on it.

Y.M.C.A. WON'T HAVE TEAM IN THE SENIOR DIVISION

A despatch concerning the new Basketball League is given below. Mr. Seymour W. Collings, the physical director of the YMCA informed the Review that although Peterborough was mentioned in the schedule the locals could not support both a senior and intermediate team and as a consequence will not be in the senior group too. The despatch follows;

Montreal, Feb 12— Basket ball, as played and controlled by the Y.M.C.A. in Canada have arranged a monster league in Ontario and Quebec, and under the sanction of the reorganized YMCA. Athletic League the senior series is composed of ten teams from nine different cities.

The senior groups are;

Group 1—Toronto Central and Toronto West End.

Group 2— Hamilton Central and Brantford.

Group 3—Stratford and London.

Group 4— Kingston and Peterborough.

Group 5—Montreal Central and Ottawa.

And ten intermediate groups of 24 teams from 20 cities; dates to be arranged by mutual consent. Some of these games have already been played, and the winner of each group will meet in a big tournament to be held at the end of the season.

The first game of the Montreal Central and Ottawa group will be played at the Central YMCA. Gym, Thursday, Feb. 18th and will be the carnival attraction that night. Montreal Central hold the Eastern Canadian championship, having won the Eastern series last year.

CHARLIE KAISER HAS BEEN WINNING ALL HIS MATCHES

Charlie Kaiser, who wrestles Gene Hurtubise here on the 16th has had a great season since he defeated the Peterborough grappler in Hamilton, and has been winning all his matches. His most trying battle was with War Eagle, at Auburn, N.Y., mention of which was made in the Review at the time of the match. He won two bouts last week and expects to put away Hurtubise in his match in his usual triumphant fashion. Gene is in fine fettle for the match and will be able to offer a much stiffer opposition to the American than he did in Hamilton where he was handicapped and weakened by boils and it will keep Kaiser working mighty hard and fast to throw him twice in the hour.

One of the most interesting of the preliminaries will be a six round go between George Lillie of Peterborough and Bobby Chandler, of Toronto, the 115 pound champion.

R. B. Campbell was chosen County Master of the County Orange Lodge of Calgary.

J D. Woods, of London, founder of a string of stores in Ontario, is dead, aged 66.

The Provincial Orange Grand Lodge of Alberta will meet in Strathcona in March.

PETERBOROUGH CURLERS LOST FINALS WITH ORILLIA

The Governor General's prize was reduced to the final stage yesterday, Peterborough and Orillia being left to play off today. In the morning, at Prospect Park, Davidson had a margin of nine on Dr. Bertram, and that is what Dundas was behind Peterborough as Powell and Giroux split even. At the Granite, Guelph Royal City had six on Harriston, Dillon pulling up on Holton at the finish, while Mahoney was four ahead of Hall. The Hamilton Thistles could not afford the time, and defaulted to Orillia in the afternoon while Peterborough won another close game from Royal City, that finished one dead and two extra ends. They were tie at the regulation eighteen. Mahoney scored the for Guelph on the nineteenth and Davidson the other for Peterborough and it was still a tie. Davidson kept up the good work the twentieth end, while Giroux kept up with him, and Peterborough had it by two shots. The scores were ;—

SOME OF THE SUPPORTERS LOOK FOR LOCALS TO WIN

In spite of the fact that Lindsay won here on Wednesday there are many supporters of the team that think the local seven will be able to win the game and the round. They claim the defeat will be a lesson to the forwards to play a little more careful hockey and think, with the line working well that the homesters will be able to land the victory. Of course, this view is merely a matter of opinion, but the game at any rate will be warm and interesting.

The special leaves at 6 o'clock, and there will be every accommodation for a big crowd. The return fare will be $1.06.

The following players will represent Peterborough ;— Derocher, Glover, Quinn, Moore, Morgan, Long and Dusty.

MATT MALONEY AFTER INDIAN

New York, Feb. 11.—Matt Maloney, winner of the Christmas Marathon run from Rye to New York, has posted a certified cheque for $1,000 with William Hicks, jr., for a match race with any of the Marathon runners.

Maloney is being backed by James Lynch, of Yonkers.

Maloney said he would prefer to take on Longboat either indoor or outdoors for a side bet of $5,000 or $10,000.

If Madison Square Garden is available he will race there, the winner to take all, and if outdoors, he would go over the course from Rye to Columbus circle for a side bet of $10,000. Maloney is about the only man able to cope with Longboat, inasmuch as the Indian has beaten both Dorando and Shrubb. That the meeting between the two would be a corking contest is assured, and if the backers of Longboat cover the forfeit one of the best Marathon runs in the history of the sport will be witnessed.

Backers of Maloney are confident he can beat any Marathon runner alive to-day.

Band at Street Railway Rink TO-NIGHT.

BEATEN TO A FRAZZLE

The Post contended that on keen ice the locals would beat the Quaker City boys to a frazzle, and that contention was satisfactorily borne out last evening.—Lindsay Post.

If any team was beaten to a frazzle here on Wednesday night it must have been one in the sidewalk league. Lindsay and Peterborough played a fast game in the intermediate series of the O.H.A., and there was very littl eto choose between the two sevens in the matter of play. The above extravagant expression is an instance of partisan enthusiasm getting the better of judgment, and that's common in Lindsay.

RUNNING

John Svanberg, of Sweden, is said to b eready to come to America to meet any or all of the Marathon cracks. He is reported to have run 12 miles in 3 4-5 seconds slower than Shrubb's record for this distance. Before the Olympic Marathon was run in London last summer Svanberg is said to have covered the distance in 2.29 in a private trial, but in the race he was taken ill and finished ninth.

Billy Sherring says Svanberg the Swede is the world's best Marathon runner barring not even the great Tom Longboat.

BOWLING

Paris Feb 12—A purse of $10,000 awaits in Paris the American bowler who has confidence enough in his own skill to come over and back his opinion with a like amount to have a series of matches with a bowling series of matches with a bowling wonder some Americans have discovered here. This so-called "bowling cyclone" has only been in Paris a month during which time he was first introduced to the American alleys and balls. So what he has accomplished has been with only a few week practice.

His name is Herr Straik, and he is the son of a prominent Munich brewer and has some reputation as a bowler in his native town in the German game so different from the American. However, one of the pioneer American bowlers here, Capt P. L. Bowen 3 Rue George Ville, Paris, representing those interested in Herr Straik, has deposited with the American Express 25,000 francs (5000), as forfeit money and will put up the other $5000 when necessary to back Straik against all American comers.

Interest in bowling has developed wonderfully in Paris recently under the patronage of a number of well known men from the United States. In Paris alone there are now over 30 American alleys and these are occupied the entire day by French and American enthusiasts. Among the Americans interested in the sport are J. Clinch Smith, H L Horchart, William Dodsworth, Gaston Sargeant, G H Cowen, Nash Turner, and J Vanderhoven.

HOCKEY

Oshawa, Feb. 10.—The O.H.A. junior championship for this district was decided here to-night when the Whitby team won from Port Hope by a score of 6 to 2. The large new rink here was packed to its capacity. The play was fast from start to finish, both teams doing brilliant work at times. The Whitby team played the better combination, the stars being Blanchard, Smith and Poquette. The score indicates the relative ability of the two teams. Referee Whitehead, of Toronto, made the boys play a clean game. The Whitby team brought two bands, which furnished music and lots of amusement during the intervals. Port Hope ran a special train up for their crowd, which included a large number of ladies.

Unique Cannon.

It is a curious fact that when the Island of Malta was in possession of the Templars those doughty knights defended their forts by means of cannon cut into the solid rock.

Each of these strange engines of war was capable of containing an entire barrel of gunpowder, and, it is said, could throw 10,000 pounds of projectiles. Inasmuch, however, as these natural cannon could not be aimed, 50 were cut out of the rock guarding the various channels of approach; and the vessels of that time were therefore unable to come within their own range before being annihilated by the big weapons of defence.

Although the fame of these cannon was spread far and wide, they were not duplicated elsewhere, and to this day they remain the only rock cannon of which there exists any record.

Master of the Rolls.

Sir Frank Lockwood is the author of a good story told at the expense of Sir C. M. Warmington, K.C., who died recently. The Chancery leader had a somewhat peculiar walk—he used to move from side to side after the manner of a seafaring man. When he was going down a corridor of the Law Courts one day the then Mr. Lockwood observed, "Warmington is bound to be a judge. He is cut out for Master of the Rolls."—Tit-Bits.

Wm. Hamilton & Co., settled their claim against Kenora by reducing it $10,000.

The Most Intense Heat.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 12.—A torch operated by oxygen and acetylene, radiating a heat of 6,300 degrees, said to be the most terrific known to science, has been invented here.

By means of this torch, it is possible, it is declared, to weld aluminum, heretofore regarded as an impossibility. The torch makes a flame that will cut through two inches of solid steel in less than a minute, and pierce a 12-inch piece of the hardest steel in less than ten minutes. It will take a saw almost 80 hours to do the work.

Two Perish In Fire.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Two bodies were recovered yesterday from the ruins of the Wabash railroad warehouse, which was burned on Wednesday night, with a loss of $500,000.

Suicides In Church.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—A room filled with gas in the rear of the church in which he had been financial secretary, a letter of farewell written on the back of a map of the Holy Land which hung on the wall—this was the setting of the closing scene of the life of Annel de Pue, who, despite the spelling of his name, claimed to be a distant relative of Senator M. Depew.

De Pue was financial secretary for the Roseland Central Presbyterian Church. The widow testified yesterday that her husband had told her that he had been systematically blackmailed since his boyhood, but he never told her the details. Recently the trustees of the church accused the financial secretary of a shortage of several hundred dollars. After insisting on his innocence, De Pue promised to return the money last Monday night. In this he failed.

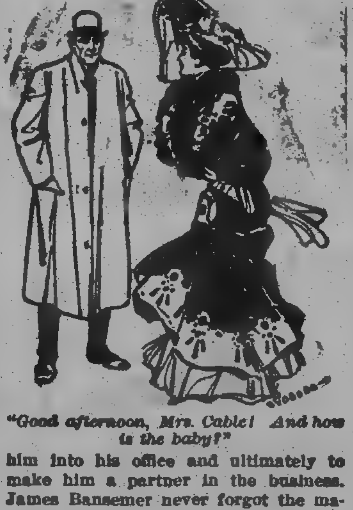
GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

The once black hair was almost white and grew low and thick on his forehead. Immaculately dressed, ever straight and aggressive in carriage, he soon became a figure of whom all eyes took notice even in the most crowded of Chicago thoroughfares.

Graydon Bansemer, on leaving Yale with a diploma and some of the honors of his class, urged his father to take him into his office and ultimately to make him a partner in the business. James Bansemer never forgot the malicious grin that crossed the face of Elias Droom when the young fellow made the proposition not more than a fortnight before the Bansemer establishment picked itself up and hastily deserted New York. That grin spoke plainer than all the words in language. Take him into the office? Make this honest, gray eyed boy a partner? It was no wonder that Droom grinned, and it is no wonder that he forgot to cover his mouth with his huge hand, as was his custom.



"Good afternoon, Mrs. Cable! And how is the baby?"

The proposition, while sincere and earnest, was too impossible for words. For once in his life James Bansemer was at a loss for subterfuge. He stammered, flushed and writhed in the effort to show the young man that the step would be unprofitable, and he was sorely conscious that he had not convinced the eager applicant. He even urged him to abandon the thought of becoming a lawyer and was ably seconded by Elias Droom, whose opinion of the law, as he had come to know it, was far from flattering.

Just at this time Bansemer was engaged in the most daring as well as the most prodigious "deal" of his long career. With luck it was bound to enrich him to the extent of $50,000. The plans had been so well prepared and the execution had been so faultless that there seemed to be no possibility of failure. To take his fair minded son, with the mother's eyes, into the game would be suicidal. The young fellow would turn from him forever. Bansemer never went so far as to wonder whence came the honest blood in the boy's veins nor to speculate on the origin of the unquestioned integrity. He had but to recall the woman who bore him, the woman whose love was the only good thing he ever knew, the wife he had worshiped while he sinned.

For years and years he had plied his unwholesome trade in reputations, sometimes evading exposure by the narrowest of margins, and he had come to believe that he was secure for all time to come. But it was the "big job" that brought disaster. Just when it looked as though success was assured the crash came. He barely had time to cover his tracks, throw the figurative pepper into the eyes of his enemies and get away from the scene of danger. But he had been clever and resourceful enough to avoid the penalty that looked inevitable and came off with colors trailing, but uncaptured.

Perhaps no other man could have escaped. But James Bansemer was cleverest when in a corner. He backed away, held them at bay until he could recover his breath and then defied them to their teeth. Despite their proof he baffled them, and virtue was not its own reward—at least in this instance.

In leaving New York he hoped that Elias Droom, who knew too much, might refuse to go into the new territory with him, but the gaunt old clerk took an unnatural and malevolent delight in clinging to his employer. He declined to give up his place in the office, and although he hated James Bansemer, he came like an accusing shadow into the new offices near the Chicago river, and there he toiled, grinned and scowled with the same old faithfulness.

CHAPTER VI.

At first it was hard for James Bansemer to believe that his henchman had not been mistaken. Droom's description of the lady certainly did not correspond to what his memory recalled. Investigation, however, assured him that the Cables in the mansion near the lake were the people he had known in New York. Bansemer took no one into his confidence, not even Droom. Once convinced that the erstwhile fireman was now the rich and powerful magnate, he set to work upon the machinery which was to extract personal gain from the secret in his possession. He soon learned that the child was a young woman of considerable standing in society, but there was no way for him to ascertain whether Frances Cable had told the truth to her husband in those dreary far west days.

Bansemer was rich enough, but avarice had become a habit. The flight from New York had deprived him of but little in worldly goods. His ill gotten gains came with him, and investments were just as easy and just as safe in Chicago as in New York. Now he saw a chance to wring a handsome sum from the rich woman whose only possession had been love when he first knew her. If the secret of Jane's origin still remained locked up in her heart the effort would be an easy one. He learned enough of David Cable, however, to know that if he shared the secret the plan would be profitless and dangerous.

It was this uncertainty that kept him from calling at the Cable home; likewise from writing a note which might prove a most disastrous folly. Time and circumstance could be his only friends, and he was accustomed to the whims of both. He read of the dinners and entertainments given by the Cables and smiled grimly. Time had worked wonders for them. Scandal, he knew, could undo all that ambition and pride had wrought. He could well afford to wait.

However, he did not have long to wait, for his opportunity came one night in Hooley's theater. Graydon and he occupied seats in the orchestra near the stage and not far from the lower right hand boxes. It was during the busy Christmas holidays, but the "star" was of sufficient consequence to pack the house. The audience was no end of a fashionable one. Time and again some strange influence drew his gaze to the gay party in one of the lower boxes. The face of the woman nearest to him was not visible, but the two girls who sat forward turned occasionally to look over the audience, and he saw that they were pretty, one exceptionally so. One of the men was gray haired and strong featured; the others were quite too insignificant to be of interest to him. The woman whose back he could see did not look out over the audience. Her indifference was so marked that it seemed deliberate.

At last he felt that her eyes were upon him. He turned quickly. True enough, for with lips slightly parted, her whole attitude suggestive of intense restraint, Mrs. Cable was staring helplessly into the eyes of the man who could destroy her with a word.

The one thing that flashed through Bansemer's brain was the realization that she was far more beautiful than he had expected her to be. There was a truly aristocratic loveliness in the rather piquant face, and she undeniably possessed "manner." Maturity had improved her vastly, he confessed, with strange exultation; age had been kinder than youth. He forgot the play, seldom taking his eyes from the back which again had been turned to him. Calculating, he reached the conclusion that she was not more than forty years of age. More than once he made some remark to his son, only to surprise that young man glancing surreptitiously at the face of the more beautiful of the two girls. Even in this early stage James Bansemer began to gloat over the beauty of this new found old acquaintance.

CONSERVATORY CONCERT AN ARTISTIC SUCCESS

A thoroughly delighted audience was that which was present at the second annual concert of the Conservatory Music, held in Conservatory Hall last night. Not only was the programme presented intrinsically excellent in a musical sense, but the occasion was important because it marked a decided forward movement in musical development in Peterborough, and the effective organization of the musical forces of the city as represented by the splendid permanent orchestra which made its debut under the baton of Mr. Gliddon, musical director of the Conservatory.

Only words of praise and congratulation are due to Mr. Gliddon, the members of the orchestra and the musical interests of Peterborough on the score of the splendid success of the organization in its initial concert, which was all the more distinguished, because the work of the orchestra measured well up to magnificent assisting artist, Miss Hope Morgan, of Toronto, whose singing was as delightful a revelation in her sphere as was that of the orchestra in its own, and contribution of Miss Julia Choate, solo violiniste.

A rather trying programme of four numbers, two of them double, furnished a good idea of the calibre and capabilities of the orchestra. The concert opened with a double number (a) a Wagner march and (b) the beautiful excerpt from Verdi's "I Lombardi," "Coeurs et Fleurs,"—hearts and flowers—by Tobani, was the second number. Meacham's Novelette, American Patrol, was the third contribution. The orchestra followed this up with a march by Theo. Moses, bracketted with the "Anvil Chorus" of Verdi. The concluding number was another rather ambitious selection from Gounod's "Faust."

Without going into critical details the playing of the orchestra may be generally characterized as excellent. Its first public programme "made good," and it well deserves the name permanent, for it is no doubt here to stay. The orchestra consists of about twenty-five members and the several sections are effective and well balanced. A noticeable feature is the excellent playing in tune. The shading diminuendo and cresendo are quite artistic, and the attack and tempo are most creditable. In a word, the orchestra made a highly successful beginning, and met with a hearty reception by the audience. Two of its numbers had to be repeated in response to the continuous applause.

Miss Hope Morgan a delicious soprano made her first appearance before a Peterborough audience, and charmed all by her sweetly artistic singing and sympathy of interpretation. Her voice is rich and of flawless purity, of wide range and even register, though her selections called most largely into play her higher notes, and gave opportunity for the display of her mastery of florid passages and runs and trills. She sings with much sympathy and sentiment. She was on the programme for three numbers, the second a four-fold and the third a three-fold group. She also gave two encore numbers, the last a piquant performance of "Coming Thro' the Rye."

Miss Julia Choate was the solo violiniste and gave a very pleasing and capable performance of "Hagre Kati" by Hubay. She plays with a smooth firm tone and brilliant technique. Her double stopping was excellent. As she deserved she was warmly encored and responded with a delightful presentation of "Traumerei." Miss Choate is a very proficient and most promising young artiste.

Miss Mabel McCaw, a member of the piano staff of the Conservatory, was the capable accompanist of the evening, not only for the orchestra but for Miss Hope Morgan and in both cases her work was exceptionally acceptable and good.

The second Conservatory concert, introducing the permanent orchestra, was a most gratifying success from a musical standpoint, though it is to be regretted that more of our citizens were not present to enjoy a really first-class concert all round.

EVERYBODY SEEMS TO BE INTERESTED

The Outcome of the Contest Does Not Depend Only Upon the Voting of the Coupons Published Daily, But Largely Upon the Voting Certificates Issued When You Pay for Your Paper.

Who will win the trip abroad?

This is the question most discussed in society circles these days, and it is not at all safe to wager on the result at this early stage of the friendly struggle for supremacy.

The contest is just starting in earnest, and new candidates are likely to be heard from for some time to come. Right now there are a whole lot of good people in the list, and a warm race may be expected from any of them.

When one stops to think that only one new yearly subscription to the Daily Review carries 3000 votes and a two years new subscription for the Weekly the same number of votes, it will be clearly seen the candidates lowest on the list have a most excellent opportunity to overtake in a day or even an hour those whose lead at present seems to the uninformed somewhat large.

Persons living a distance from Peterborough need not hesitate to send in their subscriptions secured by them, as the contest department will issue receipts for the money sent and mail the votes to the contestants for whom they are intended, or else to the subscriber, whichever is desired. Candidates living at a distance from the office may rest assured that they will be treated as fairly as those living within a minute's walk of the Review office.

The voting yesterday in the Review's European Tour and Diamond contest was steady, candidates in each list showing gains. The ladies' list in the city continues to be the banner one. Miss Maud Perry was by far the heaviest voter and now not only leads her division but the entire contest by a small margin, Miss Rose P. Moore being second and Miss Maud Adams a strong third.

The big ballots published in Thursday's daily and today's weekly will aid in swelling the scores of all the active candidates. There were many calls for extra copies of the editions containing these "large" ballots, but as only the usual number were printed there were a very few for sale, and the supply was exhausted almost as soon as the presses stopped running them off.

A CANADIAN ON LINCOLN AT CHICAGO CELEBRATION

Rev. J. A. MacDonald Gives Address.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 13.—Patriotic ardor swept over Chicago yesterday in a grand climax of Lincoln centennial celebration, and found vivid expression in a demonstration at the Seventh Regiment armory, where thousands gathered. Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of The Toronto Globe, was the principal speaker, and his fervid utterances were received with great enthusiasm.

The interior was appropriately decorated with bunting and flags and portraits and busts of Lincoln were prominently placed. Coupon seat holders held an indignation meeting in the corridors because they could not gain admittance because of the throng piling through doors when they were opened.

Mr. Macdonald chose to speak on "The Significance of Lincoln," first to demonstrate in America; second, for Anglo-Saxon civilization; third, his world significance. His Canadian point of view and the exposition of democratic principles under the Union Jack was a feature of the address. He spoke as follows:

"Among the men born of American women there has not arisen a greater than Abraham Lincoln. It is fitting that throughout this republic, from the capitol to the remotest pioneer hamlet, his name should this day be lifted high in loving memory. The honor of that name is the priceless heritage of every state in this great union, whose integrity he maintained and whose flag he saved from shame.

"And, sir, it is significant, as well as gracious, that in this centennial celebration in Lincoln's own state there should be not only a blending of voices from all states, South as well as North, and a joining of all parties and creeds and races composing this great republic, but also that the Union Jack should salute the Stars and Stripes, and that the spokesman of this hour should be, by the blood of four generations, a native-born Canadian. I am quite sure that round about me on this platform and in this audience are not a few whose relations were with the South, and who suffered loss in themselves and in their families for the ill-fated confederate cause. They are here to-day, loyal and sincere as any among us in the tribute they pay to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. And I, too, a citizen of Canada, give place to no man among you in reverence for the name of Lincoln, even though I am of the breed and bear the name of my great-grandsire, a clansman in the 84th Highland Regiment, who fought under Cornwallis in Virginia for King George."

Turning to Canada he pointed out the indirect services of Lincoln to the Dominion. The significance of the Canadian situation could not be un-

ABOUT THE ARMY OF THE EMPIRE

London, Feb. 13.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—On Wednesday night Hon. Mr. Haldane, speaking at the dinner of the London brigade of Royal Field Artillery, said, according to a report published in The Daily News: "We are in negotiation with the dominions overseas, with a view to the creation and constitution of an army of the empire (cheers), and not of this country merely. I am a believer in the policy of keeping up to the necessary standard of the day, whether that be in matters military or in matters naval."

Further on Mr. Haldane said: "An overseas army, which is the very essence of the military life of the Empire, can only be got on a voluntary basis, and it must be recruited from men who come voluntarily, who come moved by enthusiasm with what I might call a virgin mind from a military point of view."

HOW BILL MINER BROKE PRISON

Hole Was a Blind to Cover the Real Method of Getting Away.

Vancouver, Feb. 13.—An official who is in a position to speak authoritatively on Bill Miner's escape yesterday morning made the following statement for publication:

"At the time of the investigation into the escape made by Inspector Dawson, I could have told, if I had been called to testify, that Bill Miner did not escape from prison by crawling through that hole, for two good reasons, first, the hole was not large enough; second, because the hole was made for the purpose of covering up the letting out of Miner.

"No bonds were ever stolen. Miner's friends conducted fake negotiations for his so-called escape and the securing of a "cached" money. Certain persons made it possible for him to escape on the understanding that he would divide up on the booty."

The last "At Home" of the season under the auspices of the T.A.S. will be given on the evening of Tuesday, February 16th. LEFT TO-DAY TO SERVE HIS TERM IN PEN

Charles Mitchell, who on Wednesday last was sentenced to three years' imprisonment in the Kingston penitentiary for stealing money from post letters, was taken to the Limestone City this morning in charge of the Deputy Sheriff, Mr Fred Hall. Mitchell was shackled and driven to the G.T.R. station in a cab, where he took the 8.25 train for Kingston. He seemed to be in a happy state of mind and conversed freely with some men. He told one of them to tell his wife that he had gone.

EARL GREY TALKS ABOUT CANADA'S TIMBER WEALTH

Toronto, Feb. 13.—Two hundred guests applauded Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, at the National Club last evening as His Excellency dwelt with great earnestness on the importance of forest preservation. The banquet was given by the Toronto Board of Trade to delegates of the Canadian Forestry Association. J. P. Watson presided.

The addresses at the convention just concluded had, said His Excellency, demonstrated that the permanent prosperity of the nation was dependent upon the conservation of the forests at the head waters of the rivers. As Hon. Mr. Fisher had pointed out, a neglect of this might shake the position of Montreal as the chief commercial port.

In the United States the forest destruction is three and one-half times greater than its growth. The loss to the farmers of that country aggregates a thousand million dollars per annum as a direct and indirect loss. Wanton and criminal neglect of the forests meant the transforming of a heaven into a hell.

When the relative per capita wealth of Canada in undeveloped resources is made known the people of the whole United States would want to come to make their home in the Dominion to have a share in the vast unspent fortune.

"What we have to do—I have been so long among you that I say we—(Applause.) "We," he repeated, "have a great duty, to teach the children to have a patriotic regard for the resources of Canada. It is difficult to make people brought up on farms in an atmosphere where the tree has been regarded as an enemy, to make them feel that a tree is their best friend."

The children of Canada should be taught a feeling of reverence for the greatness of their country and to conserve its resources.

He entirely agreed with the association that forestry was not only an economic but also a moral question. This made it necessary to teach the children that they share a duty to others as well as to themselves.

A certain class of Canadians were said to be animated by the thought of "what can Canada do for me?" while the true ideal was what could they do for Canada? It is because of this great principle that forestry was a moral question. He trusted the gentlemen of influence present would do their utmost to co-operate with the Forestry Association in their efforts for the conservation of Canada's magnificent national heritage.

W. J. Gage proposed the toast to Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, to which his honor made a short response.

R. S. Gourlay proposed the toast of Canada, to which Sir James P. Whitney, Premier of Ontario, replied.

The convention of the Canadian Forestry Association was concluded yesterday afternoon, when a resolution was passed asking that the various Provincial Governments withdraw all lands from settlement unsuitable for farming and reserve from settlement all lands with less than 50 per cent. fit for agriculture.

The association suggested the publication of farmers' bulletins, also for the instruction of city and rural school pupils, the publication of forestry text-books for the high schools, and the preparation of plans and lantern slides for lectures.

The association expressed satisfaction at the improvements in the fire protection services and approved the appointment of a special committee by the Dominion Parliament, but urged upon the Government the importance of appointing a royal commission to investigate the whole question of forestry.

The Dominion and Provincial Governments were urged to restore all forest lands at head waters.

REVIEW'S EUROPEAN TRIP

HOLYROOD PALACE
Edinburg, Scotland—The Review's Grand Prize Winner will visit this Historic Building.

At the other extremity of Edinburgh from that which holds its famous castle is Holyrood Palace, the residence of Mary, Queen of Scots. It is a gloomy building in appearance, whose cold gray walls seem to have little in harmony with the fair Queen who once resided there. Her memory so completely haunts the place that, though this edifice has stood there for nearly 400 years, and though many kings and queens have lived within its walls, the apartments of Queen Mary are all that the traveler usually cares to see. Their contents are, however, slowly crumbling into dust, for the frail memorials of that unhappy lady have stood thus for 300 years. There are not many portraits of Mary here; but wherever they are, they attract the attention of the most careless tourist. Of all the thousands who have for centuries passed before them, probably not one has failed to pause and think with pity of the lovely woman whom they represent. Here may also be seen the room in which Mary's secretary, the Italian Rizzio, was murdered by her jealous husband, Darnley; and certain stains are still pointed out as having been made by his blood. The ruined structure on the left of the palace is old Holyrood Chapel, where Rizzio was buried, and the imposing mountain rising in the background is called "Arthur's Seat."

THREE EXCELLENT SPEAKERS FOR LOCAL CANADIAN CLUB

Prof. Adam Shortt, Prof. Kylie and Hon. Mr. Sutherland Ex-Speaker of House of Commons, Will Give Addresses Here

Three excellent speakers have been secured for the Peterborough Canadian Club. They are Prof. Adam Shortt of the Board of Railway Commissioners, Prof. Kylie, of Toronto University, and Hon. Mr. Sutherland, ex-Speaker of the House of Commons. Prof. Shortt will likely be the speaker at the next meeting and his subject will be "Canada's Foreign Trade Relations." Prof. Shortt spoke here about a year ago and his address was one of the best ever given before the local Canadian Club.

Professor Kylie, Professor of Latin in University College Toronto, has had a distinguished career. Born in Lindsay, he attended the Collegiate Institute there and then pursued his studies at the University, where he took a most brilliant course. Following this he went to Oxford, Eng., from which university he graduated with honors returning to Toronto to assume his present position. At Oxford he was president of the Oxford Union, the undergraduates' society, a rare honour for an outsider and on his returning to Toronto he defeated for a similar position by a large majority the great football favorite, the Rev. A. F. Barr. He is an established favorite. He is a nephew of Mr. Kylie, the shoemaker, of Hunter street.

Prof. Kylie will address the local Canadian Club on "The Menace of Socialism."

MR. FINNIE SENT IN THE ALARM

The Review learns that it was Nightwatchman Finnie who sent in the alarm for the fire at the White House stables yesterday morning. Mr. Finnie first saw the blaze and sent in the alarm by telephone from a restaurant in the vicinity.

TWO CASES OF SMALLPOX NEAR MADOC

The Madoc Review says;—A mild case of smallpox has developed in the neighborhood of Madoc. The disease has been contracted by two other persons, but as all precautions in the way of quarantine are being taken, and vaccination urged on those who have not already been vaccinated, it is not anticipated that the disease will spread any further. It was brought to this section of the country from some of the lumber camps of the northern townships, where it is very prevalent and hard to contend with. In the township of Grimsthorpe a shanty is quarantined, which is reported to have twelve cases of the disease.

PAST WEEK SLOW IN POLICE CIRCLES

There has been no police court this week, every morning Chief Roszel greeting his callers with the slogan "Nothing doing." The rail birds have been sadly disappointed on coming each day, only to find that there was no scandal with which to refresh their minds.

Chief Roszel said that the citizens were beginning to realise that law and order were being rigidly enforced and that they had better be on their good behavior.

Not for some months has there been no court for one whole week.

Measure for Amendment to Criminal Code.

Civil Service Salaries Discussed at Ottawa---Mr. Borden Makes a Statement.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—The civil service salary increase and the estimates for the Indian Department kept the Commons busy most of yesterday afternoon.

E. N. Lewis had some trouble finding a seconder for his bill to amend the criminal code respecting injuries to persons due to motor vehicles. Major Beatty and Mr. Owens refused.

"I'll second it," said Haughton Lennox, "just to get it before the House."

Lewis explained that the present restrictions were insufficient. A farmer sprawling in a ditch, he said, would be too busy with a fractious animal to discover the number of an automobile. Besides, even in Toronto, the auto was getting to be a menace.

The bill provides that persons carelessly operating automobiles and thereby causing accidents, shall be liable under the criminal code and subject to imprisonment for two years.

The civil service salary and resolution was then taken up. Mr. Foster took the ground that the appropriation should be so designated that Parliament would not be deprived of its prerogative of voting the $150 increase in individual cases. A supplementary estimate should have been submitted, covering the increase.

Mr. Fisher's explanation was that the method adopted had been decided upon with a view to expedite the payment of the money.

Mr. Foster criticized the re-classification. He had not been able, after examination, to discover that any uniform principle had been adopted. In the same Departments, hundreds of outsiders had been drafted in at salaries higher than those paid to men of long service.

Mr. Borden pointed out that in making the re-classification there had a distinct departure from the act, which required that there should be a definition of each individual member of service. The only Minister who had quite fulfilled conditions was the Minister of Inland Revenue and of Mines.

Mr. Fisher stated that in the past five years $1,490,000 had been paid in increases of salaries to officers of the outside service.

W. R. Smith (East Algoma) stated that the Ontario Government was building a trunk road from Sudbury to the Soo, and he asked if it was the intention to secure right of way through Indian lands.

Mr. Oliver replied that his Department was waiting for the surveys, when the matter would be taken up with the Indians.

There was considerable discussion on the item of Indian education, which was passed.

Claude Macdonnel of South Toronto has given notice of a series of questions in regard to the boundaries, as follows:

"Has the Government decided upon the boundary lines between Manitoba and Ontario on the one side, and Ontario and Quebec on the other, under the resolution adopted last year, with reference to the boundaries of these provinces?

"(2) If so, when will the bill giving effect to such resolutions be submitted to the House?

"(3) Will such bill be submitted to the Government of the Province of Ontario before it is introduced into this House?

"(4) Does the Government intend to include a harbor, or harbors on the Hudson Bay, in the portion to be allotted to the Province of Ontario?"

AN ITALIAN IS MURDERED AT SOO

Sault Ste. Marie, Feb. 13.—Giovanni Ciotti, an Italian, aged 35, known more familiarly as John Shortie, was murdered in the Italian settlement yesterday.

The body was found at daylight lying on the street in front of Pietro Manzo's butcher shop. The front of the shop was covered with blood, and the dead man had a deep knife wound on the left side of the neck.

Four men who saw the dead man after he had been stabbed have been arrested as witnesses.

Robbery was not the motive for the crime, as his watch and about $25 in cash were found on the body.

Ciotti was a witness in an assault case a few days ago, in which an Italian named Parisa, a storekeeper, was fined for assaulting Judy Ginanti.

WORDS PLACED AT BOTTOM OF POSTERS CAUSED MILD SENSATION AT SMITH'S FALLS

A traveller for an Ottawa firm who was in Peterborough to-day informed the Review about a somewhat peculiar incident that caused somewhat of a mild sensation at Smith's Falls a few days ago. The gentleman who supplied the information had just come from Smith's Falls and vouches for the accuracy of the story.

It appears that the Epworth League of the Methodist church at the town mentioned had arranged for a carnival at the skating rink to raise funds for the good work they are carrying on. Some one, however, could not have favored the scheme for he or she wrote at the bottom of the bills, advertising the carnival and which were displayed in public places "God won't be there."

The carnival was held and proved a success. The officers of the Epworth League are now endeavoring to find out who had such definite information about the attendance at the function.

BABY SUFFERED TORTURE

Until Cured by Curol

The fact that CUROL is equally good for baby and grown-ups makes it at once popular as the mother's friend. Mrs. Jefferies of 5 Defoe St., Toronto, did not know how to rid her baby boy of Eczema. She says:—"My baby boy, three years old, suffered from a bad attack of Eczema. It irritated the little fellow so badly that he could not sleep at night. I took him to the drug store and got some salve made up for him, but this did no good. Two doctors treated him but were unable to relieve. One day a sample of CUROL was left at my house. I anointed baby with this and it did him so much good that I at once bought four boxes at a drug store on Queen St. He made good progress under the CUROL treatment and the little fellow can now sleep well. All itching has gone and he is cured of this irritating Eczema."

"I consider a wonderful salve such as CUROL is a boon to the working class for it is sold at a price well within our reach."

A HYPOCRITICAL JOURNAL

The Canadian Courier in its last issue demanded if Mr. Borden has the "courage" to protest against the issuance of C.P.R. stock to shareholders at par. There is no reference in the article to Sir Wilfrid Laurier or his "courage." During the last election the Courier found endless delight in boosting Sir Wilfrid as preeminent among even "great" Canadians. Now he is to be "carried over" on the shoulders of poor Mr. Borden, who was not even mentioned in the wonderful list. This is nothing more or less in our opinion, than meanness. It is worse than hypocrisy. Why does not this wonderful journal harness its epithets to the present governing body, the administration of its hero and not seek to lay at the door of another what it seeks to establish as a crime. If Sir Wilfrid will not listen, why praise or even ignore him? Why not call upon him as recreant to his country's interests? But no. He is reserved for an adulation which he has really done so much to forfeit.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

It is probably news to many people that there is such a thing in existence as a system of Woman's Institutes. It is chiefly a rural organization and is of great general benefit. In West Peterborough the officers are: President, Mrs. A. Higgins, Lakefield; Vice-President, Mrs. J. Reed, Lakefield; Sec-Treas., Mrs. W. H. Stabler, Lakefield and for East Peterborough, President, Mrs. David Miller, Warsaw; Vice-President, Mrs. Curre, Warsaw; Secretary, Miss Mae Davis, Warsaw; Treasurer, Miss Morgan, Warsaw. There are 483 branches of the union of women's institutes in Ontario. The attendance is large. In the northern parts of the province, most use is made of the opportunities afforded by the meetings as perhaps is to be expected. It shows that the mean object of the whole system which is to provide a means of rescuing rural society and farmers' wives and daughters from the fate of an unintellectual state of isolation, is attained where most needed and moreover that it fills the bill. What with a very much improved and encouraged rural school system, a finer moral tone in the use and disposal of government appropriations, a gradually improving system of telephonic and postal communication, etc. the lives of the women in our rural districts will become altogether more bearable and livable with the result that the influences of religion having a better groove to work in will produce a better and altogether happier result. It is astonishing that it is only at this late date that we are becoming enabled to use our opportunities for a sweet, clean and happy life, in outlying districts. Parliamentary representatives have not done themselves the credit naturally to be expected of them. They have not been keen enough to improve the conditions referred to. This of course, is open to some exception but nevertheless it largely holds good. A larger, finer spirit should animate our lawgivers. Light and leading are or should be synonymous and it is too bad when one or both are absent. The institutes, however, will prove a great "help" and it is gratifying to find that they are being made good use of.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE

The attendance at the Canadian Club dinner last night was all that could be desired. When the president, Mr. Daniel O'Connel, K.C., took the chair, at least ninety guests turned their faces towards the speaker of the evening, Mr. John H. Ewart, K.C., of Ottawa, author of works on Law, counsel for the minority in the celebrated Manitoba school case, and man of note. We listened carefully and tried hard to realize his idea of our Canadian status, but failed to do so. His theory of Canada's being a nation while not a nation, is perplexing. It is doubtless true that a proportionate share of Britain's foreign wars might involve us in financial ruin, but can we consistently decline to commit ourselves to our manifest duty because we are afraid of war? While the lecture was a fine statement of the case, nevertheless, the case is not, we are persuaded, the Idea of Empire cherished by those who would preserve our allegiance to all that has come down to us, from across the sea. While it was what may properly be called the Whig or Liberal idea of Empire as voiced here and abroad, it is inconceivable that it can be the true one, since it takes no account of sentiment and without sentiment in its noblest and loftiest range what are we? We are to have more on the same subject and doubtless we shall be able to form some final opinion as to what sort of thing this "destiny" of ours is. In the meantime a little more upon the desirability of holding to the old road that has led us so far and has such tender memories, would, we feel assured, have roused the audience to an expression of its true feelings. The lecture was greatly appreciated.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Lindsay is a great sporting town, and withal bears a good reputation. It is but poetic justice that those who deserve honors should win them. Peterborough congratulates her successful rival.

Edwin aged three, who fondled his small cat over much and unwisely, appeared before his mother one day, his little face guiltily stained and a scratch upon his hand.

'What has happened?' she asked.

'I bent the kitty a little,' he said, briefly.

Bobby was sent by his father on an errand to an elderly relative, who placed great stress upon manners. Upon his return his father questioned him as to his reception.

"Taint no use to write any more letters to him pa. He can't see to read them. He is blind.'

'Blind!'

'Yes. He asked me twice where my hat was, and I had it on my head all the time.'

"We are sure," says the Spectator, "that it is a delusion to suppose that the public likes a slavish paper—i.e., a paper always terrified that it may offend its readers if it speaks its real mind. They prefer one which is independent, though, no doubt, they do not like to see their pet theories handled too roughly. Yet even here they will stand a great deal of opposition to their own views if they know that the newspaper is acting sincerely."

PRICES HIGH AT TO-DAY'S MARKET

Attendance Was Large This Morning--Butter Sold as High as 30 Cents Per Pound

The market this morning was largely attended and prices were pretty high. Butter sold at from 26 to 30 cents per pound, and eggs at 27 and 28 cents per dozen. Fowl was fairly plentiful and rather expensive. Chickens went at 90 cents and $1.00 per pair, and turkeys at $2.00 each.

On the outside market beef sold at 6 and 7 cents per pound, and pork at 10 and 11 cents.

St. Andrew's Choristers Spent an Enjoyable Evening

The evening was voted a most enjoyable one by the members of the choir.

GIVES THIS VERY SIMPLE TEST

To Find Out if the Kidneys are Affected and How to Cure Them

There are more cases of kidney trouble here now than ever before, while recent reports show that more people succumb each year to some form of kidney disease than any other cause.

When there is sickness, examine the urine. Rheumatism is only a symptom of kidney trouble. It is nothing more or less than excessive uric acid in the blood, which the sluggish, inactive kidneys have failed to sift out, leaving it to decompose and settle about the joints and muscles, causing intense suffering; frequently resulting in deformity; often reaching the heart, when death ensues.

Pains across the back, frequent painful and suppressed urination and other symptoms of weak bladder are not the only signs of kidney trouble; many cases of stomach disease, headache, pain in the heart, inactive liver, etc., are but symptoms; the cause of which can be traced to feeble, clogged kidneys.

A simple test of the urine is to void a small quantity in a bottle or glass and let it stand over night; next morning if there is a reddish brick-dust sediment, or white fleecy substance present, either consult some reputable physician or take a good vegetable treatment. The following prescription is recommended highly in these cases, and the sufferer can mix it at home; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

Where any of the symptoms enumerated above are present, good results are sure to follow immediately the use of this simple prescription.

PUBLIC SERVICES AT ST. JAMES

Will be Resumed in the Basement of the Church To-night

The public services at St. James' church which were discontinued in November will be resumed to-morrow in the basement of the new building, which will be found thoroughly dry, warm and well lighted.

There will be a fellowship meeting at 10.00 a.m., and preaching at 11.00, to be followed by the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Sabbath school will be held at 2.30 and there will be preaching at 7 o'clock.

DO FAT FOLKS WORRY?

Most thin people would say, no. Most fat folks, yes. They have all the causes for worry that people have and one other—their fat. Fat mortifies women because it spoils their appearance, and it distresses men, for it affects their activity. A few are afraid of it. There are few fat members of either sex who would not gladly dispense with 30 to 50 pounds if they knew how.

The "how" is my excuse for taking up this newspaper space. Although very few fat folks know it —and those who do are no longer fat,—there is a very simple method of reducing safely. All one has to do is take after meals and at bedtime one teaspoonful of the following simple receipt, which any druggist will fill for a few cents —One half ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and 3-4 ounces Peppermint Water, and the trick is turned.

This is a certain cure for "fat folks worry," for it does away with all necessity for exercise or dieting. It never causes wrinkles or stomach disturbances, and 12 to 16 ounces, I am told, is by no means an unusual amount of fat for it to take off daily.

"ORANGE LILY SAVED MY LIFE"

These words or expessions, having the same meaning, are contained in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who have suffered agonies from falling of the womb, others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily, and others who had suffered from suppressed menstruation, leuchorrhoea painfull periods, etc, etc. For all these and other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive scientific never failing cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organs, and its operation is certain and beneficial. As a trial actually proves its merit, I hereby offer to send, absolutely free, a box worth 35c, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. Address with stamp. NEWSPAPER MEN ASK FOR AMENDMENTS TO LIBEL LAW

Toronto, Feb 13—For the purpose of presenting several proposed amendments to the Libel Act, a large deputation of Ontario newspaper men, waited on Hon. J J Foy, Attorney-General, yesterday afternoon. The deputation consisted of Messrs F. H. Dobbin, Peterborough Review; J. A. McKay, Windsor Record; J. M Eastwood, Hamilton Times; S Stephenson Chatham Planet; Wm Robertson Dundas Banner; W M O'Beirne, Stratford Beacon; H B Donly, Simcoe Reformer; G J Bowell, Belleville Intelligencer; C W Hamilyn, Woodstock Express; J G Elliott, Kingston Whig; J A Ewan and J F MacKay, the Globe; J E Atkinson and J. R Bone, Star; W J Douglas, Mail; L Williams, World; A E Millet, London Free Press; H A Moore, Acton Free Press; H D Decker, London Advertiser, and Mr J P Downey, MPP.

After several members of the deputation had spoken, Hon Mr Foy informed them that some of the views struck him as things in which the Government might do something. In regard to others he was afraid they would be difficult to deal with. They would consider the requests however when revising the statutes and something might be done. Of course, he said it was special legislation, called class legislation by some and the Legislature would deal with the matter with a good deal of care and hesitation. He thought the suggestions should be put before the Government.

THANKS.

The three Peterborough papers have excellent write-ups of Peterborough-Lindsay OHA game on Wednesday night. Allowing for the home loyalty that every journal should show, the reports are fair and honest, and there is a very pleasing lack of 'whining' or 'knocking.' The Peterborough press does credit to itself and to sport in this case.—Lindsay Free Press.

THE LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN PROGRESSING

The Matter Appearing in This Department is Furnished by the Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for its Publication.

RATEPAYERS HAVE SIGNED READILY

The work of securing signatures to the petition to the city council, asking for the taking of a vote next January on local option, is practically completed. The law requires that the petition must be signed by one fourth of the ratepayers of the city to make it compulsory on the city council to submit the by-law to the people. Already the temperance workers have secured fifty per cent. more than the required number of names. In order that ratepayers who have not signed the petition and who may desire to sign it may do so, it has been decided to leave the petitions in the following stores and offices, where they may be signed, on and after Monday, February 15th, until further notice — A. Brown, real estate office, 392 Water street, Soden's book store, George street; A. J. Warne's grocery store, corner Park and Charlotte streets, and J. T. Braund's general store, corner of Smith and George streets.

Now that the work of securing signatures to the petition is about completed, a special committee of temperance workers is arranging to carefully check every name on the petition to see that the names are those of ratepayers qualified to vote. The committee will be prepared to vouch for every name on the petition. Every precaution is being takenn to see that the liquor interests shall not have an opportunity to have the petition thrown out through a technicality. It will be presented to the city council at as early a date as possible. Thus, even should the petition be referred back to the temperance workers, they will have plenty of time to correct any errors it may contain.

THE SCOTT ACT AND LOCAL OPTION

In the present campaign, temperance workers are constantly being met with the argument that Local Option is simply the Scott Act over again and will be a failure just as it was. Or the question is frequently asked by advocates of both sides whether or not there is any real difference, and, if so, what.

The Dunkin Act and the Scott Act were both passed some years ago when the question of temperance legislation had not received that attention it had got during recent years. The experience gained under them, and in many other ways has been made use of in framing the present law. Nevertheless, to say that the Scott Act was a failure is to assert what is very far from the truth. Just to mention one fact in proof of this will be sufficient here. Taking into account all the territory in which the act was in operation in Ontario, including the County of Peterboro, and considering three equal periods of time, one before it came into operation, a second while it was in force, and a third after it was repealed, the convictions for drunkenness in these three periods were respectively 2,144, 967 and 1531. This shows conclusively that it had a marked effect in decreasing drunkenness.

Our purpose here, however, is not to defend the Scott Act so much as to show some of the many ways in which the present Local Option law is superior to it. A few of the most important differences are as follows—

Main Differences

1. The fundamental difference lies in the fact that the Scott Act was a Dominion law, and applied to county areas, and it repealed the provincial license laws where it came into operation, so that new and distinct provisions had to be made for its enforcement. Local Option, on the other hand, is a part of the license law and makes use of all the machinery of that law for its enforcement.

Areas Affected

2. The Scott Act was voted on in counties, which frequently contained large towns in which there were considerable majorities against it, but the strong temperance sentiment in the adjoining townships forced it on them. These centres of population, in which the adverse feeling was strong, became sources of discredit to the law on account of the difficulty in enforcing it. Local Option affects a municipality only and so wherever it comes into operation, must be backed up by public opinion.

Securing Convictions

3. Under the Scott Act, great difficulty was experienced in securing convictions. The fact that liquor had been consumed on a premises was not sufficient. There had to be proof of a sale. This was often impossible, or at least a matter of great difficulty. Consumption of liquor, or intended consumption on premises where liquor is sold is sufficient to secure a conviction in Local Option territory, where all the machinery for enforcement and all the rules concerning evidence that have developed under the license law are available.

Leasing Bars

4 It was a common thing where the Scott Act was in operation for the proprietor of an hotel to lease his bar to some irresponsible person who promptly moved away when trouble was in sight, bearing away with him, like the scape goat of old, the sins of his employer. The license law under which local option operates, makes the occupant of the premises responsible for all that takes place thereon, no matter whether the bar be run in his name or not. In addition to this the owner or lessee of the premises is made responsible for what takes place even if not in his possession, and is punished as if he were the actual offender.

Penalties

5 In the matter of penalties there is a great difference. Not only is it easier to secure convictions and harder for violators of the law to evade punishment, but the penalties are more severe. Under the Scott Act the penalty for a first offence was a fine of not less than fifty dollars for a second, one hundred dollars, and for a third imprisonment for not more than two months. The convicting justice had power to consider any offence as a first and inflict the minimum penalty, so that as a matter of fact there were few convictions for anything but first offences. The penalty for a first offence under local option is a fine of from fifty to one hundred dollars, and in default of payment, imprisonment at hard labor for three months. For second and third offences, the penalties are imprisonment at hard labor for four and six months respectively. There can be but one conviction for a first offence.

Funds for Enforcement

6 Fines collected under the Scott Act were payable to the treasurers of the county and could only be withdrawn by resolution of the county council. As a result, there was often great difficulty in securing sufficient funds for enforcement. Under local option all fines are paid to the license officers and are immediately available to meet the cost of enforcement. Besides special appropriations have been made by the Legislature for this purpose.

Repeals

7 The Scott Act was repealed in every county in Ontario in which it was enacted and in most cases on the first opportunity; Local option has not yet been repealed in any territory in which it had a majority of votes when enacted, though there have been almost 250 opportunities to repeal in the past six or seven years.

These are but a few of the radical differences between the two laws, but they are sufficient to show that anyone who asserts that they are the same is either dishonest or uninformed and in either case, his statement is valueless.

2000 BAR ROOMS ABOLISHED

In Ontario we are elated because last January we voted to do away with about 100 bar rooms in the province. In the United States they do things on a much larger scale. The net result of local option campaigning in the State of Ohio during the year 1908 was the bringing of 57 counties under total prohibition and the closing up of 2000 bar rooms. 62 of the 88 counties are now dry and more than half the population of the State is freed from the temptation of the open saloon. We will have a chance to put the 23 bar rooms in Peterborough out of existence next January.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

Peterborough temperance workers will be represented next week at the annual convention of the Ontario Branch of the Dominion Alliance, which will meet in Toronto March 3rd and 4th, where it is expected that pointers and suggestions will be obtained that will be of value in the local campaign. The convention, it is expected will be largely attended.

The temperance meeting at the Crystal tomorrow afternoon will be addressed by Rev Mr. Riddiford, of the Park street Baptist church.

At a county convention in Brantford last week, it was decided to carry on a campaign this year with the purpose of bringing the whole county as well as the city of Brantford, under local option. If this succeeds, as it is likely to, it will mean the cutting off of over 40 licenses and Brant will have the distinction of being the first Ontario county to go dry. In Peterborough county, the city of Peterborough is the only wet spot in the adjoining townships.

ANOTHER LOSS FOR FRITZ MOHL

There was a good crowd of wrestling fans at the Riverdale Rink, Toronto, last night when Yankee Rogers retained the championship in a heavyweight bout with Fritz Mohl. In the preliminary Ole Olsen put McDonald down in 17 minutes with a half-Nelson and got him to the mat again with a bar-Nelson 12 minutes later.

Rogers put Mohl down with a double leg-hold in 35.37 minutes.

IMPORTANT ADVICE
—TO—
SPECTACLE WEARERS
THREE PLAIN FACTS.
I.—That more eyes are injured by the injudicious use of Glass than by any other known cause
II.—That a great number of people are wearing spectacles unsuitable for them, and for which their eyes have not been tested.
III.—That the old fashioned and unscientific method of testing the eyes by trying on various spectacles of different strengths until the sight is apparently suited, is to say the least of it, dangerous.
It cannot be too forcibly impressed upon the minds of those who suffer from defective eyeight that proper lenses and correctly fitting frames are absoluely essential for comfortable spectacle wearing. We grind our own lenses. Charges moderate.

THE REVIEW CONTEST BOOMING ALONG FINELY

A Very Heavy Vote Yesterday, the Total Being Over 46,000—The Grand Total Vote Now 143,000—Several Candidates Made Great Gains—A New Leader To-day—Another Nomination.

The certificate voting since the last score was added up has been very heavy. Two ladies from District No. 2 polled 7000 each, which is the record for one day's vote for one candidate since the contest began. The voting was done by Miss Ada Holcombe of Havelock and Miss Lila Finlay of Norwood, the former holding second place in her list. Miss Murlis Collin, bettered her standing by 5000 votes, now having over 8000 votes. Miss Rose P. Moore of Lakefield has again shown activity, this time voting 1500 of the "pinks." Miss Annie McIntyre of Keene also voted a small certificate. Miss Levina Whetung improves her score over 1500. This section of District 2 is showing great strength.

The ladies in the city have also been active. Miss Maude Adams, by depositing 4500 of the pink slips in the ballot box secures the lead in her list and the high vote of the contest. Miss Ethel Bell and Miss Tryphena Chasty made gains.

In the city Mrs W A Jones of 297 Wescott street comes into the contest, starting with over 1000 votes to her credit.

Sidney A. Smithson made a great gain yesterday and is away in front in his list. Five thousand was added to his score. John McFarlane of Keene also deposited 1000 and is now in the fighting line.

The question has been asked as to whether a subscriber may divide his vote and place a certain number to the credit of two or more candidates. This, of course, is quite permissible. If, for instance a man has 3000 votes, he may give two or more candidates 1500 each, or apportion them among any number of candidates, providing that the total does not exceed the amount of votes the subscription calls for.

According to the advices from Cook and Company who will conduct the party of which the Review's representative will be a member, on the tour to England, Scotland and France the Allan line steamer, Laurentian, conveying the party will leave Boston on Friday, July 9th, making the first landing at Glasgow. The return trip will be made on the Pomeranian of the same line, sailing from Havre, France. The port of arrival in this country will be Montreal. That means over a thousand mile sail on the beautiful St. Lawrence river, in itself a fine trip. In another column we have something to say about Edinburgh.

As fine as the grand prize is, we are offering eight other valuable awards. We have made arrangements with F Clarke & Son; Milburn, W A Sanderson & Co. and F S Schneider & Co, well known jewelers of this city, for the diamonds and watches. These beautiful trophies will be on exhibit in a short time.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC PRESS REFERENCE

St. Thomas Times Gives Flattering Review of Ryan's Production of "A Royal Lover"

Referring to the appearance of Daniel Ryan and associated players at the Grand Opera House, St Thomas, where the company appeared last Monday night, the St Thomas Times has the following to say,—

"Daniel Ryan opened a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House last evening with "A Royal Lover," a stirring Spanish drama, fascinatingly interpreted by a clever cast. The large audience present were more than pleased with the brand of amusement provided, the Company being far above the average, being an exceptionally well balanced one. The scenery was most artistic and the costuming at all times rich and handsome. The production last evening, was put on with snap and dash and the work of the various artists was characterized by "finish."

Miss Harriet Duke was decidedly clever in the role of the page and Ann Singleton sustained the difficult role of the heroine in a clever way. Miss Jennie Palmer assumed the comedy part of the Countess Rotunda, and roused the laughter of the audience at every appearance. Ada Wadsworth made a dignified Queen, playing the part forcefully and Mr. Ryan himself, as Don Caesar, evoked much favorable comment. Jeffry Murphy made good with the part of the handsome and polished villain, Don Jose; he has an engaging stage presence and considerable dramatic ability. Altother "A Royal Lover" is one of the best attractions that has appeared at the local theatre and judging from the hearty applause given the company last evening, will do a capacity business for the remainder of the week."

LINDSAY MIDGETS THE DISTRICT WINNERS

This is a district of surprises. There was a hockey match last night and the score was 9-1. With the score there is no particular fault to find. In fact under exactly opposite conditions it would be most welcome but Peterborough's grand total is represented by the 1 and Lindsay has both the home and home games to their credit, the one in which they defeated the locals here last Wednesday by 6-5 and the 9-1 one last night and besides the games they have the Intermediate OHA district championship by a majority of 10 goals.

Wednesday's game from the view point of the Peterborough supporters was totally unexpected and there was not a single enthusiast in the district that thought Lindsay would have the walkover they did last night and it was a walkover of the most decided kind.

What happened the Electric City seven is a mystery. That they were away off color was very evident by the numb and ineffective hockey they played and they were unable to shake the hoodoo in spite of the encouragement of the local followers, a large contingent of whom went up to see the team play and in spite of the half time dressing room resolutions.

For the first twenty minutes the locals stayed with Lindsay and checked closely and managed to keep the scoring ambitions of the Scugog team down to the extent of two goals while they netted one. From their style of play however, it was evident that the Peterborough septette would have to pull together and do better work. For while they were holding Lindsay the latter were showing better form. It was evident that if they kept it up the game would be theirs provided they had anything like ordinary luck. But Peterborough never rallied and the Scugogites kept up their form all through the match with the disastrous result.

At half time the score was 6-1 and the Lindsay people bowled their heads with delight. In the second half, the homesters had many chances but could not do anything in the way of shooting. In this important department they were away off and there apparently was not a rabbit's foot in the bunch. There were several shots on the Lindsay flags during the night but they were not by any means bullet like and Newton handled them carefully and quietly and had a rather restful night of it. What he had to do he did well however.

The ice was in slow condition after a few minutes play. It wasn't a bad looking sheet to start with but when the grind was on for a short time it got all cut up and at the interval was very sticky and heavy. The combination work of the teams was greatly interfered with on account of the going and what effective passing was done was to the credit of Lindsay. The contest however was a pretty ragged one in the second half especially. In this period Lindsay realised they did not have to go at a cyclone clip and Peterborough could not get untied at all. When it is said that Peterborough could not get untied this refers to the team work of the defeated seven for Quinn on the forward line was the star of the evening and shone brilliantly. With the rest of the forward line playing very indifferently in the last half he carried the puck around like a whirlwind and tore off dashes that even won complimentary remarks from the hostile Lindsay audience. His great rushes were a feature of the game and he played with a persistency that showed him to be in the best of condition. If the other men on the line had done as good work as he did the game would have been Peterborough's at all stages.

No matter how the rest play there is one man who never falls down and that is Rollie Glover. He was the king pin of the defence and kept up his clever work all the time just as if the teams had been on even terms and the locals still had a chance of landing the laurels. His blocking and relieving were a feature of the night and he also got away with some pretty dashes.

Outside of Quinn and Glover the performance of the team was below par although at times some of them flashed out but it was just like lighting a match in a wind and they soon got back to their uniform style of ineffective playing. The showing of Peterborough was not only a surprise to their supporters but the players as well who realised that it was an off night for them and do what they could to brace up could not get down to business at all.

In the second half Quinn was moved to rover, Morgan to right wing and Moore dropped back from that position to cover. The case was a hopeless one however, and Lindsay still kept going as they did in the first half.

The average person who wasn't at the game on hearing the score would naturally remark that Lindsay must have played a phenomenal game but in spite of their big victory the winners did not show anything like championship form. In justice to them, it must be said that they were not forced to let themselves out to the limit but even with that taken into consideration the Scugog septette will have to furnish a smoother article of hockey than they did last night or have done this season, if they expect to land the intermediate championship of the O.H.A.

Frank Cotey Lindsay's fast right wing man played as he never has before during the season and came back magnificently. His shooting was good also and he held his position splendidly.

Stoddard played a fine game. He handled himself with ease and confidence and showed to advantage at all stages.

Koyle, the stonewall point man who is like Glover in the matter of constant reliability was himself all night and that is sufficient praise of his work.

The referee was W. Hancock of Toronto. The said W. Hancock was good in spots. He apparently tried to give satisfaction but some of his work in the first half was not satisfactory.

HOW THEY CAME

The teams lined up as follows:

PETERBOROUGH
Goal—Derocher.
Point—Glover.
Cover—Quinn.
Rover—Morgan.
Centre—Long.
Left—Dusty.
Right—Moore.

LINDSAY
Goal—Newton.
Point—Koyl.
Cover—Sullivan.
Rover—Stoddard.
Centre—Randall.
Right—Cotey.
Left—Taylor.

At the commencement of the game the play went to Peterborough territory but the puck was soon carried Lindsaywards.

Morgan was benched. Moore also was given a penalty for slashing.

Stoddard took Lindsay's first goal in 6 mins. getting the puck near the goal. Score 1-0.

Lindsay rooters cheered as though the game was won on the strength of that solitary goal.

Peterborough showed the best form they did during the night for the next fifteen minutes and fought every inch of the way before the seven opposing them landed the disc in the nets. There was some very close work around Lindsay goal and Newton was kept in a state of anxiety for fear the rubber would get by him in some of the hard battling that was being done near his flags.

Moore was again penalized. This time for giving Sullivan a disorganizing body against the boards when the Lindsay cover point was right in the midst of a lovely rush. It seemed a shame to spoil that rush.

The penalty inflictions were coming to Peterborough pretty rapidly, and Long was the next man to suffer being fired to the box for gadding in a too deliberate manner.

Cotey was given the fence.

Randall gave Dusty a woodchopping slash and also joined the penalty throng.

Stoddard and Dusty followed in the order named.

Harry Morgan made it 2-1 in 30 seconds on a burning shot.

Long was put off. Morgan scored again but the referee called an offside. With Peterborough finding the nets twice and Lindsay only doing so three times with the half nearly over the prospects didn't look so bad at all. They did later however.

Randall rushed and shot. Derocher stopped it but Stoddard who had followed up, placed it in the nets. 4 mins. Score 4-1.

With about six minutes to finish the half the referee stopped the game and called the players together. It was altogether too rough to suit him and he gave the players the pleasing information that all the coming penalties would mean at least four minutes on the rail.

Taylor scored in 3 mins. 5-1.

Morgan was the first man to get the four minute penalty. Dusty was also given the long breathing space.

Cotey scored the last goal of the half in 2 mins.—6-1.

SECOND HALF

The game had just been resumed when Cotey was put off. Long was suspended for the four minutes.

Sullivan and Morgan were allowed a chance to see the game from the side. Coon Taylor slapped one through from in front of the goal in 2 mins. Score 8-1.

Long and Randall were sent to the side. The game was getting very tame. Stoddard scored the last goal of the night in 3 mins. Score 9-1.

Moore, Glover, Cotey and Randall were penalized.

FRITZ MOHL FELL OFF AN ICE BOAT

Fritz Mohl, the great wrestler, who meets Yankee Rogers, of Buffalo, to-night at Riverdale Rink, had a narrow escape yesterday. Pap. Phelan took the big German out in his ice boat, the Say When, and in a brush with Heck McDonnell's King Edward, Mohl fell out sliding for about 30 yards ripping his overcoat from top to bottom. Fortunately, he was uninjured.

Last night Mohl did his bowling alley stunt catching the balls as they knocked down the pins. The league games on the T.B.C. alleys were stopped and everyone took a crack at Mohl but, outside of a few bumps on his shins from flying pins he was unscathed.—Toronto News.

IT'S THE TALK OF THE COUNTRY SIDE

How Dodd's Kidney Pill's Cured Mrs. Samuel Thompson's Dropsy

Her's Was a Terrible Case and the Doctors Were Powerless to Check it, But the Great Kidney Remedy Cured it.

Holt, Ont., Feb. 12—(Special.) — All the country side about here is talking of the wonderful cure of Mrs. Samuel Thompson, of this place. She was taken sick with Jaundice and though the doctor was called in she grew steadily worse. Her stomach was so bad she could not keep anything on it. Dropsy set in and she bloated to a terrible size. The doctor came three times to tap her, but her husband would not allow him to do it, saying that if she could not get better they had better let her die in peace. Finally she dropped the doctors and tried other medicines but they did her no good. Her leg burst and the water streamed from it. Then someone told her about Dodd's Kidney Pills and so she asked her husband to get her a box.

After taking them a while she took a bad turn. Something would come up in her throat and she would vomit. The water would just fly from her mouth. But from that time she commenced to get better and to-day she is a well woman. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her.

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Dropsy by putting the Kidneys in condition to take the surplus water out of the blood. They always cure it.

CITY LEAGUE CHAMPIONS AND STRATHS WILL PLAY HOME AND HOME GAMES

A home and home series between Lakefield, the City League champions, and the Strathconas, the runners-up, has been practically arranged. The local public have seen that both these teams can play hockey of a fast order and there seems little to choose between.

The game for the city league championship was won by the local option seven by a score of 6—6, in the most interesting game of the league and came as a big surprise to the Straths and their followers. The wearers of the red and white are of the opinion that they can defeat Lakefield and are confident of proving it when the teams come together. The Lakefield puckchasers have a multitude of friends and backers in the northern village, who think that they have an edge on the ex-champions on any ice.

The games are sure to prove very close and exciting and should attract exceptionally large crowds. The dates have not yet been definitely decided upon.

WHERE WOULD THE DOMINION STAND?

If the Empire Has War on Its Hands—Mr. John S. Ewart, K. C. Deals With the Question Before Peterborough Canadian Club—Monroe Doctrine Explained.

The second dinner of the Peterborough Canadian Club for 1909 was held last night at the Hotel National. The speaker was Mr. John S. Ewart, K.C., of Ottawa, and his subject was the "Monroe Doctrine." About one hundred were in attendance and Mr. Ewart's address, which was a masterful one, was followed with the closest attention. Mr. Ewart is one of Canada's leading lawyers and he has made a special study of the Monroe Doctrine and the political relations of Canada with other nations. The part of his address devoted to the Monroe Doctrine was of a most enlightening nature, and that part of it dealing with Canada's international relations was exceedingly interesting.

The president, Mr. D. O'Connell, occupied the chair and introduced the speaker of the evening.

The dinner provided was an excellent one.

Commencing Mr. Ewart said, that he was afraid many Canadians simply regarded the Monroe doctrine — the notice to European nations to refrain from aggrandizement in the American—as a piece of Yankee swagger. He believed that the Monroe doctrine was due to the most beneficent principles regarding international relations, and added; "If any European power should seek to violate it, Canada ought, if need be, to join with the United States and all other American powers in its assertion and maintenance."

As a result of the policy each State between the United States and Cape Horn had been given an opportunity to work out its own destinies.

The speaker traced the history of the Holy Alliance and showed that the Monroe Doctrine had been the outcome of the advice of a British statesman who was foreign secretary at the time the famous doctrine was introduced by President Monroe.

"We have," he went on, "learned the stupid fallacy of the frequent assertions that the way to secure peace is to be prepared for war. Europe is restlessly ready for war. Where is there a better chance for it?

ABOUT NEUTRALITY.

Mr. Ewart continued; "In some British wars Canada would probably decline to take part. If, for example the United Kingdom were at war with France, Canada ought to be neutral. With great difficulty, a certain cordiality has been cultivated between English-speaking and French-speaking Canadians. As a Scotchman, still retaining affection for the bonny hills of Morayshire, I respect the national pride of the French-Canadian. I know that, while he appreciates British forms of Government, his love for France still throbs in his blood; and I, for one, would not endanger the integrity of Canada by asking him to join in sending contingents to fight against France.

"In a war, too, between the United Kingdom and Japan on the one side and the United States on the other, Canada would decline to aid the allies. On two occasions she has suffered invasions by the United States because of foolish British quarrels, but she may well decline to risk her political existence for the benefit of the Japanese.

SOME QUESTIONS.

"Let us look the matter squarely in the face, and let us understand it. Some sudden day we may have to come to a sharp decision. Let me ask you a few questions about it. Are we content to leave all decisions—yes, all discussion—as to peace and war with Mr. Asquith and his colleagues and their successors? We boast our powers of self-government; we make our whole laws; we know enough to frame our own fiscal policy. Are we to have no voice in peace and war? Are we willing to pledge ourselves that whenever cabled to we shall forward such men and money as may be demanded? Is it immaterial to us who may be the enemy, or where the contest, or what the subject of quarrel?

"If you answer all these questions in the affirmative, then let us amend the answer which we gave Mr Chamberlain in 1902. Let us do as did the serfs in olden days—on our knees do homage for benefits, and humbly swear to follow our betters to their wars. Canada will not do that. It is too humiliating. It is inconsistent with the self-government which with such difficulty we almost completely obtained. And we could not have no security that the wars to which we should be called would be those of which we should approve. Mr. Chamberlain probably himself now sees that it would have been the worst of stupid folly for us to send forty thousand men and $150,000,000 to the Transvaal; but in 1902 he censured us for our neglect.

The United Kingdom would not agree to war only to be made upon the joint consent of the sister nations because she had her own ideas about the balance of power in Europe, and the treatment of so-called subject races, and the usual arrangement between war allies was not possible. Neither would the United Kingdom permit Canada to involve her in war with the United States, nor Australia to quarrel with Germany over New Guinea, or with Japan, or China over the occupation of her territorial wastes. In agreeing to support Canada in war the United Kingdom would really risk very little. Canada had no quarrel with her only neighbor or embarrassing relations with any other nation. The propriety of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's refusal at the Colonial Conference to pledge Canadian support in a British European war had never been disputed or doubted.

UNDERSTANDING WANTED.

There was, he said, the other alternative, and that is that there should be no arrangement at all. If by that was meant that each should be quite separate, the situation was clear, but if, although there was no arrangement, there should be what the War Office called "a pious hope" for assistance, then they should face the question in time of peace, and accurately determine it. "It is as unfair to the United Kingdom as to ourselves to leave such a question to be unsettled when war has arrived. We ought to be more honest and straightforward." Proceeding, Mr. Ewart said;—"My own opinion is clear. Canada has thrown off her colonial clothes. She has arrived at maturity. She is intelligent enough to manage her own affairs. Her interests are too vast to be entrusted to any care but her own, and we cannot pledge ourselves to obey all marching orders.

"If I had my way we should amend the answer we gave to Mr. Chamberlain in 1902. We should say to him that we wanted some clear understanding as to the rights and duties on both sides; and that without that we should not place any contingents whatever at their disposal.

SENTIMENT POOR GUIDE.

"Sentiment, unfortified by reason," said Mr. Ewart, in conclusion, "is not only an unsafe, but a very unstable guide. Sentiment nearly drove the United States to side with France against the United Kingdom in 1792. Sentiment must not mislead Canada. Her international policy must be profoundly studied and deliberately adopted. And she must be guided by considerations of interest; for sentiment in itself is in the long run moulded by interest and constantly changes with it. Canada may, and probably will, make mistakes, but upon the whole she will do right. And if in what I have said to you to-night there be anything erroneous, I have at least the merit of having formulated what I know to be the thought of a great many Canadians, and of having put it in the way of correction.

"And when reply comes to me let it not be merely something about standing 'shoulder to shoulder.' I ask, ought there to be some arrangement between the various parts of the empire for co-operation in case of war? And, if so, what precisely should be the nature of that arrangement? Answer to these questions is a matter of pressing and enormous importance, for it is the principal point in connection with Canada's relations with the exterior world. I commend the subject to the careful consideration of the Canadian Club of Peterborough."

VOTE OF THANKS.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Ewart at the close of his address. It was moved by Mr. A. P. Poussette, K.C., and seconded by Mr. J. H. Larmonth.

Splendid arrangements for the banquet were made by Secretary Goodwill of the Peterborough Canadian Club.

I Cannot Praise Pe-ru-na Highly Enough for the Good it Has Done Me.

MRS. JOHN HOPP.

MRS. JOHN HOPP, Webster Ave., Glendale, L. I., N. Y., writes:

"I have been suffering for the past ten years with many symptoms incident to my age, also catarrh and indigestion. I was weak and discouraged, had no ambition, could not sleep at night, and lost greatly in weight.

"I tried other remedies, but with no success, until I commenced to take Peruna. I now feel better in every respect, can sleep well, and have gained in weight. I cannot praise Peruna highly enough for the good it has done me.

"If any women are suffering as I did, I would advise them to try Peruna and convince themselves. Peruna has done me good. I know by my experience that it is worth its weight in gold to any one who needs it.

"I also took Manalin, for constipation, in connection with Peruna, and I found it helped me where other laxatives failed."

Now Well of Catarrh.

Miss Malisa Jolley, Parmele, N. C., writes: "I have been taking your Peruna, and can say that I am well of the catarrh.

"I thank you for your kindness and your advice."

FOUR CASES OF SMALLPOX

In Hope Township---Efforts Being Made to Stamp Out Disease

There are four cases of smallpox in the township of Hope but the health authorities are taking every precaution to stamp out the disease. Three of the patients are members of the same family and consequently are confined in the one house. At that home the township has a man engaged to keep guard.

The other patient is a young lady about a mile outside the town limits and her case is very serious. A nurse from Toronto is in attendance with her.—Port Hope Guide.

GLASSES ARE PLENTIFUL

But it is almost a certainty that they would be even more common still if everybody wore them who should. You find people doing without them just as long as they possibly can which is a very wrong thing to do, indeed, every day makes the case harder to deal with. If you, reader, have the slightest cause to believe that your eyes need the attention of an optician, we shall be pleased to advise you if you need glasses, and if glasses are not necessary we will tell you so. We invite you to call and ask us about your eyes.

AT DEATH'S DOOR

Doctors had to give her Morphine to ease the pain

Five boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Her

Enterprise, Ont., Oct. 1, 1908.

For seven years I suffered with what physicians called a "Water Tumor". I would get so bad at times that I could hardly endure the pain. I could neither sit, stand, nor lie down. Hypodermics of Morphia had to be given me or I could never have borne the pain. Many physicians treated me, but my cure seemed hopeless, and my friends hourly expected my death. It was during one of these very bad spells that a family friend brought a box of "Fruit-a-tives" to the house. After much persuasion I commenced to take them, but I was so bad that it was only when I had taken nearly two boxes that I commenced to experience relief. I kept up the treatment, however, and after taking five boxes I was cured, and when I appeared on the street my friends said, "The dead has come to life." And this seemed literally true because I certainly was at death's door. But now I can work almost as well as ever I could, and go camping and berry-picking with the girls.

I will be glad if you will publish this testimonial, if it will further the interests of "Fruit-a-tives." They should be in every household. Yours very truly,

Mrs. JAMES FENWICK.

Through the whole country around Enterprise, Ont., people are talking about this wonderful cure. By their marvellous action on the Kidneys, "Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Fenwick when the doctors said she could not be operated on and was doomed to die.

"Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Fenwick when all else failed. Try them for your trouble. 25c. and 50c. a box, at dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

WHAT REALLY ENABLED THE BALTIC TO FIND THE REPUBLIC

Of great supplemental value to the wireless in locating the injured Republic on Saturday was the system of submarine signals adopted the past two years by the ocean liners. It was the first time the signals have been used in an accident and long after the wireless of the Republic had ceased to work the Lucania and the Baltic felt their way along by following the signals from the drifting and helpless Republic.

Ever after locating the disabled steamer the Lucania and the Baltic were four hours getting to her. But with the certainty with which a hound follows the scent the two ocean greyhounds were able to keep on the trail.

The signal would sometimes be to the port and then to the starboard, as the Republic zigzagged and turned, and drifted on, a hulk on an ocean of haze. Every hour showed the searching ships they were closer. They were not more than ten miles off when they picked up the liner through the submarine signals. Changing their course every time the bells indicated and at the same time keeping in touch with each other to avoid an accident the two continued on until the liner loomed out of the fog.

In the guiding of the liners to her, the signals of the Republic were more effective within the radius of their operation than the wireless would have been, had it continued in operation. The wireless does not reveal the direction from which it comes. The submarine bell is effective both in the fog and the dark.

These delicate instruments which up to now have been used mainly by the liners to pick up the light ships similarly equipped along the coast were brought into use a little more than three years ago. Two years ago the White Star Line followed the Cunard in their installation.

The principle upon which they are built is that a sound wave under water travels at the rate of 4700 feet a second as against 1,100 feet a second in the air. In thick weather a fog horn or bell can be heard only a short distance. The submarine signals can be heard for ten miles and have been picked up at ten miles.

The apparatus that picks up the signals is about the size of a man's hat, and is attached to the inner side of the ship. It is a box filled with chemicals. In the chemicals is a microphone, and from this runs a wire attached to an ordinary telephone receiver on the bridge. The apparatus is in duplicate, one forward on each side of the vessel. The officer on the bridge, with the receivers to his ears is able to shut off communication from either side.

This apparatus was originally designed to pick up the light ships along the coast, which are equipped with the submarine bell. The bell is a airtight compartment beneath the water line and strikes regular signals.

After the ships were equipped with the receivers they were also equipped with bells, so that in case they came close to each other in the fog they would be heard. The bells ringing in the air-tight compartment ring as the ship moves and the steady ringing does not conflict with the ringing of the signals from lightships on the coast.

After the wireless went out of business on the Republic the bell jangled along, and this registered upon the Baltic and Lucania. By shutting off the receivers on one side or the other the captains of liners were able to tell which direction the drifting ship was taking, as the sound waves registered only upon the side to which the Republic had drifted.

WOULD STOP ALL PLAYS OF UNDESIRABLE CHARACTER

New York, Feb 12—A hot tirade against lewd plays and the theatres where they are produced was raised today by Charles Burnham, president of the Theatrical Managers' Association after he had read Archbishop Farley's sermon in St. Patrick's Cathedral on Sunday.

Calling such plays "the orgies of obscen... the archbishop had said, "We see men and women old enough to know better setting evil examples. We see men hoary with age inspiring with evil the minds of the young. They go to theatres and to public places in shamelessness, and bring with them youngsters who cannot escape contagion."

"There are five shows in New York I would close if I had my way," said Mr. Burnham.

"I don't say that we should have a stage censorship," said Mr Burnham. "No one wants to see a censorship, and it would be a tremendous power to put in the hands of a police commissioner of New York —too great a power. These things go in cycles, and just as soon as the managers find out that the public is tired of obscenity and ready for a change we will see a return to decency.

"Archbishop Farley was right. There are shows running on Broadway today to which no right-minded man would take his mother or his wife or his sister. All this talk about the theatres teaching sermons or moral lessons is bosh. Its mission is purely one of entertainment and it isn't the moral sentiments but the 'rank cracks' and 'rough stuff' that get the applause. The man who tries to deceive himself by declaring that one of these filthy spectacles is of moral or educational value is simply a degenerate.

"Unscrupulous managers realize that a certain percentage of theatregoers—and I must admit that these latter are in the majority — will crowd in theatres to see the productions which make a frank appeal to the baser passions. Walk along Broadway and you will see for yourself that where the show is lowest the crowd is largest. The highest prices which speculators demand do not deter men, women and even children from entering, for they know that inside they will find filth and indecency portrayed by otherwise estimable actors and actresses.

"As for fixing the blame that is a difficult matter. The actor and the manager produce what they know the public wants; the press declares that a certain show is filthy or lewd, and the public flocks to the theatre and pays any price to get inside the doors. Perhaps they are all partly at fault.

"It is all traceable to the fact that we permit the protrayal of sacred things on the stage. Such plays as "The Servant of the House" and "The Passion Play" are not educational, but entertainment, pure and simple. They strip us of our reverence for holy things and turn the temple over to the money changers. No word from the Bible —certainly not from the New Testament —should ever be permitted on the stage."

OTONABEE NAVIGATION CO. TO HAVE TWO MORE STEAMERS

"Manita" Has Been Purchased From Trent Valley Navigation Co. and a New Steel Boat Will be Built—Service to Extend From Rice Lake to Lake Simcoe.

When the progress of the Trent Canal development, the popularization of the Kawartha Lakes as a summer resort and a tourists rendezvous, the Otonabee Navigation Co. is reaching out and embracing a greater territory in which to do business and also to provide accommodation for the thousands of people desiring to traverse by steamer the Trent Valley waterway. It is only three years ago that the Otonabee Navigation Co. made its bow to the public with the steamer Otonabee. That season was a good one and those behind the enterprise saw a favorable opportunity to develop a large and important transportation company, and they began at once to follow up their advantage gained in the first year and each season since has seen new boats added until now the company has a fine fleet of steamers.

The first season the Otonabee Navigation Co. ran their steamers only to Rice Lake ports, but last year they launched out and made a bid for the Stony Lake traffic. Next season will have a line of steamers running from Rice Lake through this city and up to Stony Lake and then around to Burleigh and on to Chemong Park, and Bobcaygeon, while a bus line will connect at the Park to convey passengers to the city. There is also a possibility of the steamer Otonabee being sent to the Lake Simcoe route. This would make a passenger and freight service complete with the exception of one link, from one end of the Trent Canal to the other, so far as it is navigable. Such was the idea of the company in the beginning, and as rapidly as the canal is completed just so rapidly will new steamers be added to the fleet until this company will run boats from the Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario.

The latest purchase of this popular navigation company which has been catering to the trade of the city and the cottagers and campers at Stony Lake and Rice Lake for the past year or two, is the steamer Manita. This boat was the property of the Trent Valley Navigation Company, of Bobcaygeon, and ran from Burleigh Falls to Chemong Park and Bobcaygeon. It will be left on the same route, but will connect with the steamer Water Lily at Burleigh for Peterborough and intermediate points. This completes the services of the Otonabee Navigation Co. from Peterborough to the north and north-west.

A NEW STEEL BOAT.

In addition to the purchase of the Manita, the Otonabee Navigation Company has purchased and have in their shipyards in Ashburnham a steel frame for an entirely new steamer. This boat will be by all odds the fastest craft on the entire Trent waterway. It will be 90 feet long with a charter to carry about 300 passengers and it will have a speed of from 15 to 18 miles an hour. The work of constructing this ship will be started immediately the weather permits so that it will be ready for this seasons work. It will be a very handsome steamer and fitted up with every convenience for the comfort of the thousands who will avail themselves of the opportunity afforded by the new boat to spend the day on the Kawartha lakes.

STEAMER MONARCH.

The steamer Monarch will again ply between the city and Rice Lake points as last year, while the new steamer may be placed on the Otonabee's old route and that big steamer sent to Lake Simcoe where she will run between Orillia, Barrie, Jackson's Point (connecting with the electric road to Toronto) and Gamebridge. Later on a daily service will be started from Bobcaygeon to Gamebridge, thus connecting the entire navigable waters on the Kawartha Lakes.

When the above plans are carried out the service will be so thorough and reliable that the Kawartha Lakes with Peterborough as the headquarters will be one of the greatest resorts for tourists and cottagers in the Dominion. The scenery and the atmosphere, the fishing and boating and the lakes themselves, cannot be surpassed while a convenient transportation service will make them exceedingly popular. It is safe to predict that next summer will see several thousand more visitors to this region than ever was here before and the traffic will continue to rapidly increase year by year.

TIME TABLE.

The time table of the Otonabee Navigation Company will this year be a very comprehensive one, and will be made up to suit the citizens of Peterborough as well as outsiders. Tourists and Excursionists will be afforded every opportunity to enjoy the beauties of the lakes and rivers, and to stop over at any point desired. It will be possible to leave here in the morning and spend the day at Gore's Landing and Idyl Wyld, returning in the evening. Another line will permit the public leaving the city wharf in the morning and spend the day on Stony Lake, going over the lift lock and through the canal and river to Lakefield and then on to Stony Lake, and return the same evening. Or, if preferred, citizens and tourists can leave here in the morning, make a circuit of the lakes to Burleigh Falls, and then transfer to the steamer Manita and proceed to Chemong Park, passing through the romantic waters of Clear Lake, Lovesick Lake and Chemong Lake. At the park a 'bus line will connect with the boats and bring the passengers into the city the same evening.

This 'bus service will also permit of tourists leaving here in the morning for Chemong and take the Manita to Burleigh Falls and connect with the Water Lily and return home the same evening.

The steamer Otonabee will be put on her regular trips on Thursdays and Saturdays leaving the city at noon for Idyl Wyld and return about nine o'clock the same evening.

The officers of the Otonabee Navigation Company are as follows;—

President—Mr. W. H. Robertson.

General Manager—Mr. Harry Phelan.

Marine Superintendent — Capt. W. White.

Directors—Mr. W. H. Robertson, Capt. W. H. White, Mr. J. E. Henderson, Capt. Geo. D. Frewer, Mr. Samuel Pearson and Mr. Harry Phelan.

LOT OF A GOOD FELLOW'S WIFE NOT HAPPY ONE

"The furnace is broke,' explained the lady of the house as she led the way to the kitchen and invited her guests to take seats near a stove. 'So I brought the children and my sewing out to the only warm spot in the house. My embroidery. Oh, I'm just doing some marking for Eleanor. She admires my work so I simply could not refuse to do this. I'm marking all her linen as well as her lingerie—with a monogram that I designed for her.

The guests admired the work and the af soon that flowed smoothly enough until the man of the house appeared. Well dressed, full blooded, with the effects of conceit, good food and the best wines marked all over his handsome, if puffy face, he cast the pale, frail personality of his wife a little way quite into the background. Her gingham which had been neat before looked worn and faded. Her thinness became scrawny, and her face was pinched with nervous anxiety.

The advent of the suave, jolly man brought the call to an abrupt close.

"I can't bear to breathe in the same room with him," stormed the eldest of the group as they walked away. "I hate him so at times I feel like running a hatpin into his nice, round, complacent body. That wife of his is a saint, if there ever was one, although I do think she is too saintly with him. If she would get a little more devil in her and a little less patience that man might get what he deserves.

"What's the matter. Why, he's a good fellow, and she's a good fellow's wife. He is a spender down town and he does not half support the family he has at home. He is one of the boys' down town and a nagger and a bully and a coward up town—that's what he is. He spends all he chooses to spend on his vile, conceited self and his wife pretends the furnace is broken when she knows that it is simply because she can't afford to keep a furnace fire and she and the children live in the kitchen to save fuel nearly all winter long.

SHOES LIKE PAPER.

"She goes about with shoes like paper while he buys his clothing from the best tailor in town—and she excuses him because his business standing demands a certain good appearance. He spends more for cigars in a week than she does for food for herself and the children, and worse, she works to feed and clothe them. Yes, she does! She sews and her friends—her shirt waists are dandy.

FRIENDS HELP.

"In the fall some of her friends insist that she put up some fruit and jelly and jam for them. They get her to make cakes for their parties, and she does plain and nice dinners and luncheons even to the decorations and place cards. Of course, it is all done under the pretence that since she does these things so much better than any one else, we simply couldn't exist unless she helped us out, and the pay is simply—oh, the pride of that courageous little mite would break your heart!

PITY "POOR FELLOW."

Of course, some of the other 'good fellows suspect that he's a sneak. But, some men don't seem to mind such things, exactly. They are too lazy and careless to feel squeamish over a pal's lack of principle. His mother-in-law is the only one who won't 'pretend' for them. She visits them once a year—yes, she has money, but she won't give her daughter much because she says it encourages the husband to give even less to the home.

"Not a few people misunderstand. They pity him for having a wife who is so dull she doesn't care to go round with him and have a good time, and so stingy she lives in the kitchen to save work, and so careless she fears effort to keep his love by keeping her good looks.

"Think of it, he is actually pitied, when the whole situation is due to his own selfishness."

Jane Cable

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

Author of "BEVERLY OF GRAUSTARK," Etc.

In the lobby of the theater as they were leaving he deliberately doffed his hat and extended a pleasant hand to the wife of David Cable. She turned deathly pale, and there was a startled, piteous look in her eyes that convinced him beyond all shadow of a doubt. There was nothing for her to do but introduce him to her husband. Two minutes later Graydon Bansemer and Jane Cable, strangers until then, were asking each other how they liked the play, and Fate was at work.

A few weeks after this scene at the theater young Mr. Bansemer dashed across the hall from the elevator and entered his father's office just as Elias Droom was closing up.

"Where's the governor, Mr. Droom?" he asked, deliberately brushing past the old clerk in the outer office.

"Left some time ago," replied Droom somewhat ungraciously, his blue eyes staring past the young man with a steadiness that suggested reproach because he was out of the direct line of vision. "It is nearly 6 o'clock. He's never here after 5."

"I know that he— I asked you if you knew of his whereabouts. Do you—or not?" The self confident, athletic youth did not stand in physical awe of the clerk.

"No," was the simple and sufficient answer.

"Well, then, I'm off," said Graydon a trifle less airily.

Droom's overcoat was on and buttoned up to his chin. His long feet were encased in rubbers of enormous size and uncertain age. There must have been no blood in the veins of this grim old man, for the weather was far from cold, and the streets were surprisingly dry for Chicago.

"I am closing the office for the day," said Droom. For no apparent reason a smile spread over the lower part of his face, and Graydon, bold as he was, turned his eyes away.

"I thought I'd stop in and pick up the governor for a ride home in my motor," said he, turning to the door.

"Yours is one of the first out here, I suppose," came from the thin lips of the old clerk.

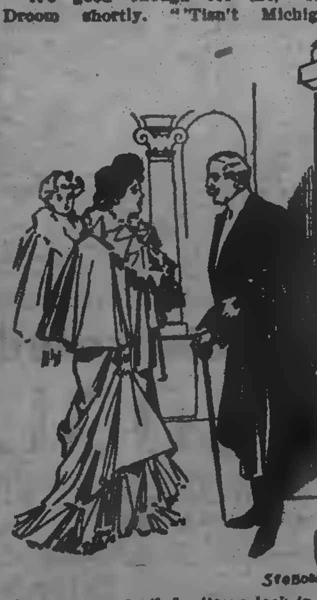
Graydon laughed.

"Possibly. The company charges a nickel a ride, half a dime. Going down, sir?" Graydon had rung for the elevator and was waiting in front of the grating.

A look containing a curious compound of affectionate reproach and a certain senile gratification at being made the object of the boy's condescending raillery crossed Droom's countenance. Without, however, answering his question he slowly and carefully closed the door, tried it vigorously and joined Bansemer at the shaft. With Droom words were unnecessary when actions could speak for themselves.

"Still living over in Wells street, Mr. Droom?" went on Graydon, thoroughly at home with the man whom he had feared and despised by stages from childhood up.

"It's good enough for me," said Droom shortly. "'Tisn't Michigan avenue, the Drive or Lincoln Park boulevard, but it's just as swell as I am or ever hope to be."



There was a startled, piteous look in her eyes

"There's nothing against Wells street, but—it got ashamed of itself when it crossed the river."

"They call it Fifth avenue," sneered Droom, "but it isn't the avenue, is it?" Bansemer was surprised to note a tone of affectionate pride in the question.

"No indeed!"

"Oh, there's only one, Mr. Graydon," said the old clerk quite warmly; "our own Fifth avenue!"

"I had no idea you cared so much for swagger things, Mr. Droom," observed the other, genuinely surprised.

"Even Broadway is heaven to me," said Droom, some of the rasp gone from his voice. "Goodby. I got this way," he said when they reached the sidewalk a little later. The young man watched his gaunt figure as it slouched away in the semidarkness.

"By George, the old chap is actually homesick!" muttered he. "I didn't think it was in him."

Droom had rooms over a millinery shop in Wells street. There was a bedroom at the back and a "living room" in front, overlooking the street from the third story of the building. Of the bedchamber there is but little to say, except that it contained a bed, a washstand, a mirror, two straight backed chairs and a clothespress. Droom went out for his bath—every Saturday night. The "living room," however, was queer in more ways than one. In one corner on a chest of drawers stood his oil stove, while in the opposite corner a big sheet iron heater made itself conspicuous. Firewood was piled behind the stove winter and summer, Droom lamenting that one could not safely discriminate between the seasons in Chicago. The chest of drawers contained his stock of provisions, his cooking and table utensils, his medicine and a small assortment of carpenter's tools. He had no use for an icebox.

A bookcase, old enough to warm the heart of the most ardent antiquarian, held his small and unusual collection of books. Standing side by side on the same shelf were French romances and the Holy Bible, much bethumbed and penciled. There were schoolbooks alongside of sentimental love tales, Greek lexicons and quaint old fairy stories, law books and works on criminology; books on botany, geology, anatomy and physics. In all perhaps there were 200 volumes. A life of Napoleon revealed signs of almost constant usage. There were three portraits of the Corsican on the dingy green walls.

The strange character of the man was best shown by the pictures that adorned or rather disfigured the walls. Vulgar photographs and prints were to be seen on all sides. Mingled with these cheap creations were excellent copies of famous Madonnas, quaint Scriptural drawings, engravings of the Saviour and an allegorical colored print which emphasized the joys of heaven. There was also a badly drawn but idealized portrait of Droom, done in crayon at the age of twenty. This portrait was one of his prized possessions. He loved it best because it was a bust and did not expose his longitudinal defects. If Droom ever had entertained a feminine visitor in his apartments, there is no record of the fact. But few men had seen the interior of his home, and they had gone away with distressed, perplexed sensibilities.

He cooked his own meals on the oil stove and, alone, ate them from the little table that stood near the heater. Occasionally he went out to a nearby eating house for a lonely feast. His rooms usually reeked with the odor of boiled coffee, burned cabbage and grease, pungent chemicals and long suffering bed linen. Of his "front" room it may be said that it was kitchen, dining room, parlor, library, workshop, laboratory and conservatory. Four flowerpots, in which as many geraniums existed with difficulty despite Droom's constant and unwavering care, occupied a conspicuous place on the window sills overlooking the street. He watched over them with all the tender solicitude of a lover, surprising as it may appear when one pauses to consider the vicious exterior of the man.

Droom was frugal. He was, in truth, a miser. If any one had asked him what he expected to do with the money he was putting away in the bank, he could not have answered, calculating as he was by nature. He had no relative to whom he would leave it, and he had no inclination to give up the habit of active employment. His salary was small, but he managed to save more than half of it—for a "rainy day," as he said. He did his reading and experimenting by kerosene light and went to bed by candlelight, saving a few pennies a week in that way. The windows in his apartment were washed not oftener than once a year. He was seldom obliged to look through them during the day, and their only duty at night was to provide ventilation, and even that was characteristically meager.

He was a man of habit, not habits. A pipe at night was his only form of dissipation. It was not too far for him to walk home from the office of evenings, and he invariably did so unless the weather was extremely unpleasant. So methodical was he that he never had walked over any other bridge than the one in Wells street, coming and going.

Past sixty-five years of age, Droom's hair still was black and snaky, his teeth were as yellow and jagged as they were in the seventies, and his eyes were as blue and ugly as ever. He had not aged with James Bansemer. In truth, he looked but little older than when we made his acquaintance. The outside world knew no more of Droom's private transactions than it knew of Bansemer's. Up in the horrid little apartment in Wells street the queer old man could do as he willed, unobserved and unannoyed. He could pursue his experiments with strange chemicals, he could construct odd devices with his kit of tools, and he could let off an endless amount of inventive energy that no one knew he possessed.

When he left Graydon Bansemer on the sidewalk in front of the office building he swung off with his long strides toward the Wells street bridge. His brain had laid aside everything that had occupied its attention during office hours and had given itself over to the project that hastened his steps homeward. His supper that night was a small one and hurriedly eaten in order that he might get to work on his new device. Droom grinned and cackled to himself all alone up there in the lamplight, for he was perfecting an "invention" by which the honest citizen could successfully put to rout the "holdup" man that has made Chicago famous.

Elias Droom's inventive genius unfailingly led him toward devices that could inflict pain and discomfiture. His plan to get the better of the wretched, hard working holdup man was unique, if not entirely practical. He was constructing the models for two little bulbs, made of rubber and lined with a material that would resist the effects of an acid, no matter how powerful. On one end of each bulb, which was capable of holding at least an ounce of liquid, there was a thin syringe attachment, also proof against acids. These little bulbs were made so that they could be held in the palm of the hand. By squeezing them suddenly a liquid could be shot from the tube with considerable force.

The bulbs were to contain vitriol.

When the holdup man gave the command to "hold up your hands," the victim had only to squeeze the bulb as the hands went up, and if accurately aimed the miscreant would get the stream of the deadly vitriolic fluid in his eyes and—here endeth the first lesson. Experience alone could do the rest.

"Well, how was everything today?" asked James Bansemer from his easy chair in the library. Graydon threw his hat and gloves on the table.

"Terribly dull market, governor," he said. "It's been that way for a week. How are you feeling?"

"Fit to dine with a queen," answered the older man, with a smile. "How soon can you dress for dinner, Gray?"

"That depends on who is giving the dinner."

"Some people you like. I found the note here when I came in a little after 5. We have an hour in which to get over there. Can you be ready?"

"Do you go security for the affair?" asked Graydon.

"Certainly. You have been there, my boy, and I've not heard you complain."

"You mean over at"—

"Yes; that's where I mean," said the other, breaking in quietly.

"I think I can be ready in ten minutes, father."

While he was dressing his father sat alone and stared reflectively at the small blue gas blaze in the gate. A dark, grim smile unconsciously came over his face, the inspiration of a triumphant joy. Twice he read the dainty note that met him on his return from the office.

"What changes time can make in woman," he mused, "and what changes a woman can make in time! For nearly a year I've waited for this note. I knew it would come; it was bound to come. Graydon has had everything up to this time, while I have waited patiently in the background. Now it is my turn."

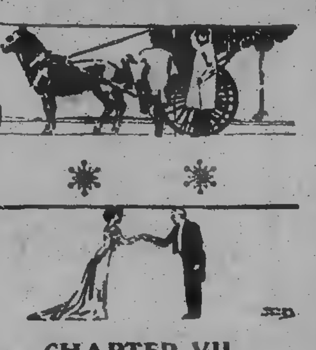
Together they went down the steps, arm in arm, strong figures.

"To Mr. David Cable's," ordered Bansemer, the father, complacently as he stepped into the carriage after his son.



CHAPTER VII.

JAMES BANSEMER had not recklessly rushed into Mrs. Cable's presence with threats of exposure; but, on the contrary, he had calmly, craftily waited. It suited his purpose to let her wonder, dread and finally develop the trust that her secret was safe with him. Occasionally he had visited the Cable box in the theater, not infrequently he had dined with them in the downtown cafes and at the homes of mutual acquaintances, but this was the first time that James Bansemer had enjoyed the hospitality of Frances Cable's home. His son, on the best of terms with their daughter, was a frequent visitor there.

There was a rare bump of progressiveness in the character of Graydon Bansemer. He was good looking enough beyond doubt, and there was a vast degree of personal magnetism about him. It seemed but natural that he should readily establish himself as a friend and a favorite of the fair Miss Cable. For some time James Bansemer had watched his son's progress with the Cable family, not once allowing his personal interest to manifest itself. It was but a question of time until Mrs. Cable's suspense and anxiety would bring her to him one way or another. Every word that fell from the lips of his son regarding the Cables held his attention, and it was not long before he saw the family history as clearly as though it were an open book, and he knew far more than the open book revealed.

Frances Cable was not deluded by his silence and aloofness. But she was unable to devise means to circumvent him. Constant fear of his power to crush lurked near her day and night. Conscious of her weakness, but eager to have done with the strife, sometimes she longed for the enemy to advance. At first she distrusted and despised the son, but his very fairness battered down the barriers of prejudice, and real admiration succeeded. Her husband liked him immensely, and Jane was his ablest ally. David Cable regarded him as one of the brightest young men on the stock exchange and predicted that some day he would be an influential member of the great brokerage firm for which he now acts as confidential clerk. Mr. Clegg, the senior member of the firm of Clegg, Groll & Davidson, his employers, personally had recommended young Bansemer to Cable, and he was properly impressed.

Graydon's devotion to Jane did not go unnoticed. This very condition should have assured Mrs. Cable that James Bansemer had kept her secret zealously. There was nothing to indicate that the young man knew the story of the foundling.

It was not until some weeks after the chance meeting in Hooley's theater that Mrs. Cable came into direct contact with James Bansemer's designs. She had met him at two or three formal affairs, but their conversations had been of the most conventional character. On the other hand, her husband had lunched and dined at the club with the lawyer. At first she dreaded the outcome of these meetings, but as Cable's attitude toward her remained unchanged she began to realize that Bansemer, whatever his purpose, was loyal.

They met at last quite informally at Mrs. Clegg's dinner, a small and congenial affair. When the men came into the drawing room after the cigars Mrs. Cable, with not a little trepidation, motioned to Mr. Bansemer to draw up his chair beside her.

"I have been looking forward with pleasure to this opportunity, Mr. Bansemer," she said in a courteously acidulated way. "It has been so long in coming."

"Better late than never," he returned, with marked emphasis. Fortunately for her the challenging significance of his words was quickly nullified by the smile with which she was almost instantly favored. "Twenty years, I believe—it certainly came very near being 'never,'" he went on, abruptly changing from harsh to the sweetest of tones. "No one could believe that you—you're simply wonderful!" and added pointedly, "But your daughter is even more beautiful, if such is possible, than her—her mother."

Apparently the innuendo passed unnoticed. In reality, it required all her courage to appear calm.

"How very nice of you," she said softly. And looking him full in the face, "Her mother thanks you for the compliment."

It was a brave little speech. Such bravery would have softened a man of another mold—changed his purpose. Not so with Bansemer. A sinister gleam came into his eyes, and his attack became more brutally direct.

"But the husband—has he never mistrusted?"

The blow told, though her reply was given with rippling laughter and for the benefit of any chance listeners.

"For shame, Mr. Bansemer!" she cried lightly. "After flattering me so delightfully you're surely not going to spoil it all?"

Despite his growing annoyance, admiration shone clearly from Bansemer's eyes. His memory carried him back some twenty years to the scene in his office. Was it possible, he was thinking, that the charming woman before him exercising so cleverly all the arts of society, as if born to the purple, and the light hearted, frivolous little wife of the Central's engineer were one and the same person? The metamorphosis seemed incredible.

Unwittingly his manner lost some of its aggressiveness, and the woman, perceiving the altered conditions, quick to take advantage, resolved to learn if possible his intentions. Presently, going right to the point, she asked:

"Is that extraordinary looking creature you had in your office still with you, Mr. Bansemer?"

"Extraordinary!" He laughed loudly. "He is certainly that and more. Indeed, the English language does not supply us with an adjective that adequately describes the man."

The people nearest to them by this time had moved away to another part of the large drawing room. Practically the couple were by themselves. She had been thinking for a moment, reasoning with a woman's logic that it was always well to know one's enemy. When she next spoke it was almost in a whisper.

"How much does that horrible man know?"

"He is not supposed to know anything," and then, with an enigmatical smile, promptly admitted, "However, I'm afraid that he does."

"You have told him? And yet you promised nobody should know. How could"—

"My dear Mrs. Cable, he was not told. If he has found out I could not prevent his discovering the truth through his own efforts," he interrupted in a tone more assuaging than convincing to her, and then, hitching his chair closer and lowering his voice a note, he continued: "The papers had to be taken out. But you must not worry about him. You can depend on me."

"Promise me that you will make him—I am so fearful of that awful"—she broke off abruptly. Her fears were proving too much for her, and she was in imminent danger of a complete breakdown. All the veneer with which she had bravely commenced the interview had disappeared.

Bansemer endeavored to soothe her with promises, but the poor woman saw only his teeth in the reassuring smile that he presented to her, together with the warnings that they were likely to be observed. With the hardest kind of an effort she succeeded in pulling herself together sufficiently to bid good night to her hostess.

When Mrs. Cable reached home that night it was with a full realization that she was irrevocably committed into the custody of these cold blooded men.

They met again and again at the homes of mutual friends, and she had come to loathe the pressure of his hand when it clasped hers. One night he held her hand long and firmly in his, and while she shrank helplessly before him he even tenderly asked why she had not invited him into her home. It was what she had expected and feared. Her cup of bitterness was filling rapidly—too rapidly. His invitation to dinner a fortnight later followed.

• • • • • • •

Jane Cable was radiant as she entered the drawing room shortly after the arrival of the two Bansemers.

Peter Pan's Funny Experience.

Miss Pauline Chase, the London Peter Pan, has just published a selection from innumerable letters she has received from children about Mr. Barrie's perennial play. In one part of the book she tells how she sometimes has to receive the children in her dressing-room, and how awkward it is when they ask questions about whether Peter Pan is really a boy. "A young gentleman of about six," she says, "was brought to see me, and I gathered from his introductory remarks that his big brother had made him uneasy about my sex. He put two cunning test questions to me, probably suggested by the brother. The first was, 'Can you whistle?' By great good luck I could whistle that day. Then, 'What do you think of kissing?' he asked, anxiously. 'Rotten,' I said. He was immensely relieved. Then I knew I was all right."

WORK AND WORRY WEAKENS WOMEN

New Health and Strength Can be Had Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easy and not to worry. But it is the duty of every woman to save her strength as much as possible; to take her cares as lightly as may be and to build up her system to meet any unusual demands. It is her duty to herself and to her family, for her future health depends upon it.

To guard against a complete breakdown in health the blood must be kept rich and red and pure. No other medicine does this so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. This medicine actually makes new, red blood, strengthens the nerves, restores the appetite and keeps every organ healthyily toned up. Women cannot always rest when they should but they can keep their strength and keep disease away by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which have done more to lighten the cares of weak women than any other medicine.

Mrs. James H. Ward, Hurds' Cove, N.B., says:—"About two years ago I suffered so much from nervous prostration that I was little better than a helpless wreck. I suffered from headaches and a constant feeling of dizziness. The least unusual move would startle me and set my heart palpitating violently. I had little or no appetite and grew so weak that I was hardly able to drag myself about, and could not do my housework. In every way I was in a deplorable condition. As the medicine I had been taking seemed to do me no good, my husband got a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had only been taking the Pills for a couple of weeks when I seemed to feel somewhat better and this encouraged me to continue the treatment. From that on my strength gradually but surely returned, and in the course of a few more weeks I was once more a well woman, able to do my own housework and feel better than I had done for years. I have since remained well and I feel that I owe my good health to the healing power of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Every other weak, sickly, worn out woman should follow the example of Mrs. Ward and give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial. These Pills will send new blood coursing through the veins and bring brightness and energy to the weak and despondent. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A CANADIAN ON LINCOLN

derstood without remembering that the seed of the cavalier of King Charles had grown into class privilege in Canada and "ripened into an autocracy as exclusive and insolent as anything southern aristocracy or old world Toryism could show."

"In Canada the conflict came a generation earlier than in the United States. It was in 1837, the first year of the reign of Queen Victoria, that the seething discontent of the people against injustice and tyranny found expression in the rebellion of Louis Papineau in Lower Canada, and of William Lyon Mackenzie in Upper Canada. That rebellion was suppressed with little bloodshed, but the power of the oligarchy was broken. The rights for which the people fought were abundantly granted in 1840, when Canada was given, not merely representative government directly and immediately responsible to Parliament. What was won for Democracy in the United States on the battlefields of the revolution, and more truly in the Civil War, was secured for Democracy in Canada in the Parliament of the nation. But at the bottom the struggle was the same."

"In a book by a professor of Harvard University, published only a few months ago," said Mr. Macdonald. "I read the statement that, 'feeling in the United States was greatly incensed because of the sympathy of Canada with the south in the Civil War.' My comment on that statement is that more than 48,000 Canadians fought in the armies of the north, and 18,000 of them died for the Union cause. They were in the Army of the Potomac, in the Army of the James, in the Army of the C[illegible] land, in the Army of the Tennessee, and in the Army of the Rio Grande. They were with Thomas at Chickamauga. They were with Custer in the west. They were with Meade at Gettysburg. They went through the Shenandoah with Sheridan. They marched with Sherman to the sea. On every great battlefield between the Mississippi and the Potomac the sons of Canada stood shoulders together with the men of the Union. They languished in the Libby Prison. They died in the Andersonville Camp. They answered your Lincoln's call; they followed your Stars and Stripes; they died for your country's honor; but, in death and in life, the flag of their hearts was the Union Jack."

Memorial Is Begun.

Hedgenville, Ky., Feb. 13.—Henceforth the birthplace of Abraham Lincoln is to be marked by a pile of stone. The emancipator of a race, and the liberator of the negroes of a nation, builded his own monument in the heart of the world, and appropriated the physical structure which has now found a beginning at the place where Lincoln first saw the light, takes the simpler name of a memorial. It is to be a simple, classic building of granite, and it is hoped that it may be completed some time next fall, when the then President will officiate in dedicating it as the present President, Theodore Roosevelt, yesterday officiated in laying its foundation stone.

Guilty of Usury.

Ottawa, Feb. 13.—Mrs. Arabella Lahaise was found guilty of usury and will be sentenced next Wednesday. Neil H. McKinnon was discharged, a crown witness not making an appearance and being fined $5 for contempt of court. Another charge will probably be laid against McKinnon.

A. L. Forbes is ill and his case was postponed. Walter Hatch has returned to the city and will be summoned.

LORD CHARLES BERESFORD HAS RETIRED FROM COMMAND

Announcement Made by the Admiralty.

Winston Churchill Said to Desire the Governor-Generalship of South Africa.

London, Feb. 15.—An interesting announcement was issued by the Admiralty last night.

Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, commander-in-chief of the channel fleet, will vacate this command March 24, when this fleet will disappear as the chief fighting unit of the first line of Great Britain's naval force. Henceforth the most important vessels of the channel fleet, under the command of Vice-Admiral Archibald Berkeley Milne, who is now second in command in the channel fleet, will form the second division of the main fleet under supreme command of Vice-Admiral Sir Wm. H. May, second sea lord of the Admiralty.

It is understood that this means the practical retirement of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, and that he will be placed on half-pay. Lord Charles would have held the channel command for another year, retiring under the age limit in 1911, but the Government desired to group all the newest and best ships under Vice-Admiral May's command for home defence.

The most interesting rumor current on the eve of the session credits Winston Spencer Churchill with an eager desire to become the first Governor-General of the new federation in South Africa. If he succeeds Lord Selborne he will have a lucrative and showy office while the Liberal party is recruiting its exhausted energies against the Opposition benches. A war correspondent who escaped from a Boer prison will be a picturesque figure as the Governor-General of Confederated South Africa under the British crown. Those close to the Prime Minister assert that the appointment will probably be made in due time.

King Edward, after opening Parliament, is not likely to remain in England more than three weeks. A visit to Biarritz will be followed by a cruise in the Mediterranean.

Connaught For Ireland?

Dublin, Feb. 15.—The appointment of the Duke of Connaught to the Lord Lieutenancy of Ireland is the latest rumor in political circles. The Government is considering the advisability of this step, and it is known that the duke has intimated his willingness to accept the office if it is tendered him.

Up to now the office has been considered a political one, carrying with it a seat in the Cabinet, but it is urged that there is no sound reason why this policy should be continued and why it should not be on the same footing as the Governor-Generals of the self-governing colonies.

The Duke of Connaught has a considerable knowledge of Ireland and its affairs, having been commander-in-chief there for some years. Should the step be taken the Chief Secretary for Ireland would act as the chief representative in political affairs and the duties of the Lord Lieutenant would be almost entirely remodelled, being made purely of a formal and ceremonial character.

In addition the step would be a satisfactory one from the point of view of settling the vexed question of what to do with the duke. His position in the army as commander of Malta is one that the King does not think entirely befitting his brother, and in this view the duke himself joins.

ANOTHER STORM COMING THIS WAY

Toronto, Feb. 15.—The storm yesterday came from the southwest. It originated in New Mexico, passed eastward from Arizona on Saturday over the middle States and entered Canada at Lake Erie. The wind increased in violence during the day, and made unfortunate pedestrians feel the stinging lash of ice crystals. Snow was general throughout Ontario, and at a late hour was extending into Quebec.

The weather man reports that another storm is developing, and will closely follow this one. It will likely be a gale. Some warnings are being shown from Sault Ste. Marie to the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Mr. J. A. Brown leaves tomorrow morning for Toronto, where he has accepted a position. On Saturday night a large number of Mr. Brown's friends gathered at the Montreal House to say good bye and wish him every success in his new position. Speeches were made by a number of those present expressing regret at Mr. Brown's departure. On behalf of the Company, Mr. Gene Hurtubise and Mr. James Booth presented Mr. Brown with a purse of money. Mr. Brown made a neat reply, thanking his friends for their kindness.

DEAD IN THE SNOW

Two Men Are Thrown Into Snow Bank Near Brockville and One is Suffocated.

Brockville, Feb. 15.—A fatality occurred yesterday in the Township of Kitley near Jasper. The victim was Michael O'Connell, aged 61, a prosperous farmer of that township.

He spent the evening in Jasper, leaving for home about 10 o'clock in the company of Henry Roswell. They were driving a single horse attached to a cutter and it is thought the horse shied, upsetting the cutter. Both men were thrown out, O'Connell being pushed face downwards into the snow, which at that point is quite deep, and the other man was lying on top of him. This is the supposition, for when Wm. Ferguson, a young man returning home from a party, discovered the mishap, such were the positions of the bodies. The horse was found lying in the ditch uninjured.

It was found that Roswell was asleep and O'Connell was dead. An examination of the body by Dr. Anderson, coroner of the district, showed that O'Connell had died of suffocation. There was no evidence of foul play and an inquest was deemed unnecessary. In the pockets of the deceased was found $41 in cash, a gold watch and a revolver. He lived alone and owned one of the best farms in Kitley.

NO FUR FAMINE

Prominent Hudson's Bay Factor Says Fur Bearing Animals are Plentiful

Fort William, Feb 13—Furs this winter are much more plentiful than they have been for a number of years past according to information given the Times-Journal by R D McClifford, Hudson's Bay factor at Lac Suel, some 50 miles from Lake Superior junction, who is a guest at the West hotel. Mr Clifford, who brought in a small fortune in furs, covered part of the journey by dog train.

"It has been long since pelts have been more plentiful or of better quality," said Mr. Clifford. "Especially are the Indian trappers in our district meeting with success

Besides scores of mink, black and brown bear, red and black fox, ermine and musk rat pelts, Mr. Clifford brought the skins of seven silver foxes which animals have been considered almost extinct. The seven skins alone are worth considerably more than $2000.

Mr. Clifford said that while there is a slight scarcity of mink, an unusually large number of other fur bearing animals are being caught. Some idea of the plentifulness of ermine in the Lac Suel district may be gleaned from the fact that an ermine recently was found by Mr Clifford in the store buildings at Lac Suel. It was caught in the drippings from a syrup barrel.

There are some 750 Indians at the post. On their trapping expeditions they cover distances of several hundreds of miles. The men usually work in pairs, leaving their families at home. They are frequently absent two months or more.

Mr Clifford is making his first visit to a white settlement since a year ago last September. He expects to start on the return journey next Friday. After leaving the railway he will go across country 18 miles on snowshoes where he will be met by an Indian with a dog team.

PROTEST AGAINST REEVE OF DOURO

Ex-Reeve Maloney Attempts to Set Aside His Election --Notice Served on Mr. Moher To-Day By the Sheriff

Ex-Reeve D. Maloney of Douro has entered a protest against the election of Reeve Frank Moher, of the same township who defeated Mr. Maloney for the reeveship of Douro township at the municipal elections in January. Mr Maloney charges his opponent with bribery.

This is the first protest on the grounds of bribery even entered in municipal politics in Peterborough county.

The proceedings in a municipal election protest are taken under the controverted election clauses of the Municipal Election Act. They differ widely from those in the case of a protest in the Ontario or Dominion election. In the first place the complainant takes an affidavit as to the charges and also furnishes bonds. Then application is made to the county judge to issue a fiat, and instead of a writ being issued a notice of motion is made and the defendant, —Mr Moher in this case—is served with the notice. The period of eight days elapses and the trial can be brought on eight days latter or the county judge may specify a date for the trial. In this case his honor has specified Thursday, February 25th, as the date for the hearing. The case will be tried in the county court before Judge Weller.

Mr. Maloney has entered the protest and the judge's fiat was issued on Saturday. The notice, it is understood, was served on Mr. Moher today by Sheriff Hall.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams is acting for Mr. Maloney.

COMPLAINTS MADE TO POLICE AS TO PRODUCTION OF "SALOME" WEDNESDAY

When Chief Roszel was asked by a Review reporter this morning if he had any complaints regarding the production of "Salome" by the Daniel Ryan Co. on Wednesday evening at the Grand Opera House, he replied that he had heard several.

"Were they from private individuals or from the Ministerial Association?" was the next question.

"I never give away the names of my informants" he replied. "However, I will say that no immoral or objectionable play will be put on in Peterborough, and if there is one played I intend to prosecute."

"How are you to know that it is immoral if you do not attend?" the chief was asked.

But he would say no more for publication. He would not say whether he would attend or what course he intended to pursue to find out if it was immoral. He rang up the Opera House this morning and said that "Salome" could not be produced here if it was in any way objectionable. He was told that he would have to see Mr. Ryan.

He was given bail of $400, which was supplied by two friends. The money is said to have been obtained from Mr. G. W. Hatton.

CHINK HIDDEN IN A BOX CAR

Windsor, Feb. 15.—Workmen in the Grand Trunk yards discovered two Chinamen in a bonded car, attention being drawn to the fact that the seal was broken. The celestials were arrested and appeared in court on a charge of entering the car. They were allowed to go on suspended sentence, after paying $14 costs. United States immigration officers and local authorities declare this discovery proves that Windsor smugglers are in collusion with a band around Niagara Falls and Fort Erie. Certain it is, that a well organized gang is directing the operations of the "underground railway" at present.

WEST PETERBORO' ELECTION PROTEST

The appeal of Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P., against the judgment of Mr. Justice Britton, dismissing his objections to the protest which was fyled against his return by his opponent, Mr. Burnham, will come up tomorrow morning before the Supreme Court at Ottawa. Numerous rumors have perhaps not unnaturally arisen concerning what may take place in connection with the protest, but they are without foundation. Unless the appeal goes against the petitioner the protest will certainly proceed to trial in the usual way and no considerations outside this constituency it is understood will have any influence whatever upon the case.

A JAM AT NIAGARA

Holds Back the Water Above the Falls — American Cataract Almost Disappears.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Feb. 15.—Only a tiny rivulet, not deep nor swift enough to carry a pulp log over the brink, is flowing over the American side of Niagara Falls. A strong northeast wind which has blown since Friday has held back the water and allowed the ice to gain a foothold. Two employes of the American reservation walked from Prospect Point nearly to Bath Island yesterday morning. They did not complete the trip merely because they did not care to get their feet wet, a stream at one place being a few inches above the tops of their boots.

A great wall of ice runs from the head of Goat Island to the American mainland, through which only tiny streams are able to trickle. This wall has even encroached on the Canadian channel, extending out some 200 feet beyond the third Sister Island, and greatly diminishing the flow over the horseshoe. Only the very apex of the Canadian Falls is left, and that is robbed of half its flow.

The gorge below is choked and the rapids have lost their fury, while the whirlpool is barely in motion.

This is only the third time that this combination of wind and ice has thus affected the falls since the white man came here. The other occasions were March 29, 1848, and March 22, 1903.

ACCEPTS CALL TO WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Feb. 15.—Rev. C. W. McLeod of Chicago University has accepted an invitation to be the new pastor of the First Baptist Church of this city.

A TRAGEDY OF THE NORTH FINDS BROTHERS MURDERED

An Edmonton Man's Ghastly Discovery.

Guiding a Company of Prospec- When He Came Upon Two Skeletons.

Edmonton, Feb. 15.—Charles McLeod, an Edmonton man, who, while guiding a party of prospectors through the northern wilds in the vicinity of Nahanna River, accidentally stumbled over the skeletons of two murdered brothers, has arrived here.

McLeod one evening after making camp discovered beside him trees under which were the remains of another campfire. Curious as to who might have preceded him, he scraped away the ashes and discovered an inscription on the tree, finding the date May, '05, and the initials of his own two brothers. Later on one of the party cut his foot, and the rest pushed on a few miles to make camp. When the injured man's wounds were dressed he pushed on and reported that in the brush under a large tree he had found the skeletons of two men.

McLeod, his fears aroused, hastened back, and in an hour came on the remains. Investigation revealed the fact that the heads of the two men had been cut off and removed to some unknown point. The clothing was completely rotted away, bones only being left. In the vicinity where the campfire had been he found his brother's watch and ring, which belonged to Frank McLeod. On looking over the camp he found another blazed tree, on which a very little carving was legible, but it showed that the men were killed at least three years ago. One of the skeletons had the breastbone shattered, appearances indicating that the man was shot with a rifle while reclining on a pile of blankets.

Near the base of the tree were carved words which would mean a fortune if deciphered. These words related to the location of valuables, but the murderers not only had taken care to remove every article from the victims' clothes, but also felled and blazed the trees in such a manner as to make most of the carving unintelligible. Near to the point where he had been working McLeod found a small shaft, from which Indians of late had taken gold. The Indians, however, claimed that they had opened this themselves. Weir, the companion of the two men, is still unaccounted for.

Mounted police will be sent north to investigate.

THE BRIDE OF KING MANUEL

King Edward's Niece May Marry the Portuguese Ruler.

Villa Viscosa, Portugal, Feb. 15.—The visit of King Alfonso of Spain to King Manuel came to a close yesterday afternoon. The only incident to mar the pleasant stay was the precautionary arrest by the police of two suspects, to which, however, no importance attaches.

Before his departure King Alfonso conferred upon King Manuel the order of Charles III. He received in turn from his host the collar of the order of the Tower and Sword.

Although not yet conferred in official quarters, the entire press of Portugal states that the royal interview between King Alfonso and King Manuel related chiefly to the projected marriage of King Manuel to Princess Beatrice, daughter of the late Duke of Edinburgh and niece of King Edward. Such a marriage is favorably commented upon by the whole country, the opinion being that it would greatly strengthen the bonds of friendship between Great Britain and Portugal and consolidate British influence in the whole peninsula.

Great interest has been aroused in the banquet and ball to be given on Feb. 17, by Sir Francis H. Villiers, the British Minister to Portugal, in honor of King Manuel.

PLOUGHING IN JANUARY

Mild Weather in Alberta—Mr. Jas. Edgcumbe Writes to the Review

Writing from Nanton, Alberta, renewing his subscription to the Review, Mr. Jas. Edgcumbe, a former Peterborough citizen, says in part:

"We are having a little frost here just now. I actually saw an icicle hanging to a man's whiskers today, it was very dark, so he might have been chewing something. But leaving all jokes aside, we have only had about three weeks of what I would call real winter weather. Two weeks ago, a man was ploughing in his feild a little west of here. About the middle of January the thermometer dropped to 48 degrees below zero, but the atmosphere is so dry here; you don't feel this any more than zero weather down home. I like the winters here, much better. Two weeks ago Sunday, it was so mild I went to church without an overcoat, and I see you had it 18 degrees below."

Canada's revenue fell off $12,086,-636 as compared with the ten months of the last fiscal year.

A SERIOUS BUSINESS

It was said on excellent authority before the last election campaign that Mr. Foster had expressed grave doubts as to the advisability of the Conservatives wishing to go into power.

The financial prospects were exceedingly gloomy. The returns are now in for last year, having been brought down, and they justify the alarming prediction. No less than 16 millions of dollars have been added to the national debt, while it must not necessarily keep on rising rapidly. Yet the revenue has gone back to an alarming degree. The "economy" practised by the Laurier administration was a mere blind. The boom was on borrowed money, and having borrowed we must pay. The general idea of the Liberal administration is well typified by their immigration policy which has to be curbed in the most humiliating way after prolonged boasting. The end of all this misconception, bad business and flashy extravagance is not in sight. The country should have passed a vote of censure last October, not one of confidence.

THE SCENE WAS CHANGED

A friend of ours who is not more mythical than Adolphe Smiff, of the Bobcaygeon Independent, suggests that since women want the franchise to let them have it and all of it. He further says that for his part he is in favour of relinquishing the ruling or predominant position now occupied by men and handing it over to women who in the future shall in everything be uppermost. We have heard many intellectual women aver that if women had been in possession of the opportunities afforded by the franchise and by men's fancied superiority generally, they would have put this wicked world on a wholly different footing, and it is assumed, a much more desirable one. In Hypatia and other novels of that sort desperate attempts have been made by distinguished men to figure out the future of women as allied with or opposed to men with the result that the world ahead presents to their mind the picture of the future woman taking the rod of correction to her husband, admonishing him frequently and generally acting the part now supposed to be acted by that product of ancient prejudice, the ruling man. Now it is well known and has for a long time been realized that where there's a woman there's her way. This modification of the old saw is not the less cutting because true. Women have lacked physical force in the past. They are now cultivating it. This is the dumbbell age for women. Girls who formerly could but lift an eyebrow can now a hand or hurl an epithet. The Murat of British Cavalry is soon to be a woman. Infact the head of the house and the father of our families will in all probability in the near future be "lovely woman." Such is the idea of the friend we refer to. That it is merely the despairing cry of one who thinks that because he is no longer paramount, therefore the world cannot go on is obvious. We shall leave it at that.

A GREAT WRONG

La Patrie says that there are 25 thousand without work in Montreal this winter. Starvation means and always has meant riot or slavery. What alternative is offered to men who want work and cannot get it. It is all very well to cite cases of men who do not want work when they can get it. Such instances are as beside the mark as to say that there is no disease because some people who think they are ill are not. The Balance of Employment is just as important as the Balance of Trade or the Balance of Power.

and it is the duty of every man of common sense and common decency to see to it, as far as lies in his power that modern conditions shall not conflict with modern necessities. The idea that furnishing work is adopting a coddling expedient is a grim piece of humor. There is no coddling about work. We need more brains and heart in our everyday life. That is what is the matter with us.

REVIVALS SCIENTIFICALLY CONSIDERED

The conviction is growing among thoughtful men that the typical religious revival has had its day. So at least writes the Rev Dr M J. Klein in an important study of this phenomenon. Rejecting two of the three methods of interpretation, that is, 'the exclusively supernatural' and 'the exclusively pathological,' he emphasizes the fruitful results that have, he thinks, been derived from the "scientific" interpretation. From this viewpoint he shows in The Reformed Church Review, Lancaster, Pa., January, that 'the power of suggestion has been a great force in the production of revival experiences,' since there is a "very complete correlation between the suggestibility of persons and their religious experiences." The striking psychic manifestations of revivals he asserts, are "frequently simple, o. a hypnotic kind," and of this type he instances the manifestations of "power" under Wesley when men and women cry out and fall unconscious. He takes the modern revival as an example of the "suggestion" "coming from the revivalist:

The expectation of people is wrought up by weeks of elaborate preparation. The attention is fixed on some one subject, hymns that do not call forth any thought are sung and resung, an appeal from a leader of undoubted magnetism follows, an appeal filled with vivid imagination and strong feeling, and the result is that the unstable element is at once in a state of mind favorable to suggestion. Then they are asked to do the very last thing that emotionally persons ought to do, viz., to lay aside their will. Perfect self-surrender is asked for. Then the suggestion is made. 'Raise the hand. Rise. Rise.' Repititious phrases are used. 'There is another.' One more saved. 'See them coming.' Do we realize to what extent this whole method is a hypnotization of weak and recalcitrant wills. There are only too many suggestibles in the world with whom any implanted idea issues at once to impulsive fulfillment. This accounts for the large number of lapses among converts, and for the proportionately meager permanent results of revival effort. There are victims of suggestion who are converted at every revival. There is much so-called conversion, which is really a hypnotic process that never touches ethical or spiritual life at all. When the temporary stimulation is removed the reaction comes. I wish space would permit me to quote the concrete confessions as given by Starbuck of those who were brought for the time under the sway of excitement and the hypnotic influence of a revival, and afterwards when reaction and reflection came looked back on their experience with shame and repugnance. One of them called it a 'gold brick deal.' The principle of hypnotic suggestion explains why often men of superficial character and ability have such mysterious influence over the revival crowd. Dr. Buckley wrote a few years ago an account of a mere criminal who by this same method caused almost an entire revival audience to be struck down under the influence of his sermon as through the power of God and later confessed himself to have been a mesmeric fraud.

"The employment of fear as the supreme motive has largely passed from the modern revival. The hypnotic feature has not passed away. The suggestibility highly wrought upon by the revivalist remains. Now, suggestion and the hypnotic process are not bad in themselves. But they are not in any sense a spiritual power. The phenomena produced by them are no special evidences of the immediate presence of God. They are functions of the human mind. The hypnotic process is not one of the largest functions of the mind, either. It is primarily an animal means of distinction. Davenport compares it to the power of the feline exerts upon the helpless bird, and the Indian medicine man upon the ghost dance votary.' To use it upon susceptible women and little children is mentally, morally, and spiritually injurious. Suggestion will bless mankind only as it comes under the calm domination of reason and will."

There is often set in motion a converse influence of the mass on the individual, the writer shows; and in conditions like this, even the unsympathetic may be swept off their feet by crowd contagion. "It takes some time for the contagion to work. The revivalist does not expect much response during his first half hour. But soon the growing pressure of the mass on the individual so contracts his consciousness to a single point that it takes less suggestion than usual to start an impulse." "What this nation needs, crazed as it is in many quarters by frenzied feeling that ever and anon bursts forth in mob and riot," says Dr. Klein, "is certainly not a method of religion that lacks the elements of rational self-restraint." There is a danger, he thinks, that people who get their religion by impulse rather than by rational control will in time get their political life in the same way. We read further—

"The conception of God's immanence, the principle of growth, the fundamental ethical relation of man to God, have all helped to bring about the conviction that God's method with men is that of building up intelligent volition through divine unfolding. They see that it is perilous to the whole cause of the Christian religion to take a relation so intensely practical and personal as religion ought to be and look upon it in a superficial, mechanical, and magical fashion. The modern mind resents the obtrusiveness of the revival method. The relation of a man to his God is so deep, personal, intimate and sacred a thing that the self-respecting man shrinks from dragging it out into the public gaze. No man of really fine feeling carries his heart upon his coat sleeve or flaunts to the crowd the most sacred things in his own life, nor dare he find it in his heart to press or demand such a public revelation from others. A man who deeply reverences personality will not do that. The more deeply sensitive he is to the eternal significance of the religion of the considerate Jesus, the less will he be inclined to force his way into the secret recesses of another's heart. If there is one thing a man of fine grain dreads in himself and in others, it is this trifling play upon, this ruthless overriding of, the personality of another. A deepening sense is growing upon thoughtful men of the sacredness of the personal relation between a man and his God. It is not a thing for public gaze. It is not a question solved in a moment by the waving of a handkerchief. It is not a matter of unrestrained emotion or dramatic convulsion. The kingdom of God came not as the Jews expected through some cataclysmic stroke out of the sky. It came as the seed that ore first the blade, then the ear, then the full corn in the ear. It grew as all fellowship grows, as altruw relationships ripen. See how unobtrusively God works in the human hearts. See how unobtrusively Jesus led men into the Kingdom! If we understand the method of Jesus aright it conforms to the truth promulgated by modern psychology that strong character appears normally in the growth of calm and disciplined habits of religion. The secret of the Kingdom lies in the little child and the principle of growth.

"With the passing away of the revival will evangelism disappear? By no means. A new type of evangelism will come. It will be the evangelism of Jesus. There will be less effort to gather immense crowds. It will know nothing of emotional stampeding. There will be no overriding of the will and the reason. There will be no obtrusive pressing of the sacred matter of man's relation to God under the spell of excitement or contagion. Its message will not appeal to fear, but to love, a love that is ethical and spiritual and that will inspire men to action. It will be social as well as individual."—Literary Digest.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is a good thing for the world that there is an occasional Lincoln. His real greatness consisted in his integrity. He was a truly great man.

"There was a vigorous revolt in the Maritime Provinces when it was proposed to alienate the Intercolonial Railway—a revolt so pronounced that the government hastened to announce that this would not be done."—The Montreal Witness.

The Laurier administration is a wonderful affair.

According to an agreement between the city of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. and John O'Boyle, representing a company of capitalists, arrangements were made for the construction of a dry dock and ship building yards work to commence with the opening of spring. Initial expenses to be $500,000.—Monetary Times.

If a determined campaign for shorter Sessions is made by the Press of Canada they will have to come. This would result in good in many ways. Thousands and thousands of dollars would be saved to the country as the indemnity to members is a mere bagatelle compared to the daily expense of a session. The Ministers would be able to devote, at least, half the year to the work of their department, etc. etc. Mr. Lewis is moving in the right direction.

Havelock, Feb 12—A most delightful time was spent at the "At Home" in the Opera House on Friday evening by the young ladies of town. The Sprague orchestra of Belleville supplied excellent music. At midnight a dainty lunch was served in the lunch rooms. The event was a great success and the young ladies are deserving of great credit in the management.

Miss Bessie Rose and Mr Harold Mathison were the unfortunates in a thrilling experience on Monday evening in which they narrowly escaped drowning. While skating on the b marsh north of the Park skating rink the ice gave away and they experienced a cold bath. Sinking until the water reached their necks they got a very insecure hold on some branches nearby and after a desperate struggle on account of the mud in the bottom they were able to reach the shore.

The marriage of Miss Parcels, daughter of Mr Josh Parcels of town to Mr. Davis Rogers of Belmont, took place at Norwood on February 3rd, the ceremony being conducted by Rev Mr. Adams.

A large number were present and after the installation ceremonies those present partook of a most delicious oyster supper and with songs and speeches a most delightful evening was spent.

The "sand" house in the Canadian Pacific railway yards is certainly having bad luck lately. About a week ago a coal car went over the switch and nearly demolished it and early on Wednesday morning the fire alarm brought out the brigade to extinguish a blaze that had started in it.

The funeral of Mr David Youmans of Cordova, who died on Feb 5th at the age of 72 years, took place on Sunday last to the family burying ground and was largely attended.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Family's Misfortunes.

Port Arthur, Feb. 15.—Alfred Stohr left his home on Dawson road on Jan. 3 with three days' provisions to explore for land and has not been seen since. It is believed he became lost in the woods and perished.

Stohr was a highly educated Frenchman, having once been professor in a French college, and was fluent in five languages. Misfortune followed him from the time of the San Francisco earthquake, in which he lost practically all his means. He leaves a wife and three children destitute.

To Banquet Old-Timers.

Ottawa, Feb. 15.—The sixth annual banquet of the Canadian Club will be given in honor of surviving Senators and members of the first Parliament of the Dominion, including Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. Edward Blake, Sir John Carling, Hon. John Costigan, Hon. Senator William Miller, Hon. Senator William Ross, Hon. A. R. McClellan, Hon. James Young and Sir James Grant.

Enthuses Women.

London, Feb. 15.—One outcome of the play "An Englishman's Home," which all London is discussing, is an attempt to form a corps of territorial nurses. It is suggested that young society women tear a few hours away from bridge, learn the elements of nursing and form themselves into companies as part of a volunteer corps to be manned by their brothers and sweethearts. The idea is meeting with considerable encouragement.

Passes Are Barred.

Brockville, Feb. 15.—The Conservative Association of the Township of Lansdowne has placed itself on record as being opposed to delegates to political conventions accepting railway passes or having any of their expenses paid.

As far as the Lansdowne Association is concerned delegates to conventions in future who are known to be offenders in this respect will be disqualified from voting.

Undertaker Spoils Suicide.

New York, Feb. 15.—The prompt appearance of the undertaker upset the plans of Frank Stevenson, a cloak salesman, to commit suicide.

The undertaker received a note from Stevenson to call for the body, and when he reached the apartment the salesman was found unconscious lying in bed with a gas tube in his mouth. Stevenson was taken to the hospital where it was said he may recover.

A Vice-President's Suicide.

Paris, Feb. 15.—Confirmation has been obtained of the death of Dr. Luis De Estevez, one time vice-president of Cuba, which occurred here a week ago and was self-inflicted.

Dr. Estevez never recovered from the shock caused by the death of his wife, to whom he was passionately devoted.

A New Deep Channel.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A deep water channel from Chicago to Buffalo via the Soo, is in contemplation. In a few days a measure will be introduced in Congress providing, in brief, for the complete survey and perhaps for the construction of such a waterway.

Behind the project are practically all of the shipping, manufacturing and laboring interests on the great lakes.

Contracts already have been let for the construction of a lock at the "Soo," which will accommodate three of the largest vessels on the lakes at one time. The depth of water over the sills of the new lock will be 26 feet and the cost of the project will be approximately $7,000,000.

Hon. Mr. Templeman Busy.

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 15.—Hon. Wm. Templeman, who returned yesterday from Prince Rupert, declared that public improvements in the north would be taken up without delay.

After obtaining the views of Canadians in the fishing industry, he stated that he was quite alive to the necessity of a more adequate fisheries protection in northern waters. He promised his hearty support to any scheme tending to make Vancouver one of the best and safest ports on the Pacific, and urges the sending of a deputation to Ottawa. He advocates the establishment of harbor commission.

'Quakes to Continue Two Years.

Reggio, Feb. 15.—Earth shocks, more or less severe, have been experienced here throughout the day.

Saturday evening Prof. Alfani, the director of the Florence observatory, while just about to step into a train for Naples was thrown violently to the ground by what seemed to be an unusually severe shock. Peasants rushed to assist him to his feet and they anxiously enquired concerning the dangers of further earthquakes, and he replied:

"Be calm, my children, that was a 'quake of the fifth degree. You must not be frightened by these shocks, for we will have them for two years more."

Censor For Phonographs.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—The censorship in Russia has been extended to phonograph records, which must be submitted for examination before being placed on sale.

The step was entailed by the importation of a large number of records bearing the prohibited Russian revolutionary funeral hymn and other seditious songs and speeches, many being prepared in America. These, the police discovered, were being plaeyd generally in the lower class beer and tea halls, most of which have instruments for the entertainment of their patrons.

THE LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN PROGRESSING

The Matter Appearing in This Department is Furnished by the Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for its Publication.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON'S MEETING

The interest taken in the local option contest in Peterboro was shown yesterday afternoon by the fact that in spite of the stormy weather the temperance meeting, held in the Crystal, was well attended. "These meetings," said the gentleman who presided, "are held in the interests of the temperance movement. The temperance question is the greatest question before the world to-day. It is evident thata the people of Peterboro realise this, and are in earnest, when, in spite of the storm, we have such a good attendance here this afternoon. In Peterborough we now have a chance to rid ourselves of a burden that the people of the United States are ridding themselves of, and that has weighed down the citizens of Europe for years. There is no limit to what can be said against the evils of the liquor traffic, although there is a limit to what people have done to overcome them.'

Outspoken Statements

"When men like our chairman," said Rev. Mr. Riddiford, of the Park street Baptist church, the speaker of the afternoon, "come forward and take a stand on this question, it is a sign that the liquor traffic is doomed. All we need is the assistance of influential men, men controlling the financial institutions of the country, to drive it out. The truest and highest sentiments men can follow are those that come from the seat of the affections. When the liquor sellers take our brothers and cast them down into the gutter I say that it is time for us to take steps to save our brothers by banishing that which is the cause of their downfall."

After Money Only

"If we could take the twenty one men in Peterboro who sell liquor," continued Mr. Riddiford, "and stand them here in a row and were we to ask them why they are in the business they would tell us that they sell liquor for the sake of the money there is in it.

"Local option is a success, but the men who do not want it won't see it, and there are none so blind as those who will not see. In spite of all that has been said to the contrary, it is proving a success in Owen Sound. Every consistent church member in Owen Sound is in favor of it.

The Three Fifths Vote

"The Government in Toronto, I believe, is doing its best to enforce the liquor law. Nevertheless it made a mistake when it enacted that legislation which requires a three fifths majority to carry local option. It is an unjust restriction and as British subjects we should object to it. When the deputation composed of liquor men from all parts of the province, waited on the government to ask for favourable legislation, they should have sung that song, "See the hosts of sin advancing, Satan leading on."

Should Defend Themselves

"I would like to see the hotel keepers of Peterborough come here to defend themselves. When I was at the Peterborough fair last fall I did not see any exhibit by the hotel keepers, although there were exhibits there by our merchants and farmers. The hotel keepers did not make an exhibit of their product at the St. Louis Exposition. They are ashamed of it. They try to keep it out of sight. Those who see the products of the saloons are the wives and children who wait at home for their drunken fathers and husbands to come staggering or perhaps falling in. There are hotels in Peterborough where wives have gone and pled with the proprietors for permission to take their drunken husbands home.

Intimidating the Milkmen

"Already we hear that some of the milkmen have been told by hotelkeepers that they won't buy their milk if they support local option. A cause that cannot win without resorting to intimidation does not deserve to win. It is not fair play for one man to try and force another to vote for him. Men who have any spirit will resist such attempts to gain their support.

The Christian's Duty

"Every man who believes in Jesus Christ believes in temperance. He must or he does not believe in Christian principles. How many here believe that Jesus Christ would conduct a barroom? How many believe that Christ would support the liquor traffic and all the misery that follows in its train? If we are Christians we must go out with Christian principles and not be afraid to show our colors on such a question as this for fear of losing a few business dollars. The Bible tells us to seek first the kingdom of God and that if we do all things will be added unto us. If every Christian voter in Peterboro will go to the poll and cast his vote right we will drive the bar oout of Peterborough.

Pulling us Down

"Too long we have allowed the liquor interests to drag us down to their level by claiming that if we vote to do away with the bars we will lose the money that is derived from them, or that our business will suffer. We must not lower our Christian principles by listening to such arguments. If we will only live up to our Christian principles we will never allow such considerations to affect us, and we will take our stand on this question as Christians should.

Liquor Statistics

"If you will look up the liquor statistics for last year you will see why the liquor traffic should be driven out of Peterboro. This is a matter in which our Lord, like Nelson expects every Christian to do his duty. From the youngest to the oldest we must do our best to drive the saloons out of this city. Applause.

WOMEN WILL HAVE CHARGE

Next Sunday afternoon the service will be in charge of the ladies. Mrs. W. D. Scott will preside. Five minute addresses will be given by ladies representing the different churches. All women having votes are especially invited to attend. There will be an orchestra in attendance. At the meeting yesterday afternoon, a duet was rendered by Messrs. F. and J. Miller.

CAN GROW BEST WHEAT ON EARTH

One of the Reasons Why Westerners are Proud of Their Country

Both the story and the success of Purity Flour begin in the rich black heavy soil, the gumbo, as it is called, that characterizes the plains of Western Canada. After examination by the world's foremost scientists, this soil has been proclaimed the richest on earth's surface in every constituent that goes to the making of wheat. Western Canada must therefore be looked to for wheat by all the wheat-eating countries that want the best flour, or require full, hard wheat. So that the reason for the existence of the great St. Boniface mill of the Western Canada Flour Mills Company lies in the fact that it stands at the door of the provinces which possess this rich, wheat soil.

The St. Boniface Mill is one of the show places of Winnipeg. Among millers it is famous as one of the most perfectly equipped large modern mills in the world. In extent the property covers over 12 acres. The mills, which were completed in 1906, cost over $1,000,000. The mill proper is seven stories in height, with a floor space of 75,000 square feet; and apart from the mill there are 14 tanks with a capacity, including the workhouse, of over 500,000 bushels; an elevator that has a capacity of 45,000 bushels, and an electric power plant from which is distributed power, light and heat for the entire establishment.

The mechanical equipment is nothing short of marvellous. Its amazing completeness may be estimated from the fact that in the huge seven story building of the mill itself there are less than ten men employed; the entire work being carried on by automatic machinery.

Murder In Chili; Trial In Germany.

Santiago, Chile, Feb. 15.—The feeling against Chancellor Beckert of the German legation, who was arrested at Chilian on the charge of murdering a servant of the legation and afterwards setting fire to the building to hide the crime, is intense in Santiago, and an attempt may be made to lynch him.

Baron Von Bodeman, the German Minister, may exercise the right of sending Beckert to Germany for trial on the ground that the alleged crime was committed on German territory.

Situation In Liberia.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 15.—The State Department is considering the question of despatching an American war vessel to Liberia, where alarm is felt for the safety of British and French citizens employed in the customs service of the republic.

Already the British Government has despatched a war vessel to Monrovia and also a company of soldiers.

The present situation, according to official advices, may result in the passing of its 40,000 miles of territory into alien hands.

Moral Plays In England.

London, Feb. 15.—A noteworthy dramatic movement seems under way in villages and towns in England.

In a number of instances village folk and even country rustics have taken in hand the production of moral or Shakespearean plays. The inspiration of the movement probably is found in numerous pageants which have become the vogue.

France is to spend $160,000,000 on her navy.

If the old bank premises were purchased a large sum would have to be spent in fitting them up.

ENJOYABLE EVENING AT THE NORMAL

Literary Club of the School Met on Friday Night---Splendid Programme

The fortnightly meeting of the Literary Club of the Normal School on Friday was of more than usual interest Instead of holding it at the close of school at four o'clock it was held at eight o'clock in the evening. It was the first time that the building has been lighted, the installation of the electric lights only recently having been completed. It was therefore the first evening affair of any kind that has been held in the new Normal school. The lights in each room were thrown on, presenting to one as he approached the building, a grand illumination.

The students were out en masse and a very profitable and enjoyable evening was spent. Mr. Frank Austin, president of the Literary Society, was in the chair. An opening duet, splendidly rendered, was given by Misses McCann and McGaw. A vocal solo by Miss Helen Davies was then much enjoyed and so insistent was the applause accorded her that she was obliged to respond to an encore.

An essay on Sir Walter Scott's life was read by Miss Nellie Totten. It was a very interesting and instructive paper, showing careful and intelligent preparation on the part of Miss Totten.

A vocal solo was given by Miss Free afterwhich Mr. Sterling Waterman gave a reading.

At the conclusion refreshments were served and a vote of thanks passed to the Principal, Mr Duncan Walker, for his kindness in providing the refreshments.

OBITUARY

DIED IN FLORIDA.

The Review has received a copy of the St. Lucie Tribune, published at Fort Pierce, Florida, which contains an obituary notice of the late Geo. Hazelhurst who will be remembered by some of the older residents of Peterborough.

The notice is as follows;—

We regret to chronicle the sudden death of George Hazelhurst, of West Palm Beach, which occurred at the Everett hotel in Jacksonville on the night of Saturday, January 23rd. Mr. Haselhurst had gone to Jacksonville some days previously for the purpose of getting treatment for his little grandson, whose eye had been injured. He had spent an active day about the city, and had retired in fair health. In the morning, however, it was found that death had claimed him while he slept. For some time his health had been failing and it is supposed he had in some way overtaxed, resulting in exhaustion and heart failure.

Mr. Hazelhurst was a Canadian by birth, coming to Florida on account of bronchial trouble over thirty years ago. His first location was at Apopka, where successive freezes exhausted his resources and discouraged his efforts to make an orange grove. In 189[illegible] he came to Indian River, desiring to locate near his friends and former schoolmates, Captain and Mrs. W. J. Nesbitt. He resided some years in Melbourne, from which base he executed many of the first large building contracts on the river. He started a palmetto fiber industry in Melbourne, which, however, owing to foreign competition, was not successful. For the past ten years Mr. Hazelhurst has been located at West Palm Beach, where his ability as an architect and builder has left many evidences.

His was an extremely bright and energetic mind and those who knew him best enjoyed his friendship and mourn the loss of one whom this growing country can ill spare. There survive him in Florida his loving wife and son and married daughter, Mrs. T. C. Nicholson, of Fort Pierce. The temporary interment was made in Jacksonville, from where the remains will be taken to Canada at a later date. The sympathy of the community goes out to this family in their bereavement.

"RICHARD LALOR SHEIL" SUBJECT OF AN ADDRESS

By Rev. Father Galvin on Friday Evening Before the Ladies' Literary Society

A literary treat was given the members of the Ladies' Literary Society of St Peter's TAS. on Friday evening when Rev. Father Galvin gave them an exceptionally interesting address on the life and incidentally the times of Richard Lalor Sheil, one of the greatest Irish orators of the 19th century. He was not the greatest man of his time, as he lived in the days of the famous Daniel O'Connell, but he was a politician of the very first rank and his labors in behalf of the Irish people place him as one of the greatest of Irish patriots.

He was born on the 16th of August in the year 1791, the year which is marked by the organization of the United Irishmen a society whose aim was the bettering of the conditions of the Irish people. Sheil's early education was received from a French priest, who had been forced to flee from his country during the French Revolution, but later attended a school at Kensington and then entered Stonyhurst College where he decided to study law. In 1807 when 16 years of age, he entered Trinity College, Dublin, to begin his law studies, but before he graduated, his father failed and he was forced to rely upon himself for an education and for some time followed up literature. He wrote dramas which were considered great successes and won for himself a considerable sum of money—$14,000.

In 1814, he was admitted to the bar, but was soon attracted to the political arena, and strange to say, for years after he entered it, he opposed the great O'Connell. However O'Connell was opposed for a number of years by the best part of the Irish nation.—they did not oppose the objects he had in view, but his method of obtaining them.

In 1822 a change was effected and Sheil and O'Connell joined forces. Such was the impression produced by Mr. Sheil that he was selected in 1825 conjointly with Mr. O'Connell to attend at the bar of the House of Commons, to plead against the Bill for the suppression of the Catholic Association. Jus. at this time the Duke of York, who was then heir to the English throne, declared in the House of Lords, that if he became King of England he would never consent to the emancipation of the Irish people. At this Sheil became very indignant and his fierce assault on the Duke of York was very prejudicial to himself, but it afforded a strong evidence of the violent resentment which the conduct of the Duke of York had created in Ireland, and was, so far of public use. When, however, the death of the Duke was hourly expected, Mr Sheil made a speech in which he expressed his sorrow that he had been betrayed into the use of language so reprehensible as that which he had employed.

In 1831 Sheil was elected representative for the borough of Milbourne Port and delivered his first speech in the House of Commons on the Reform Bill.

In 1832 he was returned for the County of Tipperary and made himself famous by his speeches against the Coercion Bill. In 1841 he changed the constituency which he represented and presented himself as a candidate for Dungarvan, which he represented until retiring from Parliament in 1850. During these years he delivered his most eloquent speeches—his speech upon the Income Tax, being regarded as eminently successful. He pleaded the cause of Ireland in strong terms and succeeded in winning valuable concessions for the Irish people.

In 1851 Mr. Sheil was appointed Plenipotentiary at the Court of Tuscany, but died on the 25th of May and was buried in the Church of San Michele.

Richard Lalor Sheil's speeches were masterpieces and in all the qualities which go to make up a true patriot, he was not deficient.

During the evening Miss Kate M. McGrath occupied the chair and presented the following musical programme:—

Instrumental duet—Miss H Miller and Miss V Fraser.

BETTER EDUCATION FOR MEN ENTERING THE MINISTRY

Educational Sunday Yesterday in the Methodist Churches—Splendid Sermons by Rev. Dr. Graham and Prof. Bowles of Victoria University

Devotional Sunday was observed yesterday in the Methodist churches of the city. Special preachers were here, including Rev. J. W. Graham, D.D., Secretary of the Methodist church; Prof. Bowles of Victoria College Toronto, and Rev. R. Burns, of Tweed.

Rev. Mr. Graham preached at George street Methodist church in the morning and at Charlotte street church in the evening. Prof. Bowles was at Charlotte street church in the morning and at George street church in the evening. Rev. Mr. Burns was at Mark street church at both services.

In the morning Rev Mr. Graham was greeted by a large congregation and he delivered an excellent discourse on the educational work of the church. His theme was the higher education of young men for the ministry and he demonstarted to the congregation the advisability of giving the students a better education. It was in fact a necessity in the twentieth century, as ministers to-day in nearly every congregation were preaching to many college graduates and in order to maintain their poisition as leaders among men they must themselves be men of culture. The reverend gentleman also touched upon the new scheme adopted by the Church for educating the students. The old plan of making a loan to poor (financially) students had been discarded, and instead the young men were given some line of work to do whereby they could earn money to put themselves through college. This cost the Methodist church a little more, but it gave much better results, as the young men put a higher value upon their education. The speaker stated that he admired young men who would go out selling mining stock or other things so long as it was legitimate, in order to earn their schooling. The new principle also taught economy, self-denial and many other good characteristics.

The contributions from the two churches last year were just double what they had been the year previous, and the speaker hoped for even better things in the future. The financial reports were distributed in the pews as were also envelopes for further contributions between now and April 1st, the end of the educational year.

Mr. W. G. Morrow is secretary of the movement in Peterborough, and all donations will be placed in his hands.

MOCK PARLIAMENT PROVES A STRONG DRAWING CARD

Large Attendance at Meeting of Young Conservative Club—Inaugural Session Proves Exceedingly Interesting

There was a record attendance at the Young Conservative Club on Saturday night, the attraction being the mock parliament. Considerable enthusiasm has been manifested by the members and the opening of the House was looked forward to with great interest.

The floor of the House was filled when the Lieut Governor, (Mr. Elmo Rogue) attended by his escorts, entered.

The House at once proceeded to the election of a speaker. Mr. Lawson Kennedy was unanimously elected and was formally conducted to the chair by his mover and seconder—the Prime Minister and Leader of the Opposition.

The Speech from the Throne was then read by the Lieutenant Governor. The Lieutenant Governor in his speech welcomed the members to their first Parliament and stated that, whilst their duties would be arduous he had confidence that the result of their deliberations would be conducive to the best interest of the people of the Province.

He then acknowledged his thankfulness for the bounteous harvest; regretted the temporary commercial depression and trusted that better times were near.

The speech intimated that the Government intended to introduce an Act to amend and extend the Franchise Act with the object of permitting women to vote in Parliamentary elections and to sit in the Legislature.

The reply to the Speech from the Throne was moved by the Honorable, Provincial Treasurer, Mr W Mowry, and seconded by the Minister of Education (Mr J. McKenzie) and a surprise was sprung on the House by the moving of an amendment to the reply by the member for East Peterborough (Mr. Geo. Evans), seconded by the Leader of the Opposition. The amendment regretted that His Honor, the Lieutenant Governor, had omitted to state that it was the intention of the Government to bring in a Bill authorizing the city of Peterborough to elect their municipal representatives by the ward system.

There was a very warm debate on the reply and amendment—a large number of the members taking part.

An objection that the amendment was out of order was over-ruled by the Speaker.

At a late hour a division was taken with the result that the amendment was defeated. In the first division of the Session the Government was therefore sustained; but the majority was narrow.

A rule of the House is that the Speaker leave the chair at ten o'clock. It was nearly that hour when the vote was taken, and there was only time for questions being put and for the first reading of the Franchise Bill when the adjournment until next Saturday evening at eight o'clock was made.

The Enfranchisement of Women Act was introduced by the Minister of Public Works (Mr S W Lowry) and it was read for the first time. The second reading will come up at the next sitting and the Opposition will move the six months hoist. Every effort will be put forward by both parties and both are confident.

Prime Minister—Mr W E Murphy.
Provincial Secretary — Mr J W Chambers.
Provincial Treasurer—Mr M Mowry
Minister of Education — Mr. J. McKenzie.
Minister of Lands and Mines —Mr. W Lundy.
Minister of Public Works — Mr. S W Lowry.
Attorney General—Mr F Ray.
Minister of Agriculture — Mr J. M Gardiner.

Mr. George Benton is Clerk of the House.

The Minister of Agriculture gave notice of his intention to introduce a Bill to tax bachelors which will come up for a first reading at the next meeting.

It is very probable that the House will divide next Saturday on the Womens Franchise Act and the whips on both sides earnestly request every available member to be present as the vote is expected to be very close.

The first meeting of the Session was a marked success and augurs well for the future—the only regret the club has is that it did not start the mock parliament earlier in the season.

The British Government may appeal tothe country on the Lords' right of veto.

SPORTING NEWS

CHARLIE KAISER AND HIS MANAGER ARE HERE FOR BOUT WITH HURTUBISE

Charlie Kaiser, of Oswego, N.Y., the wrestler with the wonderful record is here for his match with Hurtubise tomorrow night. He is accompanied by his manager, Mr Walter W Wray. Kaiser has bumped up against mat artists of all sizes and abilities and is one of the most successful men in the game. He has never lost a straight match and is ready to go out of his class at any time as is shown by the fact that he is matched against Hurtubise who has 40 pounds of weight on the American grappler.

Kaiser is staying at the Oriental and the Review had a talk with him this morning. He says he is in the very best of shape and strips at 158 pounds. He is confident of being able to get the two falls on the Peterborough giant in the hour despite the latter being in fine trim for a hard battle.

The Oswego man is 24 years of age, and has been wrestling for four years. He competed in the amateur tournament at Toronto four years ago when Hurtubise carried off the heavyweight honors. Kaiser was in the lightweight division. All of the four Kaiser boys are inclined towards work requiring physical strength and skill two of them are wrestlers, George Kaiser, of Rochester being a candidate for world's lightweight honors, one is a circus performer and the other is a professional basketball player.

The facility with which the opponent of Hurtubise can handle big men is shown by his defeat of Jack McGrath, of Norwich, Conn., last Monday. McGrath weighs 210 pounds but Kaiser beat him easily in straight falls.

Among others he has met, Kaiser has had matches with the following who have figured in matches here; Fritz Mohl, Hassan Abdallah, Yankee Rogers, George Kennedy and Tommy Devlin (Bobby Reekes) and has a victory credited to him against all, having beaten Rogers in a handicap match when the big heavyweight was to have thrown Kaiser five times in an hour. He failed to get a fall, however.

Kaiser was thrown twice by Frank Gotch in a handicap bout, but it took the world's champion 33 1-2 minutes to get the falls.

The other men who have been mentioned as appearly locally the Oswego crack has beaten in straight falls. He is one of the busiest men in the mat business and is going constantly during the wrestling season. Kaiser is a general faovrite on account of his brilliant work and unassuming manner.

It is of interest to note that when Kaiser started on his professional career Pete Thompson a son of Mr. Peter Thompson of this city and for many years a resident of Peterborough, went out with him. Thompson wrestled and also acted as Kaiser's manager. He passed up the wrestling however after he had been in the game for a while.

A DOUBLE HEADER IN THE CHURCH LEAGUE TO-MORROW

There will be two games in the senior church league to-morrow night. St. Andrew's will stack up against Park street at Knox rink from 7 to 8, and George street and Knox will clash at Park street rink from 8 to 9. Both games should be keenly contested and a loss for either St. Andrew's or Knox would practically put them out of the running.

It is altogether likely that St. Andrew's team will have a slight shakin up in the line-up. Stanton is likely to be put at point and Dormer may be played in centre. The teams will probably line up like this for the Park street—St. Andrew's game—

ST. ANDREW'S.
Goal—Patterson
Point—Stanton.
C. point—Flanagan.
Rover—Rae
Centre—Dormer
R. wing—Currie.

PARK STREET.
Goal—Kittingbeck
Point—Barrie
C. point—Gillespie
Rover—Johnston
Centre—Lemmis
R. wing—Reid
L. Wing—Gilbert

George street's line-up for the game with Knox is not known yet, but Knox's team is given as follows—

Goal—Crowe
Point—Reid
C. point—Henderson.
Rover—Bartley
Centre—Hillier
Right wing—Gaffey
L. wing—Denoon

BOXING AND BAG PUNCHING WILL BE PRELIMINARIES

The preliminaries to the Kaiser-Hurtubise bout at the roller rink to-morrow night will be interesting. Bobby Chandler, of Toronto, the clever 115 pound champion, will meet George Lillie, of this city.

Jack McDonough will give a bag punching exhibition. Jack is an expert in punishing the horsehide and puts the leather through all kinds of revolutions and performances. It is some time since he has punched the bag in public and his turn will prove a very interesting card.

Another boxing bout of merit will be arranged, and if so announcement of it will be made tomorrow.

ALL SAINTS' TEAM WON AT KEENE

The All Saints' Church league team journeyed to Keene Saturday and succeeded in defeatin the juniors of that town. At half time the score was 5—1 in favor of All Saints' and 6—3 at full time. Campbell in goal, Taylor at centre and Bovre at right wing playe dgood hockey for Keene. Every man on All Saints' played good hockey, especially Gilbert in goal. The game was rough towards the end. The teams lined up as follows—

KEENE—
Goal—Campbell
Point—McIntyre
C. point—Roach
Rover—Jillott
Centre—Taylor
R. win—Boure
L. win—Edwards

ALL SAINTS—
Goal—Gilbert
Point—Price
C. point—Allen
Rover—Lawfield
Centre—Flowers
L. win—Smeaton
R. win—Lebar

Mr. McIntyre refereed the game to the satisfaction of both teams.

Dr. Chalmers Prentice, of New York, lost his suit for $250,000 against the North German Lloyd for damages because his wife was buried at sea.

ECK FANCIES FRED SIMPSON

His Manager Thinks Him the Peer of Any Distance Men

Tom Eck, who is at present in town, is very enthusiastic over the trials shown by Fred Simpson, whom he is now managing, and believes him to be the peer of any of the middle or long-distance runners.

Eck says that Simpson ran fifteen miles 382 yards against a wind in 1.27.02 and that under favorable conditions he can do the distance in 1.26.20. Simpson, always an easily handled Indian, and a strong, game runner, is improving daily, his manager says. He is anxious to go anything from ten miles to the Marathon distance with any of the professional runners.

The Mail and Empire bowlers took three straight games from a team from the local newspaper offices at the Peterborough Bowling Club alleys on Saturday night. The Toronto trundlers were well pleased with the local alleys and with the way they were treated in Peterborough.

SPORTING TALK

It is good to see the wise policy being followed this season by the sporting editors of the Peterborough and Lindsay newspapers. Time was—not so very long ago either—when the men who handed out the sporting dope, let their loyalty to the home team run away sometimes with their better judgment. Of course, newspapers of town or city should be loyal to the home team, unless something is very badly wrong, but this loyalty should not make the sporting editors blind to the merits of the team of another place on the map. It is pleasing to note that the Peterborough-Lindsay sporting writers, had, with one or two exceptions, given impartial reports of the matches between the Peterborough and Lindsay teams this winter.

Unfair reports and unfair statements in the newspapers are the causes of a lot of the bitterness engendered. It is gratifying to see the people around these parts getting away from "tank down" ideas regarding sport.

Tom Longboat did a mighty dishonorable thing when he broke his contract with Pat Powers, if he did so, and it is reported that he jumped the management of the New York magnate. In spite of his ability as a runner he will lose a lot of respect that people have had for him. for a "contract hurdler," either in the theatrical line or in the athletic world, is looked down upon, and justly so. The Indian is credited with saying that because he is an Indian nobody has any claim on him. This is quite true, but does not minimize in the least a dishonorable action. And a man who would break a contract would not be above suspicion in a deal where throwing a race was sugested.

HOCKEY

Bobcaygeon Beat Buckhorn

It was a rather interesting game of hockey played here last Tuesday night when the Buckhorn boys came up to give the gray boys a chase and things started by Buckhorn scoring three goals in succession. That didn't sound like 18—0 for Bobcaygeon as it was last year, and the local club secretary began to look dubious, as did some others. But things cheered up a bit and the half ended 5—3 for Bobcaygeon. Play started fairly fast after the interval, and it was pretty much end to end work, with Bobcaygeon finding the nets until things hummed to the tune of 8—4. But Buckhorn didn't like the look of the score board that way and changed things playing up well and ending the game only two goals behind. Final score 9—7 in favor of Bobcaygeon. All through it was a game worth watching, ad the outcome was always just a little bit in doubt. The management of both teams regret the delay in starting the game, but it seemed unavoidable. and the game was played with six men a side. Buckhorn fellows are a good bunch, the kind all players like to meet, and an enjoyable time was put in by everybody.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

WRESTLING

Milwaukee, Feb 12—Yussiff Mahmout, the Turk, faced three men in the Hippodrome tonight and threw their all in considerably less than the hour specified. Pearl Trueman, scheduled to meet the Turk, with Tom Connors and Ed Garson, failed to appear, and Ed Martinson, of Chicago, appeared in his place, staying the pace longer than either of the two other men. Cartin the instructor of the Milwaukee Athletic Club, and a former English army captain, lasted 8 minutes 11 seconds. Martinson was next and held out for 12.25 while Connors kept in the game for 10.35.

HENDERSON BEATEN.

Montreal, Feb. 13. — Upwards of four thousand persons crowded into Sohmer Park last night to welcome back the French wrestler, Raoul de Rouen, who has been away on tour for over seven weeks. The Frenchman was given a big reception which he acknowledged by defeating Emil —otherwise known as "Rough House" Henderson in straight falls.

The match was at mixed styles. The first bout, which was at Graeco-Roman, was won by de Rouen in 13 minutes, while the second, at catch-as-catch-can, also went to de Rouen this time in 12 minutes.

De Rouen was in much better condition in every way than when he left here just before Christmas. The thirty matches, with constant training in between, which he had been through in the interval, reduced his weight by 20 pounds, and he now tips the scales at a little over 220 pounds instead of 243. Big, strong, and in fine shape, he had no difficulty in proving his superiority over Henderson.

ANOTHER CHANCE

Chicago, Feb 12—Chicago and not Kansas City will get the wrestling match between Frank Gotch and Raoul De Rouen and it will be held at the Seventh Regiment Armory one week from tomorrow night. The affair is to be the best two falls out of three, catch as catch can style

It was only through permission of Assistant Chief Schuettler that the local promoters were able to card this go. De Rouen was barred by the Chief for his roughness in his recent bout with Mahmout. Upon promises made by Manager Kennedy that the Frenchman would not become violent or lose his temper in the match with Gotch, the Chief decided to give him one more trial. It was at first thought that the bout would be wrestled Kansas City but superior inducements were offered here.

THE RING

New York, Feb 13— Abe Attell, champion featherweight of the world and Jem Driscoll, champion featherweight of England, will meet in a ten-round contest at the National Athletic Club next Friday night. The match was arranged this afternoon.

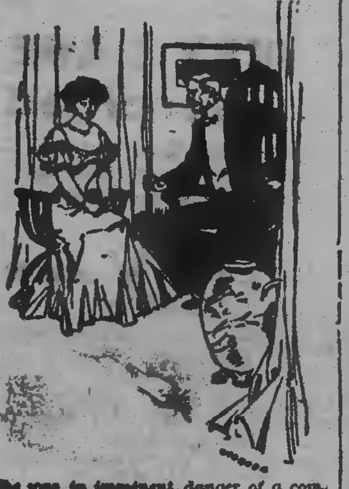
"It's quite like a family party. How splendid," she said to Graydon, with a quick glance in the direction of James Bansemer and David Cable, who stood conversing together, and withdrawing her soft, white hand which she had put forth to meet his in friendly clasp. "It's too good to be true," she went on in a happy, spontaneous, almost confiding manner.

The two fathers looked on in amused silence, the one full of admiration and pride for the clean, vigorous manhood of his son awaiting to receive welcome from the adorable Jane; the other, long since conscious of the splendid beauty of his daughter, mentally declaring that she never had appeared so well as when standing beside this gallant figure.

Other guests arrived before Mrs. Cable made her appearance in the drawing room. She had taken more time than usual with her toilet. It was impossible for her to hide the fact that the strain was telling on her perceptibly. The face that looked back into her eyes from the mirror on her dressing table was not the fresh, warm one that had needed so little care a few short months before. There was a heaviness about the eyes, and there were strange, persistent lines gathering under the soft, white tissues of her skin. But when she at last stepped into the presence of her guests, with ample apologies for her tardiness, she was the picture of life and nerve. So much for the excellent resources of her will.



She was in imminent danger of a complete breakdown.

Bansemer was the last to present himself for her welcome, lingering in the background until the others had passed.

"I'm so glad you could come. Indeed, it's a pleasure to"— She spoke clearly and distinctly as she extended her hand, but as she looked squarely into his eyes she thought him the ugliest man she ever had seen. Every other woman in the party was saying to herself that James Bansemer was strikingly handsome.

"Most pleasures come late in life to some of us," he returned gallantly, and even Graydon Bansemer wished that he could have said it.

"Your father is a perfect dear," Jane said to him softly. "It was not what he said just then that pleased me, but what he left unsaid."

"Father's no end of a good fellow, Jane. I'm glad you admire him."

"You are not a bit like him," she said reflectively.

"Thanks," he exclaimed. "You are not very flattering."

"But you are a different sort of a good fellow; that's what I mean. Don't be absurd," she cried in some little confusion.

"I'm like my mother, they say, though I don't remember her at all."

"Oh, how terrible it must be never to have known one's mother!" said she tenderly.

"Or one's father," added James Bansemer, who was passing at that instant with Mrs. Cable. "Please include the father, Miss Cable," he pleaded, with mock seriousness. Turning to Mrs. Cable, who had stopped beside him, he added, "You, the most charming of mothers, will defend the fathers, won't you?"

"With all my heart," she answered so steadily that he was surprised.

"I will include the father, Mr. Bansemer," said Jane, "if it is guaranteed that he possibly could be as nice and dear as one's mother. In that case I think it would be, oh, dreadfully terrible never to have known him."

"And to think, Miss Cable, of the unfortunates who have known neither father nor mother," said Bansemer senior, slowly, relentlessly. "How much they have missed of life and love!"

"That can be offset somewhat by the thought of the poor parents who never have known a son or a daughter," said Jane.

"How can they be parents, then?" demanded Bobby Rigby, coming up in time.

"Go away, Bobby," she said scornfully.

"That's a nice way to treat logic," he grumbled, ambling on in quest of Miss Clegg.

"The debate will become serious if you continue," said Mrs. Cable lightly. "Come along, Mr. Bansemer. Mrs. Craven is waiting."

When they were across the room and alone she turned a white face to him and remonstrated bitterly, "Oh, that was cowardly of you after your promise to me!"

"I forgot myself," he said quietly. "Don't believe me to be utterly heartless." His hand touched her arm. Instantly her assumed calm gave way to her deep agitation, and with a swift change of manner she turned on him, her passion alight.

"You"— she stammered. Then her fears found voice. "What do you mean?" she demanded in smothered, alarmed tones.

He desisted savagely and shrank away, the color flaming into his disgusted, saturnine face. He did not speak to her again until he said goodby long afterward.

As he had expected, his place at the dinner table was some distance from hers. He was across the table from Jane and Graydon and several seats removed from David Cable. He smiled grimly and knowingly when he saw that he had been cut off cleverly from the Cables.

"Tomorrow night, then, Jane!" said Graydon at parting. No one was near enough to catch the tender eagerness in his voice nor to see the happy flush in her cheek as she called after him:

"Tomorrow night!"

CHAPTER VIII.

BOBBY RIGBY and Graydon Bansemer were bosom friends in Chicago; they had been classmates at Yale. It had been a question of money with Bobby from the beginning. According to his own admission, his money was a source of great annoyance to him. He was not out of debt but once and then before he fully realized it. So unusual was the condition that he could not sleep. The first thing he did in the morning was to borrow right and left for fear another attack of insomnia might interfere with his training for the football eleven.

Robertson Ray Rigby, immortalized as Bobby, had gone in for athletics, where he learned to think and act quickly. He was called one of the lightest but headiest quarterbacks in the east. No gridiron idol ever escaped his "Jimmy" or "Toppy or "Pop" or "Johnny." When finally he hung out his shingle in Chicago—"Robertson R. Rigby, Attorney at Law"—he lost his identity even among his classmates. It was weeks before the fact became generally known that it was Bobby who waited for clients behind the deceptive shingle.

The indulgent aunt who had supplied him with funds in college was rich in business blocks and apartment buildings, and now Mr. Robertson R. Rigby was her man of affairs. When he went in for business, the old push of the football field did not desert him. He was very much alive and very vigorous, and it did not take him long to "learn the signals."

With his aunt's unfaltering prosperity, his own ready wit and unbridled versatility he was not long in establishing himself safely in his profession and in society. Everybody liked him, though no one took him seriously except when they came to transact business with him. Then the wittiness of the drawing room turned into shrewdness as it crossed the office threshold.

The day after the Cable dinner Bobby yawned and stretched through his morning mail. He had slept but little the night before, and all on account of a certain, or rather uncertain, Miss Clegg. That petite and aggravating young woman had been especially exasperating at the Cable dinner. Mr. Rigby, superbly confident of his standing with her, encountered difficulties which put him very much out of temper. For the first time there was an apparent rift in her constancy. Never before had she shown such signs of fluctuating. He could not understand it—in fact, he dared not understand it. "She was a most annoying young person," said Mr. Rigby to himself wrathfully more than once after he went to bed that night. Anyhow, he could not see what there was about Howard Medford for any girl to countenance, much less to admire. Mr. Medford certainly had ruined the Cable dinner party for Mr. Rigby, and he was full of resentment.

"Miss Keating," called Mr. Rigby for the third time, "may I interrupt your conversation with Mr. Deever long enough to ask a question that has been on my mind for twenty minutes?"

Mr. Deever was the raw young gentleman who read law in the office of Judge Smith next door. Bobby maintained that if he read law at all it was at night, for he was too busy with other occupations during the day.

Miss Keating, startled, turned roundabout promptly. "Yes, sir," at last came from the pert young woman near the window.

"I guess I'll be going," said Mr. Deever resentfully, rising slowly from the side of her desk on which he had been lounging.

"Wait a minute, Eddie," protested Miss Keating. "What's your hurry?" And then she almost snapped out, "What is it, Mr. Rigby?"

"I merely wanted to ask if you have sufficient time to let me dictate a few short letters that ought to go out today," said Bobby sarcastically. And then added with mock apology: "Don't move, Mr. Deever. If you're not in Miss Keating's way, you're certainly not in mine."

"A great josher!" that young woman was heard to comment admiringly.

"You may wake up some morning to find that I'm not," said Bobby soberly. Whereupon Miss Keating rose and strode to the other end of the room and took her place beside Bobby's desk.

Bobby dictated half a dozen inconsequential letters before coming to the one which troubled him most. For many minutes he stared reflectively at the typewritten message from New York. Miss Keating frowned severely and tapped her little foot somewhat impatiently on the floor. But Bobby would not be hurried. His reflections were too serious. This letter from New York had come with a force sufficient to drive out even the indignant thoughts concerning one Miss Clegg. For the life of him Bobby Rigby could not immediately frame a reply to the startling missive. Eddie Deever stirred restlessly on the window ledge.

"Oh, I guess I'll be going!" he called back, beginning to roll a cigarette. "I have some reading to do today." Mr. Deever was tall, awkward and homely and a lot of other things that would have discouraged a less self satisfied "lady's man." Judge Smith said he was hopeless, but that he might do better after he was twenty-one.

"What are you reading now, Eddie?" asked Miss Keating, complacently eying Mr. Rigby. "'Raffles?'"

"Law, you idiot!" said Eddie scornfully, going out of the door.

"Oh! Well, the law is never in a hurry, don't you know? It's like justice—the slowest thing in town!" she called after him as his footsteps died away.

"Ready?" said Bobby, resolutely. "Take this, please." And slowly and carefully he proceeded to dictate:

Mr. Denis Harbert, New York:

Dear Denis—I cannot tell you how much your letter surprised me. What you say seems preposterous. There must be a mistake. It cannot be this man. I know him quite well, and he seems as straight as a string and a gentleman too. His son you know as well as I. There isn't a better fellow in the world. Mr. B. has a fairly good business here. His transactions open and aboveboard. I'm sure I have never heard a word said against him or his methods. You are mistaken; that's all there is about it.

You might investigate a little further and, assuring yourself, do all in your power to check such stories as you relate. Of course I'll do as you suggest, but I'm positive I can find nothing discreditable in his dealings here.

Keep me posted on everything. As ever, yours.

Miss Keating's anxiety was aroused. After a very long silence she took the reins into her own hands. "Is Mr. Briggs in trouble?" she asked at a venture. Mr. Briggs was the only client she could think of whose name began with a B.

Briggs? What Briggs?" asked Bobby, relighting his pipe for the fourth time.

"Why, our Mr. Briggs," answered Miss Keating curtly.

"I'm sure I don't know, Miss Keating. Has he been around lately?"

"I thought you were referring to him in that letter," she said succinctly.

"Oh, dear me, no; another party altogether, Miss Keating. Isn't the typewriter in working order this morning?" he asked, eying her machine innocently. She sniffed and started to reply, but thought better of it. Then she began pounding the keys briskly.

"It works like a charm," she shot back genially.

London, Feb. 15.—Before she shakes the dust of London from her elastic-sided boots, Mrs. Carrie Nation is going to try to see the Lord Mayor and she wants to visit Holloway Prison, though how that is to assist her in her campaign against whisky and cigarettes is hard to see. She has a great desire to see the King, but if she means by that a personal interview her wish is not likely to be gratified.

Then she announces that she is going "to have a try at the House of Lords."

For the first time this winter the trains on the C.P.R. were delayed a few hours this morning. The heavy snowstorm yesterday and last night delayed traffic a little but not to any serious extent. The train from Montreal this morning was two hours and a half late and the noon express was twenty minutes late.

The storm raged here for several hours and the snow plough on the street railway, and the street snow ploughs were kept busy keeping the road and streets passable.

NO PROTECTION TO CHILDREN

Canon Davidson Remarks on Ease of Access to the Creek at Aylmer Street

Canon Davidson took occasion last night at St. John's to refer to the lack of protection at the creek in Aylmer street immediately below Brock. When the water freezes over the small children play on the ice, which is very treacherous on account of the current.

A fence should be built at the place in question or some sort of protection provided. The necessity of this was shown by the sad drownin of the little Roberts boy which occurred a short time ago.

RIVALRY INTENSE IN EACH DISTRICT

The Voting is Now Very Spirited—Few Contestants Show Their Real Strength—A Most Interesting Battle is on in Each District, and You are a Wise One if You Can Pick the Winner.

NOMINATIONS CLOSE A WEEK FROM TO-DAY

Good Chance to Enter Now and Win Out—The Softest Snap of All is in the Men's List in the County—Send in Your Nomination at Once.

For Monday the voting of both ballots and certificates was heavy. The result of the count made no change in either list. Miss Maude Adams retains her position in the city but Miss Rose P. Moore again takes first place in the contest. Miss Birdie Dawson increases her score over 6000, and while she still remains in third place in the city, the vote for four candidates is very close, only 1806 votes separating them. The figures for the four high candidates follows: Miss Moore, 17,923; Miss Adams, 17,026; Miss Perry, 16728, and Miss Dawson, 16,118. It is possible that many changes will be made in the next published score. Indeed, none of the candidates have such a lead as to make their position anything like sure at this stage of the contest, and even these who at present seem to be at quite a disadvantage have plenty of time to forge to the front.

New nominations today: In District No 1—W R G Higgins, 1043 Water St, and J. T. H. Ardiel, Dominion Bank. In District No 2—J F Clark, Springville and Burt Cunningham, of Fraserville.

Mr Ardiel starts off splendidly. If the size of the start-off is any criterion, there will be much doing in the men's city list very soon.

In order that those already in the contest may know with whom they have to compete, we have decided to close the nomination one week from today. Plenty of time to start and win out. Pick out the particular prize you wish to go after, send in your name and get busy. Always room at the top.

It is not necessary to vote your certificates when you turn in your subscriptions. Get the votes and hold them until the last day if you wish. Almost every candidate has some laid away. The published statement is not a statement of what the candidates have secured but only the votes that have been put in the ballot box. It is surely a game of "hide and seek." with the prospects mostly in favor of the seeker.

That it will take more votes than can possibly be clipped from the papers is apparently recognized by every contestant and their friends. At the same time, do not waste any of the coupons—vote every one of them from your paper and from your friends' papers. Follow up every promise for a subscription. A few certificates issued with subscriptions will place any name on the list at the top. No need of being discouraged by a few refusals. Anything worth having is worth working for. Anything obtained without effort is of little value. Remember that there are nine prizes and that there will be nine winners. Four prizes will be awarded in each district and two in each list. In the list where the European tour is won there will be three winners. Candidates have not only an equal chance, but every chance. The Review Printing Company or the contest manager have nothing to do with awarding the prizes. Representative business men will recount the ballots and certificates at the close of the contest and be the awarding judges.

There was a great struggle for the papers containing the "large" ballots last week. They were great counters too. Well, we will make an offer on Wednesday that will make those coupons look very insignificant. Candidates and their friends should be prepared to sail right in and "make hay" during the period of this great offer. Watch for Wednesday's paper.

But it is almost a certainty that they would be even more common still if everybody wore them who should. You find people doing without them just as long as they possibly can which is a very wrong thing to do, indeed, every day makes the case harder to deal with. IMMIGRATION BLUE BOOK SHOWS IMMENSE INCREASE

In the Population of the Dominion.

One-Sixth of Population Has Arrived During the Past Ten Years.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—That Canada has established a world's record in immigration is the boast made in the official bluebook of the Department of Interior for the year ended March 31.

During the twelve months, 262,469 immigrants arrived, an increase of 39,767. During the decade ending 1907-8, the total number was 1,166,126, of which 819,213 came from Great Britain, Ireland, and the United States, and 356,913 from other countries.

"This tremendous movement of people," says the report, "is more than one-sixth the total population of Canada."

During the past twelve years, there arrived in Canada English, Scotch, Irish and Welsh immigrants to the number of 487,720, one quarter of whom arrived last year. "It will thus be seen," comments the Deputy Minister, "that in so far as the quantity of this particular class of immigration is conceived, it has now assumed sufficiently large proportions to satisfy the widely expressed desire on the part of Canadians throughout the old and new provinces that for obvious reasons we should receive a fair share of British subjects emigrating from the old land.

"As to undesirables, some otherwise deserving immigrants who had not, on entering Canada, the necessary means to become at once self-supporting, may have been induced to come through the injudicious zeal of philanthropic societies engaged in this class of work."

It is regarded as highly satisfactory that of the total exclusions of 1,002 at various ports last year, only one-ninth were British, although the British arrivals were nearly one-half of the total immigration.

The 58,312 people who arrived from the United States during 1908, brought in money and effects to the value of about $62,000,000. The Hudson Bay Co., and the railway companies, sold 341,072 acres of land for $2,965,992, as against 1,277,759 for $7,697,930 in 1907. The average price, however, increased from $6.02 to $8.78 per acre. In 1903, the average price was $3.46 per acre. The total number of homestead entries was 30,424, a decrease of 7,384. The acreage taken up last year was 4,867,840 acres.

It is remarked that at the present rate of settlements it will soon be necessary to direct the incoming settler to the northern part of Alberta, and Saskatchewan, "where it will probably be found that the agricultural possibilities are in no way inferior to those of the regions more to the south."

Of the 30,424 entries granted last year, 7,417 were made by Canadians, 7,818 by Americans, 4,840 by English, 1,026 by Scotch, 339 by Irish, and 510 by Canadians returned from the United States, or 21,950 in all, representing a population of about 52,000 souls, leaving 8,524 entries by other nationalities, representing a population of 21,000 souls. Of the Canadians who homesteaded 3,696 were from Ontario, and 494 from Quebec. Austria-Hungarians to the number of 2,472.

The gross cash revenue for Dominion lands for the year was $1,098,219, a decrease of $127,738; from school lands $708,065, a decrease of $121,836; from export tax on gold, the revenue was $70,504, a falling off of $58,026.

The total area sold by the Government in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta during the year was 114,712 acres for $1,192,615, or an average of $10.40 per acre.

TO BUILD NEW LINE

C. P. R. to Construct Branch From Coldwater Junction to Peterborough

Montreal, Feb. 15.—The C. P. R.'s programme of railway construction this year east of Fort William is stated to include a branch line from Coldwater Junction to Peterborough, which will be part of the scheme for a short rail route between Montreal and Georgian Bay ports. It is anticipated also that during the coming season forty additional miles will be added to the double-tracking of the C.P.R. between Toronto and Montreal.

LOCAL MEMBERS GO TO TORONTO

Mr T. E. Bradburn, MPP, and Mr James Thompson, MPP, left for Toronto this morning for the session of the Ontario Legislature which opened this afternoon.

DISEASE IS MYSTERIOUS

Laprarie, Quebec, is Stricken—The Physicians Are Baffled—Two Deaths.

Montreal, Feb. 16.—An unknown disease of a nature to baffle the local physicians has the town of Laprairie, Que., in its grip. Two deaths have resulted, another sufferer is dying and one hundred more are afflicted, or nearly ten per cent. of the town's population of 1,100.

The disease has some of the features of typhoid fever and la grippe, but has other characteristics that stamp it as a malady apart. The fever is very low, five degrees above normal being the highest recorded. An outstanding symptom is a black or dark brown covering of the tongue and with which, though removed by acid spraying, returns in two hours. Red, almost purple, patches on face and body come and go without apparent cause. Swollen tongue and lips and other symptoms.

Doctors Cannot Say.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—Supt. Brown of of the General Hospital said he was unable to offer a theory as to the disease. Dr. Alex. McPhedran, specialist, said the only way to solve the problem would be by a post-mortem to reveal the condition of the blood, and that the general secretions should be examined very carefully.

MR. McCARTHY IS UNDECIDED

Does Not Know Whether He Will Lead Alberta Conservatives.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—M. S. McCarthy, M.P., who has been tendered the leadership of the Conservative party in Alberta, has not yet decided as to whether or not he will accept.

It is pointed out that there is a legal objection in the way, inasmuch as a member cannot resign from the Dominion House while there is a protest against his election, such as there happens to be in his case.

The Calgary Conservatives platform, adopted Saturday, includes:

Government ownership of railways, but in the meantime guarantee of bonds for roads urgently needed with control of the rates and option of purchase; liquor laws—a plebiscite, and if 60 per cent. vote yes, then the party is pledged to prohibition; the initiative, referendum and recall; resolution condemning the five-year term of the Legislature; policy of reforestration; management of telephone system by commission outside of political control, the farmer to have free connection with market town; co-operative meat packing establishments; loans to settlers and workers with a view to close settlement along lines in vogue in Australia and New Zealand; construction of national highways between important points; Government construction of elevators; condemnation of the autonomy bill.

HE IS WANTED IN THE WEST

Mr. R. B. Rogers C. E. of This City Offered Important Engagement in B. C.

It is learned that the city of New Westminster, B.C., has made an offer to Mr. R. B. Rogers, C.E., of this city, to prepare the plans for and to secure his services to superintend the erection of an immense dam near that city. The dam will be sixty feet high, flooding a large area.

TO HANDLE TRAINS BY TELEPHONE

Canadian Pacific Makes Interesting and Important Change in Method of Operation

The C.P.R. is to try train despatching by telephone on its western lines. Instructions have been issued for the installation of the telephone system on the main line between Winnipeg and Brandon, and it is expected that it will be in operation by March. If the experiment proves satisfactory, under existing atmospheric conditions other sections will be converted. This announcement was made recently by William Whyte, second vice-president.

At present the section of the C.P.R. eastern lines between Montreal and Farnham, is operated by telephone, and it has been found to work most satisfactory. The system used is the same as has been under test on the Burlington and other railway systems in the United States, and which is gaining rapidly in favor. The 135 miles between Winnipeg and Brandon has 28 stations and three junction points, with 20 daily regular trains and many extras, so that the work of the despatchers is heavy, giving every opportunity for an adequate test of the telephone system of handling the trains and railway business.

HELD TO SACRED TRUST IMPOSED BY DYING SISTER

Wm. Hamilton Snatched Legacy From Business Wreck for Children—Had Moral Right, Says Court—An Interesting Peterborough Case at Toronto.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—A story containing the elements of deep human interest—being a remarkable departur from the usual sordidness of similar actions, was dealt with by Chancellor Boyd to-day.

The basic facts are that when a Miss Annie Hamilton of Peterborough, was on her deathbed, she told her mother, brother and sisters gathered about, that she wanted her estate to go to Euphemia's children. Euphemia was her favorite sister.

Soon afterwards, in 1902, she died, leaving no will.

With no dissent, the family united in agreeing to carry out her wishes, and signed away their rights to any shares of the estate. The proceeds, $1,340.57, was handed to Wm. Hamilton, Annie Hamilton's brother.

He agreed to hold it in trust for the children, and finally made a loan of these trust funds of $1,340.57 to the business his father had built up at Peterboro, known as the William Hamilton Mfg. Co., Ltd.

Time went on. The business of the company began to lag. It got orse.

A CRASH INEVITABLE.

The moment came when William Hamilton saw that a crash was inevitable, and that the money given him to conserve by the dead sister for her nephews and nieces would be swept away.

He resolved to snatch this money from the wreck at any cost, and just before the company was declared insolvent, he drew from the assets, $1,969.81, and transferred it to a bank in trust for the children.

Mr. Hamilton, then a comparatively young man, told the officers and directors what he proposed to do. They were chiefly his brothers and sisters, and they said he was doing right.

The situation was, that not only

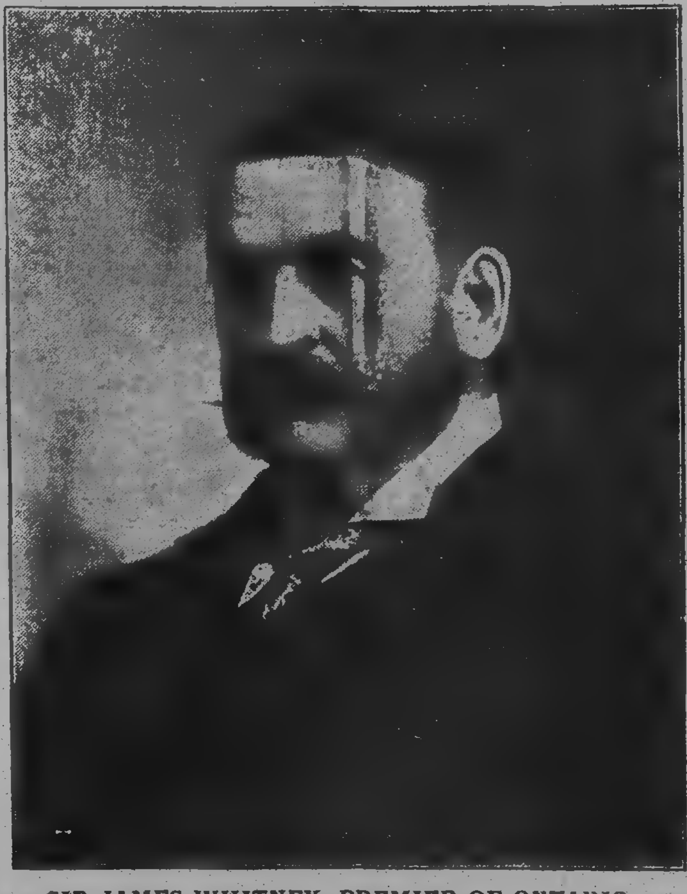
OPENING OF THE LEGISLATURE



SIR JAMES WHITNEY, PREMIER OF ONTARIO.

POWER BILL DISCUSSED IN COMMONS YESTERDAY

Mr. Conmee's Measure Rouses Big Debate in House—Ontario-Michigan Proposition Raises Storm of Disapproval—Premier Refuses to Commit Himself.

Ottawa, Feb. 16.—The Ontario & Michigan Power Co. bill, which was rejected by the Senate last session, on the ground that it invaded the sphere of jurisdiction of the Provincial Government, was given its second reading in the House yesterday afternoon, though both Mr. Graham and Sir Wilfrid Laurier declined to commit themselves to the principle involved. They desired to give the provinces the opportunity to present their case.

Sir Wilfrid claimed that on the facts as presented, the Federal Parliament had jurisdiction; "but," he added, "as to the matter of policy I am seriously in doubt if we can pass this bill."

Mr. Conmee claimed that the Nepigon river was a navigable and international stream, and therefore under the jurisdiction of the Federal Parliament, while he held the Pigeon river to be a navigable stream and an international boundary. What was there in the bill to interfere with provincial rights? he asked.

Dr. Sproule said the bill would take away the rights of the Province of Ontario in the valuable water powers on the Nepigon river. A. C. Boyce observed that the Ontario Government claimed jurisdiction over the river.

"I'm quite aware," returned Mr. Conmee, "that the Ontario Government objects to all bills of this character."

"On what ground was it that the Senate rejected it last year?" asked Mr. Borden.

"Some of them didn't take the trouble to understand it," replied Mr. Conmee.

Mr. Haggart asked if the Government gave the company the right to expropriate from the Ontario Government.

"The hon. gentleman," replied Mr. Conmee, "has been a member of the Dominion Parliament for 25 years, and he has voted for such as this time and again. He had better look up his own record."

Mr. McGrath (Alberta) declared that the bill contained a vicious principle, namely, allowing power to be exported to the United States, until we ascertained that we had power sufficient for our own development for all time to come.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson argued that the bill should go to committee.

R. L. Borden pointed out that the bill did not give power to dam the rivers; the company would have to get the consent of the Public Works Department. So far as international waters were concerned, it was plain that the company must come to this Parliament, and with reference to the other stream there was the question of interference with navigation.

He also dealt with the conservation of the water powers and asked why we should not look to the future by seizing all the available water powers for the benefit of the people.

Hon. Mr. Graham had always been careful to protect the provinces in their sphere, "but on the other hand we must not give up any of our rights," he added. It was debatable whether we should refrain from developing power because a part of it would have to be exported to secure a market.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE WAS OPENED THIS AFTERNOON

Lieut-Gov. Gibson Reads Speech From Throne.

References Will Probably be Made to Power Lines, Mining Industry and Immigration.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—His Honor Lieut.-Governor Gibson will open the 12th Legislature of Ontario at 3 o'clock this afternoon. This important function revolves around one event, the speech from the throne, in which His Gracious Majesty King Edward communicates his view through his right trusty and well-beloved John Morrison Gibson on the government of Ontario. A distinct impression prevails in circles frequently well-informed that Sir James P. Whitney and his colleages give reliable tips to his honor about what he ought to say.

At all events it is understood that the speech this afternoon will refer to the fact that the transmission line for electric power has been contracted for and that thirty-five municipalities have sought power from the commission. This matter may be dwelt upon by his honor as the finest feather in the Government's cap.

The activity of the mining industry is another matter of first importance which ought to be touched upon, and the success of the T. & N.O. Railway in this connection.

The efforts of the Government to bring a better class of immigrants from Great Britain is a question of policy on which stress may be laid.

Among the measures to be foreshadowed are the measures for law reform and a number of revised acts, which are the result of the labors of the statute revision commission.

The payment of the Soo loan calls for mention, together with the fact that the additional capital is likely to be invested in the enterprise at the Soo.

Announcement has already been made that the Government intends to change the fiscal year to Oct. 30.

The celebration of the Quebec Tercentenary and the nationalization of the battlefields of Quebec is likely to be commented upon and its success, which was due in large part to the efforts of the Governor-General.

Reference will doubtless be made to the pleasure felt by his honor in meeting the Legislature with which he was in years gone by so long associated.

Swearing in of members was proceeded with yesterday. Premier Whitney headed the list and all the other resident Ministers followed, leaving Hon. Adam Beck and Hon. J. S. Hendrie to sign to-day. "I do swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to His Majesty King Edward VII," is the form of the oath.

Applications for new bills were presented by several municipalities yesterday.

Middlesex County has a debenture debt of $48,260 maturing now, and legislation is asked to consolidate and renew the debentures.

Hamilton City Council asks power to issue debentures to provide the cost of railway spur lines for manufacturing industries.

St. Catharines applies to validate the elections held on Jan. 4 last.

Clinton Township, in Lincoln County, wants to be divided into two townships, north and south.

Brantford seeks power to use the Waterous old property for city hall and government buildings, or a market square.

Sault Ste. Marie wants confirmation of a bylaw to aid in the construction of a drydock.

PERISH IN THE FLAMES

Terrible Holocaust in a Mexican Theatre—Between 250 and 300 are Reported Dead.

Mexico City, Feb. 16.—Between 250 and 300 people were burned to death and many were injured in a fire which destroyed the Flores Theatre in the city of Acapulca Sunday night.

The news of the disaster reached this capital yesterday afternoon, telegraphic communication with Acapulca having been destroyed Sunday night owing to the fact that the telegraph office adjoining the theatre was burned and all wires put out of commission.

The Flores Theatre was a wooden structure, and Sunday night over 1,000 people crowded into it to witness a special performance given in honor of Governor Damian Flores, of the State of Guerrera, who was visiting the host at the time.

One of the numbers on the program consisted of a series of moving pictures. While the operator was exhibiting these a film caught fire and a blaze was quickly communicated to some bunting which had been used for decorative purposes.

In an incredibly short time the flames spread to all parts of the structure.

There were but three narrow exits, and the panic-stricken audience rushed to them, many falling, to be crushed to death, their bodies choking the way of escape to others.

The screams of those imprisoned were terrifying owing to the rapidity with which the fire spread, and its intense heat, it was impossible to attempt rescue work, and those imprisoned were literally roasted alive as the fire burned with little smoke and few were suffocated.

SUDDEN DEATH OF AYLMER'S MAYOR

Was Delivering Address at Social in Church When Stricken With Apoplexy.

Aylmer, Ont., Feb. 16.—While delivering an address at the anniversary service in the Methodist Church last night Mayor W. E. Stevens was suddenly seized with an attack of apoplexy and, falling back into his chair unconscious, died in a few minutes.

The gathering in the church was in the nature of a social function and was largely attended. Following supper, Mayor Stevens, who was a prominent member of the church, was called upon. He collapsed soon after he had begun his speech. Doctors were summoned at once, but could give no aid.

Mr. Stevens, who was about 55 years of age, was a prominent barrister and Liberal. It was his first year as mayor and he was very popular and highly respected. Some time ago he had a slight attack of apoplexy while at a meeting of Oddfellows, to which order he belonged. He leaves a widow, two step-sons and a daughter.

PEACH CROP MEETS ITS ANNUAL DOOM

St Catharines, Feb 16—Mr Hunsberger, of Jordan, a prominent fruit grower today made the statement that fully ninety per cent of the peach crop of this year is already killed by the frost.

The mild weather all along was responsible for it, said Mr Hunsberger. When two weeks ago we had a very cold spell the trees were not in shape to stand it and the buds were killed off. It lasted only five or six hours but it was long enough to do the business. At that time the temperature here went down 16 below zero. This has been one of the worst winters for the peaches we have ever had owing to the changeable weather.

TRINITY COLLEGE BACKS THORNLOE

He is Candidate of Old College for the Vacant Bishopric.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—The episcopal election which will commence tomorrow for a successor to the late Archbishop Sweatman as bishop of Toronto, may be a prolonged contest, as the Trinity men are now making an open campaign for the appointment of Bishop Thornloe, and it is said are prepared to force a deadlock rather than permit a Wycliffe man to receive the position.

Should the wave which appears to be rapidly rising to a commanding height threaten to swallow up the Thornloe boom, the Trinity men may attempt to avert annihilation by utilizing the well-earned popularity of Rev. Canon Welch. But the rector of St. James' Cathedral is noted for the firm adherence which he maintains to carefully consider decisions. Had he been available, he would have undoubtedly been Trinity's first choice.

Provost Macklem's circular to the Trinity graduates says:

"Among the qualifications which make Bishop Thornloe so well fitted for the important work to which he may shortly be called by the Holy Spirit, are his Canadian education and varied Canadian experiences, his fair mindedness and sense of justice, which accords sympathetic and kindly treatment to high, low and broad alike, his personal characteristics of devotion and self-sacrifice, coupled with the vision of a prophet and the strength of a disciplined worker. To this may be added his long experience in country work; he knows country conditions through and through, and his sympathies are with the church in the country parts.

WHAT UNEMPLOYMENT MEANS

In Great Britain there is more sympathy for human beings and human life as such, than in America. "Business" is the slogan here. Business is in all essentials the Juggernautic car of the Western world. This fatal disregard of human comfort and human life is sure to bring its logical result. Human nature like a worm will turn. It has found that the protestations of the so-called religious world chiefly concern another world. Religion asks the world to fix its eye upon the Cross. But the world starves. How can it hearken? But more. Unemployment means the GRADUAL DEGENERATION AND RUIN OF THE UNEMPLOYED. A discouraged man, one who feels that he cannot get the work for which he is willing to give, God knows, a full equivalent, loses his heart. The humane, honest, strong-charactered man feels at last that he has come to the jumping-off place. Character no longer counts. He is down to the level of the beast of prey and he becomes one. This above all things is the ultimate horror of the situation. We, the world, the more or less prosperous world, are guilty of prospering at the expense of our willing but unfortunate brethren. We ignore their cry for work or stifle it in a blanket of miserable platitudes. It is not a question of "giving" men work. It is a case of letting them work. Men are born into a world of complicated industrial conditions. To say to them, "You should go on the land," is simply a piece of impertinence. The question we are dealing with is the question of helping the deserving unemployed to get work. It is a plain question and must have an answer. The world of money is pampered to suffocation. Every possible means is provided for the aggrandisement of the already aggrandized. Let us have "rulers" who are JUST. Is it too much to ask for, too much to expect? We quote the following interesting incident from the British Weekly;

"Mr. Crooks made short work of those dry-as-dust economists who declare that every man is his own star, and that all the poor need is the spirit of independence. He told us he had been reading the following maxim in a book of advice: "Subdue your appetites, my dear, and you have conquered human nature."

"Yes," said Mr. Crooks, "this reminds me of the Scotsman who said he had saved £1 a week out of the 30s he earned in London, adding that if it had not been for his appetite he could have saved the whole."

"The unemployment problem," added Mr. Crooks, "is one of the most maddening things in my life. I have to whistle and laugh sometimes to keep myself from crying. It is no use to talk incessantly of thrift; the people who do so have never known the pinch of want. It is easy to save on £15 a week; it is much more difficult on 18s. Our critics view the poor over fountains of eau de Cologne; we view the poor over little heaps of mud. This makes all the difference. At a Local Government Board meeting, someone said, "We know there are men who would not work if work was offered them." I ventured to interrupt: "Most of them wear top hats." They thought me very rude."

"I never have a breakfast in the morning," said Mr Crooks, "without being disturbed by someone in need of help. It is a rule in our home that if a well-dressed man or woman comes to the door, they will be told to wait; but if a poor, dilapidated creature comes, his case must be dealt with immediately."

At this point Mr. Crooks told a story of a poor woman who had called to get a glass of milk for her baby and he traced the history of her troubles. We felt that every word was true. A kind friend gave Mr Crooks a sovereign for this woman. On receiving it she cried out in ecstasy: "Is there anyone in the world who thinks me worth a sovereign. Why we are made, absolutely made. There is enough here to keep us going till my husband gets a job." He got the work and the woman has never again come to ask for help. Was ever a sovereign better expended."

Nothing was more striking in Mr. Crook's speech than the examples he gave of the steady progress of deterioration in the case of men who are out of work for six or eight months. "At first they are hopeful and confident, but as weeks pass and no place is found their self-respect and courage decline, until at last they cease to wish for work, and sink into the ranks of the loafers."

In his own mind, Mr Crooks has plans for the settlement of this terrible problem. Though he has seen and sees daily the human tragedies of London he has lost nothing of his faith in God. "The Lord has never neglected us in the slightest degree" he cried; "there is plenty of work and plenty of money. WHAT WE NEED IS A STATESMAN WHO WILL MAKE IT THE BUSINESS OF HIS LIFE TO ORGANIZE A SYSTEM THAT WILL ABSORB OUR SURPLUS LABOR. The hunger and the harvest will come together when we get a better administration of the wealth that God has sent us. We need a Minister of Labor whose first duty will be to provide a universal register in every town, and district, containing the names of unemployed men. Thus we shall obtain every personal fact that is necessary, and we shall get on the back of the loafer." Mr. Crooks further outlined a system of State and local enterprise, and hinted at the creation of farming college to train the people for the land."

EDITORIAL NOTES

Scientists say the white ant lays 80,000 eggs a month. Would it, we desire to ask, be possible to cross the white ant with the Plymouth Rock hen?—Topeka Capital.

The Trade and Commerce Report just issued shows that in 1896 Canada imported from Britain 31 per cent. of her total imports, and in 1908 less than 27 per cent. From the United States we got 50 p. c. of our imports in 1896, and this increased to 56 per cent. in 1908. Of our imports free of duty we took from Britain 22 per cent in 1896 and only 17 per cent. in 1908, while the proportion from the States rose from 64 to 70 per cent.

"When Stefansson tried to express thanks for their kindness in fragmentary Eskimo, they were more surprised than pleased. "Doo, then, in the white man's land, some starve and shiver while others eat much and are warmly clad!" It was so with the Indian aborigines. The idea of their being such a thing as a hungry person when there was food within reach excited their loftiest contempt. An Indian chief who heard a British officer try a case where a starving woman had "stolen" food for herself and children arose in the most contemptuous way and left the court.

In a lively afternoon's debate continued on Thursday, Dr. Reid, Messrs. Monk, Haggart, Foster, Sproule, Boyce, Lake, Blondin, Middlebro, Crosby and Crockett gave reasons for the resolution. They recalled the Burrows-Fraser timber limit tenders, as exposed in the Public Accounts committee, which had convinced the country that there was something wrong, and had led to the defeat of Burrows, the retirement of another candidate, and the Conservative sweep in Mr. Sifton's province. They pointed out that, while dredging contracts were ostensibly awarded after tender, it was well understood that they went to Government supporters. Conservatives had to get clear of their dredging plant, or form combinations with Grit politicians change their politics, or form combinations with Grit politicians or their relatives. Collusion among dredging contractors prevented real competition. Mr. Monk, and others made the direct statement that business men and contractors would laugh in the face of any person who suggested that a fair and even chance was given to all tenderers without respect to party and pull.

A WOMAN'S IDEA OF HISTORY

The following brilliant essay, typewritten in a distinctly feminine hand was picked up near the C.P.R. bridge last Friday by a Review reporter. It is supposed that it blew from a train or that it was part of the booty secured by the numerous tramps who infest that region:

NAPOLEON AND HIS WARS

Madam President and Ladies,

I consider it a great honor to have been asked to contribute a paper for this highly intellectual Reading Circle and a still greater compliment to have had such an important subject as Napoleon and his wars allotted to me. In considering the life of Napoleon we are struck by the fact that the war-like tendencies, which in after years made him so famous were developed at a very tender age. His biographer relates of him that at the age of eighteen months when his nurse undertook to remove his thumb from his mouth the child, in a moment of passion assailed her so violently with a tooth pick that had it not been for the intervention of a gentleman in waiting she would no doubt have received serious if not fatal injuries. All through his boy-hood and college days this belligerent spirit was his chief characteristic. We are therefore not surprised that while yet a boy of 18 he eagerly enlisted with William the Norman in his invasion of England. The battle of Hastings was fought on the 14th of October 1066. The English King was entertaining a bridge party in York when the news of the invasion came. Fortunately he was "dummy" at the moment so without any delay he was enabled to set out at the head of his forces. Marching day and night he reached the hill Senlac, nine miles from Hastings. On the 13th October after an early breakfast he marshalled his men on velocipedes, armed with heavy battle axes and hurried them to the scene of conflict. Early on the 14th, William and Napoleon advanced to the attack. The archers seated in motor busses, and the steel clad infantry mounted on horse back, brought up the rear.

The battle began. The English battle-axes did fearful execution and the Norman lines gave away. A panic which was increased by the report of William's death was spreading fast when Napoleon dashed bareheaded in his luxurious motor car to the front and restored their sinking courage. The battle lasted until sunset when the English King fell pierced in the eye by an arrow and the English lines broke and fled. Thus ended a war that placed on the throne of England a line of French Kings, who held it for more than three centuries.

The next important struggle in which Napoleon figured was the War of the Roses, so called from the badge of the rival armies. Napoleon's ensign being an "American Beauty Rose" while that of the House of Lancaster was a "Canadian Queen."

A cloud, at first no bigger than a man's foot had long been darkening around the throne of the Lancaster's, and Napoleon flushed with his victory at Hastings placed himself at the head of the forces of York, and the famous War of the Roses began. These lasted during the remainder of the reign of Henry 6th and the early years of Edward 4th. A decisive battle was fought on Easter Sunday 1471, when Napoleon was again victorious and every petal of the Canadian Queen was scattered from the stem.

The Earl of Warwick and every leader of the Lancastrians died on the bloody field.

Napoleon who was now in the full strength of vigorous manhood, next decided to cast in his lot with William of Orange when that Prince was urged by the English people to come with an army and aid them in defending their freedom and their faith.

When the Prince and his followers reached England, James 2nd, fled to France where he was warmly welcomed by Louis 14th. Meanwhile William and Napoleon proceeded from Windsor to London, where every citizen donned an orange sash and a tall hat in their honor. In 1688 William was elected King of England with Napoleon as Prime Minister.

Two years later James 2nd, escorted by a French force, landed in Ireland where he soon obtained almost universal recognition.

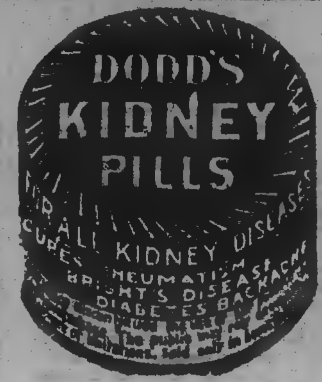
James fled once more to France and Napoleon was left to continue the reduction of Ireland, and, as you all know, since this memorable battle the Orange Lily has ever since been emblazoned on the banners of France.

We must now change the scene of our hero's activities to The New World where he espoused the cause the cause of the dissatisfied colonists who had rebelled against the iniquitous tax on Sir Thomas Lipton's tea the Americans demanding that it should enter the country free of duty. General Washington gladly accepted the assistance of Napoleon and placed him at the head of his soldiers. With his wonderful bravery and reckless daring Napoleon swept all before him and rested not until Old Glory waved in triumph over the Capitol at Washington, and he had established the Independence of the great American Republic.

I have only time to speak of one other, and that the greatest and last of Napoleon's brilliant achievements. When he was commissioned by England to sail to Canada and wrest that country from the hands of the French. The struggle was short and decisive. With a powerful fleet Napoleon appeared in the St. Lawrence and was soon at anchor directly below the Chateau Frontenac. He then conceived the bold plan of scaling the Heights of Abraham while Montcalm looked for his approach from another direction. The project as gallantly executed, though the lofty banks of the river were so precipitous that the men could with difficulty pull themselves up by clinging to projecting rocks and stones. In the battle that followed Napolen was again triumphant. Quebec surrendered in less than a week and the struggle in North America was virtually at an end, and England had a new star added to her crown.

Napoleon, though severely wounded, was determined that no hand but his should raise the standard of England over the Citadel. In his weak state the effort proved too much for him. An hour later, on Dufferin Terrace amidst the booming of cannon, the ringing of joy bells, and the plaudits of the multitude, he was seen to stagger and fall against the railing, which gave way before his weight, and he was hurled with awful force to the pavement many feet below. When friends reached him it was found that life was not extinct, and tender, loving hands lifted his crumpled form and hurriedly carried him on board the battleship "Dread Naught." After a consultation it was acceded to make all possible speed to England, there to obtain the best medical skill and so save this valuable life. But, alas! the hope proved vain. Even his splendid vitality could not survive the shock. He who had won a hundred battles was himself vanquished by that last grim enemy, death. Then in mid-ocean the news of his death was flashed to England and Canada by means of wireless telegraphy. Preparations were at once set on foot by the English Government to receive with all pomp and respect, the body of the dead hero. He was laid to rest in Westminster Abbey between the bodies of the late Queen Elizabeth and Mary, on September 30th, 1759.

So ended a career of unequalled brilliance and world-wide influence. Some historians claim that he was present at the Battle of Waterloo, but this cannot be proven. If such was the case no doubt he was there merely as a spectator and in deference to the wishes of his life-long friend, the Duke of Wellington.



APPLES, ORANGES FIGS AND PRUNES

Few people seem to realize how important—how absolutely necessary—it is to keep the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin in proper working order.

They wonder why they have Sallow Complexions — Indigestion — Headaches—Rheumatism — while all the time their systems are clogged and poisoned with waste tissue and indigestible food which these organs should have removed.

What they need are Fruit Juices—nature's provision for keeping the eliminating machinery of the body working right. "Fruit-a-tives" are the concentrated juices of fresh, ripe fruits, combined in such a way that their medicinal action is greatly intensified. They stimulate and regulate the action of Liver, Bowels, Kidneys and Skin, thus clearing the system of the accumulated waste and poison, purifying the blood, and banishing those distressing troubles that make life miserable.

No other remedy has ever been discovered that does this so effectively as "Fruit-a-tives." 50c. a box — 6 boxes for $2.50. Trial size 25c. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A SURPRISED MINISTER

"For many years I have been a sufferer from bronchial catarrh, and had despaired of anything like a cure. Judge ouége of my pleasant surprise when I first used Hyomei, has been a veritable godsend."—Rev. Charles Hartley, Sardinia, Ohio.

Thousands of catarrh sufferers have given up in despair. They have tried stomach dosing, snuff, sprays and douches without success, and now believe catarrh to be incurable.

But Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, holds out hope to all distressed. He sells a remedy called Hyomei which is guaranteed for catarrh, colds, coughs, bronchitis, asthma and croup.

Hyomei —pronounced High-o-me — is medicated air, full of the healthy virtues of the mountain pines. You breathe in the delightful antiseptic air, and as it passes over the inflamed and germ ridden membrane it allays the inflamation, kills the germs and drives out the disease.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including a hard rubber inhaler, costs but $1.00 and an extra bottle of Hyomei if afterwards needed, costs but 50 cents. See Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, about it today.

The Luckiest Day of My Life.

Mr. Thomas Wylie (Box 384), Galt, says:—"It was the luckiest day of my life when I struck PSYCHINE, for I truly believe I should not be alive now but for that."

"A neglected cold was the beginning of my trouble, and what seemed to be a simple ailment, soon developed into a serious and dangerous condition. I got so low that it was scarcely possible for me to walk around, and I lost so much flesh that I looked like a skeleton. I was just about ready to "hand in my checks," although only 20 years of age. The medicine the doctor gave me made me worse and I got disgusted and hopeless. Then I struck PSYCHINE."

"PSYCHINE did miracles for me. The first bottle gave me new life and courage, and in less than no time I began to put on flesh rapidly, and felt I was on the high road to recovery. My appetite returned and "ate like a hunter," as the saying goes. My friends were surprised, and hardly knew me. In three months I was as strong and well as ever, and returned to work in the mill. I have not had a days' illness since. Nobody could wish for better health than I enjoy, and it is all owing to PSYCHINE. It should be in everybody's hands."

USE PSYCHINE EARLY

Too often PSYCHINE is used as a last resort, when doctors have failed to relieve or cure, and frequently when they have abandoned all hope. Under these unfavorable conditions, let hope be not abandoned, for PSYCHINE will prove an unfailing friend. How much better and surer would be the results if PSYCHINE were used in the early stages of the illness!

Use PSYCHINE for COUGHS, COLDS, WEAK LUNGS, LOSS OF APPETITE, WEARINESS and that TERRIBLY RUN DOWN FEELING. All Druggists and Stores sell at 50c, $1.00, and $2.00 Bottle.

USE YOUR OWN JUDGMENT!

There are times when a choice has to be made between following the advice of a physician and taking the responsibility of using PSYCHINE without or in opposition to his advice. You have the fullest assurance that you will be perfectly safe and justifiable in taking PSYCHINE irrespective of any physician's advice, and even contrary to it. The physician that opposes its use is either out of date and not in touch with the most successful systems of treatment, or his own interests are put before those of his patient. The best physicians, who have, without prejudice, looked into the great work PSYCHINE is doing for humanity, are recommending it to many of their patients, and are unstinted in their praise of this remedy, the equal of which the world has never seen.

Washerwoman's Estate Nearly $6,000.

Ice Jam Affects Power.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 16.—In an effort to break the ice round their intakes the power companies were yesterday blasting the ice with dynamite, and maintained their services with some difficulty.

It is estimated that there is little more than one-third the normal flow in the Canadian channel, and the water in the forebays is very low. The American fall is still nearly dry.

Hold-Up Story a Fake.

Hamilton, Feb. 16.—J. B. Sponenberg, the barber who said he was held up and robbed, Saturday night made the following signed statement to the police yesterday: "I, J. B. I spent $25, the property of the barbers' union, the full amount of which I owe the union."

Another meeting of the committee will be held Wednesday, when it is expected that Senator Nelson will suggest some amendments.

Congress Knocked Knox.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The House of Representatives yesterday rejected the Senate bill removing the constitutional bar to Senator Knox serving as Secretary of State.

The bill which reduces the salary of the Secretary of States from $12,000 to $8,000, its former figure, was the first business to command the attention of the House yesterday.

Those opposing the bill said it was simply an effort to override the constitution by a statute.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Drops Dead of Fright.

Montreal, Feb. 16.—Madame Elizabeth Courcheane, 69 years old, of 159 Chambly street, dropped dead Sunday night from fright. She had been pestered with boys rapping at the windows and being of a nervous disposition, she armed herself with a revolver. She warned the boys she would shoot. As she left the window there was a sudden crash of a stone, and the old lady collapsed, expiring in a few minutes from heart failure due to fright.

Coroner McMahon expressed regret he could not commit those who were responsible for the woman's death.

New Manitoba Judges.

Winnipeg, Feb. 16.—A delegation from the benchers of the Law Society met the Attorney-General and other members of the Government yesterday to request that two new judgeships of the King's Bench Court be created, also that the Appeal Court judges be not empowered to act as trial judges with a jury.

The Government decided that only one new judgeship would be created, and that no change would be made in the jurisdiction of the Court of Appeal at present.

Bondsmen Liable For $50,000.

Albuquerque, N.M., Feb. 16.—A special from Taos, New Mexico, says that Albert Twining, former bank president of Asbury Park, N.J., sentenced to six years' imprisonment for speculating with the bank's funds in mining properties, has disappeared and that his bondsmen are liable for $50,000. The case has been in the courts for five years, and last Tuesday the Supreme Court ordered Twining to commence serving his sentence.

Washington Conference.

Washington, Feb. 16.—The gathering of representatives of three nations—Canada, Mexico and the United States—here this week, to discuss conservation of the natural resources of North America, will bring to Washington some of the most prominent men of the United States. Three of the four biggest, whom President Roosevelt invited to the first governors' conference last March, are expected to be present, namely, Jas. J. Hill, Andrew Carnegie and John Mitchell; the fourth will not attend.

J. H. Hammond, Gustav Schwab, president of the National Council of Commerce, and President Charles R. Vanhise of the University of Wisconsin also are expected.

Beresford's Future.

London, Feb. 16.—Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, who it was announced Sunday night, will vacate the post of commander-in-chief of the channel fleet on March 24, was seen yesterday regarding this statement, but he declined to discuss the action of the Admiralty. "It is my business to obey orders," he said.

Lord Beresford's friends believe that he has been forced out of the navy by the faction that follows Sir John Fisher, First Lord of the Admiralty, with whom he recently has waged a constant strife. If this turns out to be the case, the discussion of naval matters in Parliament is likely to be renewed in an even more heated manner than before.

Church Burned.

Bedford, Que., Feb. 16.—Fire destroyed St. Damien's Catholic Church Sunday night. Only a few statues and ornaments were saved. Loss $40,000. Insurance $7,000, and there is a debt of $7,000. At one time the whole town was threatened.

Chinese Walked Across Ice.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., Feb. 16.—Eight Chinamen were captured here yesterday, having walked across the St. Lawrence river on the ice from Canada. They arrived at the border from Montreal on the midnight train and were piloted here by an Indian.

Cutting Through Wall.

Toronto, Feb. 16.—Four men, Chas. Brown, John McLeod, Ed. Scanlon and Patrick Kelly, were taken through the city yesterday on their way to Kingston penitentiary to serve a two years' sentence for an attempt to break jail at Sault Ste. Marie Wednesday last. They were awaiting removal to the Central Prison to serve seven months for robbery, and with a pair of scissors had all but driven a two-foot hole through a 16-inch brick wall when they were discovered.

Schooners End Race.

Boston, Feb. 16.—A race of fifteen thousand miles between two schooners, which began in Nova Scotia June 14, ended yesterday in Boston, when both made port, one about six hours ahead of the other. The winner is the B. F. Poole. The other schooner is the A. M. Davenport. The Poole reached Boston at 10 o'clock a.m.

The two vessels left Halifax at the same hour, both bound for Rio de Janeiro, with orders to touch West Indian ports on the way back. The boats were built twenty years ago, and both were wrecked on the first trip out. There has been all sorts of rivalry between them ever since, which culminated in the long distance race.

To Preach Own Funeral Service.

New York, Feb. 16.—A special from Fairfield, Ill., says:

Rev. Daniel Bassetat Leach, an aged clergyman of Bane Gap, was told on Sunday that he was going to die. He asked that his graphophone be brought to his bedside. Into the machine the venerable pastor talked. Beside an address he spoke some prayers and a benediction.

When Mr. Leach had finished he had the records repeated. Then he asked that they be used at his funeral.

Hundreds of Poles Down.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 16.—The damage wrought to telegraph and telephone lines in Northern Ohio by heavy sleet storm, which began on Sunday and continued during the most of Sunday night, is proving to be by far the most disastrous suffered in many years. Hundreds of poles are down.

Used Poison In Baking.

Newark, N.J., Feb. 16.—Stanislaus Sarnowski is dead and his wife critically ill because rat poison was used in mistake for baking powder. They had not been long married.

"BEGINNINGS IN MEDICINE"

Dr. Malcolm McCulloch Will Speak on This Subject Before Historical Society

The third of the Historical Society's series of lectures will be given on Tuesday, Feb. 23rd, when Dr. Malcolm McCulloch will speak on "Beginnings in Medicine."

The ordinary individual, who has heard in a vague way of the times when the barber and the physician were one and the same person, and when bleeding was the panacea for all human ills, will be ready to hear in a more definite way of the beginnings in medicine.

This meeting will be held in the Collegiate Institute. It has been stated before that these meetings are not held for revenue, but are absolutely free to the public as well as to the members of the society. At the same time it is hoped that those who appreciate the work which the Historical Society is doing in providing for these lectures as well as in maintaining the best museum in Ontario outside of the larger cities, will become members of the society.

CONTESTED MEMBER CANNOT RESIGN

Calgary, Alta., Feb. 15.—M. S. McCarthy, M.P., will not accept the invitation of the Alberta Conservatives, unanimously given at Red Deer on Saturday, for the reason that he cannot legally do so. The legal objections that he cannot resign from the Dominion House, because there is a protest against his election, and the law proves that no member can resign from the House while his election is lawfully contested. This debars Mr. McCarthy.

This point never occurred to the people at Red Deer, although there were a number of lawyers present, and all knew that a protest against Mr. McCarthy's election had been entered. The legal impediment was first noticed when Mr. McCarthy sent a private wire to a Calgary friend pointing it out.

HELD TO SACRED TRUST IMPOSED

did the brothers and sisters originally give up their legal claim to the estate, but as some of them had shares in the failing company they faced further possible loss from this source also—to protect the interests of the children.

ACCEPTED FURTHER LOSS.

Chancellor Boyd could not decide offhand whether the moral right Hamilton had to do as he did, outweighed legal considerations. He reserved judgment.

The Trusts and Guarantee Co., Ltd., liquidators of the William Hamilton Mfg. Co., Ltd., were plaintiffs against Hamilton Munro, Wilmot, Elfie Munro, Reid Munro and Allen Munro, the last three being infants. All parties reside at Peterboro. William Hamilton being president of the Hamilton Co.

COMPANY PETERED OUT.

Prior to December 11, 1906, the company were wholesale manufacturers of sawmill machinery, water wheels, engines, boilers, etc.

On that date the company was declared insolvent and the Trusts Company was appointed liquidator.

The plaintiffs claimed that on Dec. 6th the president knew the company was insolvent, but that he drew from the assets of the firm on that date $1,969.81, leaving in its place a voucher for the amount declaring the sum was in trust for the children of the late Geo Munro who are defendants.

QUESTIONED REDUCTION

The plaintiffs claimed this reduction of the assets to be illegal and claimed $1,969.81 with interest.

James Bicknell appeared for the plaintiff.

GAVE AWAY ESTATE

Mr Geo H Watson put Mr Hamilton on the stand who said that when his sister, Annie Hamilton, died, on May 6th, 1902, she gave away on her deathbed all her estate to he nephews Hamilton, Reid, Allan and Effie Munro, children of her sister Euphemia.

Miss Hamilton left no will but following her death her next of kin, Margaret Hamilton; her mother, Jessie Hamilton; Euphemia Munro, Margaret E Leech and Alice Ludgate, her sisters, and her brother, William Hamilton, united by indenture, dated, May 28th, 1902, agreeing to waive any claim they might have had to Miss Hamilton's estate and assigned all their interest to William Hamilton, who was to act as trustee for the Munro children.

TO CARRY OUT WISHES

They did this in order to carry out the expressed wishes of Miss Hamilton.

MORAL RIGHT, SAYS JUDGE

"Whether he had a legal right or not, may be questionable. He certainly had every moral right to take this money out and re-pay these children," said Chancellor Boyd.

"Undoubtedly, every moral right," agreed Mr Watson, who appeared for the children who received the money.

"You knew, of course, that the company was insolvent when you took the money out," the court asked Mr Hamilton.

"I could not well know otherwise" said Mr. Hamilton.

"What Mr. Hamilton tried to do, rightly or wrongly, was to create a preference in favor of these children," said Chancellor Boyd.

Mr Watson contended that the children being wards, were not in the position of creditors of the estate.

"To apply cases decided in England to this case, the principle has frequently been enunciated and maintained that money impressed with a trust cannot be devoted to another purpose," said Mr. Watson.

AN ORGANIZATION OF REAL ABILITY

"A Royal Lover" Played to a Delighted Audience --- A Brilliant Company

"A Royal Lover" proved a most fitting offering to introduce Daniel Ryan and his associated players to the Peterborough public. They piece was played in a thoroughly artistic and satisfactory way and besides Mr. Ryan being a leading actor of outstanding ability he has a supporting company of uniform merit. The drama gave the star and his assisting artists plenty of scope for them to display their histrionic gifts and they took full advantage of the opportunities. The acting throughout was finished and intelligent and the story of the play was one of absorbing interest. The dramatic phases of the piece were striking and effective and the vein of comedy was delightful and decidedly mirth provoking. The staging of the production was artistic and appropriately descritpive. Strict attention to mechanical detail which has so much to do with the success and completeness of an elaborate scenic presentation was evident in all the scenes.

Mr. Ryan as Don Caesar de Bazan, was the prominent figure of the play and was equally as acceptable as the duelist in a life and death argument or as the whimsical philosopher with a droll and merry quip even at times when anyone but the daredevil cavalier would be brooding on the seriousness of his situation of imminent danger.

Miss Harriet Duke did splendid justice to the role of Lazarillo, a boy in waiting and in a comparatively short but distinctive character creation Karl L. Way gave an excellent portrayal of the repulsive Lopez, a Spanish cut-throat.

To Miss Ann Singleton fell the task of playing the emotional part of Maritana, a dancing girl who becomes the wife of De Bazan and with whom King Charles falls in love. She was appealing and natural at all times.

Other members of the company who were noticeable for the good work were J. S. O'Brien as King Charles II of Spain; E. A. Rosyln, as Marquise de Rotunda and Jennie Palmer as the Marchioness.

Tonight "The Bells" the wonderfully strong drama with which the name and fame of the late Sir Henry Irving are inseparably connected will be presented with Mr. Ryan as the remorse stricken Mathias.

LAY OFF 500 ALONG SKEENA

Ground Unworkable Through the Snow and Rain—Difficult to Keep Men on Job

Vancouver, Feb. 13—Five hundred men were laid off last week-end at Prince Rupert and along the Skeena river on account of the weather, and it is stated that the conditions resulting from the hard and inclement weather of the past two weeks will have to greatly improve before the men are put to work again.

Along the Skeena river every camp has its gangs idling around, and it has been with the greatest difficulty that the bosses could keep the men from coming down on the last boat. Owing to the frightful conditions following the snow, frost and rain, it was impossible to carry on construction work with anything like success and the time put in by the men was paid for without any adequate return in effective work. Much of it was really wasted and it was finally decided by the contractors to allow the subcontractors and piecemen to stop without penalizing them for breaking the contract to do so much work each month.

Owing to the loss of time rather than the rate of wages, last month scores of men had only about $6 to draw after the board bill was paid, and the astonishing part of it was that so few came down and left the job entirely. The fact that they did not have the price of the fare is presumably the reason they stayed.

CAPT. MANTON DROPPED DEAD

Well Known Staff Officers of Salvation Army Answers the Call

Toronto, Feb 15—George Manton, one of the staff officers of the Salvation Army, dropped dead on a Dundas street car at nine o'clock last night at the corner of Bathurst and Queen streets. Dr. Killen, 205 Bathurst street, pronounced it heart failure, and the body was taken to the home of his son at 176 Bartlett avenue, with whom he lived.

Deceased was sixty years old and was returning from a religious service in the Army's headquarters.

Staff Captain Manton was one of the best known members of the Salvation Army in Canada. He was one of the original members of the movement when it started in this country some twenty-five years ago. Being latterly engaged as a travelling special for the Army, he has been in Peterborough in this capacity on several occasions. When the Army started its immigration schemes, Captain Manton was sent to England to assist in superintending the project.

LAUDER SANG FOR INSANE

Was Worth a Whole Drug Store to Each of the Patients

New York, Feb. 15.—Harry Lauder, between performances at the Lincoln Square Theatre, paid a visit to Ward's Island for the purpose of entertaining nearly 1000 insane patients of the Manhattan State Hospital.

"An' they nearly kep' me in!" said the Scot in his Glasgow dialect afterward. 'There was a nice bit lassie kep' tellin' me tae haud ma whisht. 'Mister Lauder,' she says, says she, 'dinna go on that way, or they'll think ye're daft. They're awfu' suspeecious!'"

The comedian's part in the entertaining of the patients was equal to the nine points of the law. He was in possession the moment he boarded the island ferry boat, and before he left he had the patients lustily singing, while he beat time from the stage with his crooked stick;

A'h love a lassie,
A bonnie, bonnie lassie.
She's as fair as the lily in the dell!

"This," said Dr. William Mabon, after the performance, and while the patients were going back to the main building singing Lauder's Scotch songs, "this is worth a whole drug store to each and every one of those people. If we could get talent to come here once a month, as Mr. Lauder has done, our progress would be doubled."

ABOUT "SALOME"

Peterboro, February 16, 1909.
To the Editor of The Review—

In your issue of yesterday I noticed an interview with the Chief of Police relative to my production of Salome on Wednesday evening.

It is not my intention to offer anything to shock the morals of this community. Salome, as played by myself and company, is literally the same story as that offered by Mary Garden in New York recently, and being played in Philadelphia now. The difference is that mine is a four act play and the other an opera.

The reproduction of the Dance of the Seven Veils will not shock anyone save John the Baptist, which is the purpose of the author.

Anyone can view Salome, and I can commend it as being of special interest to the ladies.

Very truly,
DANIEL RYAN,

SPORTING NEWS

COBOURG IS TO BE MECCA OF THE YACHTSMEN THIS YEAR

At a meeting of the Lake Yacht Racing Association held at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club rooms on Saturday afternoon, it was decided to hold a big regatta at Cobourg during the week of August 2. The races will be open to all yachts belonging to the Lake Yacht Racing Association, Inter-Lake Yachting Association and the Lake Michigan Association.

About $1,500 will be given in prizes and races will be arranged for veteran cruisers as well as the universal racing classes.

CRUISING RACES TO MEET.

The programme starts with cruising races from Kingston, Toronto and Charlotte to Cobourg. This will mean that nearly every yacht on Lake Ontario will be on its way to Cobourg on Monday, August 2nd, arriving there on Monday evening or Tuesday morning and on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday races will be sailed at Cobourg around a triangular course. Flags and cups will also be given the winning yachts, and there will no doubt be large entries in each class.

A committee of Canadian and American yachtsmen will visit Cobourg on Saturday, March 6th, to discuss the regatta with representatives from Cobourg, and it is likely arrangements will be made to have something out of the ordinary in the way of entertainment for the visiting yachtsmen.

CLEVELAND BOAT COMING.

It is altogether likely that Commodore Worthington, of Cleveland, will attend the regatta with his famous schooner-yacht Priscilla, which will greatly add to the attractiveness of the gathering. The following Canadian boats will be seen in racing trim;—

Canada, Crusader, Aileen II., Eleanor, Beaver, Invader, Strathcona, Iroquois, Genesee, Temeraire, Kee-lox II., Rochester and Zoraya.

In order that all the Hamilton and Toronto yachts will be sure to start in the cruising race from Toronto on Monday, August 2, both clubs have decided to have a club cruising race to Oakville on Saturday afternoon previous, and the fleet will come on to Toronto on Sunday.

SHRUBB EXPECTS TO MEET INDIAN FOR FIFTEEN MILES

Alfred Shrubb, the world's ten-mile champion, and one of the greatest runners who ever donned a spiked shoe, was in Hamilton yesterday for a short while, having dropped off while on his way to Toronto, where he will start his training for the coming 15-mile race with Tom Longboat. The game little Briton was looking none the worse for his cracking 26-mile race with the Indian at Madison Square garden on Feb. 5; in fact, looked quite ready for another good race, and if appearances count for anything, he should give the Indian another heart-breaking race when the pair hook up again. Shrubb is very confident that he will trim the Indian at the shorter distance; in fact, is of the opinion that he is Longboat's master at any distance up to 20 miles. Over this stage, the miles begin to look very long, and the little Briton is ready to acknowledge that the Indian is the world's master at the Marathon distance.

To the Spectator Shrubb said, "I feel none the worse for my hard race in New York, although it was a pretty stiff undertaking for me, and with a couple of weeks' training I'll be back in my old form again. I fully expect to meet the Indian at 15 miles at Buffalo, as arranged. I read in the newspapers that the Indian questions his ability to get ready by that time. I would not like to see the race postponed, as I am in pretty good shape myself, and very confident that I can turn the tables on him at the shorter distance. I have the contract for the race with me, and do not see how Longboat can evade me. I went out out of my class to meet him at his own distance, and I don't think that he or his managers will be unsportsmanlike enough to break the contract which they have made. Pollock told me before I left New York that the race would take place as announced on the 26th. I am very eager to meet the Indian at 15 miles, as I think that my chances of victory are grand; in fact, I am willing to bet $2,000 on them."

The little Briton was only in town for a short while, but will likely put in a day or two here before he returns to Buffalo. He will spend the week in Toronto, training there, and will then shift his training camp to Fort Erie or Buffalo. He has a busy program ahead of him. In addition to the Longboat race he has engagements in Chicago, Washington, St. Louis, Montreal, New York and Boston, but thinks more of the Longboat race than of any other.

KAISER AND GENE TO-NIGHT A GREAT STRUGGLE WITH SPLENDID PRELIMINARIES

The time has come at last when Eugene Hurtubise will have an opportunity to redeem himself from defeat at the hands of Charlie Kaiser, who threw him in quickstep time in Hamilton in a bout that was the surprise of the Peterborough heavyweight's mat career. The local man is in the finest of shape for his bout with the Oswego whirlwind to-night at the roller rink, when the latter will undertake the task of throwing the former amateur champion of Canada twice in an hour. Kaiser, who is one of the prettiest and speediest men who ever stepped on a mat, is the Frank Gotch of the middleweight division, and the match is certain to be an exceptionally good one from the call of time.

The preliminaries will be very interesting. The bill of fare for the evening will be as follows—

Gagnon vs. Seymour—4 rounds.

Bag punching exhibition—J. McDonough.

Chandler and Ryan—Four rounds.

Chas. Kaiser, Oswego, N.Y., vs. Gene Hurtubise, Peterboro. Kaiser to throw Gene twice in an hour.

WHAT THE LINDSAY PAPERS HAVE TO SAY OF THE GAME

Following is the comment on the Lindsay-Peterborough game by the Lindsay papers;—

Cote was about the pick of the local team last evening, using the boards to a great advantage against his opponent, Moore, and time and again passed down the rink with Randal, Taylor and Stoddard bearing down on the Peterborough defence with terrific force, and often while alone carried the rubber and had there been a centre man to go with him several more goals would have been hung up for the locals. Taking his entire number of games played he never showed up as fine in both checking, stick handling and skating. Randal and Stoddard played fine hockey, often following Cote to the Peterborough nets, where, after passing Glover with their fast combination, scored. Taylor and Sullivan played much together when "Sully" formed a rush and often made their nice work prove fruitful. Koyl was also on the job, being in his position, checking the rare Peterborough rushes which came his way, while Newton held down the nets in his old form. On the other hand, Quinn was the Peterborough star man, playing at cover point with great ease, and often attempted a fine rush, and had a man followed him a better chance of scoring might have shown up.—Free Press.

The Peterborough hockey team made their exit from the O.H.A. stage for this season at least, last night, the Midgets nailing the lid on their coffin with nine long spokes. Score, 9—1, and on the round 15—6. Half time score was 6—1.

If the early victories over Belleville and Cobourg, and Lindsay's subsequent fall down in Peterborough had raised the hopes of the followers of the Petes, the said hopes fell flat last night. The visitors were utterly outclassed and Lindsay's superiority in the hockey world has to be recognized by our eastern neighbors for another year.

Nine goals to one. Just think of it! The sporting element in Peterborough will resort to playing checkers of an evening until the baseball season comes surely, with a defeat like that rankling in their breasts.

The Peterborough line-up was somewhat changed last night. Charley Ray and Ross were off and their places were taken by Harry Morgan and Herb Long, who played rover and centre, respectively. "Jakey" Moore was on right wing, while Leo Quinn played his favorite position at cover point. The team the management held was stronger than last Wednesday's line-up. Leo Derocher forgot his rabbit foot last night and did not play his usually brilliant game. An off night comes to the best of them occasionally. Rolly Glover at point played his used brilliant, gentlemanly game, and proved a tower of strength to the visitors' defence. Leo Quinn was the star of the evening. He played a wonderfully brilliant game, his stick and rushing bordering on the phenomenal, but his efforts were not always assisted. His work was clean last night, and he made many friends among the local fans. This battle-scarred veteran worked hard and did good work, notching Peterborough's only goal. Harry made his 'final bow" and is entitled to a tablet in the hall of fame. Herb Long, of the Strathconas, made his debut at centre, and is a good, strong player, with plenty of ginger in his make-up. Dusty, the speedy left wing, played his position well, and gives promise of being a "good one." Jakey Moore, on the right wing, did very well, but he did not play the game he usually puts up on the defence.—The Post.

THE RING

Says the Melbourne Argus of the Johnson-Burns fight;

"Johnson was using his great strength with such practiced ease that the efforts of Burns seemed puny and childish. It might have been a good-humored father allowing his son to cling to his waist and batter at his ribs, knowing well that the boy's little punch could not hurt him. Burns brought all his skill into play but he could not penetrate Johnson's defence. Johnson coolly turned his blows aside with his glove, or took the force out of them by striking him on the biceps. Burns gave up the attempt to fight at close quarters and took to long range fighting. But he soon found that his opponent was equally his master there. Johnson simply stood still, let Burns feint and strike at him until an opening came; then, with a paralyzing rush, he would dash at Burns, driving his left hard in to the body, crossing with his right and aiming blows with such strength and fury that Burns could only defend himself by clinching and accepting punishment at close quarters."

WRESTLING

The Toronto Star says;—Although beaten in straight falls last night, Fritz Mohl, the German giant, proved himself to be one of the gamest and trickiest wrestlers that ever appeared in Toronto. His conqueror was the well-known heavyeight Yankee Rogers. Rogers won the first fall in 37 minutes and 55 seconds and the second in 20 minutes and 12 seconds. The bout took place at Riverdale Arena.

Mohl showed his grit and courage in the first engagement when he refused to surrender to a double toe hold, one of the most punishing holds known. Just when it seemed as if the German's folded legs must both snap, he threw all his strength into one effort and kicked Rogers clean across the mat. He turned quickly, and diving headlong after the surprised Yankee, nailed him with a bar nelson and all but downed him before he figured out what had really happened. The crowd, already wrought to a high pitch of excitement by the liveliest sort of a mat battle, climbed up on the chairs and seats in pure excitement at the sudden change in the struggle. A moment later Mohl pulled off a crafty trick. Rogers had him in a dangerous hold and apparently down when the German reached behind him and slapped him smartly on the back. Thinking it was the referee's signal for a fall, Rogers let go the hold and Mohl seized an unexpected grip, and while Rogers protested to the referee almost got him again. Mohl after extricating himself from various bad holds, including a full leg Nelson and several toe holds, threw Rogers off the stage twice to escape falls. He was finally pinned by a double leg hold, a very pretty fall.

In the second bout both travelled fast and had the crowd cheering like mad all the way. Then Rogers got his famous leg lock and, kneeling calmly on one knee and utilizing the other to twist Mohl's leg, proceeded to make the German quit. For fully three minutes he held him, but the plucky Teuton stuck to his knitting and finally wrenched the twisted foot free, only to go under a moment later to a shoulder lock and further arm hold. Though it was a fast hard bout all the way, Referee Garnet Marsh only had occasion to warn the wrestlers twice for foul tactics. Rogers is the best man who has ever appeared in Toronto.

ARE AFTER GOTCH.

New York, Feb. 13.—There is no immediate prospect for a match between Frank Gotch, world's heavyweight champion wrestler, and Ernest Siegfried, the "German Oak." Gotch slipped into port a few days ago and lost no time in getting out. Shortly after disembarking from the Deutchland he boarded a train for Buffalo where he has been doing a theatrical turn. He won't be in New York for some time.

A few of the vigilantes, including Johnny Dunn, appointed themselves a reception committee and when Gotch stepped off the boat a few offers were tossed at him. Dunn was the special of Siegford.

"I am not sidestepping anybody," declared the champion, "but I will be busy for awhile with my stage work. I'm willing to meet either Siegfried or Mahmout in a catch-as-catch-can match when suitable terms and purses are offered."

Siegfried will have to stick around a bit before he gets a match with Gotch or Yousiff Mahmout. Gotch is going after the Turk first. This pair are practically matched to meet in Chicago about March 20. The only detail to be arranged is the purse. Gotch demands a $10,000 purse, the same as was put up when he defeated Hackenschmidt, and he wants the winner to take 65 per cent.

Siegfried is a Graeco-Roman wrestler, and this is not the popular style in this country. Both Gotch and Mahmout are best at catch-as-catch-can and it looks as if the German will have to consent to a mixed match or go without work.

TOMMY BURNS MAY GO ON THE STAGE

San Francisco, Feb. 13. — That Tommy Burns, the Canadian heavyweight boxer, recently defeated by Jack Johnson, intends to remain indefinitely in Australia and enter into business there, is indicated today by the fact that Eddie Brusso, Burns' brother, and Mrs. L. C. Keating, wife of Burns' brother-in-law, are preparing to leave for the island continent.

Burns cabled Brusso to join him at once in Sydney. Brusso has confided to his friends that he will open a hotel in Australia, and it is also understood that there is a possibility that Keating and Burns may enter the theatrical business in the antipodes.

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

The letter that caused Bobby such perturbation came in the morning mail. His friend had laid bare some of the old stories concerning James Bansemer and cautioned him not to become involved in transactions with the former New Yorker. Harbert's statements were positive in character, and he seemed to know his case thoroughly well. While the charges as they came to Rigby were general, Harbert had said that he was quite ready to be specific.

All day long the letter hung like a cloud over young Mr. Rigby. He was to have lunched with Graydon and was much relieved when young Bansemer telephoned that he could not join him. Rigby found himself in a very uncomfortable position. If the stories from New York were true, even though he knew none of the inside facts, Graydon's father was pretty much of a scalawag, to say the least. He was not well acquainted with the lawyer, but he now recalled that he never had liked the man. Bansemer had impressed him from the beginning as heartless, designing, utterly unlike his clean hearted son.

Bobby loved Graydon Bansemer in the way that one man loves a true friend. He was certain that the son knew nothing of those shady transactions—if they really existed as Harbert painted them—but an exposure of the father would be a blow from which he could not recover.

It came at last to Rigby that he was not the only one in Chicago who held the secret. Other members of the bar had been warned long before the news came to him, and it was morally certain that if the facts were as bad as intimated the police also were in possession of them.

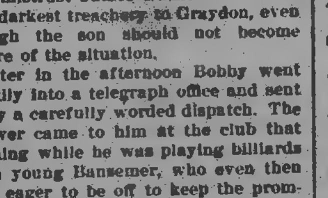
At the same time Rigby felt a certain moral responsibility involving himself. Bansemer at any time might apply his methods to people who were near and dear to him. The new intimacy with the Cables came to Bobby's mind. And then there were Clegg, Crall, the Semesons and others who might easily fall into the snare if James Bansemer set it for them.

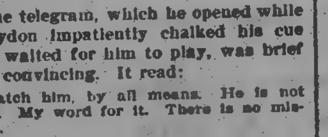
Appreciating his responsibility in the matter, now that he was prepared to hear the worst of James Bansemer, Rigby's heart stood almost still. It meant that some day he might have to expose Graydon Bansemer's father. It meant that he might have to cruelly hurt his friend. It meant that he might lose a friendship that had been one of his best treasures since the good old college days. The mere fact that he would be compelled to watch and mistrust James Bansemer seemed like darkest treachery to Graydon, even though the son should not become aware of the situation.

Later in the afternoon Bobby went guiltily into a telegraph office and sent away a carefully worded dispatch. The answer came to him at the club that evening while he was playing billiards with young Bansemer, who even then was eager to be off to keep the promised appointment with pretty Miss Cable.

The telegram, which he opened while Graydon impatiently chalked his cue and waited for him to play, was brief and convincing. It read:

> Watch him, by all means. He is not safe. My word for it. There is no mistake.





CHAPTER IX.

THE little room off the library was Jane's "den." Her father had a better name for it. He called it her "web," but only in secret conference. Graydon Bansemer lounged there in blissful contemplation of a roseate fate, all the more enjoyable because his very ease was the counterpoise of doubt and uncertainty. No word of love had passed between the mistress of the web and her loyal victim. But eyes and [illegible] had translated the mysterious, voiceless language of the heart into the simplest of sentences. They loved and they knew it.

After leaving Rigby at the club Graydon drove to the north side, thrilled to the marrow with the prophecies of the night. His heart was in that little room off the library—and had been there for months. It was the abode of his thoughts. The stars out above the cold, glittering lake danced merrily for him as he whirled up the Drive. The white carpet of February crinkled and creaked with the chill of the air, but his heart was hot and safe and sure. He knew that she knew what he was coming for that night—the first kiss!

Jane's face was warm; her eyes had the tender glow of joy expectant; her voice was soft with the promise of coming surrender. Their hands met and clasped as she stood to welcome him in the red, seductive dimness of the little throneroom. His tall frame quivered; his lean, powerful, young face betrayed the hunger of his heart; his voice turned husky. It was not as he had planned. Her beauty—her mere presence—swept him past the preliminary fears and doubts. His handclasp tightened, and his face drew resistlessly to hers. Then their hands went suddenly cold.

"You know, don't you, Jane, darling?" he murmured.

"Yes," she answered after a moment softly, securely. He crushed her in his strong arms. All the world seemed to have closed in about her. Her eyes, suffused with happiness, looked sweetly into his until she closed them with the coming of the first kiss. "I love you—oh, I love you!" she whispered.

"I worship you, Jane!" he responded. "I have always worshiped you!"

It was all so natural, so normal. The love that had been silent from the first had spoken, that was all—had put into words its untold story.

"Jane, I am the proudest being in the world!" he said, neither knew how long afterward, for neither thought of time. They were sitting on the couch in the corner, their turbulent hearts at rest. "To think, after all, that such a beautiful being as you can be mine forever! It's—why, it's inconceivable!"

"You were sure of me all the time, Graydon," she remonstrated. "I tried to hide it, but I couldn't. You must have thought me a perfect fool all these months."

"You are very much mistaken, if you please. You did hide it so successfully at times that I was sick with uncertainty."

"Well, it's all over now," she smiled. And he sighed with a great relief.

"All over but the—the wedding," he said.

"Oh, that's a long way off. Let's not worry over that, Graydon."

"A long way off? Nonsense! I won't wait."

"Won't?"

"I should have said can't. Let's see. This is February. March, dearest?"

"Graydon, you are so much younger than I thought. A girl simply cannot be hurried through a—an engagement. Next winter."

"Next what? That's nearly a year, Jane. It's absurd! I'm ready."

"I know. It's mighty noble of you too. But I just can't, dearest. No one ever does."

"Don't—don't you think I'm prepared to take care of you?" he said, straightening up a bit.

She looked at his strong figure and into his earnest eyes and laughed so adorably that his resentment was only passing.

"I can't give you a home like this," he explained. "But you know I'll give you the best I have all my life."

"You can't help succeeding, Graydon," she said earnestly. "Every one says that of you. I'm not afraid. I'm not thinking of that. It isn't the house I care for. It's the home. You must let me choose the day."

"I suppose it's customary," he said at last. "June is the month for brides, let me remind you."

"Before you came this evening I had decided on January next, but now I am willing to"—

"Oh, you decided before I came, eh?" laughingly.

"Certainly," she said unblushingly. "Just as you had decided on the early spring. But listen, dear. I am willing to say September of this year."

"One, two, three—seven months. They seem like years, Jane. You won't say June?"

HOW JOHNSON JOLLIED BURNS

Following is a complete Australian account of the Johnson-Burns heavyweight championship fight in Sydney N.S.W. on December 26, 1908. It is taken from the West Australian, a leading Sydney newspaper:

"In fourteen one-sided rounds in all of which he had prevailed, Jack Johnson, the colored champion, defeated Tommy Burns, the holder of the world's boxing championship yesterday in the presence of 16,000 persons, the house running into $130,000, at the Stadium, Rushcutter Bay.

Except to those who had seen the remarkable capacity of Burns for taking punishment in his fight with Squires the issue was not in doubt from the first clash of blows.

Within five seconds of the commencement Johnson slipped Burns a nasty uppercut on the chin, knocking him down and keeping him on the floor for six seconds. A few moments later he sent the champion to the boards again and from then out Burns was hopelessly outclassed.

Every round terminated in favor of the negro, and long before the police entered the ring in the fourteenth round and compelled a cessation of hostilities, Burns was plainly a beaten man.

Throughout, however he displayed the courage and capacity for taking punishment which did much to soften the blows which Johnson delivered not only to his adversary but to spectators, nearly every one of whom was obviously in sympathy with the white man.

Johnson throughout fought a fair and manly battle, although it was different many battle although it was contested by both men in accordance with the American practice of hitting freely in clinches, but unfortunately his fine boxing was disfigured by a display of bombast that is happily seldom seen in any sporting arena.

Johnson was greatly the superior of Burns; in fact, it seemed possible that he could have beaten him in half the time had he so chosen. Instead of doing so he protracted the combat apparently that he might enjoy the discomfiture of his opponent and protract as far as possible the pain he inflicted on him.

He kept up a running fire of remarks either directly insulting to Burns or intended to express indirect contempt. Throughout the contest it was manifest that Johnson was fighting something besides the short, game Belgian-Canadian, who took the blows showered on him and came for more until his face resembled something that was scarcely human. It was an ethnological study, as well as a boxing contest, and the white man's burden was too great for Burns to carry.

From the beginning to the end Burns did not get what is known as a "look in." As he prevailed over Squires by a system of infighting new to Australia, so did Johnson beat him by the same tactics, and as far as outfighting was concerned, Burns could not reach the negro.

The blows aimed fell short and the only effort was to cause a broad grin from a mouthful of gold teeth and either an invitation to show what he could do or a nod to an imaginary acquaintance in the crowd.

'Come on, Tommy,' smiled Johnson, "Thought you were a great fighter."

"Tommy, let us see what you can do."

"Hush, Whose going to get off the sidewalk of Broadway now, eh Tommay."

"Aint I clever, eh."

Also last to the crowd, and though everybody present was agreed to his cleverness, it was plain that not an admirer present thought Johnson half as clever as he thought himself.

ECZEMA OF THE SCALP

Zam-Buk Cures a Boy Who Suffered for Three Years

Now and again mothers find that sores or ulcers on the heads of children refuse to heal, despite all ordinary treatment. For three long years the son of Mrs. Grummitt, of 114 Moorse street, Toronto, had eczema of the scalp. She says—"It broke out behind his ears, and was so painful that he was unable to sleep at night. I used almost every ointment known, and called in the doctor, but all of no avail. A friend recommended me to try Zam-Buk, and I procured a supply. After using three boxes, my little boy was completely cured."

Another case which mothers will read with interest occurred recently in Winnipeg. Mrs. C. Keep, of 592, Alexander Avenue, Winnipeg, says—"A year ago my little girl contracted eczema of the scalp, and notwithstanding all I did the sores spread until the child's scalp was completely covered. I took her to a hospital, but none of the lotions and ointments applied had any effect on the disease. By degrees the child's hair came out until she was quite bald. We were at this stage strongly advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. From first commencing with this wonderful balm the child got relief from the itching and pain. The sores were quickly banished, and in a remarkably short space of time the child was cured. The hair soon grew again, and is now quite long and in a healthy condition."

All who have care of children should know that Zam-Buk is particularly adapted, because of its purity, to the tender skin of children. It cures with equal dispatch ringworm, blood-poisoning, ulcers, cold-cracks, chapped hands, frost bite, piles, bad leg, etc. Used as an embrocation it cures the pain of sprains, and cures rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgia. All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box; or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

PICTURES TELL ABOUT FIGHT

London, Feb. 15.—The films of the Burns—Johnson fight at Sydney, Australia, Dec. 26 last, were shown for the first time Saturday to the correspondents at the National Sporting Club. Every blow may be distinctly followed. The sunny smile of Johnson is everywhere evident. Even the movements of his lips as he chaffed Burns are plainly visible.

Contrary to reports from Australia, Johnson did not stand off an fight as had been believed. He always kept at close quarters, and, indeed, was most rough at this style. It was in the clinches that the negro got in his most damaging blows.

Burns was always the aggressor, and always outboxed Johnson, but he played into the man's hands from the very start. The Canadian foolishly tried to match his strength and weight against that of the colored fighter. He would come to close quarters and slug away toe to toe. It seemed as if the "kidding" of Johnson made Burns so furious that he lost all judgment.

There seems some mystery as to why the fight should have been stopped. Despite the knockdown in the fourteenth round, Burns seemed strong and able to continue.

After looking at the films Jimmie Britt said—"It was Johnson's size and weight that made his victory possible. Certainly it was not his ability. I do not hesitate to state that that if Jeffries is half as good as he was when he retired, he will beat Johnson easily. These pictures will convince the American public that Jeffries need not fear Johnson if he decides to re-enter the ring."

WRESTLING

It looks as if Hamilton's bowling and wrestling fans will shortly have an opportunity of seeing Fritz Mohl, the noted German grappler, in action. Charlie Conkle sent word from Buffalo yesterday afternoon that he would accept Mohl's challenge on behalf of himself, Sam Zeller, and an "unknown" He agreed to all the conditions imposed by Mohl, but stipulated that the match must take place between February 17th and February 24th. Conkle stated he would be back in this city on Tuesday and make final arrangements then. He sent word to Zeller to commence training at once, and the giant barber is as happy as a boy, just let out of school.

If the match is arranged efforts no doubt will be made by the officers of the Hamilton Bowling and Athletic [illegible] alleys. One of his favorite stunts is to have Mohl give an exhibition [illegible] is to stand behind the pins and catch the ball as it comes through.—Hamilton Spectator.

BUILDING OF NEW "VIAMEDE" WILL COMMENCE NEXT WEEK

Accommodation Facilities Will be Greatly Increased—New Resort to be Modern Throughout—Will be Ready for Opening on June 15th.

"Viamede" the popular Stony Lake summer resort, is to be rebuilt and it will be larger and finer than ever. Mr. Graham, the proprietor, was in the city today and gave some interesting information regarding the new building work on which will commence next week.

In the disastrous fire that visited "Viamede" at the close of last season, five houses were destroyed including the main one.

The new building will be 160 feet long by 140 feet wide, fronting on the lake. An immense kitchen and servants' quarters will be erected at the rear, 24 by 44 feet. The bedrooms, thirty-six in number, will be large, bright and airy. The house will be fitted with the most modern improvements in the line of plumbing and will be lighted with gas. It will be built of cove siding and will occupy the same site as the old one commanding a splendid view of the lake and where the guests will benefit most from the cool refreshing breezes.

The accommodation facilities will be greatly increased. The new building will have room for about one hundred persons. In addition to this, there are yet two other cottages which were not burned.

Mr. Graham expects that everything will be completed and ready for opening on June 15th. The lumber is being taken up tomorrow in order that the contractor might commence building next week.

WERE FINED FOR BEING DISORDERLY IN A CAFE

Three well known young men were each fined two dollars and costs amounting to $4.60 at the police court this morning. They did not appear in court but sent word that they would plead guilty. They were charged with being disorderly, the disturbance having been committed in the Dominion Chinese Cafe, one night last week. It is said that they went in there and by their behavior did considerable damage by breaking dishes and spilling pickle bottles and other things over the table.

Port Hope, Feb 16—At a meeting of the town council last night compulsory vaccination was ordered and a Mayoral proclamation will be issued shortly enforcing it. CLAIMS $5,000 DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF ARM IN ACCIDENT AT THE C. G. E. FACTORY

The winter sittings of the High Court, as was announced a few days ago, will be heard on Monday next before Mr. Justice Clute. There will be two jury cases and one non-jury. Particulars of the non-jury one have been given and the jury ones are—

CROWLEY VS. C. G. E. CO.

Maurice Crowley, the plaintiff, resides in Peterboro, and was from the 8th of March, 1905, to the 28th day of February, 1908, inclusive, employed by the defendants as a machine attendant in the C.G.E. works. On or about the 28th day of February, 1908, the plaintiff while being so employed by the defendants, and in the performance of the work required of him, was engaged in passing rubber through one of the calenders and withdrawing the same therefrom, and in the course of such work his hand was caught between the rolls of the machine, his hand and arm being badly crushed, resulting in the loss of the hand and a great part of the arm.

The plaintiff claims that the accident was due to a defect in the condition of the machine, which defect was not due to the negligence of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff alleges that the defendants for a considerable length of time prior to the accident knew of the defect, and notwithstanding this, permitted the same to remain in such defective condition.

The plaintiff claims $5,000 damages and the costs of the action. O'Connell and Gordon for the plaintiff. Duvernet, Raymond, Jones, Ross and Ardagh, defendents' solicitors.

FOWLER VS FANNING AND BRUMWELL.

The plaintiff in this case claims from Matilda Fanning and Jacob Brumwell, $1560 and costs for the board of Jane Brumwell, widow, deceased, from the month of October, 1902, until the time of her death in March 1908. At the time of taking up her residence with the plaintiff, the late Jane Brumwell promised to pay for her board and lodging and attendance but did not during her lifetime. Dennistoun, Peck and Kerr for the plaintiff; Dumble and Johnston for the defendants.

IF YOU'RE GOING TO EUROPE YOU'LL HAVE TO START

If Your Name is Not on the List by Next Tuesday it Will Be Too Late to Compete for the Trip of a Lifetime—Nominations Positively Close Next Monday Evening.

The ballot vote recorded to-day is quite heavy, although the certificates deposited in the ballot box were somewhat lighter than Monday. Miss Tryphena Chasty made the greatest gain for the day. There is always a lull before a storm, and the apparent quietness in the certificate line forebodes lively times very soon. Miss Maude Perry is again the leader of the entire contest, only 2,500 votes separating the four highest contestants.

Believing that quite a few people are intending to enter the contest themselves or nominate some friend at a later date, we have decided to limit the date that nominations will be accepted and thus let those who are in the contest know who their real opponents are. If you wish a trip to EUROPE or a beautiful diamond ring or a handsome gold watch, you must have your name in the ballot box not later than next Monday night. The line-up on Tuesday will be complete.

There will never be a better time to enter the contest. A determined, persistent effort is all that is required to win a prize. There is more to it than that, too. Here's an excellent opportunity to learn, beyond question, just who your real friends are. You can weed them out by going into this contest and, later on, will not be banking on support which you will not receive in the larger affairs of life.

Enter the contest while the nominations are open. Have your friends help you win a trip to Europe, a diamond ring or a magnificent gold watch. The time is here; the prizes are here. Now it is up to you to get out and be THERE!

Watch for the great bonus offer to-morrow.

GLASSES ARE PLENTIFUL

But it is almost a certainty that they would be even more common still if everybody wore them who should. You find people doing without them just as long as they possibly can which is a very wrong thing to do, indeed, every day makes the case harder to deal with. If you, reader, have the slightest cause to believe that your eyes need the attention of an optician, we shall be pleased to advise you if you need glasses, and if glasses are not necessary we will tell you so. We invite you to call and ask us about your eyes.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT OPENED BY THE KING

Their Majesties Were Warmly Greeted.

Reference in Speech to U.S.-Canadian Waterways Treaty—Unemployed Women Parade.

London, Feb. 17.—A greater crowd than usual gathered at Westminster yesterday for the state opening of Parliament by King Edward, who was accompanied to the function by Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the royal family.

A day of bright sunshine and the fact that this was the first public appearance of Their Majesties since their return from Berlin was largely responsible for the outpouring of the people, who gave the sovereigns an enthusiastic greeting as they passed in procession, with an escort of the Guards to the House of Parliament. In the neighborhood of Oxford Circus the half-starved wives and female dependents of the unemployed gathered to the number of 7,000 or 8,000 and paraded through the streets of the west end. They were led by a band playing the Marseillaise. During this procession the windows of jewelry dealers in Oxford street were smashed.

Within the chamber the members of the two Houses and a select few who had been invited to witness the actual ceremony expectantly awaited the reading of the King's speech.

King Edward's speech from the throne contained no surprises, the projected legislation forecasted by His Majesty being largely social in character.

"Satisfactory progress has been made in the negotiations on outstanding questions with the United States. A treaty to regulate the use of waterways adjacent to the international boundary between Canada and the United States had been arranged, and this question being one of special Canadian interest, the advice of the Dominion Government was sought and followed throughout.

"My ambassador in Washington has negotiated also, with the co-operation of the Canadian and Newfoundland Ministers of Justice, an agreement for reference to arbitration of the North American fisheries question, and I trust that this agreement will be the means of effecting a final and friendly settlement of matters which have been long under discussion between this country and the United States."

Referring to the budget His Majesty declared that "in consequence of the old-age pensions and the increase which has become necessary in the cost of my navy, the expenditures this year will be considerably in excess of the past twelve months."

Among the bills to be introduced to Parliament, the King mentioned the measure for the disestablishment and the disendowment of the church in Wales, a bill dealing with the lack of employment in the country, amendments to the old-age pension act, and other purely domestic matters.

Lord Liverpool said the Anglo-American treaty was the most important ever sent to The Hague. If ratified it would settle the dispute forever.

Lord Lansdowne noted with particular satisfaction the announcement that in regard at any rate to one or two questions the Government had been able to carry the Canadian Government with them.

THREATENED WITH BOMB

Kansas City Millionaire Captures Desperate Man Who Wanted Cash.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 17.—Armed with a revolver in one hand and a dynamite bomb in the other, a man, apparently about 40 years of age, yesterday entered the home of Lawrence M. Jones, millionaire, president of the Jones' Brothers' drygoods company of this city, and demanded $7,000.

Mrs. Jones soon entered the library and she in turn was ordered to be seated. Chester I. Jones, secretary of the Jones company, followed his mother, and he, too, was ordered to be seated. Mr. Jones then suggested the man accompany him to the bank. This was agreed to. As the pair was passing through the lower hall Jones placed his foot in front of the visitor, hurled him to the floor and called the police.

At the police station the man said that on account of family and business troubles he had concluded that a desperate effort to get a few thousand dollars might give him still one more chance. He declared he did not intend Jones any real harm.

TWO HUNDRED MINERS BURIED

Explosion in English Colliery May Result in Many Eeaths.

Newcastle, England, Feb. 17.—There were two explosions at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the West Stanley colliery, 12 miles from here, which employs 400 men. Nearly 200 of the men were in the pit at the time, and up to a late hour last night none of them have come to the surface, although rappings have been heard, and it is supposed these are from some of the miners who escaped death.

Almost immediately after the explosion flames burst through the shaft, scorching the workers at the pit head, and blowing out the fencing and apparatus at the entrance to the mine. At midnight it was still impossible to attempt a rescue.

An explosion involving 12 lives occurred at the same colliery in 1882.

DANGEROUS TO DODGE THEM

Boy Killed Eluding Stenographers Who Wanted to Kiss Him.

New York, Feb. 17.—Endeavoring to elude a bevy of pretty stenographers who sought to kiss him in honor of his fifteenth birthday, George Spencer Millet was the victim of an odd and fatal accident late yesterday in the offices of the Metropolitan Insurance Co.

The lad, struggling to escape from the embraces of the girls, accidentally fell to the floor and a razor in his pocket pierced his side above his heart. He died from internal hemorrhage on the way to the hospital.

SYNOD OF TORONTO IS IN SESSION

Successor to Late Bishop Sweatman Will be Selected—May be Protracted Contest

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Feb 17—The meeting of the Synod of Toronto Anglican dioceses called to select a new Diocesan Bishop in succession to the late Bishop Sweatman was called to order at 2.30 this afternoon in St James' Cathedral. The Ven. Archdeacon was in the chair. Divine service was held this morning at which the litany was sung and holy communion celebrated. Bishop Reeves delivered the sermon. It is expected the election which has resolved into a contest between the high and low church men whose candidates are respectively, Bishop Thorneloe of Algoma, and Canon Cody, of Toronto, will be a portracted one.

PORT HOPE HOTELS ARE NOW CLOSED

Port Hope, Feb. 16.—Local option to a certain degree struck Port Hope this morning, and it was without the passage of a by-law or the casting of a single vote. The "nothing doing" sign is hanging out and the law is being strictly observed. The cause is that the dreaded smallpox visited two local hotels, the American and the Ontario House, last evening, and now men are stationed at each hotel to allow no persons out or in. The boarders at both places are quarantined and it is not yet known how long it may last. The Medical Health Officer says there is no stated period and it will be a matter for the Board of Health and Council to decide.

Both patients have been removed, the hotels thoroughly fumigated and the inmates vaccinated.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERED PLANS FOR PUBLIC LIBRARY

Have Been Submitted by a Local and a Boston Firm—To Sell the Old Hall Building on Simcoe Street.

A meeting of the Property Committee was held yesterday afternoon, when several important matters were considered, among them the public library question. Those present were Ald. Bradburn, chairman, and Ald. McIntyre, Ald. Duncan and Mayor Rush.

The first matter taken up was that of selling of the old R. Hall property on Simcoe street. The building is empty, and is an expense to the city, while the committee wants to pay for the lot for the new library out of the proceeds of the sale.

Ald. Duncan suggested that a price of $14,000 be placed on the building and that it be placed in the hands of the real estate agents to sell.

Ald. McIntyre agreed with Ald. Duncan and put it in the form of a resolution, which was carried.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Plans were received from McLean & Wright, of Boston, Mass., and from Messrs. J. E. Belcher and Wm. Blackwell, associated architects, of the city, for a new public library. Both architects submitted elaborate plans, well gotten up and for modern and handsome buildings. The plan submitted by Messrs. McLean & Wright, provided for a very handsome building, but Messrs. Belcher and Blackwell's plans gave a little more room which is a desirable feature. The majority of the committee were in favor of submitting the plans of the local architects to the Council for consideration. The outside of the plan by Messrs. McLean & Wright was the better, but the interior arrangement of the others was preferred.

Chairman Bradburn stated that this thing must be settled at once, if the building is to be gone on with this spring, so that it will in all probability be settled on Friday night when the committee of the Whole Council will be held, which plan will be adopted.

One thing in favor of the plans of the Boston firm is that the structure that they propose to erect is something entirely different to the styles of building in the city now.

FORMER PETERBOROUGH MAN PASSED AWAY IN AUSTRALIA

Word Received of the Death of Mr. Charles Hard Who Left Here Fifty-Six Years Ago—Was Eighty-Three Years of Age.

During the gold excitement in Australia over fifty years ago many Canadians left this country to seek their fortune in the gold fields. Among those who went was Mr. Chas. Hard, of Peterborough, of whose death word has just been received here. Mr. Hard left Peterborough fifty-six years ago, and remained in Australia, where his death occurred on the 7th ulto.

He was a half brother of the late R. H. Green, late of this city, whom he predeceased by nine or ten days. He was in his eighty-third year, and always enjoyed good health until within a week of his demise when he gradually and peacefully slept his life away. He is survived by one son and two daughters, who were with him when he died. Up to the time of his leaving here Mr. Hard was well and favorably known to a large circle of friends and acquaintances, but the great majority of them like himself, have crossed the bar.

COMMITTEE WILL VISIT CHURCHES IN OTHER CITIES

The session and managers of Knox church held a meeting last evening in reference to preparing plans for the building of a new church. Rev. Mr. Keith, the pastor, occupied the chair. It was decided that before making plans a committee should visit churches in Toronto, Hamilton and Port Hope.

The committee appointed consisted of Rev. H. J. Keith, J. W. Morrison, A. McKenzie, H. McCannan and J. W. Bennet. They will leave on Saturday morning for Toronto, where they will visit a number of churches.

OBJECTION IS TAKEN TO MR. AYLESWORTH'S BILL

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—A couple of Government bills and the civil service salaries resolution occupied the time of the House yesterday afternoon.

One clause of Mr. Graham's bill to amend the Railway Act, he explained, proposed to give the Railway Commission power to regulate the rates for electricity developed by companies to whom the Federal authorities lease water power, such as along the Trent Canal. It was not proposed to interfere with existing contracts. The bill was read a third time.

Mr. Aylesworth's bill, "to prevent the payment or acceptance of illicit or secret commissions and other like practices," was taken up in committee. The main contention was that the bill should definitely assign the trial of cases to any special court. This was raised by Mr. Crothers (West Elgin), and Mr. Carvell (Carleton, N.B.) pointed out that magistrates might take upon themselves to try very serious cases. The accused should have the right to elect.

Mr. Ames (Montreal) asked if the bill would cover the case of a Government employe who canvassed for subscriptions for the campaign fund, on the ground of past favors, or holding out hope of favors to come. This was dealt with by a special act, replied Mr. Aylesworth.

At the suggestion of Mr. Aylesworth, the committee reported progress, the Minister promising to consider the points raised.

On Mr. Fisher's resolution to provide a flat $150 salary increase for the civil service being reached, Hon. Charles Murphy, speaking for the Minister of Agriculture, said that schedules giving the names of the recipients of increases would be incorporated in the bill.

Mr. Foster again criticized the feature of the resolution whereby, he claimed, the outsider boosted into the permanent list gets his $150, even though a few days before he may have received a substantial raise in salary by reason of his change of class. But there were bars to the old permanent servant who had been "scratching gravel" for fifteen or twenty years, getting his $150 if he had reached his maximum.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier promised that when the bill was considered, due consideration would be given to the views of the members.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN IN MAJORITY IN THE THEATRE

Mexico City, Feb. 17.—Late despatches from Acapulco, where the Flores Theatre was burned Sunday night when the structure was crowded at a gala performance given in honor of Governor Lamian Flores, of the State of Guerrero, bring varying estimates of the loss of life from the holocaust. They agree in declaring, however, that the dead will exceed 200, mostly women and children, while some place the figures as high as 350. Most of the dead were charred and burned beyond recognition. No Americans were among them.

All business at the port has ceased, the shops having closed and the people are crowding the churches, where masses are being celebrated throughout the state of Guerrero and in Mexico City for sufferers.

The fire, which spread with incredible rapidity through the immense wooden and adobe structure, was due to the carelessness and inexperience of the operator of the moving picture machine. There was an explosion and a burst of flame communicated to the bunting. The flames started practically over the main entrance and the exits were all in the front part of the building, which was almost immediately turned into a wall of fire.

The greatest loss of life was occasioned, according to survivors, by the fall of the roof, which crashed down a short time after the blaze was discovered, striking down women and children in their efforts to escape.

The firemen and the crowds on the outside could do nothing to help. After five or ten minutes there was no noise, save that made by the spurting and crackling flames.

COUNTY COUNCIL WILL WAIT; GO TO OTTAWA NEXT WEEK

A deputation consisting of the whole County Council will go to Ottawa on Tuesday next, where on Wednesday they will wait upon Hon. Mr. Pugsley Minister of Public Works, and Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals. The Council's visit to Ottawa is in reference to the building of a bridge for Indians at Chemong Indian Village, a bridge at Ball Lake and the widening of the approaches to the Buckhorn bridge.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE FORECASTS NEW LEGISLATION

LEADER TANNER WAS DEFEATED

Liberal Candidate Wins in Pictou, N.S., Bye-election.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 17.—The bye-election for the seat in the Local Legislature for Pictou County, made vacant by the resignation of C. E. Tanner, to contest the county at the last Dominion elections, took place yesterday, and resulted in the return of the Liberal candidate, McKay, over Tanner (Conservative) by about 200.

Tanner was the Conservative leader in the Local House, and was elected two years ago by nearly 400. The result yesterday is a great disappointment to Conservatives.

The Liberals made a strong fight against Tanner. E. M. McDonald, M.P., has been in the county for the past two weeks, and local heavyweights, led by Premier Murray, have been in the county in large numbers.

The Local House will meet in a few days. The parties in the Legislature stand: Conservatives 4, Independents 1, Liberals 33.

MOTHER IS IN THE HOSPITAL

And Public is Appealed to for Support of Twins Who Recently Came into the World

A few days ago the Review contained particulars of a deserving case of charity in the city. A woman, whose husband is out of employment, gave birth to twins and the mother has since become seriously ill and is now in the hospital. The babies have been placed with a woman who has to be paid for her services.

Money is needed for this deserving case. The city relief office, the Children's Aid Society, the King's Daughters and other organizations looking after charitable cases already have all they can do and the public is appealed to for the support of the twins.

Contributions left at the Review office or with the Children's Aid Society or King's Daughters will be acknowledged and devoted to this deserving case.

DIED RATHER THAN MARRY

Girl Ends Her Life During Marriage Feast Arranged by Parents

Pittsburg, Feb. 16.—True to her lover she left in Russia, Smila Majstorovit, 16 years old, of the Russo-Greek colony of Duquesne, a suburb, cut her throat rather than marry a suitor of her parents' choice.

Against her wishes her wedding to Michael Cucolz had been arranged, and the wedding feast was celebrated. She was still obdurate, and, it is stated, that her father locked her in a room with Cucolz, hoping she might relent. When long after midnight the beer ran out Smila was sent to the cellar for more. She did not return, and her brother found her dead with her throat cut.

Cucolz is said to have gone to Milwaukee, but no suspicion attaches to him, as the police assert the girl's death was a clean case of suicide.

ZOO LION GETS AFTER A VISITOR

Ferocious Beast Seizes Man Who Was Climbing on Railing Around Cage

London, Feb. 16.—The folly of visitors to the Zoological Gardens attempting to feed the lions and other animals through the bars of their cages was exemplified by an accident which occurred on Thursday morning.

Around the outside cages of the lions' house is an iron railing some three feet high to keep the public out of harm's way. While a knot of sightseers were watching three lions in their cage, a young man, William Percivial, climbed up the railing and leaned right over to the cage.

In an instant a lion had shot forth a paw and caught the man's right arm with its claws. A scene of wild confusion ensued. The man cried for help as he felt himself dragged nearer the cage, the screams of women and children added to the turmoil while the lion was spitting and snarling through the bars. The bystanders succeeded in pulling Percival away just as several keepers dashed up.

Fortunately, Percival was wearing a thick overcoat, but even this, and his undercoat as well, was torn away and the forearm lacerated and scored with claw marks. He was taken in a cab to the London Temperance Hospital and was able, when his wounds had been dressed, to go to his home near Vauxhall.

"We shall have vertical railings put around the railings instead of the horizontal ones because of this incident," said Dr. Chalmers Mitchell, the secretary of the Royal Zoological Society, yesterday, "and this will make them more difficult to climb, although why any one should want to climb them as they are I cannot understand."

Law Reform First on Calendar.

Splendid Scene in Chamber Marks Opening of Session of Ontario House.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—In a driving sleet which in no way interfered with the display in the interior of the House of the twelfth Legislature of Ontario was opened with all the formality and state traditionally due to the occasion. There has never been a more exquisitely beautiful display of apparel. The fashionable tints are all of the most delicate and subdued order and the effect was one of rare richness without any gaudy color.

The crush in the House was beyond precedent, not less than 1,500 people filling the galleries and floor of the House. Guests began to arrive as early as 1 o'clock, and by 2 o'clock there did not seem to be room for any more. A great many more kept arriving till three, when the guns of the Ninth Field Battery, under Capt. Richardson, rumbled out their salute and the band played the National Anthem as His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor drove up punctually.

The speech from the throne was, in part, as follows:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:—

I am pleased, indeed, to meet the representatives of the people of Ontario in the Legislative Assembly of this province. My recollection of the many years when I sat in the Legislature, during sixteen of which I was a member of the Government, is of a distinctly pleasant character, especially when I recall the good will and friendly relations which always existed between my fellow-members and myself.

Our thanks are due to Almighty God for the good harvest of the past year, and for the general prosperity of the people.

The celebration of the Tercentenary of the founding of Quebec by Champlain in connection with the steps taken for the nationalization of the celebrated battlefields of Quebec, which took place in the month of July last, was a success in every respect. The presence of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, by the desire of His Majesty the King, and the admirable addresses delivered by the former, contributed largely to the enthusiasm and satisfaction which were the prevailing features of the great occasion.

The Canadian Improvement Co. having made sale of its interests in the Lake Superior Corporation to English capitalists, has been enabled to pay off the remaining one million dollars of its certificates guaranteed by the Government of Ontario, and these have been cancelled, and the province has now been relieved of all further liability under the Act respecting aid to the Algoma Central & Hudson Bay Railway and Associated Industries at Sault Ste. Marie. A probable result of this sale will be the introduction of a large amount of additional capital into the province to extend these industries and to complete the building of the Algoma Central and Manitoulin and North Shore Railways.

It will afford you gratification to know that the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway has been completed to the town of Cochrane, and also, that the earnings of the railway have continued to be satisfactory.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The Railway Commission has issued an order forbidding railway companies to remove planking from highway crossings in winter.

Daniel Hunter, 224 West Richmond street, Toronto, slept with a broken arm all Monday night. He fell while returning home. He was attended to at St. Michael's Hospital.

William Pembroke, whose place in Cheektowaga was raided recently on the occasion of a big cock fight, pleaded guilty to witnessing a cock fight and was fined $500, which he paid.

A wireless message stating that the big turbiner Mauretania in the day's run ending at noon Monday, on her voyage from Liverpool and Queenstown to New York had made 671 knots.

Prof. Hiram Bingham of Yale University, who is in Southern Peru on a trip of historical research, writes that he has made discoveries of Inca remains near Abanaay of the greatest importance.

The committee of arrangements for the National Missionary Congress of the Laymen's Movement has received the names of 463 commissioners from all parts of the Dominion. Eighty will come from Hamilton.

A bomb was dropped to the street from a passing Second avenue elevated train in New York. The explosion wrecked the windows of a number of small stores. The bomb is believed to have been intended for Joseph Arana, an enemy of the Mafia.

NEED FOR ACTION

Rumors no doubt wholly without foundation but nevertheless damaging if not shown up, are in circulation to the effect that money was used in the late Provincial election in East Peterborough, by Mr James Thompson M.P.P., through Mr. Maher, Reeve of Douro, at present the defendant in an attempt on the part of Mr. D. Moloney to unseat Mr. Maher for alleged bribery, etc, in the recent election for the reeveship in that township. We feel it our duty in their own as in the public interest, to call the attention of those concerned, to the need of being represented at the trial in the present suspicious condition of the public mind. Something in the way of an insinuation, statement of alleged fact, etc, may be made, incidentally, that would forever remain a blot upon good men's reputations. Now is the time to show all that it is necessary to show to reassure the public and to place upon even a firmer footing in the good graces of the people one who received so signal a mark of their trust, confidence and esteem as Mr. Thompson. A great movement is already under weigh to put this unfortunate Canada on its feet like a child lifted out of the mud into which in a moment of childish weakness both physical and moral, it has fallen. The standard set is not high. It is not so high as to frighten anybody into the belief that they are in for an era of fad. It is a very moderate standard indeed one set by our fathers long ago, and one which must be adhered to if we are not to become the laughing-stock, to say nothing worse, of all decent peoples.

SAW-OFFS

From some of the election saw-offs or frame-ups that have been "pulled off" lately it is evident that some of our "illustrious" representatives are under the impression that the People are just so many pawns to be used in the game, but when "checkmate" time comes, to be thrown into the corner till the next game. It would be impossible, however, for our "astute and honourable members" to accomplish their purpose if it were not for the aid and assistance given by the army of the employed i.e., employed by them. Reduced to its last analysis a few manipulate the body-guards, "entrapping" them with a few pieces of the real cheese on the end of a hook. They walk into the trap quite knowingly and willingly —do the body-guards, however—while the many on the outside, do not even get a piece of the bait. Until the People get over their contempt for their own institutions and take a part in the selection as well as the election of their candidates, what else can be expected? Saw-offs are a natural result of crooked conditions on the one hand and crass stupidity on the other. Anything more immoral and degrading can scarcely be suggested and get both parties practise them and will continue to practise them until our representatives are chosen more for the respect they bear for decency than for their wealth, "business ability" or rhetorical powers. The breeding-ground of all our injustice and of all the burdens of our so-called civilization that encumber us so heavily, is in Parliament, to which cliques and party caucuses too often send their own, not the people's, representatives and rejoice in the results in the way of saw-offs and kindred crookedness that are promptly forthcoming. We are bluffed, half the time, "out of our boots" and yet we think we are a very observant people! The latest achievement of the political cracksmen is in the far west, where they have made use of and "improved" upon the magic arts of the east.

London, Feb 13—The fellows of the Geological Society of London have rejected by fifty votes to forty a proposal to admit women members. This result was arrived at after hours of discussion. The decision binds the society, unless a meeting is called for the purpose of reconsidering the question.

If any human being is entitled to such recognition that being is surely Miss Peck, the marvellous mountain climber.

The coming election of Bishop for the Toronto diocese may be interesting if not strenuous. There is a rivalry between the Trinity College following and the Wycliffe College following. The latter are low church, that is to say they do not care for the ceremonial part of church work being what is called "strictly evangelical," and modern. Trinity on the other hand represents the ancient Anglican idea of vestments, choral services, etc. In the latter case too, the wisdom, antiquity and authority of the church are exalted and embodied in a reverence for her that the low church following does not lay much stress on. The clergy are largely ecclesiastical in their inclinations. The laity are more democratic and evangelical. Naturally each school of thought prefers its own type. Canon Cody is an evangelical. Bishop Thorneloe is an ecclesiastic. The process of election will be interesting. Canon Welch is between the two or broad, leaning to high. He is a man of great depth and culture. Rev Dr. Symonds of happy memory, is a layman in the pulpit; one who believes that to decide is to err and that truth lies in a state of flux or continual "development."

A GOOD STOMACH

Means Good Health, Cheerfulness, Ambition, Persistency and Success.

Mi-o-na will cure your dyspepsia or any other stomach trouble by building up the flabby walls and making the stomach so strong that it will digest food without pepsin or other artificial aid.

In other words Mi-o-na cures dyspepsia by removing the cause.

Wm. Madill is the agent for Mi-o-na in Peterborough, and he says to every reader of the Review whose stomach is weak, who has indigestion or dyspepsia that Mi-o-na is guaranteed to cure or money back.

The price is only 50 cents a large box, and one box is all you need to prove that you are on the right road to health and happiness.

Mr. George Linden of corner Mill and Park streets, Elmira, Ont., says:—"For about ten years I have been severely troubled with stomach trouble and indigestion so bad that I could not retain my food after eating. I could not eat meat or scarcely anything and had headaches and constipation. I secured a package of Mi-o-na with the result that now after having taken two boxes I am entirely cured and can eat anything, digest perfectly and am feeling fine. Mi-o-na also overcame my constipation. I am only too glad to publicly endorse and recommend Mi-o-na."

A GOOD IDEA

Editor of the Review

Sir,—I beg to propose the organization of a City Tennis League for the season of 1909, for the giving of an organized impetus to tennis in Peterborough and to determine which club will obtain first place; and to give players of the game an opportunity of winning the city championship; also that the winner and winners may be presented with a trophy as recognition of merit.

1 That each club will be represented by four men.

2 That home and home games of doubles only be played.

3 That the total number of sets won count.

4 That umpires be appointed by the league.

5 That a tournament of men's singles be played by the players representing the different clubs for the city championship in singles.

6 That $1.00 fee be charged each entry for a trophy fund.

7 That the league shall draft the schedule of matches and rules and name the courts, matches shall be played off on.

Will you be kind enough to let me know whether you will enter a team to represent your club.

Yours truly,

W HAROLD CLUXTON

OF INTEREST

The Frenchman Lemoine, who, it is alleged, swindled Sir Julius Wrenber, the well known South Africa magnate, out of $320,000 by pretending to have discovered a process by which artificial diamonds could be made which were indistinguishable from the real gems, has had many predecessors. Indeed, the fraud with which he is charged is nearly half a century old, having been invented so far back as the year 1861 by a man named Gatwick, a Clerkenwell goldsmith, says London Tit-Bits.

Gatwick's method of procedure was the now familiar one of inclosing certain ingredients in a clay matrix, which was then baked in a crucible. When taken out and broken open, after having first been allowed to cool, a fine diamond was found inside, lying like a kernel in a nutshell.

The gem was always a genuine one. But it need hardly be said that it had in no sense been "made" by Gatwick, as was pretended. The trick consisted in having two matrices, the one containing the diamond being secretly substituted for the one containing the supposed diamond producing ingredients at some convenient time or other in the course of the experiment. Gatwick netted several large sums from credulous dupes, but eventually met with his deserts, being shot dead by a Kimberley miner whom he had defrauded of $3,000—all his savings.

Two years later there appeared in San Francisco an individual calling himself Professor Venner, who performed for his own profit a clever variation of the same trick. That is to say, instead of pretending to make diamonds, he professed to be able to manufacture at will any quantity of gold. The dupe, as in the above-mentioned instance, saw a mysterious powder placed in a clay matrix, and a nugget of gold presently taken out.

So often did the self-styled professor perform this operation that he became known throughout the length and breadth of America by the sobriquet of "Gold Brick Teddy." Among other people he swindled were Mr. McKay, the Nevada "Silver King"; Mr. Crocker, the well known California multi-millionaire, from whom he obtained no less than $300,000; and Mr. Flood O'Brien, the mining magnate.

After the States got too hot to hold him, "Teddy" went to Paris, where he swindled a wealthy French financier out of $90,000; and thence journeyed to London, where he got into communication with Mr. Streeter, the well known Bond street jeweller. It speaks volumes for the clever scoundrel's plausibility that he actually succeeded in imposing, for a time at all events, upon even this astute expert.

Indeed Mr. Streeter confessed afterwards at the magisterial inquiry into the charge preferred against "Teddy"—which was that of obtaining money by false pretences—that he at first really believed the prisoner's story. Later, however, when it was suggested that he should find $200,000 for experimental purposes, he became suspicious and communicated with Scotland Yard with the result that "Teddy's" projected raid upon the pockets of English millionaires was nipped in the bud by a sentence of imprisonment.

A very elaborate scheme, having for its special object the swindling of American millionaires visiting London, was unearthed by Scotland Yard detectives in 1899. As no prosecution followed the details were never made public but the writer can vouch, from personal inside knowledge, for the truth of what is here for the first time set forth in print.

The gang of sharpers numbered in all nearly a score of individuals and to each was allotted his own special role, which he practised until perfect. The next step was to establish a bogus club in a fashionable West-end thoroughfare, to which prospective victims were to be decoyed.

So far the plot differed not very very materially from other similar ones which have been initiated over and over again, with more or less success in most or the capitals of Europe. But what raised this one altogether out of the commonplace was the fact of the bogus club being given the name of one which the Prince of Wales (as King Edward then was) was well known to be in the habit of frequenting and of which, indeed, he was actually a member.

Moreover, one of the sharpers was "made up" so as to exactly resemble His Royal Highness while others played the parts of men of standing in society who were notoriously his close personal friends; one, for instance, being got up as Lord R—— another as Baron H——, and so on.

It may perhaps sound incredible that astute men of the world should have been deceived by play-acting such as this. Yet that many were so deceived, and that completely, is an undoubted fact. For this the stage-setting was partly responsible, the "club" being luxuriously furnished. But apart from this, real genius was shown by the decoys who, so far from appearing anxious to introduce the victims they had marked down, were wont to raise all sorts of difficulties as to the introductions, credentials, and so forth.

Not unnaturally, strategy of this kind disarmed suspicion and made the dupes more anxious than ever to secure admission through portals so jealously guarded. Once inside they were quickly relieved of as much hard cash as they could be induced to part with at baccarat. But even then none ever "squealed." Indeed, most of them returned to America without ever realising that they had been the victims of foul play and happy in the consolation that, even if they had met with a stroke of exceptionally hard luck, they could at least boast that they had the honor of playing cards with the (then) future King of England.

In all the gang is believed to have cleared more than $1,250,000 ere it was discovered and broken up—a consummation largely due to Detective Inspector Arrow, now Chief of Police at Barcelona, Spain who stumbled accidentally upon the fringe of the extraordinary conspiracy.

Perhaps however, after all the bogus invention dodge has conjured more money out of the pockets of credulous millionaires than has any other single species of fraud. A good example of this class of trick was that engineered by the notorious Keeley, who obtained altogether something like ten million dollars from cute Yankee capitalists for the perfection and exploitation of his mysterious motor. Nor was he ever brought to book, but persevered in the deception till his death when the "mysterious" force that drove his "wonderful" machine was found to be nothing more uncommon than compressed air, conveyed by slender hollow wires from a secret underground chamber to his laboratory.

Wells, of Monte Carlo fame, was another pastmaster in the same line of business obtaining large sums from wealthy investors on the strength of his marvellous "inventions" which sums he promptly proceeded to squander at the gambling tables.

The names of many others, too, might be mentioned. And still the game goes merrily on. Only the other day a well known London financier was victimised by a plausible scoundrel who claimed to have discovered what is just now the golden dream of all marine engineers, a reversible turbine. More than $50,000 was secured by the self-styled inventor, who directly afterwards disappeared, leaving behind him a two dollar model and a bundle of worthless plans and drawings.

Home Made Remedy which Acts Promptly on Kidneys and Bladder.

Cut this out and put in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at any good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain and scalding weakness and backache, pain above the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism, because of its direct and positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, relieving the worst forms of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. The extract dandelion works upon the stomach and liver and is used also extensively for relieving constipation and indigestion. Compound sarsaparilla cleans and enriches the blood. There is nothing better than Kargon Compound for the kidneys.

This prescription is safe to use at any time.

He declares that two bodies were sent down over the C.N.R. last week. One of them was wrapped in canvass on a toboggan and was shipped as freight to Parry Sound.

He says that the men were found frozen in prospectors' tents, and that they were lightly clad and unfit to withstand the severe spells of weather. No further information was obtainable, as the bodies were shipped down as baggage and there was no official record of their deaths obtainable.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

Considerable progress has been made in the development of the mining industry at and near Cobalt, and new discoveries of a valuable nature have been made.

My First Minister and the then Minister of Agriculture visited Great Britain during the past summer, and investigated carefully the situation and conditions of emigration from the British Isles to Ontario.

Among the other interesting features of the past year's record are the taking over of the Ontario Veterinary College by the Department of Agriculture, the development of the work of dairy instruction and of the Farmers' Institutes, the increasing of the usefulness of the Agricultural College throughout the province for special work in the promotion of agricultural interests. This last-mentioned department has met with great success, and, it is hoped, may be extended in the future.

A contract has been entered into providing for the construction of an electric power transmission line 252 miles in length, all or the greater part of which will, it is expected, be completed by the end of the year. Within the last two months upwards of thirty-five municipalities have voted in favor of procuring power from the Hydro-Electric Commission—thus evidencing the interest taken in the subject by the people.

The important work of the revision of the statutes has made good progress during the year, and a large number of the revised Acts will be laid before you for your approval. Bills will also be submitted to you comprising amendments to several important statutes, and, you will be asked to consider a measure for the better administration of justice, lessening the number of appeals, reducing the cost of litigation and for other purposes.

My Ministers have arrived at the conclusion that it is advisable to change the date of the close of the financial year to the 31st day of October, thus enabling the Legislature to meet early in January in each year, and proceed with the despatch of business.

You will be glad to know that the revenues of the province are considerably in excess of the estimates and more than sufficient to meet the public expenditure during the year. The public accounts will be laid before you for your consideration at the earliest moment, and the estimates for the coming year will also be submitted to you for your approval at an early date.

The Premier then announced that the duty had devolved upon him to suggest to the members of the Legislature the choice of one of their number as Speaker. The post last session had been filled by Hon. Mr. Crawford in a way to give entire satisfaction to the members, and after expatiating on Mr. Crawford's merits he moved his election. This was carried.

Hon. Thomas Crawford then made a considerable speech of acknowledgment and promised to discharge his duties in a fair and equitable manner.

PARISIAN SAGE

Puts Hair on Your Head and Keeps it There

What is the use of being bald. What sense is there in deliberately allowing your hair to turn gray.

Do you want to look old before your time. Give up the thought; old age will come all too soon.

Look after your hair. Parisian Sage will kill the dandruff germs, and is the only preparation so far as we know, that is guaranteed to do so.

Man or woman, no matter how old you are, Parisian Sage will make you look younger.

Why not go to Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, and get a large bottle today, it only costs 50 cents, and your money back if it does not cure dandruff, stop falling hair, or itching of the scalp. It will make your hair luxuriant, bright and beautiful, and it is the most refreshing, pleasant and invigorating hair-dressing made.

Heavy Pipe Kills Three.

Montreal, Feb. 17.—Three laborers dead and another hurt is the result of an accident at Cote des Neiges yesterday. Another is in a serious condition, but may recover.

The men formed part of a gang working in a deep trench. A six-ton pipe, in four sections, which lay alongside the cutting, suddenly fell in.

Fell 200 Feet.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 17.—As two men named Harty were coming to the surface at the Torbrook Iron Mine, Annapolis, Monday night, the tub tipped, throwing them out. They both fell 200 feet, and were killed instantly. In falling they struck two other men at the bottom of the slope, one of whom had his arm broken.

Directors Resign.

Montreal, Feb. 17.—To-day the present directorate of the Mexican Power Co. will resign. Their fight against the English interests has apparently been unfruitful, and they have failed to convince the English shareholders of the folly of the exchange of 14 power shares for eight shares of Tramways.

Veterans Turned Down.

St. John, N.B., Feb. 17.—The New Brunswick Legislature will meet on Thursday, March 18.

The Government last night turned down a delegation of Fenian raid veterans asking for land grants.

MARKET WILL BE CONDUCTED AS MUNICIPAL INSTITUTION

Property Committee Decided Yesterday---Some Aldermen in Favor of Letting it by Tender---Considerable Discussion Evoked.

The city will have control of the market for another year. This was decided at the meeting of the Property committee yesterday afternoon. The question was introduced by the chairman, Ald. Bradburn, and evoked considerable discussion. The chairman said that the market did not pay as well as when it had been sold by auction.

Ald. Duncan said he thought the market should be put up at public auction and he would strongly support that idea.

It was also suggested that instead of auctioning it off that tenders be advertised for. This was considered a good plan.

Ald McIntyre was strongly in favor of the city keeping the market and leave Mr George Ball as the clerk. He did not believe that the market had gone back during the past year. It was a fact, nevertheless.

It was moved by Ald. Duncan that the market be let by tender this year.

Mayor Rush was in favor of the market being run as at present and he said that he had been told that the farmers were better satisfied now. He would like to give it another trial anyway.

Ald Duncan said he would oppose it to the last as he was convinced that the city was losing money.

Ald. McIntyre moved in amendment that the market be left as it is. Mayor Rush seconded this motion and it carried.

Ald. Bradburn said he would rather have tenders called for and dispose of the clerkship to the highest bidder.

BYLAW AMENDED

In the absence of Ald Turner, chairman of the Joint Committee with the county, City Clerk Armstrong explained that the County Council had asked to have the confiscation clause cut out of the market bylaw. The matter was before the Legal and Joint Committee some time ago.

The committee agreed to recommend the council to amend the bylaw in accordance with the request of the county council and a motion was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Mayor Rush and was carried.

SALOME NOT AT ALL OFFENSIVE

Manager of St. Thomas Opera House Says Play Delighted His Patrons

A deputation waited on Mayor Rush this morning with a request that the production of "Salome" at the Grand Opera House to-night be suppressed by the authorities. Manager J. J. Turner, of the Grand Opera House, wishes his patrons and the general public to know that he does not intend to produce any plays of an immoral nature at the Grand, but will keep up the clean standard in the matter of presenting plays that he has in the past.

The following telegram is self-explanatory:—

Salome pleased my patrons so well I played it twice. Can assure you there is nothing to offend the most fastidious.

ORGANIST WAS REMEMBERED

Methodist Church at Apsley Honors Mrs. William Lean—An Enjoyable Time

Special to the Review.

Apsley, Feb. 15.—On Saturday evening Feb. 13th, a number of the members of the Apsley Methodist church and a few of the neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. Wm. Lean to tender Mrs Lean, who has been organist in that church for some time an address and purse of money.

When all were assembled Miss Flossie Stevens stepped forward and read the following address;—

Mrs. W. Lean;

Dear Sister,—We, the members of the Apsley Methodist church, have taken possession of your comfortable home this evening to show our appreciation of your services as organist amongst us for the past three years. We have always admired your faithfulness towards us and appreciate the help you have rendered us by precept and example, and feel grateful for the encouragement extended unto us to press toward the mark for the prize. We know your work must have been somewhat discouraging betimes and regret that we have not done more to help you on in God's work. We hope, however, to profit by the past and fee like pledging ourselves to greater fidelity in the future.

As a token of this and the high esteem in which you are held by us we ask you to accept this sum of money with out best wishes to you and Mr Lean for a Happy and prosperous New Year.

We trust you may long be spared to us as organist and when our work on earth is done we shall all enter upon the rest that remains for the people of God.

Signed on behalf of the members of Apsley Methodist Church.

Mrs. Roland Hales at the proper time made the presentation. The address was beautifully decorated with pink ribbon and a handpainting of ivy and forgetmenots.

Mrs Lean who was completely taken by surprise made a very suitable reply thanking the members for their kind remembrance as she had had only done what she considered her duty towards God and His church and hoping to accomplish better work in future and extending to all in behalf of herself and Mr. Lean, the compliments of the season.

Mr and Mrs Lean did all they could to make every one present enjoy themselves for the evening. The musical and literary talent of all were put to the test. The choir sang a number of selections, Mr. W. J. Staples gave a number of up-to-date selections on the violin. Mr. Robert Hales favored those present with excellent music on the fife. Games of all kinds were indulged in. About ten o'clock all were invited into the dining room where a sumptuous supper was laid out. It was admitted by all present that for an all-round evening of innocent recreation it could not be surpassed.

The Ladies Literary Society of the T.A.S. held another of their delightful "At Homes" in their hall last evening. There were about one hundred and seventy-five in attendance. Progressive euchre was played during the early part of the evening. There were thirty-five tables and valuable prizes were offered. Mrs. Michael O'Brien and Mr Ifer Landry, were the winners, Mrs. O'Brien winning a dozen silver teaspoons and Mr Landry a tie pin.

Supper was served at midnight afterwhich dancing was indulged in, excellent music being provided by Miss McCann and Messrs Jas Doris, P. Matheson, P Kane and Ed O'Donnell.

AT THE GRAND LAST NIGHT

THE BELLS.

Daniel Ryan and his capable company of artists played again last evening to a large and appreciative audience at the Grand Opera House, presenting the powerful drama, "The Bells." The play is a strong one and the portrayal of the different roles as given by the members of the cast received great applause.

The story of "The Bells" hinges on a man murdering a Polish Jew in order to get his money, that he might benefit his wife and family.

Mr. Ryan in the leading role of "Mathias" gave an excellent delineation of this character, as did also the others in their several parts.

To-night the company will present "Salome."

PETERBORO' DIVINE GIVES HIS OPINION OF THE THEATRE

Many Plays are Moral and Elevating—Mistaken Views of Some Church-goers—Discrimination Demanded for Uplifting of the Stage.

The stage is much discussed to-day by both the clergy and the public. As a place of amusement the theatre has long held the most prominent place throughout the civilized world. The public appreciate it on account of the entertainment it provides. The majority of the clergy and quite a large proportion of the church goers condemn it because they claim its influence is generally bad and sometimes degenerating. Holding the important place it does, the playhouse and its productions should come in for careful and serious consideration.

A Peterborough clergyman yesterday discussed the subject with a Review representative and took a definite stand in the matter. He did not advocate the abolition of the teatre as some of his brothers of the cloth do, but expressed the view that clever, legitimate plays portraying life as it is now was in historic times are quite desirable and educative. He did object, however, to theatrical productions of a demoralizing character, and would like to see them prohibited altogether.

Shakesperian dramas, Ben Hur, The Little Minister and other plays with an interesting and intelligent story, and a moral lesson, the reverend gentelman heartily approved of. He thought the Christian people opposed to the theatre and everything theatrical took an unreasonable attitude and would rather see them active in encoraging what was good and persistent in working against what was bad. Until they did so the condition of affairs with regard to public amusement was bound to be unsatisfactory, and elevating plays, written by playwrights of ability and standing, would have to be classed by the narrow-minded and theatrically ignorant with stage offerings of a low character.

HAVELOCK COUNCIL APPROVE OF PROPOSED ELECTRIC LINE

Between Port Hope, Cobourg and Havelock—Pass Resolution Recommending the Legislature to Pass a Charter—Other News From the Railway Town.

Havelock, Feb. 16th, 1909.

The Havelock village council are certainly anxious to advance the interests of not only their own town but the whoel district in general and especially in the much discussed question of an electric line between Port Hope, Cobourg and Havelock. The following resolution was passed by the council at a meeting on Feb. 16th. Resolved, "that the municipal council of the village of Havelcok wish to further express their hearty endorsation and approval of the proposed electric line between Port Hope, Cobourg and Havelock, and strongly recommend the Legislature to grant a charter to this company, believing that the proposed main line of the Cobourg, Prot Hope and Havelock railway would be a much greater benefit than a branch line, not only to the district around Havelock, but all along the route as a direct main line would cause the valuable mining country surrtounding and especially north of Havelock to be opened up; and also wish to put on record a request to the representative, Mr. Jas. Thompson, M.P.P., of East Peterboro, and Mr S. J. Peirce, M.P.P. for North Hastings to use their influence to obtain the charter asked for by Col. Ward of Port Hope, when the matter is brought before the legislature."

The chief point wished to be brought out is that in order to be of advantage to this district, it must be a main line into Havelock as is proposed by the Port Hope, Cobourg and Havelock Railway, and not a branch line.

That a direct line to Havelock would be the best paying is self evident. This town is surrounded by veins of iron and gold, and the only thing that is needed is this railway.

If the line was continued to Stony Lake, Havelock would be an excellent junction for tourists from Toronto and Buffalo.

Mr J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., who is attending the session of parliament at Ottawa, spent Sunday at home.

The funeral of Donald, the three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wood who passed out of this life on Monday night last after a very brief illness, took place to the Maple Grove cemetery on Tuesday. Rev. Mr. Balfour conducted services at the house. The deep sympathy of their many friends in Havelock go out to the bereaved parents.

Everything is being arranged to make the "Big Five" dance in the opera house on Tuesday, 16th, a huge success. That it is under the management of the five big railroad orders is enough to guarantee an enjoyable time, and no efforts are being spared. Music will be furnished by Sprague's orchestra of Belleville, and Mr. Archie of Petrrboro will officiate as floor manager.

Mr. Oscar Brecken has been transferred to Havelock again as day operator.

Mrs. Clark is visiting with friends in Marmora.

Mrs. Macdonald, who has been visiting Mrs. Dineen, returned to her home in Peterboro this week.

A large number from town attended the carnival at Norwood on Wednesday night last.

Mr. and Mrs. Goulding, Miss S. McWilliams, Messrs. E. Gladney and W. H. Smith of Manvers; Miss Jarman of Bancroft, Miss Clara Dorricott of Toronto, Miss Hunter of Lakefield, and Miss Lonergan of Nrowood attended the at home in the opera house on Thursday evening.

SPORTING NEWS

THE HANDICAP WAS TOO MUCH FOR KAISER

Beat Hurtubise for the First Fall But Gene Took the Second--A Fast and Interesting Match---Second Fall a Close One.

Kaiser lost. He took the defeat hard ,but nevertheless he lost. He undertook to throw Gene Hurtubise last night twice in an hour, but only managed to get him once after 39 minutes and 60 seconds of hard and even wrestling, and then Gene got him in 11 minutes. Both falls were secured on a scissors hold. To make Kaiser's fall complete Gene used a further arm hold also, and pinned his man securely. It was close to the edge of the carpet, but it was a fair, flat fall nevertheless, although the Oswego wrestler protested at the conclusion of the bout that he was off the mat. The claim, however, was a ridiculous one. The referee was called upon to make the decision, and made the only one possible under the circumstances. Of course there is always some kind of kick coming and if a referee in a wrestling match paid any serious attention to disputes and objections his hair would all turn white at the first match at which he officiated and fall out at the second. Last night's referee only only consented after all kinds of objections on his part and suggestions to get another man, knowing there would probably be some sort of scrap, but the grapplers were insistent, and so he went on the mat to perform the most undesirable and thankless task in the sporting category.

Hurtubise never showed to such good advantage as he did last night, and there was more class to his wrestling than there was in any previous bout. He did clever defence work in getting out of dangerous positions and resisting the relentless Kaiser and his aggressive play showed him working with a nice range of mat business. The American, who is one of the best men in the business, delighted the fans by his woderfully good work, and is a clean, gentlemanly wrestler. His weight considered, no better man, and in probabbility no man so good has ever appeared on a local mat, and he satisfied the crowd that he deserved all that had been said about him as a stellar performer. He is certainly a beautiful mat man and it is a pleasure to the initiated to see him in action. He found his opponent an altogether different man from the Hurtubise he was up against in Hamilton, as the local giant was "on" from the announcement of time, and resisted and came back in great style.

For the first three or four minutes the men were feeling their way without displaying anything exciting, but they soon were on the mat and their work was smooth and interesting. Once or twice the game became a little rough, but on the whole it was an exceptionally clean match. For the first fall and in fact throughout the night, Kaiser treid to get falls on several occasions by doubling on his opponent and he certainly has this phase of the art well mastered. He was also very effective with his head scissors. This particular hold appears one of Kaiser's favorites. His assortment is a big one, however, and he knows every lock and hold in the business from the toes up. A. C. Yokome of the Review, refereed the match.

In the preliminaries Bobby Chandler, the 115 pounder of Toronto, boxed a 6 round draw with George Lillie, Peterborough's sturdy little glove artist, and Corney Burns was as much at ease with Jack Seymour, an Englishman, as if he had been been eating a meal. Referee George N. Graham, who acted in his usual satisfactory manner, gave the decision to Burns. Jack McDonough gave a pretty exhibition of bag punching previous to the preliminaries that drew much applause from the spectators.

FIRST GAME OF THE SERIES BETWEEN STRATHS AND LAKEFIELD TO-MORROW

The first of the home and home series between the Strathconas and Lakefield will be played here to-morrow night. Lakefield will have their fastest seven on the ice and the team is in great condition. Good condition is always one of the strong factors of the Lakefield aggregation as they have the rink to themselves and always make it a point to keep on the best of shape.

The Straths will also be in championship trim and hope to vindicate themselves for the last defeat at the hands of the local option outfit. Goals on the round count and to-morrow night's match will provide the last fast hockey match of the season.

The game commences at 8 o'clock and three other matches of lesser importance are on the book. The admission to all of them, including the principal fixture will be 10 and 15 cents for ladies and gentlemen respectively.

The programme for the evening will be:—

7—8—C.P.R. vs. G.T.R.
8—9—Lakefield vs. Straths.
9—10—Loyal True Blues vs. Lock Works.
10—11—Bell Telephone vs. Machine Telephone.

WALKING

In writing to the sporting editor, W. A. Hoagland says he was sorry to hear that the Blake-Harrison walk was a failure financially but that the people prefer to see ten or twelve men walking rather than two. He says the American peds are looking forward to another tournament here in the spring.

The big walk at Auburn has been postponed until February 24-27. Hoagland thinks the local walkers he has written to about taking part have a good show to pick up some of the money.

TELLS OF THE CANADIAN CURLERS IN SCOTLAND

The Canadian curlers, continuing the engagements of their tour, and still confined, for want of suitable weather in the open, to the Scottish Ice Pavilion at Crossmyloof, engaged there yesterday in a match with twelve rinks from the Stirlingshire and Forth and Endrick Provinces. The match was played in two portions, six rinks taking the ice in the forenoon and six in the afternoon, and the result was that the men from the Dominion once again proved themselves the superior side, scoring a total of 211 shots against their opponents' 155, making a majority of 56. The match turned out to be one of exceptional interest. In the forenoon the six rinks from the Scottish Provinces got such a beating as almost destroyed the enthusiasm of their supporters. But the games of the afternoon showed all along the line a sturdy retaliation on the part of the Scotsmen. At half-time they had amassed a majority of 15, or rather had reduced by that number the arrears left to them from the forenoon ties. During the latter half, however, they lost ground a little, yet managed to close with a majority of nine shots. This somewhat surprising turn in affairs was said to be due to a slight change in the condition of the ice surface. A heavy thaw in the atmosphere produced a "sweating" condition, which made it drag in just such a way as suited the Scotsmen and somewhat upset the play of the Canadians.

The Winnipeg Free Press says;

The curling fraternity will read with interest a chatty letter just received by H. Lowe, president of the branch, from J. P. Robertson, who is touring with the Canadian team in Scotland. The genial secretary of the Manitoba branch gives a very racy account of the team's itinerary and the pleasures and sports they are enjoying in the home of the roarin' game. They are having a glorious time and are nicely upholding the reputation of the Canadians as the greatest curlers on earth.

Mr. Robertson's letter was written in Glasgow, under the date of Jan 21, and reads as follows;

Glasgow, Scotland,
January 221, 1909

My Dear Lowe,

Here we are in Glasgow, after a strenuous time in Peebles, Melrose and Edinburgh, and where we have had our first real taste of curling in Crossmyloof rink. It is a dandy. The opening match was with the members of the rink, who have been playing on the rink ever since October. They told us they would be our hardest opponents and we found them so. The ice was a little tricky and not as keen as we have it at home. The first day we were down nine points. The morning of the second day our boys did so well that we were up 18 points, reversing the score to nine points in our favor. In the afternoon, however, through the Nova Scotia boys falling down, we again lost, putting us eight down at the close of the match. This match took two days, with six hours of play each day, with an average of about 17 or 18 end, a pretty heavy siege.

Monday (yesterday) the 25th was the day set for meeting the Scotch team which visited Canada, all of whom were in attendance except four for whom they put in substitutes. We had six rinks from Canada, the game lasting from 11 am. until 2 pm. Parish and I took the Manitoba rinks, Parish won 20-18 and I won 28-4. I am sending "Scotsman" with particulars of the match. The ice was in splendid condition. They wound up with a heavy dinner at the Windsor, one of the fashionable hostelries of Glasgow. Only the two teams were present but a very pleasant evening was spent.

We were met at Liverpool by Provost Gordon, Dr Kerr and A Davidson Smith, royal secretary, and escorted to Edinburgh. The reception at North British station, Edinburgh, was so enthusiastic by the entire populace that I thought we would never reach the hotel door. They had the Pipe and Drum band of the Seaforth Highlanders from Edinburgh castle and we marched around a couple of blocks to the hotel, followed by an immense throng. We stayed on board the Empress of Ireland all Friday night of January 15, and the deputation did not come on board till next morning when we received a cordial welcome. We then started by special train for Edinburgh reaching there about 4.30 pm, We were snowed up for two hours after leaving Carlisle and just as we were crossing the border to Scotland.

Sunday the curlers all went to the historic Cathedral of St. Giles and had a fine service, the pastor, Rev. J. White of Leith, in the absence of Dr. Cameron Lees, being the preacher. He gave a nice little reception address to the curlers at the close of the service. The day was frightfully damp and windy nevertheless many of the boys did Edinburgh by cab and motor. All visited the castle, museum, Holyrood, municipal buildings and other points of interest on Monday.

We left on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Peebles the home of Sir Henry Ballantyne, who you will remember was out with the Scottish team and stayed at the Clarendon with his wife and daughter. The provost and corporation gave us a royal reception in the town hall, a beautiful address and souvenir badge, to which Governor Fraser replied in felicitous terms. An immense crowd escorted us from the station to the town hall, headed by the piper of the Royal Scots regiment stationed near there. They put up free of cost at the Hydropathic, a magnificent hotel, and gave us a banquet in the evening that would do credit to any city in the world. I proposed the toast of the Royal club, and Governor Fraser responded later in an eloquent speech to "The Dominion of Canada." McPherson, of Dawson, and Milne, of Montreal, with local artists gave excellent songs. Next day, there being no ice, the entire party drove over the historic Scott country, an experience that none of us will ever forget. We spent a couple of hours in Abbottsford, the home of Sir Walter Scott. We had 12 automobiles for the drive, and went on to Melrose, where the corporation with Provost Simpson, whom Dick Waugh will remember. They were all enquiring for him.

I have just got the result of the match to-day with Mid-Lothian. We played two rinks in the morning and two again in the afternoon. Canada scored 207 points to 143 for Mid-Lothian, Canada winning by 64 points We are being feasted so much that it is very strenuous work to keep step with it.

The Edinburgh banquet was a grand affair and I think Governor Fraser and myself did full justice to the occasion. The Glasgow banquet on Friday was about equal to that of Edinburgh. Kind regard to all the boys.

Yours fraternally,
J. P. ROBERTSON

KAISER AND MANAGER HAVE RETURNED TO OSWEGO

Charlie Kaiser and his manager left today for Oswego, N.Y., and the bout between Gene and Kaiser which was to have been held Friday is off. The match may be pulled off later when Kaiser has the chance to get into the finest of shape at his training quarters at home. The outcome of the match was a surprise for the American and he apparently realized he had a big proposition even in a straight match to beat Gene. If the match is pulled off Kaiser will step on the mat in the condition of his life.

There is a possibility that the match many not materialize here and it may be held before the Oswego Athletic Club.

ROGERS WENT TO THE LIMIT

Shad Link and Big Yankee Milled at the Star Theatre

Toronto Star;—It was what may be called athletic night at the Star Theatre last evening due to the appearance of Shrubb, Shad Link, Yankee Rogers and four athletic gentlemen in the body of the programme.

Shrubb was present with the intention of seeing the show, nothing more. He was soon picked out, however, and when the information became general that he was in the house, everyone rose up and cheered. The show had to stop while Alfie stepped before the footlights and delivered himself of a speech. He did not detract from Longboat's victory, but stated that if the Indian trims him at 15 miles he will take off his hat to him.

Shad Link, who is meeting all comers on the mat at $1 a minute, is some wrestler, but he was up against a stiff proposition in Yankee Rogers. Yankee rushed matters from the beginning, and at times it looked as if he would secure a fall. Shad was to throw him once in 45 minutes, but he failed to do so. It was fast and furious all the way, and when the two meet again on Wednesday night to wrestle till a fall is secured, it will be a bout worth seeing.

"Please, please let me have some of the perquisites," she pleaded. "It hasn't seemed at all like a proposal. I've really been cheated of that, you must remember, dear. Let me say at least, as they all do, that I'll give you an answer in three days."

"Granted! I'll admit it wasn't the sort of proposal one reads about in novels"—

"But it was precisely as they are in real life, I'm sure. No one has a stereotyped proposal any more. The men always take it for granted and begin planning things before a girl can say no."

"Ah, I see it has happened to you," he said, jealous at once.

"Well, isn't that the way men do nowadays?" she demanded.

"A fellow has to feel reasonably sure, I dare say, before he takes a chance. No one wants to be refused, you know," he admitted. "Oh, by the way, I brought this—er—this ring up with me, Jane."

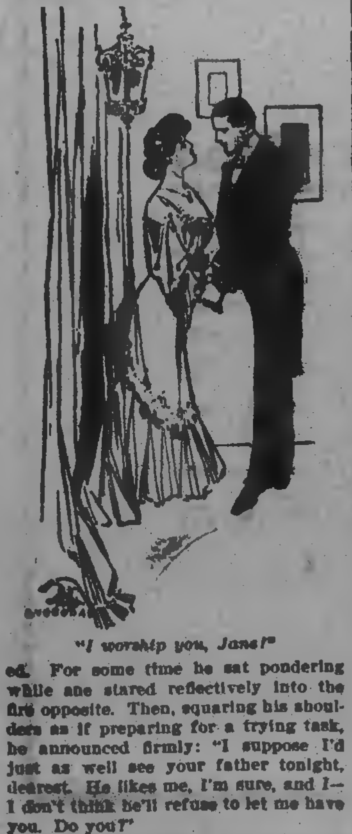
"You darling!" she cried as the ring slipped down over her finger. And then for the next hour they planned, and the future seemed a thousandfold brighter than the present, glorious as it was.

"You can't help succeeding," she repeated, "the same as your father has. Isn't he wonderful? Oh, Graydon, I'm so proud of you!" she cried enthusiastically.

"I can never be the man that the governor is," said Graydon loyally. "I couldn't be as big as father if I lived to be 120. He's the best ever! He's done everything for me, Jane," the son went on warmly. "Why, he even left dear old New York and came to Chicago for my sake, dear. It's the place for a young man, he says, and he gave up a great practice so that we might be here together. Of course he could succeed anywhere. Wasn't it bully of him to come to Chicago just—just for me?"

"Yes. Oh, if you'll only be as good looking as he is when you are fifty-five!" she said so plaintively that he laughed aloud. "You'll probably be very fat and very bald by that time."

"And very healthy, if that can make it seem more horrible to you," he added. For some time he sat pondering while she stared reflectively into the fire opposite. Then, squaring his shoulders as if preparing for a trying task, he announced firmly: "I suppose I'd just as well see your father tonight, dearest. He likes me, I'm sure, and I—I don't think he'll refuse to let me have you. Do you?"



"I worship you, Jane!"

"My dad's just as fair as yours, Gray," she said, with a smile. "He's upstairs in his den. I'll go to mother. I know she'll be happy—oh, so happy!"

Bansemer found David Cable in his room upstairs, his smoking and thinking room, as he called it.

"Come in, Graydon. Don't stop to knock. How are you? Cigarette? Take a cigar, then. Bad night outside, isn't it?"

"Is it? I hadn't—er—noticed," said Graydon, dropping into a chair and nervously nipping the end from a cigar. "Have you been downtown?"

"Yes. Just got in a few minutes ago. The road expects to do a lot of work west this year, and I've been talking with the ways and means gentlemen—a polite and parliamentary way to put it."

"I suppose we'll all be congratulating you after the annual election, Mr. Cable?"

"Oh, that's just talk, my boy. Winemann is the logical man for president. But where is Jane?"

"She's—ah—downstairs, I think," said the tall young man, puffing vigorously. "I came up—er—to see you about Jane, Mr. Cable. I have asked her to be my wife, sir."

For a full minute the keen eyes of the older man, sharpened by strife and experience, looked straight into the earnest gray eyes of the young man who now stood across the room with his hand on the mantelpiece. Cable's cigar was held poised in his fingers, half way to his lips. Graydon Bansemer felt that the man aged a year in that brief moment.

"You know, Graydon, I love Jane myself," said Cable at last, arising slowly. His voice shook.

"I know, Mr. Cable. She is everything to you. And yet I have come to ask you to give her to me."

"It isn't that I have not suspected—aye, known—what the outcome would be," said the other mechanically. "She will marry, I know. It is right that she should. It is right that she should marry you, my boy. You—you do love her?" He asked the question almost fiercely.

"With all my soul, Mr. Cable. She loves me. I don't know how to convince you that my whole life will be given to her happiness. I am sure I can"—

"I know. It's all right, my boy. It—it costs a good deal to let her go, but I'd rather give her to you than to any man I've ever known. I believe in you."

"Thank you, Mr. Cable," said Graydon Bansemer. Two strong hands clasped each other, and there was no mistaking the integrity of the grasp.

"But this is a matter in which Jane's mother is far more deeply concerned than I," added the older man. "She likes you, my boy. I know that to be true, but we must both abide by her wishes. If she has not retired"—

"Jane is with her, Mr. Cable. She knows by this time."

"She is coming." Mrs. Cable's light footsteps were heard crossing the hall, and an instant later Bansemer was holding open the den door for her to enter. He had a fleeting glimpse of Jane as that tall young woman turned down the stairway.

Frances Cable's face was white and drawn, and her eyes were wet. Her husband started forward as she extended her hand to him. He clasped them in his own and looked down into her face with the deepest tenderness and wistfulness in his own. Her body swayed suddenly, and his expression changed to one of surprise and alarm.

"Don't—don't mind, dear," he said hoarsely. "It had to come. Sit down, do. There. Good Lord, Frances, if you cry now I'll—I'll go all to smash!" He sat down abruptly on the arm of the big leather chair into which she had sunk limply. Something seemed to choke him, and his fingers went nervously to his collar. Before them stood the straight, strong figure of the man who was to have Jane forever.

Neither of them—nor Jane—knew what Frances Cable had suffered during the last hour. She accidentally had heard the words which passed between the lovers in the den downstairs. She was prepared when Jane came to her with the news later on, but that preparation had cost her more than any of them ever could know.

Lying back in a chair after she had almost crept to her room, she stared white faced and frightened at the ceiling until it became peopled with her wretched thoughts. All along she had seen what was coming. The end was inevitable. Love as it grew for them had known no regard for her misery. She could not have prevented its growth; she could not now frustrate its culmination, and yet as she sat there and stared into the past and the future she knew that it was left for her to drink of the cup which they were filling—the cup of their joy and of her bitterness.

PRINCE RUPERT TO BE A MODEL CITY

Survey Has Been Completed—Some Interesting Information About a Coming Place

The Financier and Bullionist, Thursday, December 18, 1908

Writing from Prince Rupert in the "Monetary Times of Canada" a special correspondent says:—Many different impressions have been published in the press of Canada and the United States regarding Prince Rupert the western terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Too often these are from the pens of correspondents who have spent but from one hour to perhaps a fewdays in the city-to-be.

Prince Rupert will not suffer greatly from exaggerated reports, be they favorable or adverse. The place is so situated geographically, and has so many natural advantages, that it will become a city upon its merits alone. It has its disadvantages. No new place is without them. The fact that it has been knocked by other coast cities, even before it has attained a dignity beyond that of a settlement, is evidence of something substantial in its future in the commercial and shipping world.

At this time the only owners of real estate in Prince Rupert are the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Provincial Government. The Grand Trunk Pacific owns three-fourths of the townsite and the Provincial Government one-fourth, which they have not yet selected except as regards the waterfront. The water frontage has been selected by the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Grand Trunk Pacific on the same basis — three-fourths to the Grand Trunk Pacific and one-fourth to the Provincial Government. It is generally understood that the Government will make its selections, and that, together with the Grand Trunk Pacific, they will be ready to offer their portions of the townsite to the public for purchase about May 1909. Many lots have already been sold in a place named Prince Rupert, but which is not in the townsite of the Grand Trunk Pacific at all. Other lands not on Kaien Island, but on the mainland, are held by outside parties.

There are probably 600 or 700 residents in Prince Rupert nearly all of whom are squatters. They are waiting to purchase their property when the opportunity is given them. Nearly every line of business is represented here. Intending purchasers or visitors will require to bring with them nothing but money. They may come with a confidence that charges are not exorbitant. The necessaries of life can be bought here at a cost little, if any in excess of Vancouver or Victoria prices. Liquor is not sold here. There is not a licensed hotel in the place. The Provincial Government it is understood, do not intend to grant a license to sell liquor until Prince Rupert has been incorporated.

The Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific, jointly, will probably begin the work of grading and improving the streets and installing the sewerage system at an early date. A liberal appropriation has been made for these necessities.

Surveying is being actively pushed forward and Christmas time will doubtless see it finished. Prince Rupert is being laid out as a model city. The land is rolling in contour and in the planning of the city advantage has been taken of every possible beauty spot to show it when improved, to the best advantage.

Prince Rupert has a harbor which in itself should ensure a permanent city. It is completely land-locked, deep and has the best of anchorage. About 14 or 15 miles of water-front are available. On this the Grand Trunk Pacific have built 1500 ft of wharfage and two large freight warehouses.

These are resources which will help build Prince Rupert city, in addition to the shipping which should accrue from the opening up of the northern portion of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Handling the trade of the Yukon, Prince Rupert will have a decided advantage, being nearly 550 miles nearer than Vancouver or Victoria. Then there is the rich but as yet scarcely developed mining industry of Skeena district, the Queen Charlotte Islands, and all the northern portion of the province, where gold, copper, silver, and lead and coal are in large quantities. The agricultural and fruit industries of the Bulkley and Nechacco valleys through which the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific will pass are another asset in addition to lumbering in all its branches. The fisheries, including the great halibut fishing banks of the Pacific and the salmon canning industries of the Skeena and Nass and other rivers of the northern coast of British Columbia will make for further development.

PROBLEMS OF REAL ESTATE.

The real estate situation is a poser. Undoubtedly there will be money made and lost in real estate in Prince Rupert in the next few years. It is the writer's opinion that an effort is being made to boom beyond its actual value Prince Rupert real estate at the opening of the townsite. Undoubtedly real estate will increase in value for a time. But unless the resources surrounding the embryo city are developed at an unusually rapid rate or the Grand Trunk Pacific is built much more quickly than at present there will surely be a time of depression should a real estate boom occur next summer. The present development of the industries from which Prince Rupert may hope to profit will not support a city of any great magnitude until the completion of the railway.

The labor situation seems to be complex. The wages paid by the contractors are from $2.25 to $2.50 per day for common labour. This is thought by some not to be sufficient when it is remembered that the coast has a moist climate, the labourers thus being subjected to much lost time. They pay $5.25 per week for board, work or no work. There are few Asiatics in Prince Rupert. The residents are making a hard fight to keep them out. If the people who come in during the next year are of the same mind, the movement may succeed, and Prince Rupert will be a white city.

NOTES OF THE CLIMATE.

The climate is not all that could be desired in some respects. Wet weather is the greatest objection, but there is no more rain here than in other coast cities. On the whole we hear few weather complaints in Prince Rupert. The climate is healthful, anyway. The present population have had little sickness of any kind, though as yet the place is without modern sanitation. A hospital is maintained by the Grand Trunk Pacific contractors. Nearly all the cases which have been treated resulted from accidents. Snow falls at intervals in winter, but remains only from a few hours to a day or two.

To see for one's self before investing in Prince Rupert is not bad advice. Prince Rupert is destined ultimately to compete with Vancouver, Victoria or Seattle. We are 500 miles nearer the Orient.

LINDSAY BEAT ROWING CLUB

Lindsay, Feb. 16.—In the fastest game of hockey played on the local rink this year the local intermediates defeated the Toronto Rowing Club by the score of 6 goals to 1. The locals are winners of No. 1 district and the T.R.C. are winners of districts 2 and 3. Lindsay, therefore, have a lead of 5 goals when they play the return game in Toronto on Friday night, and bid fair as winners on the round.

The game did not start until 9.15, owing to the train being delayed and it was after 11 o'clock when the final gong rang. Both teams played with a vim and determination, and both showed fine speed and good combination. It would be difficult to particularize any player on either team, but the work of Randall and Cotey cannot be passed over as they were in the thick of the struggle all the time. Koyl played his usual fine game on the defence. For the T.R.C., "Pacer" McDougall, a former Lindsay Midget played a fine game at centre and was ably assisted by Kent Heal and Curtis. The only goal scored by the Rowing Club was scored from a face-off near centre ice and caught Newton napping. The work of Roy Thomas, of Barrie, as referee gave fair satisfaction, many off-sides missing his notice. Hancock and Moxon, two O.H.A. referees who have an interest in the Toronto Rowing Club, were interested spectators. The Toronto team came up by special train, accompanied by 150 supporters. The score at half time was 3 to 1. The line-up;—

EDMONTON BY A SINGLE GOAL

Editorial in Oswego Palladium.

It was well worth while to see "Old Man" Hoagland walk last night. Hundreds who went to the Armory went solely to see Hoagland, and he certainly gave a fine exhibition. Thirty years ago he first appeared in this city in the old Mansard hall in a ten-mile race. Those who saw him then and who witnessed his exhibition last night saw the same action, the same suppleness, the same stride and the same confident smile. The only new thing was the bald spot on the top of his head. The crowd went to see Hoagland, and the old man was there to claim his hold on the popular heart. Hoagland's walking was something more than a mere exhibition, especially to those who saw him walk thirty years ago. It was an illustration of what a man can do by right living, by right treatment of the body and by right training of the muscles. The exhibition of the veteran was a revelation in this respect. There is no more healthful exercise than walking, and Hoagland has probably done more to popularize it than any other living man, with the possible exception of Weston.

A CARNIVAL

The carnival held here last Wednesday night was in every way a decided success. The costumes were numerous and varied, many showing marked taste and ingenuity in their make-up; on account of which the judges found it difficult to decide which ones should be entitled to the prizes. The races were well contested and created a good deal of excitement. Manager Fleming's genial countenance beamed brightly on the large crowd of both skaters and spectators. MADE WORK FOR SEVERAL MEN

Fifteen Men and Four Teams at Work Cleaning Away the Snow

The city has about fifteen men and four teams at work removing the snow from the streets. It is being dumped in the river. Street Commissioner Evans is superintending the work.

It was an easy matter to secure men to handle the snow as there are many without employment at the present time. It will take a couple of days to get the snow removed.

SPECIAL BALLOT FOR 5,000 EXTRA VOTES

Each 5 years' Daily or 10 years' Weekly will constitute a "Club." This bonus vote will be given in addition to the regular certificates of votes on the payment of a subscription. Don't be satisfied with a few clubs; get as many as you can.

Don't fail to read and take advantage of the great bonus vote offer made today on clubs of five new yearly subscriptions to the Daily and clubs of ten new yearly subscriptions to the Weekly.

This offer will positively not be repeated. It afford candidates who get busy an opportunity to materially advance their standing and new entries can easily catch up with the present leaders. Anyone can send in a club from any district and have it counted for his favorite. Candidates in outside districts have the privilege of mailing in subscriptions on the club offer up to midnight on March 8th.

A few clubs may decide who will win the trip to Europe and other valuable prizes to be awarded March 22nd.

It is always a good plan to turn in each evening the money you collect during the day on subscriptions, so that the same may be entered on the books and the papers started at once. Subscriptions turned in any time before March 8th, at 9 p.m. will apply on this offer. Do not hold them till the last day.

This is an opportunity you can not afford to overlook. It is easier to get free votes now than to wait and have to get an extra number of subscriptions to make up your loss later on.

All new subscriptions turned in from the beginning of the contest count in this offer. It is not necessary to hold the subscriptions until full clubs are received. Turn them in as soon as secured and credit will be given. These special ballots will be issued at the expiration of the offer. This is by far the best offer of the contest, and contestants should take full advantage of it.

The voting was quite spirited yesterday. Miss Maude Perry is the first candidate to reach the 20,000 mark in the voting, still retaining the lead in the contest and her list. Miss Birdie Dawson replaces Miss Adams in second place.

W. G. Rundle is exactly 162 votes ahead of Norman Allison and is first in the men's list.

Miss Lila Finlay of Norwood secures second place in the outside district. Otherwise the standing of the candidates remains the same.

Several new nominations are expected before Monday. Plenty of time to win if you start NOW.

Who will lead the various lists tomorrow?

MAKE NO ENQUIRY

Says Mr. Pugsley Regarding Mayes Dredging Contract—The House of Commons.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—In the House yesterday Hon. Mr. Pugsley, replying to Mr. Lennox, gave further particulars of the Mayes dredging contract.

As the contract was awarded to the lowest tenderer it did not appear to the Government that there would be any public advantage in making further enquiry into the matter, and the Government had no present intention of doing so.

The Government was not of opinion that they could and should recover the $35,933 paid to Mayes in excess of his first tender.

The Government had not consulted the legal department in the matter "for the reason that if there was, no collusion between an then Minister of Public Works or other officials of the Department, and Mayes and McAvity in connection with the tenders which had not been alleged, and the contract was awarded in good faith to Mayes as being the lowest tenderer, any person of ordinary business knowledge and without having a legal training would know that no right of action would exist to recover back any portion of the amount paid under the contract so awarded."

Mr. R. L. Borden asked the Minister of Railways whether or not there had been any ruling of the Railway Commission which would indicate that the amount of stock capitalization of any company, whether excessive or otherwise, was taken into consideration in the regulation of fixing of rates.

"I know of no case," replied the Minister of Railways, "in which the board in fixing the tolls has regard to the capitalization or stock issue of the company, rather than to the cost of construction, etc. You will remember that in the Klondyke Mines Railway Co.'s application for approval of its proposed standard freight tariff, after a hearing and upon the the report and recommendation of the chief traffic officer, the board approved the tariffs of the company up to the distance of 30 miles from Dawson and directed that the company should be notified that before applying for approval of further standard tariffs, it should furnish the board with returns showing the cost of construction and equipment of the company up to that time, and its running and operating expenses, to enable the board to determine the rates that should be allowed for further distances."

Mr. Borden asked the Prime Minister if his attention had been called to the publication of what purported to be a copy of the recent waterways treaty in The Toronto Telegram, and whether there was any special reason why the treaty should not be laid on the table.

TO BE MANAGER OF THE BANK OF COMMERCE

During Mr. Cross' residence here he has made a large number of friends, who, while glad to hear of his advancement, regret to learn of his departure from Peterborough.

ASSETS' VALUE IS ADVANCING

Good News for the Shareholders of the Ontario Bank

Toronto, Feb 17—The shareholders of the defunct Ontario bank have been cheered somewhat by the fact that the assets have already shown an increase of fully $180,000 over the estimated value shown when the last statement was presented. This means that should no untoward circumstances arise, the loss, will be reduced to $490,000 so that the call on the shareholders will probably be less than the fifty per cent they were earnestly hoping they would escape with.

In addition to this increase in the values of the securities there are confident hopes that if the present improvement in business continues there may be still more additions to these values, so that apart from the chances of recovering considerable sums from the directors by the suits instituted there is good reason to hope that it will not be necessary to call on the shareholders for a serious amount to make up the actual losses.

A gentleman who is thoroughly conversant with the nature of the assets of the bank gives it as his opinion that increased trade prosperity may add to the value of the assets another $100,000 to $150,000 or even more.

New York Telegraph Says Peterborough and Brantford Playhouses Two of the Most Successful in Canada

Two of the most successful theatres in Canada are the Grand Opera House in Brantford and the Grand Opera House in Peterborough. In each instance the house staff consists of the manager, and his three sons. In Brantford F. C. Johnson is manager; F. C. Johnson jr., secretary; W. B. Johnson, musical director, and H. Johnson, press representative. Officially all four wear silk hats.

In Peterborough J. J. Turner is the manager, and his three sons are treasurer, doorkeeper and usher, respectively.—New York Telegraph.

WENT TO SLEEP ON THE TRACK

Young Batteryman at Kingston Had a Narrow Escape

Kingston, Feb 18—A young batteryman can thank Officers Mullinger and Davis that he is not in that bourne from whence no traveller has ever returned. About two o'clock this morning the policemen discovered him lying across the Grand Trunk tracks, and arresting him on the charge of drunkenness, conveyed him to the police station.

Fifteen minutes later, the suburban train passed, and there would have undoubtedly been a gruesome story to relate this morning if the blue coats had not arrived on the scene just in the nick of time.

This morning the careless sleeper was arraigned in the police court, but the Magistrate after telling him that he owed his life to the officers of the law, handed him over to a military escort and he was taken to barracks.

SYNOD FACES A DEADLOCK

Two Unsuccessful Ballots for Toronto Bishopric---The Balloting Continues To-day.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—After two ineffectual ballots the Synod of Toronto adjourned at 10 o'clock last night, without electing a bishop for the diocese in succession to the late Archbishop Sweatman. The Synod will meet again in St. James' Cathedral to-day to take the third and probably several other ballots before a choice is made. The constitution of the Synod requires that the successful candidate shall have a majority of the clerical votes as well as of the lay or parish votes, and whilst Bishop Thornloe of Algoma, who is the nominee of the high churchmen, had a large majority of the clerical vote on each ballot, he failed to secure a majority of the lay vote. On the other hand, Rev. Canon Cody had a majority on each ballot of the lay vote, but was considerably behind in the clerical vote. It will also be observed that the second ballot showed no material change in the votes cast for each candidate, as compared with the first ballot.

The result of the first ballot, which began at 4.30, and lated until 6.20, was announced at 8 o'clock by Archdeacon Sweeny, who read the report of the scrutineers as follows: Total vote of clergy, 177. Necessary to a choice, 89. Total vote of laity, 128. Necessary to a choice, 65.

The first vote gave Bishop Thornloe 109 clerical votes and 51 lay votes, and Canon Cody 60 clerical and 67 lay; Canon Sweeny 4 clerical, and Reeve, Spragge, Tricker and Powell one clerical each.

The second ballot, finished at 9.36, gave Thornloe 108 clerical and 49 lay; Cody 60 and 65, Sweeny 3 and 1, and Reeve 1 and 0.

THIRD BALLOT.

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Feb 18—A third ballot at the special session of the Anglican Synod of Toronto called to elect a new diocesan bishop was taken this morning but without result further than to give evidence of gains in the strength of Bishop Thornloe of Algoma. The ballot showed a gain of three clerical votes and a loss of one lay vote for Bishop Thornloe and a loss of one clerical and three lay votes for Canon Cody. The figures were to Bishop Thornloe 112 clerical and 50 lay votes; Canon Cody 59 clerical and 62 lay votes. Rev Canon Sweeney and Rev. Canon Tucker each received 2 clerical votes. Another ballot will be taken this afternoon.

BUDGET SPEECH SATISFACTORY

Satisfactory Statement is Made in British Columbia.

Victoria, B.C., Feb. 18.—In the budget address to the Legislature last night Finance Minister Tatlow showed a surplus of a million and a half. The revenue for the next fiscal year would reach six millions, and the expenditure five and a half millions, of which nearly three millions would be for public works, the largest in the history of the province. The public debt had been reduced from $11,000,000 to $9,000,000 within a year.

It is the most satisfactory of the five financial statements since the McBride administration came into power, in four of which surpluses have been shown.

The Minister proposed still a greater development, when the A. B. C. route, as the Minister styled the Alberta and British Columbia grain route, would in the near future be in operation and the Panama Canal completed.

LOCAL CLERGYMAN MAKES AN ATTACK ON "SALOME"

Hopes That its Production Here Again Will be Forever Impossible—Says it Should Not be Tolerated.

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—Now that the Christian feeling of the people of Peterborough has been insulted by the production in our midst of the vile opera, Salome, permit me, through the columns of your paper, to say a word on the character of that play in the hope that its production here again will be forever impossible. It is only about two years ago since it was first given before a New York audience. It created such a stench in the nostrils of the principal patrons of the Metropolitan that it was thrown out as a vile and disgusting thing. Its production in Britain was attempted, but thanks to the spirit of reverence for sacred things, which has not altogether died out there and for the much higher moral tone that seems to prevail, the play was not permitted. It was received with much enthusiasm by a degenerate Parisian society, and it is going its filthy rounds throughout the continent, where a decadent morality makes its barbaric lewdness a financial success, however much it may outrage artistic feeling.

It has just been given in Philadelphia against the protest of its ministers and leading laymen. The operatic critic of the North American tells us how it was received in the following words:—

> First of American cities outside the metropolis to hear Richard Strauss' operatic setting of Oscar Wilde's degenerate drama, "Salome," Philadelphia by a packed house at Mr. Hammerstein's new opera house, gazed at the swift-passing scenes, open-mouthed, awe-struck and smitten with mental paralysis.
>
> Neither dramatic genius nor musical inspiration could avail to cloak the hideous moral deformity and sinister, demoniac suggestion of this one-act music drama—an inspiration that might have been proceeded from the dred seventh circle of Dante's Inferno. The fashionable throng looked and listened aghast—luckily the French diction of the artists was unintelligible to the masses.
>
>
> They had heard the greatest and most famous tone-poet of his time, the most puissant and o'ertowering personality in music since Wagner, bending his mighty genius to the task of forcing upon world opergoers a spectacle meretricious, revolting and abhorrent, malign in artistic influence and reeking with sadism.

I uttered my protest against this play last Sabbath evening. I went to the Chief Executive in the hope that it was in his power to prevent its being given. "Salome" is a vile opera which only a degenerate mind like Oscar Wilde's could produce. It takes one of the holiest characters in the New Testament, the forerunner of our Lord, of whom the Master said, "There hath not arisen a greater than John the Baptist," and brings him into an atmosphere of vileness and sin. It falsely portrays a great and holy man as the object of the impious love of a lewd woman. That, in itself, is sufficient to condemn it in the minds of all true Christians, apart altogether from the immoral effects of the indecent attire, or the want of it, of Salome.

We hear of persons who defend its lecherous plot by asserting that other plays which are sometimes given are just as vile and that the nudity upon the Salome stage is not as immorally suggestive as some costumes that are seen on other occasions. By this kind of logic some persons are trying to defend filth with filth, and obscenity with obscenity, and moral turpitude with moral turpitude. "Salome" is a vile play and has been so declared by all decent people wherever it has been billed.

It is a terrible commentary on the degeneracy of our society when such a play can be tolerated. And if the public wants to pay the price in moral debauchery for the exhibition of such gross barbaric lewdness as that which is exhibited in the average theatre, why that is their concern. And to quote the words of a distinguished Episcopal minister of Philadelphia, "People who want to go to the devil will go, but at least I shall give them the opportunity of going with their eyes open."

GASOLINE WRECKS MILL AT PICTON

Picton, Feb. 18.—A boy named Peterson was so fearfully scalded that he may not recover, others badly burned, and a large grist mill totally destroyed is the essence of the story of an accident at South Bay, a small hamlet in the southern part of the county, yesterday. At an early morning hour the gasoline engine in John Thompson's mill exploded, wrecking part of the building and setting it on fire. The entire place was consumed by the flames, with a loss of over $3,000, which does not include the contents.

NEWSPAPER MEN FROM AUSTRALIA

Will Pass Through Canada on Way to London, Eng.

The Australian and New Zealand delegates to the Imperial Press Conference, which will meet in London, in June, will pass through Canada on their way to England some time early in May. The delegates will leave Sydney on April 12th, travelling through the Dominion by the Canadian Pacific from Vancouver to Quebec, where they will embark for Liverpool. This all-British route has been chosen so that the Australian and New Zealand delegates may not only see something of Canada, but may meet the newspaper men of the Dominion, and there is little doubt but that their visit will be made a memorable one, with hospitality offered them at every turn.

In England many arrangements are being made to entertain the delegates from all over the Empire to the Imperial Press Conference; and at the inaugural banquet to be held in the music hall of the Shepherd's Bush Exhibition, London, one thousand British journalists will act as hosts.

THOUGHT THAT CHARITY OFFICER ASKED TOO MUCH

The number of daily applicants at the city relief officer's place of business on Water street continues to increase and this year probably more than any other, the City Charity Board has been called upon to dispense a great deal of aid, in the way of supplying food and fuel for the poor families.

A woman called on Mr. Miller this morning wanting to get some wood, but she became indignant at having to answer the questions asked her by the officer and went away, later returning to tell him that she had got wood from another source.

There is a large number of unemployed old country men in the city. Mr. Miller referred to two instances this morning, where two men, rather than come and ask aid themselves, sent their wives, poorly clad, out in the cold, to seek assistance. Mr. Miller told them that if their husbands sent them again, instead of coming themselves, he wouldn't give them anything.

SHORTEN SESSION

Premier Whitney Wants to Close by Good Friday—Night Sessions Suggested.

Toronto, Feb. 18.—In opening the debate on the speech from the throne, W. H. Hearst and J. W. Johnson occupied the chief positions in the legislative procedure yesterday. Both delivered excellent speeches.

Sir James Whitney spoke at some length on the procedure in the House and foreshadowed the close of the session by Good Friday. The procedure was as perfect as experience could suggest, but they had fallen into a loose, happy-go-lucky way of doing business. A great number of the members lived a long distance from Toronto. Was it fair for members who lived 50 to 125 miles away to ask the others to spend all their time in Toronto, when they only spent three days a week here, as they had been doing? Any ordinary session could be got through in seven weeks if they worked four days instead of three. He suggested that members do not leave the city till Saturday morning, and sit every other evening. He also thought that a motion which was allowed to pass on the order paper twice should be struck off.

Hon. Mr. Mackay said that if the week end was to be of any use Monday should be cut out entirely. Sir James said he would be glad to confer with Mr. MacKay on the matter, and would undertake that no divisions would be taken on Monday.

Allan Studholme was sorry the Premier did not suggest a fine for absence. If any lawyer or doctor then preferred his profession to the Legislature he should resign his seat. He himself had to work ten hours a day when he worked, and was fined an hour if he was five minutes late.

"Men coming lobbying ought to be tagged so that we can know them," declared the Labor member. One man had shaken his fist in a member's face last year.

D. J. McDougall suggested that the adoption of the Ottawa rules in dealing with private bills assisted the despatch of business.

Preliminary estimates were passed for $750,000.

Hon. Mr. Matheson said there were several millions on hand, but they could not pay out any.

Albert Grigg, the new member for Algoma, instead of W. R. Smyth, M.P., was introduced by the Premier and Hon. Frank Cochrane.

Hon. A. G. MacKay asked if any action had been taken under subsection 4, ch. 6, of last session dealing with cinematographs.

Hon. A. J. Matheson replied that the legislation had been insufficient, and that further legislation was intended this session, and regulations would be passed at once.

AUSTRALIA IS ALSO INTERESTED

Melbourne, Australia, Feb. 18.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Federal Government is satisfied with Secretary Haldane's proposals for the creation of an imperial staff. The public is showing a great interest in the scheme of an army of empire, but is awaiting particulars. It is understood the proposals fully comply with the Ministerial promises made at the Imperial Conference.

Sir J. Mills, managing director of the Union Steamship Co., states the Government would be willing to renew the Vancouver-Australia mail contract, provided quicker service and better steamers are guaranteed. The contract expires in July. The Canadian Government has not yet signified its acceptance of the new conditions.

MOTHER STABBED BY YOUNG SON

Montreal, Feb. 18.—Charged with having stabbed his mother with a pocket knife, inflicting a wound in her left arm, Elias Suya, a 13-year-old Syrian, was arraigned before Judge Bazin.

The boy pleaded in court that he had acted in self-defence, claiming his mother and sister was trying to kill him, after he had accused his mother of taking $300 from him. He said it took him more than a year to save the money, which he kept in a little box in his room. When he found the box broken open and the money gone, he accused his mother of having taken it. He said he had earned from $8 to $12 a week selling pictures from door to door.

CHINAMEN IN A FREIGHT CAR

New York, Feb. 18.—The attention of the Federal immigration officials in this city was called yesterday to the case of seven Chinese who were found in a freight car of the Lackawanna Railroad, which arrived at Fort Morris, N.J., from Canada on Tuesday.

The car had brought a load of lead ore and was said to have passed through Black Rock, an international transfer point, near Buffalo. The Chinese would give no account of their journeyings and were suffering from hunger.

It is believed that the agents in this city, who were to free the men, must have lost the car en route and failed to perform their portion of a smuggling compact.

SALOME

There is a disposition to criticize "the preachers" as they are called, for undue interference in denouncing Salome. Without reference to the local representation, which we understand was unobjectionable, we may say that Salome is the production of a man who should be forgotten as quickly as possible. No good work could come from such a man. Then "Salome" as shown in the cities of the United States, etc., draws because of its avowed suggestiveness and salaciousness. And once more, we say that preachers have as much right as anybody else to protest against the "filth" that is encouraged and enjoyed by many who know better, and who, when it suits them, can make greater professions than even the preachers.

AN "ASTUTE" ADMINISTRATION

When Sir Wilfrid and his Knights of the multiplication table evolved that immortal scheme known as the immigration scheme they forget that it was possible that in case employment did not keep pace with immigration we should have the exquisite absurdity of a government's helping to bring people into a market already suffering from an overload and the multitude of its occupants. It is taking food from the hungry and yet refusing to provide them with work. A greater farce was never played to an intelligent audience but then it is a spending administration and that pleases the money-makers on the outside of the money market while it must also be a borrowing administration and that of course highly delights those on the inside. To cap it all Judge Cassels "seems" to have found fault with the system of book-keeping, retailing, etc. carried on in the name of administration (save the mark). The "whole business" as the players in our best theatres say, is rank. But while the people can pay let the play go on. Shylock is a back number compared to many of the characters.

REV. MR. POGUE'S SERMON

With a fearlessness and astuteness and a candour that do him infinite credit, the minister of St. Paul's applied himself on Sunday last to a determined and definite attempt in so far as his share of the duty lies, to restore the moral equilibrium of this country to a condition of common stability. When he said that he had been appalled by the tales of corruption that he had heard, he said nothing new. People everywhere used to be appalled, too, at the tale, but it is so long since any sincere desire was evinced by capable people to expose the condition described in the immortal words of Judge Cassels as a

LACK OF CONSCIENCE,

that decent people had about given up hope. Goodness is not alone the qualification necessary for the cleaning of the stables. A man must have an eye that pierces through into the inner recesses of that humbug and intrigue which is masquerading under the name of "life" at the present time. Traitors are in the camp of the Christians in plenty. Men are not rare who will pray aloud and will lift up their voices in alleged song and lecture on the grace of God, and tell the poor Youth of the city what to do, and generally set up a system that would put St. Paul himself in the shade, while they themselves are recreant to every duty that conflicts with their financial or selfish interests. The Greeks were wont to call upon the "immortal gods" against such men. But Rev. Mr. Pogue provides a different remedy. As a man he speaks to men in a chivalrous and yet convincing way. Unless we show that Christianity has done us good, what is it but a mockery for us to preach? The normal man is no excess in any way, as the name implies. Let us strive to be normal. The curse of Canada is hypocrisy, and it is becoming epidemic. Does any one expect the rising generation to put faith in such stuff? Mr. Pogue is making a noteworthy effort. May it be effective. It will help us all materially. But we must remember that it is in small things we are most at fault, not in great ones. There all the dishonour and the difficulty lies. The big things will take care of themselves. It is the duty of the local press to help on the preaching of the new crusade. Whatever the sins of the press, like others, it must be judged by what it does in a crisis.

AID THE FARMER

Visits of County Councils to Parliament for aid in improving the King's highways are natural and proper. We believe and have persistently preached that our money, our credit, and all that is ours should not be mortgaged or otherwise employed for the building up of Gowganda or similar places when good, healthy farming or urban communities are in need of better means of communication, better means of education or other conditions of prosperity and happiness. It is incontestable that it is better to develop well and thoroughly a few districts than to spread a thin coat of it over many. Then again it is unjust to do. But why if all this is true, have such vast sums been spent on uninhabited regions while it takes a deputation and a big one to get aid for the government's own highways or gain help for the improvement of long and burdensome stretches of rural communication? Instead also of finding fault with the farmer for stinginess with respect to his schools let the government out of its boundless possession give back in the form of subsidized education what after all it holds in trust for the very men making the application. It is time the people of this country especially the farmer, waked up to the "facts of the case," viz., that they who are anchored to the ground are used as drudges to earn money for the speculators, money-getters, grafters and the like whose one ambition is to make the ordinary citizen whether on the farm or in the town, pay a "fair" (sic) return on the capitalist's capital. Of course it is always "fair." If it were not serious this business would be laughable. We toil and moil and sweat and pinch and save in order that we may build schools, pay for teaching and equipment, repair our streets and roads, etc, etc, while new schemes or dreams are being continually projected for us to pay for and without one tittle of demonstrable benefit being gained in return for them. The beast of burden in such a case is largely an ass. Some day, however, he will wake up and then we may expect to see charity beginning at home or at least at some place in that neighborhood. Think what it would mean if our Ontario government realized on some of its assets and applied the millions to the building of permanent highways, concrete bridges, electric freight and passenger roads through the farming country, built our schools and equipped them, and fed our starving teachers. It would mean that the farmer's condition would be a paradise and we should hear of fewer people crowding into the towns in an effort to get relief from the burdens of rural domestic life.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The retirement of Hon. Mr. Justice Maclennan, of the Supreme Court, removes a man of great integrity and erudition from the public service.

The total trade of the Dominion for the ten months was $468,375,847, a decrease of $84,906,099.—The Globe.

This is a tremendous decrease in the trade of Canada as indicated by returns. It looks like a collapse.

Mr. Fielding, at Halifax, on his return from London declined to talk much about his work. Perhaps he thinks that with the big debt, the big interest rate, the big expenditure and the big deficit attracting so much attention his work is itself doing all the talking the case calls for.—The Gazette.

Is it any wonder that the moneyed interests worship the Laurier administration, which gives the farmer a little preferential chloroform before bleeding him.

The following is a record of what is supposed to have taken place at a communistic auction sale:

"The wealth was divided into 45,000,000 shares and apportioned by lots under the direction of Mr Blatchford. The results were painfully unsatisfactory not to say amazing. Thus;

"'Lot A—A valuable Etruscan vase. This was awarded to a disgusted blacksmith as his whole share of the national wealth. He took it home and used it in place of a ninepenny water-jug. It leaked, and the children broke it.

"Lot B—25,000 cubic yards of railway embankment. Awarded to a stationer.

"'Lot C—Two-fifths of one of the marble shafts in Westminster Cathedral. Allotted to a widow with four children.

"Lot E—2 1-2 tons of back numbers of Justice. Awarded to Lady Warwick.

"Lot F—170 moulded coping-stones, from the House of Lords. Awarded to a fireman with instructions to take them home."

And so on.

NEW LIGHT ON GOTCH'S STAND

Had to Return From England Says London Chronicle

The London Chronicle tells this story of how it happened that Frank Gotch, the wrestler, who went to England to demonstrate that he was really Hackenschmidt's master, returned to America without meeting the Russian lion on the mat;

His reason is surely because he cannot for very shame remain in a country where so many generous offers have been made to him and refused by him. The offer of the proprietor of a weekly sporting paper to put up £2,500 is well known to the public, but a far greater monetary inducement has failed to persuade Gotch to do what he said he came to England to do — "vindicate himself."

Oswald Stoll has made such an offer (£4,000) as has never been made to two wrestlers before. That gentleman, in the presence of Hackenschmidt, Gotch and Allen Young, suggested the following;

£1,500 to each wrestler, the winner to have the cinematograph rights.

Hackenschmidt accepted this, but Gotch refused.

Finally, £2,000 to each wrestler, whatever happened.

Both Hackenschmidt and Gotch accepted this.

It was half agreed that the match should take place under National Sporting Club rules. A copy of those rules was sent to both wrestlers. Once again Hackenschmidt accepted, and Gotch returned the rules with the majority of them crossed out as signifying objection to them. Nothing further has been heard from Gotch who sails for America tomorrow, so that it is safe to assume that once more he has changed his mind.

PETERBORO' MINISTER AT LINDSAY

Rev. J. R. Webb Gave Address at Evangelistic Meeting in Baptist Church There

Lindsay, Feb 17—A bright, song service led by Mr Williamson, and the choir, commenced last night's meeting at the Baptist church at 7.45. The cheerful singing is a feature of the meetings.

Rev. G R Welch read the lesson, and Mr Williamson rendered a solo.

Rev. J. R Webb, of Peterborough, was the preacher of the evening and delivered a forceful sermon taking for his text Jeremiah 3-4: "Wilt thou not from this time cry unto me "My Father, thou art the guide of my youth?" The genius of Jesus does not point to the evil of life that is past, but rather to the immediate and present remedy. Never do we find Jesus in His ministry on earth reproaching any person who comes unto Him for the error of days that are gone, but He gave everyone the message of a present duty, bringing forgiveness and hope to follow. The attitude of men should be, "What wilt Thou have me to do now."

The hour when a man comes face to face with the mistakes of his past will always be a sad and bitter one unless there grows from it the forgiveness of that which is past, and the consciousness of uplift to fulfil the duties of the future. And God as a Father is ever pleading for recognition by his children. He wants to hold spiritual communication with His children but we must first seek adoption into His family.

The truths of the sermon were presented with many anecdotes and illustrations of especial fitness.

OBITUARY

MRS. FREDERICK PYNE.

Hall's Glen, Feb. 15.

The death occurred on Thursday morning, Feb. 11th at eight o'clock, of Ruth, relict of the late Frederick Payne, of North Dummer. Death resulting from burns, caused by the overturning of a lamp.

Her maiden name was Ruth White, and she was the youngest daughter of the late Wm. White, North Monaghan.

She was born in the township of Douro, near Lacey's Pond, July 28th, 1850, and was married in January, 1875, to her late husband, who predeceased her not quite six months ago.

Left to mourn her loss are four sons, Herbert, of Deloraine, Man.; David, of South Dummer; Fred and Harry at home.

The brothers are Jacob, of North Dummer and Benjamin, of Peterborough. The sisters are Mrs. Alex. Watts, Warsaw; Mrs. Lazarus Payne, North Dummer.

The pastor, Rev. Dr. Marvin, preached a very earnest sermon from the text, "The living know that they shall die." Eccl. 9, 5. Rev. Mr. Anderson led in prayer. Hymns, "There's a land that is fairer than day." "One by one."

The pallbearers were the four sons, Herbert, David, Fred and Harry Payne, and two nephews, Herman Payne and Clarence Watts.

A large number of friends and acquaintances assembled to pay a last tribute of respect to one who was a good neighbor and a kind and devoted mother.

Although retiring in disposition she was brave in the hour of danger, even when suffering untold agony from the terrible burns, she still fought to extinguish the fire, that her little grand-children and home might be saved.

The deepest sympathy is extended the bereaved family.

"Friend after friend depart,
Who hath not lost a friend,
There is no union here of hearts,
That finds not here an end."

PROMINENT SINGER PROSTRATED BY LA GRIPPE

Thomas P. Macdonald, a prominent singer of Teeswater, tells how PSYCHINE restored him to perfect health after a severe attack of La Grippe, which robbed him of his voice. He says, "Six years ago I became a victim to La Grippe and had it in its worst form. The attack was unusually severe, and left me in terribly bad shape. I was utterly prostrated; weak, and run down entirely. My voice also completely gave out, and my lungs seemed to be seriously affected. People who knew me, thought I was not long for this world."

"I had for years been a member of our Church choir, and accustomed to singing at concerts and other entertainments, but the doctor told me that I could never hope to do so any more, as it was impossible to cure me in the state I was then in."

"One day I saw in the paper what PSYCHINE had done for others, and thought I would give it a trial, so I sent for a sample bottle. This gave me such immediate relief, and helped me so, that I determined to keep on with it at all costs, and in spite of what the doctor had said. In an incredibly short space of time I was completely restored, and my voice was soon in grand shape again. They used to tell me that a breath of wind would blow me away, I had got so thin, but PSYCHINE built me up in no time; I am a pretty solid specimen of humanity to-day, having gained in weight and put on flesh all the time."

"I am stronger and better to-day than I have ever been in my life before. PSYCHINE did wonders for me, and really I do not think there is anything like it for combating the after effects of that scourge LA GRIPPE."

Can't Average Demurrage.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—The Railway Commission has decided not to grant an application made some time ago on behalf of the Wallaceburg Sugar Co. for an averaging of demurrage on freight cars.

The time allowed for the unloading of a car without payment of demurrage is forty-eight hours after arrival. The application asked that where a car was unloaded in less than forty-eight hours, the time margin should be recorded to the credit of the firm as an offset against excess time taken in unloading other cars.

The board refused the application on the ground that it would work an injustice to smaller shippers.

Sir Wilfrid replied that he had not seen the publication, but if it was an absolutely accurate form, he was quite sure that it had not reached the public by the permission of the United States authorities.

"I can only say to my honorable friend," added Sir Wilfrid, "that I quite agree with him and that I see no reason why the treaty should not be made public immediately."

Replying to Mr. Meighan (Portage la Prairie) the Minister of Justice gave the names of the detectives permitted to see and converse with Bill Miner, the train robber in the New Westminster penitentiary, prior to his escape on Aug. 8, 1907. On June 12, A. D. McIntyre of Kamloops, counsel for Miner, had an interview with him; on Jan. 12, 1907, John H. Stanton, a detective of Portland, Ore.; on Feb. 9, 1907, R. E. Bullock of Vancouver, C.P.R. special service officer, and Jake Terry; on May 23, 1907, G. R. Murray of the provincial police; on June 27, 1907, Chief Constable McIntosh of New Westminster, Detective Wardell and Sergt. Wilson of the N.W.M.P.

The Department first became aware that the visit of the detectives was to locate or secure information as to certain stolen bonds when at the investigation conducted by Inspector Dawson, McIntosh said that Miner told him that Bullock said he (Miner) would be pardoned if he surrendered the Australian bonds. The Department, said Mr. Aylesworth, had no further information regarding the bonds.

Mr. Borden was told by Mr. Paterson that $26,101,547 has been expended by the Government on the construction of the N.T.R. during the twelve months ending Jan. 31, 1909. The total amount expended up to Feb. 15, 1909, was $43,265,129.

Mr. Graham, replying to Mr. Borden, said 667 miles of the N.T.R. was completed and in operation.

Dealing in a comprehensive way with the question of the adoption of safety devices at level crossings, Haughton Lennox (South Simcoe) moved a resolution calling upon the Government to make an exhaustive enquiry into the matter and to deal with it with a view to "eliminating, as far as reasonably possible, the level crossings from our system of railways, and where this cannot be done, the adoption of such methods and devices as will secure the safety of the people using the highways."

In his reply Hon. Mr. Graham favored the idea of a division of the cost. The debate went over at six o'clock, the Minister promising that in the unexpected event of his not being able to introduce his bill, opportunity would be given for renewal of discussion of Mr. Lennox's resolution.

SHORTEN SESSION

The speech from the throne was then taken up. The debate will be continued to-day by James McEwing for the Opposition, Joseph Downey for the Government and R. J. McCormack and D. J. McDougall for the Opposition. No other Government speakers have yet been arranged. It is possible the debate may be closed this week.

Hon. A. G. MacKay will ask to-day:

1. When was a branch or sub-department of forestry established under the Government of Ontario; when was the said branch or sub-department abolished and why?
2. Is there now any official of the Government of Ontario whose duty it is to deal with forest conservation or reforestration or either of them?
3. Does the Government intend to re-establish a sub-department of forestry?
4. Have any forest reserves been established or set aside since the beginning of the year 1905?
5. Have any lands been set aside for reforestration since the beginning of the year 1905?

Mr. Carnegie will introduced a bill to amend the Municipal Act, and Mr. Boyer one to amend the Pharmacy Act.

First readings were given the following bills, arising out of the statutory revision, introduced by Hon. J. J. Foy. Discussion on these will be confined to committee. Premier Whitney promised that the changes would be shown in specially prepared copies for the Opposition. The bills were: Respecting arbitration and references; to amend Judicature Act; respecting public officers; respecting witnesses and evidence; respecting juries and jurors; to provide prompt punishment for personation at elections of Legislative Assembly; respecting counties and district judges and local courts; respecting courts of general sessions of the peace; respecting county court judges and criminal courts; respecting estates and forfeitures; enabling boards of trade in certain cities to appoint arbitration for certain purposes; for expediting decisons of constitutional and other provincial questions; respecting absconding debtors; for more effectually securing the liberty of the subject; respecting the enforcement of judge's orders; respecting the costs in distress for seizure of chattels; respecting crown attorneys; respecting commissioners for taking affidavits; respecting notaries public; respecting dower; respecting executions.

Guilty of Taking Bribe.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 18.—After half an hour's deliberation the jury yesterday returned a verdict of guilty in the case of former Supervisor M. W. Coffey, accused of accepting a bribe of $4,000 to vote for a trolley franchise for the United Railways.

Stoned Non-Union Men.

Orange, N.J., Feb. 18.—A riot, the outgrowth of the strike in the hat factories here, started yesterday, when 15 non-union men were set upon and stoned by a crowd of 200 persons. [illegible]

Convicted of Usury.

Ottawa, Feb. 18.—A. Forbes, J. H. Dube, M. J. Harty and Mrs. A. Labise were found guilty of usury yesterday, and were allowed to go on suspended sentence. The case against Walter Hatch was dismissed.

Those found guilty will give $1,000 security for good conduct.

The magistrate ruled that they had been trying to live up to the letter, if not the spirit, of the law.

United States Naval Bill.

Washington, Feb. 18.—The naval bill carrying total appropriations of about $238,000, was yesterday passed by the United States Senate after having been under consideration for three days.

The bill was yesterday changed by the restoration of the House provision for two battleships of 26,000 tons displacement, to cost $6,000,000 each.

Civil War Nurse Dead.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Miss Emily Virginia Mason of a famous Virginia family, who won fame during the civil war as a nurse of confederate soldiers and who ministered to union soldiers at Libbey prison, is dead in this city, aged 94.

SUFFERED FOR SIX LONG YEARS

Then Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. Richard's Diabetes.

Her Rheumatism Also Vanished When Dodd's Kidney Pills Put Her Kidneys in Condition to do Their Work.

East Chezzetcook, Halifax Co., N. S., Feb. 17. (Special.)—Cured of Diabetes and Rheumatism from which she had suffered for six years, Mrs. Boniface Richard, well-known here, is joyfully telling her neighbors that she owes her health to Dodd's Kidney Pills and to no other cause.

"My Rheumatism and Diabetes were brought on by a cold and a strain and though I was attended by a doctor he could not help me. After suffering for six years I made up my mind to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and to my surprise they did me good almost at once. Two boxes cured me completely. I recommend them to everybody as a sure cure for Diabetes Backache and all other Kidney Diseases."

Strange Poisoning Case.

Montreal, Feb. 18.—A mysterious poisoning case was reported to the police yesterday, when Thomas Green was found dead in a restaurant at 84 Cathedral street, and the proprietor, C. F. Hill, and Edward Dellow and Edward McConnell were found suffering from poison. The men claim they did nothing but drink some coffee.

Analysis of the coffee, it is said, shows that there was a large quantity of strychnine in it, but the detective department say they think it is a case of gas poisoning.

Freights In Collision.

Guelph, Feb. 18.—Two freight trains ran foul of each other Tuesday night about 11 o'clock at the junction, with the result that a cattle car was so badly smashed that it had to be burned. There were no cattle in the car. The wreckage was burned up so promptly that yesterday morning there was nothing to indicate what had happened.

Abolition of Capital Punishment.

Washington, Feb. 18.—An attempt to abolish capital punishment as a penalty under Federal laws yesterday blocked the conclusion of consideration of the penal code bill in the House, sitting in committee of the whole.

Must Be Represented.

—to have headaches—an easily-tired body—a stuffy-feeling brain—even for part of the time. There are too many keen alert men and women, always at their best, to give much chance of success to one thus handicapped.

These things are the direct results of a sluggish liver—constipated bowels—dry skin — overworked kidneys — in short, of a body whose sewers are clogged.

Nothing opens up these outlets of the waste, and clears the system of poison so gently, yet so effectively, as "Fruit-a-tives." "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes combined—by a process that greatly increases their medicinal value —with valuable tonics and internal antiseptics, and made into tablets.

Take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" every night, eat plenty of ripe fruit, and see how quickly your brain clears and headaches leave you. 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Trial size 25c. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

THE TORONTO STAR'S AMUSING ACCOUNT OF CASE

Ottawa, Feb 17—Their five Lordships of the Supreme Court sit in stiff dignity in a dingy old building at Ottawa, which is shortly to be replaced by one more modern. Ermine and fine scarlet are the robes which they assume for opening days and for judgments. The red flannel as everybody has learned, is a useful protection for the throat, and that, of course, the place in their Lordships' costume which it might naturally be expected to occupy.

But no. The Supreme Court, on second thoughts is often in the habit of reversing things and why not the gowns of its component justice. So the flannel is used for the body of the garment and the ermine decorates the throat and wrists, where it affords the maximum of discomfort. The hands being thus more or less tied, their Lordships are enabled to give all their attention to the workings of their minds. Of this pastime they apparently tire for on all but the occasions mentioned they find it convenient to discard the ermine and fine scarle for sober black, with somewhat more convenient armholes.

THE STRATTON APPEAL

Yesterday they were in full panoply of war and waded through a number of motions to the Stratton election appeal and through this appeal, to an adjournment.

The Stratton election appeal is of particular interest for various reasons. Undoubtedly the Conservative party has not forgotten the ancient enmity of the days of the Ross Government. It is probably by token of thi that it has concentrated its post-election efforts upon the unseating of that James Robert whom it regards as a thorn in the flesh. Boastings not loud but deep have been made no further away from Toronto than Queen's Park that Conservatives are prepared to reveal awesome things if the protest ever comes to trial.

The anxiety of the Conservatives to win this fight has given rise to a similar determination on the part of Liberals. Every step in the courts will be contested, unless the Supreme Court puts an end to the matter forever by a decision in Mr Stratton's favor upon the present issue.

BUSINESS TRIP TO HALIFAX

The history of the case begins with Mr Stratton's election to the Commons as West Peterborough's representative on October 26th last. Straightway his opponents set out to pick holes in his ways and means of getting into Parliament. One of those excellent comprehensive petitions was prepared which carefully alleges everything possible in order that the respondent may be unable to guess whether the real stinger is in the tail, behind the ear, or at the base of the left flapper. So much for the petition.

The document was filed on Nov. 21, and the petitioner had ten days more in which to serve it on Mr Stratton. Towards the end of this time, however and with the petition en route to catch him at Toronto, Mr Stratton was called to Halifax on business. The Conservatives say that neither at his home nor at his office could they learn of his whereabouts.

They waited longer than the ten days and this is one point wherein Mr Stratton's counsel says that they did not comply with the law. On Dec. 2 it was that they secured an order getting a ten-day extension in which to procure service. Also they got permission to serve a clerk in Mr. Stratton's office instead of that gentleman himself.

It was a clerk who next day got the imposing document contesting the election and Mr. Stratton has never been served at all. The allowing of service on a substitute at the same time as the extension was granted is the main objection raised by the petitioner.

The Controverted Elections Act provides that the petition must be served on the respondent within the prescribed ten days "or within such longer time as the court, under special circumstances of difficulty in effecting service, allows." The next subsection, however, reads as follows;—"If personal service cannot be effected within the time granted by the Court, then service on such other person as the court directs shall be deemed good." etc.

The respondent points out that service on a substitute is thus permissible only after extra time has been granted by the court, whereas the petitioner in this case secured an extension of time and permission to serve a clerk in, as it were, the same breath.

PUZZLES THE JUDGES.

Very cleverly and carefully Mr. George H. Watson, K. C., presented this view of the situation to their Lordships;

"Suppose," suggested one of them, "that the petitioner found out that the man was in the Yukon, could he get an order for an extension of time, prove that he could not serve the absent respondent, and then come back, in, say, an hour, and properly get permission to serve a substitute? If that's so, I think it's just a form."

"It is what the law says," contended Mr. Watson. "There must be a bonafide effort to serve the respondent after the extension of time in which to do so is granted before permission is given to serve a substitute."

"Must he go through the form when he knows it is an absurdity?" queried another of their Lordships.

Mr. Watson felt that the "coming back in an hour" was a "forced case."

"I think not."

"Did it take you an hour to eat breakfast?"

"No."

"Three-quarters."

"No."

"Half?"

"Twenty minutes?"

"I cannot say."

At which point the lawyer starts backwards by twenty-one, two, and three minutes, until the witness ties himself down to something he doesn't mean.

IS THE LAW PECULIAR?

Mr. J. E. Jones, for the petitioner, didn't get much consolation from the Bench either. He alleged that Mr. Watson's preliminary objections to the proceedings had not revealed the nature of the skillful plea which is now put forward. Like the petition itself (though he did not mention the petition), they did not indicate the precise location of the stinger.

"He had something up his sleeve, you mean," suggested the Court, putting it in plain English.

Mr. Jones cited one case which is evidently complex. At any rate their Lordships advised him not to drag it in.

"I have known some who tried, in my little experience," said one, and he smiled reminiscently.

TOOK THE HINT.

"Then I won't try a wider flight, my Lord," said Mr. Jones.

"If there is a wider flight you would like to try?" invited the Court, but the counsel knew a challenge when he saw it, and folded his wings. He did not want to make nonsense of the Act, he averred.

"Do you think you have to do that?" asked one justice, surprised at such innocence. "Hasn't the Act done that for itself?"

Which is a pretty severe comment upon the Act.

Nevertheless, without prejudicing the merits of the case it might be inferred, from the remarks made yesterday, that the majority judgment, when it comes, will put an end to the election petition in West Peterborough.

THREE MUSKETEERS TO-MORROW NIGHT

Mr. Daniel Ryan Has Been Assisting the Local Producing Company

There will be a large audience for the presentation of "The Three Musketeers" at the Conservatory hall tomorrow. The sale of seats has been very large and encouraging. The drama will be given by the Alexandra Dramatic Club and under the auspices of Mr D. Oscar Waring who has had a long professional experience and will be seen to great advantage in the part of Cardinal Richelieu. The play will be produced under the auspices of the A.Y.P.A. of St Luke's church.

Mr. Daniel Ryan who is giving a repertoire of high class plays at the Grand this week has very thoughtfully taken an interest in the work of the local artists and has given them some invaluable instruction. He has also offered to lend them any of his property they may require and to do what he can towards making the production a success.

SALOME A PLAY WITH A MORAL

Daniel Ryan and Company Give Fine Production of Great Biblical Drama

Salome is not so bad after all. In fact as given by Mr. Daniel Ryan and his players at the Grand last night it was decidedly moral and impressive. The drama of biblical times with its celebrated dance of the seven veils attracted a large audience. Those who went expecting to see anything of the variety of a burlesque show act in the performance of the dance must have been very much disappointed. The play was educative and moral. St John the Baptist was the central figure and his teachings and exonerations were the lines that impressed the audience. Salome is spurned by the prophet when she tells him of her love for him and the unhappiness of her position stands out a lesson of great value to any recitpive mind.

Mr. Ryan, as John the Baptist appeared in his best interpreted role of his season here and gave a splendid reading of the part. Harriet Duke as Salome imbued the character with spirit and passionate fire. Her perceptive mind.

NOT ITCHING TO MEET SHRUBB

Indian Would Like to See the Race Postponed

Deseronto, Feb 17—Tom Longboat, the famous Indian, accompanied by his brother-in-law, Albert Maracle, who was with him when he defeated Shrubb at New York, left here today on the 11.30 train for Kingston where he will face the puck in a hockey game to be played there tonight between the R.A.A.C. and the 14th. Tom says he will probably go to Toronto on Friday. He does not seem anxious to run on February 25th, as he thinks it would not give him time to get into shape. When spoken to today, he said: "I did not kick when our meet on January 26th was postponed." The Indian is confident he can beat Shrubb at 15 miles whenever they meet. If the race is run in Toronto there will likely be a large crowd from Deseronto go to see their idol run as it is nothing but Longboat wherever you go here. He is the talk of the town and will be well backed when he meets Shrubb at 15 miles. The redskin has many admirers among the people of Deseronto and surrounding country owing to his keeping tied tight on the water wagon here. He will return to Deseronto after the game in Kingston.

SPORTING TALK

THE PETERBOROUGH INDIAN.

Down in Georgia they call Simpson the "Red Thunderbolt." It is too bad that the name, "The Peterborough Indian" hasn't stayed with him. With the publicity he is now enjoying and with every prospect of the fleetfooted redskin getting to the top of the long distance ladder, the "Peterborough Indian" would have sounded awfully good to the people of this city. It would lend an international interest to the Electric City and the audiences of the big American towns who would see Simpson perform would ask where is Peterborough? What a splendid publicity medium the Indian would have been then. Perhaps its not too late yet to have his manager tell the newspaper men that he is the Peterborough Indian.

The New Brunswick Legislature will meet on March 18.

"AN ENGLISHMAN'S HOME" PLAY THAT AROUSED ENGLAND

A Synopsis of a much Discussed Play — At First the Authorship Concealed— England Rouses as Never Before to the Necessities of the Time

A play called "An Englishman's Home" has been produced at Wyndham's Theatre, which has created quite a sensation.

At first the author's name was not known. He called himself "A Patriot." Mr. J. M. Barrie denied that he was the author, and evidently wishes he had been. He admits that he is a great admirer of the play, and is thankful that "we had a management with the courage to produce it."

The author is now confessed as Major Guy du Maurier, son of the late distinguished Punch artist and brother of Mr. Gerald du Maurier, who produces the play. He is now serving in South Africa.

In brief, the play illustrates what would really happen if England was invaded. It shows an actual invasion and the effect of ignorance of what to do at such a crisis.

THE PLOT OF THE PLAY.

"Mr. Brown is the 'Englishman' at whose 'home' the action of the play passes," says the Morning Post. "When we first see Mr. Brown, who shapes like a retired tradesman of sixty, he is engrossed in diabolo. He and all his family are at home and indoors. A dense fog has enveloped the Essex coast, and a strike at the General Post Office has deprived the Browns of their letters and newspapers. They would all be looking on at a football match but for the fog, and it is in a general conversation concerning football that the unlovely Brown character is revealed. They are an utterly selfish and frivolous lot. They are the worst class of 'lookers-on,' with no sense of duty or of discipline.

MR. BROWN ON INVASION.

"The one bright spot is Paul Robinson, an earnest young Volunteer. Old Brown airs his views. As to invasion, is there not a British Navy paid to attend to such matters? Is there not also a British Army, which, too, he helps to support? And in any case should an invasion occur every Englishman, will, as a matter of course, arm and rise. He has no very clear idea as to what he will arm himself with or as to the precise form his rising will assume. He pooh-poohs, however, the gloomy vaticinations of Paul Robinson, and settles down again to diabolo.

"A soldier is described by Mr. Brown in his garden, who upbraids him a as trespasser. He is supposed by all but Paul to be an English Volunteer taking part in some manoeuvres. Paul doubts his being an Englishman. And Paul is right. Mr. Brown has to receive others, including Prince Yoland. He orders them to quit and his son, Geoffrey, picks up a gun, to find himself suddenly covered with a revolver. The enemy has come. Mr. Brown's house is occupied in turn by the enemy's officers all perfectly equipped and alert, and a force of British infantry, under a thoroughly incompetent captain, and all at sixes and sevens.

"The Browns appear to imagine that they are being 'put upon' by rival British forces engaged in a sham fight, nor can Paul, who has done what he can, which owing to the muddle everything is in is nothing, bring them to their senses. Not till the end of the second act, when Geoffrey, who is playing the fool on the table, is shot dead, does the Brown family grasp the fact that it is war in earnest.

MR. BROWN IS BESIEGED.

"The house is besieged, and Mr. Brown, who can do nothing but curse the invaders, at last takes up a rifle. His house is in ruins, the walls are riddled with shells the roof is on fire, and soon the whole house will be in ashes. He alone refuses to leave; his daughter, Maggie only stays to be with him. He, in a frenzy, seizes a rifle and fires out on the enemy, killing one or two. For this Prince Yoland orders him to be shot. He has no right to defend his house or his country, being a civilian. The circle is complete; the argument most artistically complete. Maggie hearing the shots of the firing party, rushes out, crying, 'Father, father!' A moment later bagpipes are heard and Prince Yoland finds himself a prisoner."

The play, it will be seen, is an object lesson of which the most will be made. It is a plea for conscription for the military training of our youth. It is calculated to assist recruiting for the Territorial forces.

HOW COOPER KILLED CARMACK STORY AN INTERESTING ONE

Nashville, Tenn, Feb 17 — Filled with dramatic incidents and marked by scenes that bordered on the sensational, the first day of the actual trial of the Cooper-Sharp case closed tonight. Whether Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, Robin J. Cooper and John Sharp killed former Senator E. W. Carmack in self-defence or as a result of a conspiracy is the issue. The taking of testimony began today with every seat in the court room occupied. Scarcely had the attorneys been rapped into order—Judge Hart has broken two perfectly good gavels in the work thus far—than sensation number one was produced. Mrs. E. W. Carmack the slain senator's wife, was half carried, half assisted into the room. Her knees gave way as she neared her seat, and she was moaning as she was placed in her chair. Her little son, Ned, jr, aged 10, stood by his mother, patting her shoulder and trying to keep back his tears.

Surprise number two came when the state called Mrs. Carmack as its first witness. She was almost carried to the witness stand a raised platform, by her kinsman, Frank Lander, who succeeded her husband as editor of the Tennessean. A few questions were asked her but she became hysterical and was excused.

Sensation number three followed Mrs. Carmack's leaving the stand. Young Ned Carmack turned squarely towards where the defendants sat, and fixed upon them a look full of hate.

Next came the testimony of Mrs. Eastman who seized the revolver said to have been found near the dead editor's body and re-enacted the tragedy. Her cross-examination was severe, but it only strengthened her testimony.

She told how she met Carmack and identified the exact spot. "'Senator Carmack came swinging along,'" said she. "'His eyes lighted up with a pleasant look and we both stopped. He raised his hat and was looking into my eyes in a listening attitude. I had begun a sentence, when from behind me came a voice, saying, "Well, here you are. We have the drop on you now." I saw Mr Carmack look over my shoulder with a look of surprise enquiry and run his right hand into his back pocket and slowly draw a pistol. It seemed to catch. Then the man behind me said "You cowardly scoundrel hiding behind a woman's skirts, are you. Get out you dastard." Then I saw the revolver and jumped to one side and heard a shot. I turned and thought I recognized Dr White as the man with the revolver, and I screamed "My God, doctor, don't shoot, please don't." I then recognized that it was Col. Cooper. I sprang against the fence and saw young Cooper and heard two other shots.

"Young Cooper was standing near me, his arm extended as though in the act of firing a pistol. Senator Carmack was lying doubled up in the gutter in a pool of blood and I turned and denounced Col Cooper."

"I said he was a brutal murderer, that he had taken advantage of my presence to kill a man without giving him the chance of a dog. That I would rather be the dead man in the gutter than to be he."

The state next called E. B. Craig, former state treasurer who testified that he spent the day before the murder with Senator Carmack and saw Col Cooper the same evening.

KITCHEN DANGERS

WHY EVERY HOME NEEDS ZAM-BUK.

Burns, scalds, cuts, abrasions and scratches, are every-day occurrences in the kitchen, and a box of Zam-Buk kept handy & used immediately such injury is sustained will be found to save hours of suffering. For severe burns and scalds this balm is wonderfully effective.

Mrs. Davis, of Earlsden Street, Coventry, says:—"I was cooking one day when my clothes caught fire and I was badly burned about the legs. Zam-Buk relieved the agony, and although the burns were very deep, in a few days it healed them nicely."

Miss Martha Green, of Claremont Street, Toronto, in taking a pan of boiling fat from the oven spilt it over her right hand. "The boiling fat ran into the palm of my hand," she says, "and over all my fingers. You may well imagine the agony I suffered in consequence. I was almost wild with the pain. The hand became swollen, and large blisters formed all over the palm and along the fingers. For over a month I was unable to use the hand at all. I tried several kinds of salves and ointments, but the wound seemed apparently no better.

"About this time I was advised to try Zam-buk. I stopped using all other preparations, and applied Zam-Buk instead. The very first application soothed my hand and seemed to draw out the fire and inflammation; and as I kept on using Zam-Buk, the blisters gradually dried up and disappeared. In a very short time the scald was healed completely."

Mrs. R. Brown, of Calumet Avenue, Montreal, says:—"While busy in the kitchen one day my oven door fell off inflicting a nasty scratch on my leg. I didn't think much of it, once the first sharp pain had gone; but the dye in my stocking got into the wound and set up blood-poisoning. I had a bad leg for weeks and I believe that had it not been for Zam-Buk it would have been bad yet. As soon as, acting upon the advice of a friend I put on Zam-Buk, I got relief, and the inflammation began to subside. In a few weeks the wound was healed. In my opinion Zam-Buk should be in every home."

Miss Martha Green.

The above are but a few instances of the varied uses to which Zam-Buk can be so advantageously applied. It is equally effective for cuts, bruises, abrasions, sprains and stiffness. Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

Fear of exposure at the hand of Graydon Bansemer's father had kept her purposely blind to the inevitable. Her woman's intuition long since had convinced her that Graydon was not like his father. She knew him to be honorable, noble, fair and worthy. Long and often had she wondered at James Bansemer's design in permitting his son to go to the extreme point in relation with Jane. As she sat there and suffered it came to her that the man perhaps had a purpose after all—an unfathomable, selfish design which none could forestall. She knew him for all that he was. In that knowledge she felt a slight, timid sense of power. He stood for honor so far as his son was concerned. In fair play she could expose him if he sought to expose her.

But all conjectures, all fears, paled into insignificance with the one great terror—what would James Bansemer do in the end? What would he do at the last minute to prevent the marriage of his son and this child of unknown parentage? What was to be his tribute to the final scene in the drama? She knew that he was tightening his obnoxious coils about her all the time. Even now she could feel his hand upon her arm, could hear his sibilant whisper. Now she found herself face to face with the crisis of all these years. Her only hope lay in the thought that neither could afford the scandal of an open declaration. Bansemer was merciless, and he was no fool.

Knowing Graydon to be the son of a scoundrel, she could under ordinary circumstances have forbidden her daughter to marry him. In this instance she could not say him nay. The venom of James Bansemer in that event would have no measure of pity. In her heart she prayed that death might come to her aid in the destruction of James Bansemer.

It was not until she heard Graydon coming up the stairs that the solution flashed into her brain. If Jane became the wife of this cherished son James Bansemer's power was gone! His lips would be sealed forever. She laughed aloud in the frenzy of hope. She laughed to think what a fool she would have been to forbid the marriage. The marriage? Her salvation! Jane found her almost hysterical, trembling like a leaf. She was obliged to confess that she had heard part of their conversation below in order to account for her manner. When Jane confided to her that she had promised to marry Graydon in September—or June—she urged her to avoid a long engagement. She could say no more than that.

Now she sat limp before the two men, a wan smile straying from one to the other, exhausted by her suppressed emotions. Suddenly, without a word, she held out her hand to Graydon. In her deepest soul she loved this manly, strong hearted young fellow. She knew, after all, he was worthy of the best woman in the land.

"You know?" cried Graydon, clasping her hand, his eyes glistening. "Jane has told you? And you—you think me worthy?"

"Yes, Graydon—you are worthy." She looked long into his eyes, searching for a trace of the malevolence that glowed in those of his father. They were fair and honest and sweet, and she smiled to herself. She wondered what his mother had been like.

"Then I may have her?" he cried. She looked up at her husband, and he nodded his head.

"Our little girl," he murmured. It all came back to her like a flash. Her deception, her imposition, her years of stealth—and she shuddered. Her hand trembled, and her eyes grew wide with repugnance as they turned again upon Graydon Bansemer. Both men drew back in amazement.

"Oh, no; it cannot, cannot be!" she moaned, without taking her eyes from Graydon's face. In the same instant she recovered herself and craved his pardon. "I am distressed—it is so hard to give her up, Graydon," she panted, smiling again. The thought had come suddenly to her that James Bansemer had a very strong purpose in letting his son marry Jane Cable. She never had ceased to believe that Bansemer knew the parents of the child she had adopted. It had dawned upon her in the flash of that moment that the marriage might mean a great deal to this calculating father. "David, won't you leave us for a few minutes? There is something I want to say to Graydon."

David Cable hesitated for an instant and then slowly left the room, closing the door behind him. He was strangely puzzled over that momentary exposition of emotion on the part of his wife. He was a man of the world, and he knew its vices from the dregs up, but it was many days before the startling suspicion struck in to explain her uncalled for display of feeling. It did not strike in until after he noticed that James Bansemer was paying marked attention to his wife.

Left alone with Graydon, Mrs. Cable nervously hurried to the point. She was determined to satisfy herself that the son did not share her secret with his father.

"Does your father know that you want to marry Jane?" she asked.

"Of course—er—I mean he suspects, Mrs. Cable. He has teased me not a little, you know. I'm going to tell him tonight."

"He has not known Jane very long, you know."

"Long enough to admire her above all others. He has often told me that she is the finest girl he's ever met. Oh, I'm sure father will be pleased, Mrs. Cable."

"I met your father in New York, of course—years ago. I presume he has told you."

"I think not. Oh, yes; I believe he did tell me after we met you at Hooley's that night. He had never seen Mr. Cable."

"Nor Jane, I dare say."

"Oh, no! I knew Jane long before dad ever laid eyes on her." The look in his eyes satisfied her, over all that he knew nothing more.

"You love her enough to sacrifice anything on earth for her?" she asked suddenly.

"Yes, Mrs. Cable," he answered simply.

"You would renounce all else in the world for her sake?"

"I believe that's part of the service," he said, with a smile. "Jane is worth all of that and more. She shall be first in my heart, in my mind, for all time, if that is what you mean, Mrs. Cable. Believe me, I mean that."

"Mr. Bansemer says that you are like your mother," she mused wistfully.

"That's why he loves me, he also says. I'm sorry I'm not like father," he said earnestly. "He's great!" She turned her face away so that he might not see the look in her eyes. "I think Jane is like"— He paused in confusion. "Like her father," he concluded. She arose abruptly and took his hand in hers.

"Go to her, Graydon," she said. "Tell her that Mr. Cable and I want you to be our son. Good night and God bless you." She preceded him to the stairway and again shook hands with him. David Cable was ascending.

"Graydon," said the latter, pausing halfway up as the other came down, "you were ready to congratulate me in advance on the prospect of becoming president of the P., L. and A. Do you know that I was once an ordinary fireman?"

"Certainly, Mr. Cable. The rise of David Cable is known to every one."

"That's all. I just wanted to be sure. Jane was not born with a silver spoon, you know."

"And yet she is Jane Cable," said the young man proudly. Then he hurried on down to the expectant, throbbing Jane.

Frances Cable sat at her escritoire for an hour, her brain working with feverish energy. She was seeking out the right step to take in advance of James Bansemer. Her husband sat alone in his den and smoked long after she had taken her step and retired to rest, but not to sleep. On her desk lay half a dozen invitations, two of them from the exclusive set to whose inner circles her ambitious, vigorous aspirations were forcing her. She pushed them aside and with narrowed eyes wrote to James Bansemer—wrote the note of the diplomat who seeks to forestall:

> Dear Mr. Bansemer—Doubtless Graydon will have told you his good news before this reaches you, but Mr. Cable and I feel that we cannot permit the hour to pass without assuring you of our own happiness and of our complete approval. Will you dine with us this evening—en famille—at seven-thirty. FRANCES CABLE.

David Cable read the note and sent it early the next morning by special messenger to James Bansemer. The engagement of Jane Cable and Graydon Bansemer was announced in the evening papers.

CHAPTER X.

THE offices of James Bansemer were two floors above those of Robertson Ray Rigby in the U—— building. The morning after Graydon Bansemer's important visit to the home of the Cables, Eddie Deever lounged into Rigby's presence. He seemed relieved to find that the stenographer was ill and would not be down that day. The lanky youngster studiously inspected the array of law books in the cases for some time, occasionally casting a sly glance at Bobby. At last he ventured a remark somewhat out of the ordinary—for him:

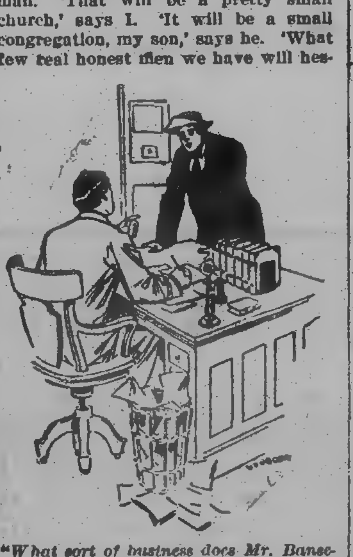
"That old man up in Bansemer's office gets on my nerves," said he, settling his long frame in a chair and breaking in upon Rigby's attention so suddenly that the lawyer was startled into a quick look of interest.

"Old Droom? What do you know about him?"

"Nothing in particular, of course. Only he sort of jars me when he talks." Rigby saw that the young man had something on his mind.

"I did not know that you were personal friends," ventured Rigby.

"Friends!" snorted Eddie. "Holy mackerel! He scares the life out of me. I know him in a business way, that's all. He came down here three weeks ago and borrowed some books for Bansemer. I had to go up and get 'em yesterday. He told me to sit down while he looked up the books. I was there half an hour, and he talked all the time. By jing! He makes your blood run cold. He said he had set aside in his will the sum of a hundred dollars to build a church for the honest man. 'That will be a pretty small church,' says I. 'It will be a small congregation, my son,' says he. 'What few real honest men we have will hesitate to attend for fear of being ostracised by society.' 'Gee whiz, Mr. Droom, that's pretty hard on society!' says I, laughing. 'Oh, for that matter, I have already delivered my eulogy on society,' says he. 'But it ain't dead,' says I. 'Oh, yes. It's so rotten it must surely be dead,' says he in the nastiest way I ever heard. He's a fearful old man, Mr. Rigby. He made a mean remark about that Mrs. David Cable."



"What sort of business does Mr. Bansemer handle?"

"What did he say?" quickly demanded Bobby.

"He said he'd been reading in the papers about how she was breaking into society. 'I knew her in New York years ago,' says he. 'She wasn't fashionable then. Now she's so swell that she'll soon be asking Cable to build a mansion at Rose Lawn cemetery, because all of the fashionables go there.' Pretty raw, eh, Mr. Rigby?"

"Oh, he's an old blatherskite, Eddie! They talk that way when they get old and grouchy. So he knew Mrs. Cable in New York, eh? What else did he say about her?"

Chinaman Posed as Frenchman.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 17.—A unique method of evading United States customs was adopted by a Chinaman at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when, disguised as a Frenchman, he attempted to obtain entry into the United States. He was accompanied by a white woman, who claimed to be his wife, and Toronto as his home. The man wore a silk hat, under which his pig-tail was concealed, and he was richly apparelled in furs. The pair arrived here on a Grand Trunk train and immediately secured a sleigh to convey them across the river. They were refused admission at both bridges.

Sowed Rye In Wheat.

Woodstock, Feb. 18.—The culmination of one of the most remarkable cases ever heard in the Police Court here came yesterday morning when Wesley West paid into court on behalf of Herman Beare and Thomas Howard, two young men from Blenheim Township, the sum of $43.65.

Beare and Howard had previously been found guilty by Magistrate Ball of sowing rye in fifteen acres of wheat on the farm of Wm. Forman of Blenheim. Howard told how they went at midnight with a bag of rye and how Beare carried the bag several times around the field and distributed the grain.

STUDY IN COLOR NOW IN ORDER

Duty as Well as a Delight to Achieve Artistic Effect

There is hardly a more fascinatingly interesting study than that of color—and it is because we are more or less natural students of the subject that we make so little conscious effort to improve ourselves in the cult.

It should be almost a duty of every woman to cultivate beautiful color schemes—the men, poor things, have so little chance, as fashion goes now, to do so. Almost their only opportunity at present is in their hose and ties and it is only fair to say that they make the most of it.

Nationally, environment and education influence one's conception of color, and the crudity of color displayed by an uncultured woman in her dress is rather distressing to the aesthetic onlooker. On the other hand, many highly-educated, intellectual women are so fearful of annoying their own and others' aesthetic sensibilities that they incline at times to a rather regrettable sombreness of color in their dress. The touch of color that will give brightness and gayety to a dress need be only a small one—whole frocks in gayly colored material are seldom in good taste—but quite an increasing number of women are afraid even of that small touch—and this season has seen a very large number of models which can only be described as studies in drab.

From neck frill to skirt hem the color has been of uniform deadness. This is strange in these times, when the manufacture of material in gloriously soft coloring is at its zenith. The colors are wonderfully luminous and yet they have an indescribably quiet air.

It is difficult to say which colors are the smartest to wear at present—a curious shade of Chinese blue is a novelty for evening frocks—it is successful for day gown also, but less of a novelty. Lemon yellow is the color in which many beautiful models have been shown, and this is a peculiarly becoming shade for the brunette of Southern type. Some exquisitely embroidered Cleopatra kind of robes are adorned with lemon yellow as the foundation.

Brig.-General Sir H. R. Rawlinson, of Aldershot, is visiting Lieut.-Col. Burstall at Kingston.

SOME SURPRISES SOON THE ORDER OF THE DAY

The Review's European Tour Contest Constantly Grows in Interest—More Nominations—Another Change in the Leadership.

Each Candidate

Sending or bringing to the Review office 5 NEW yearly subscriptions to the Daily by March 8, at 9 p.m., will be given a

SPECIAL BALLOT FOR 10,000 EXTRA VOTES

Ten NEW yearly subscriptions to the Weekly will entitle the candidate to a

SPECIAL BALLOT FOR 5,000 EXTRA VOTES

Each 5 years' Daily or 10 years' Weekly will constitute a "Club." This bonus vote will be given in addition to the regular certificates of votes on the payment of a subscription. Don't be satisfied with a few clubs; get as many as you can.

Several new nominations have been received since yesterday. The plan of conducting the contest is to give every one a fair chance. Nominations are not received after the time has passed in which a new candidate may expect to win. Over four weeks remain until the close of the contest, and any candidate entering now will have plenty of time to see all their frenids and their friends friends, in fact. In affairs of this kind wonders have been accomplised in 3 weeks and less. It's all in the enthusiasm a candidate puts into the campaign for votes. According to the published score no one has a formidable lead. A few new subscriptions would place any new candidate near the top. This contest is just beginning to get good and warm, and those entering now have the advantage of getting into the fray when everybody is taking notice. And the great bonus offer is another inducement to both old and new candidates. It is not necessary to hold subscriptions until a full club is secured. Turn them in as fast as you get them and credit will be given. The special ballots will be made out after the close of the offer, March 22.

The prizes are very valuable, and a candidate will still have plenty of show if determined to win and devoting the remaining time to securing of vote certificates. After the race is over and the lucky ones have carried off the honors and are in proud possession of the beautiful trophies, many of the candidates will see just how they could have been among winners had they but done justice to themselves and the friends who had been voting for them.

The contest manager is an outsider, and consequently not directly interested in any one candidate beyond the determination to see fair play and an even chance for all, until he turns the ballot box, with its precious contents over to the gentlemen who will honor the Review by making the final count and awarding the prizes on March 22.

An experience some have had, and others may have, is that you will be told all sorts of yarns about various contestants' strength and the votes they have stored away, which is in a large measure a bluff. Don't be alarmed.

You know yourself and your ground and in case you have courage and determination to win, it is a merry chance you will give other contestants with an equal chance for victorious honors.

The balloting goes merrily on. Everybody seems to be playing a quiet game, no one making great gains yesterday.

FIVE NEW NOMINATIONS

The following new nominations have been received. In the ladies' list in the city—Miss Susie Kelly of 374 Downie street and Miss Margaret J. Heffernan of 85 Hunter street. In the men's city list, Harry Gunsolus of 93 Hunter street, James Lewis, of 579 Aylmer street and Leo Young of 313 Reid street.

YESTERDAY'S VOTING

The results of the voting yesterday shows four candidates again less than 1600 votes apart. Miss Moore holds the high score today. Miss Adams next closely followed by Miss Perry, while Miss Dawson is a very close fourth. Many other candidates in the other lists have most excellent scores, and no doubt many could give the leaders a good race right now if they wished. As the candidates control their own voting absolutely it is always a deep secret how many votes are concealed in the "sleeve." Miss Colin is now less than 500 votes behind Miss Holcombe. The vote in the ladies' list in the country is an excellent one at this stage of the contest. When another two weeks have passed the country district will no doubt be on even terms with the city. Norman Allison replaces W. G. Rundle in the men's list in the city, while L. T. H. Ardiel and Wm A Mowry made gains.

GLASSES ARE PLENTIFUL

But it is almost a certainty that they would be even more common still if everybody wore them who should. You find people doing without them just as long as they possibly can which is a very wrong thing to do, indeed, every day makes the case harder to deal with. Premier Says Members Must Hurry.

Ontario Legislature Gets Down to Work in Record Time---Debate is Continued.

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Never before has the Legislature settled down so promptly to business. Yesterday after doing a considerable amount of routine business, the debate on the address was carried on by James McEwing, Joseph Downey, R. J. McCormack, and A. H. Musgrove. The last mentioned, though nervous, proved to be an excellent speaker. Mr. McCormack made friends with the House immediately. Allan Studholme moved the adjournament of the debate. The debate will be closed before six this evening by Hon. A. G. MacKay and the Premier.

D. J. McDougal, one of the Ottawa members, has created a situation by sitting in the House and taking part in the proceedings without taking the oath. Penalties of $2,500, disfranchisement, a new election and other extremities are mooted, but the clerk of the House disclaimed any knowledge of the matter last night. Mr. McDougal was not present in the House yesterday.

Premier Whitney gave an emphatic warning to the members in charge of private bills.

"There cannot be the usual elasticity allowed during this session," he declared. Not for years had private legislation been so backward, he was informed. The standing orders committee had nothing to do, and as bills had to be advertised for some weeks in The Gazette members must look sharp.

To Hon. Mr. MacKay, the Premier explained that the law reform bill to be brought down would supply any omissions and provide for any changes in the statutory revision bills.

A bridge across the Bay of Quinte was the subject of a petition presented by J. W. Johnson.

Premier Whitney pointed out that the petition presented by J. McEwing asking for a money grant for police officers was out of order, no money petition being admissible.

Bills were read a first time introduced by Hon. J. J. Foy respecting the administration by the crown of the estates of intestates; to prevent priority among executive creditors; respecting actions of replevin; respecting law stamps; respecting the office of sheriff. Also respecting public revenues, Hon. Mr. Matheson; respecting damages by land flooding in new districts, Hon. Mr. Cochrane; respecting municipal debentures issued for drainage works, Hon. Mr. Matheson; respecting tile, stone and timber drainage, Hon. Mr. Matheson; respecting the fiscal year, Hon. Mr. Matheson; respecting ferries, Hon. Mr. Reaume.

THE WOMEN FAIL TO GET RESOLUTION TO THE PREMIER

London, Feb. 19.—The suffragettes failed yesterday in their attempt to present to Premier Asquith the resolution adopted at Wednesday's meeting of the Women's Freedom League, which declared for a continuation of the militant propaganda for suffrage.

They first attempted to march in procession, but their lines being broken up by the police, they mingled with a crowd of the curious, who had gathered to witness the scene, and sauntered singly toward Downing street.

The police, however, had completely blocked all entrances to the thoroughfares, and 20 of the most militant suffragettes, who tried to break through the lines, were arrested, charged with interfering with the police.

For a time there was a scene of great disorder, women time and again throwing themselves valiantly against the double line of police, only to be thrown back, or if they were unusually persistent, to be handed over to constables, who marched them off to the police station amid cheers, hoots and hisses from the throng.

Finally the policemen became exasperated at the persistence of the struggling women, and they were none too tender in the way they handled their assailants. Hats, furs and blouses came away in the scrimmage. Several big Scotch women were observed actively using their fists on the police, but the unequal battle could not last long, and the women who had not fallen into the hands of the constables eventually retreated to Caxton Hall.

The women who were taken into custody were later arraigned in a police court. They refused to pay the fines imposed, and all were sent to prison for terms varying from a fortnight to a month.

They met again yesterday afternoon in Caxton Hall. Carrie Nation was among those present.

CITY HAD NO DIFFICULTY IN PROCURING STONE AT THREE DOLLARS PER CORD

The Board of Works held a meeting last night at which were present Ald. Phelan, chairman; Ald. McIntyre, Buller, Bradburn, Gillespie, Mayor Rush and City Engineer Hay. There was considerable business on the blotter and good progress was made with it.

The City Engineer wrote in regard to a claim of T. H. Hooper for $22 for repairs to an electric sign on George street, which was injured by the road roller striking the post. Mr. Hay recommended that no action be taken as the sign was only allowed there at the pleasure of the city.

On motion the claim was referred to the City Solicitor.

The City Engineer reported that 208 cords of stone had been delivered at the city yard during the month of February. The price was $3 per cord amounting to $626.91.

It was stated in connection with the stone that it was easy to secure stone at $3 per cord.

Ald. McIntyre moved and Ald. Gillespie seconded, that the chairman and engineer be authorized to purchase as much more stone as was necessary. It is understood that about 100 cords more than already purchased will be required. This was carried.

It is not the intention of the Board to purchase as much stone as last year when 600 cords were used.

CELEBRATED THEIR 61st ANNIVERSARY OF MARRIAGE

Otterville, Feb 15—On St. Valentines day Mr and Mrs Robert Malcolm, of Otterville, Oxford County, celebrated the 61st anniversary of their marriage. A host of friends and relatives met on Saturday, February 13th to offer congratulations, and although Mr and Mrs. Malcolm have reached the advanced age of 81 years they are in the complete enjoyment of all their faculties.

Mr. Malcolm plays choice selections on the violin with all his old time vigor. A remarkable feature to relate is the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm raised eight children and there is no break in the family as yet. All enjoy a very remarkable degree of health and are noted for their kind and genial natures.

RAISED THE SUM

Board of Works Will Give Mr. W. Logan Fifty Dollars in Settlement of Claim.

Mr. Wm. Logan, blacksmith, put in a claim against the city several months ago on the grounds that his business had been affected by the entrance to his shop being blocked during the building of the bridge at the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets last summer.

The Board of Works took up the matter at the time and decided to give Mr. Logan $30 for the injury done his business.

Mr Logan did not consider $30 enough and hinted at a law suit if he was not recompensed by a larger sum. He asked for $60.

The matter came up again at last night's meeting of the Board of Works, and some more information on the point at issue was forthcoming. It was apparent that the building of the bridge had been an inconvenience to Mr. Logan that his business had been affected and that he should be recompensed. It was decided, however, to take steps in future cases of the kind to protect the city's interests and try and prevent similar claims for damages.

It was moved by Ald. Gillespie and seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the sum of $50 be voted to Mr. Logan in full settlement of his claim. This was carried.

IS CITY HELD UP?

Charge is Made That Teamsters Work for Private Parties at Lower Rate Than for Corporation

That teamsters are getting $3.65 per day from the city and working for private parties for $3.000 was the interesting statement made at a meeting of the Board of Works last night.

The aldermen were discussing economy and the question regarding the teamsters came up.

It will be remembered that about two years ago the teamsters union made a demand on the city for higher wages and after some cross-firing a compromise was reached the city agreeing to pay $3.65 for a nine hour day.

At the meeting last night it was stated that the teamsters had gone to work for other parties for $3.00 per day after they had finished their work for the city. Those present at the meeting, while favoring a fa wage for the teamsters, thought that the men with the horses were hardly doing the square thing in demanding $3.65 from the corporation and working for others for $3.00 per day

The question evoked considerable discussion and it was decided to investigate the matter to find out just what the situation is.

STEEL BRIDGE TO COST 30,000 IS NOW PROPOSED

To Span the Otonabee River at Smith Street — New Plans Have Been Prepared—Board of Works Discusses the Matter

City Engineer Hay has prepared plans for a new Smith street bridge. The cost of the structure—a steel one—according to the new estimates will be about $30,000, $28,000 for the bridge property and nearly $2,000 for raising the approaches and other incidental work.

The matter was talked over at the meeting of the Board of Works last night, but no action was taken. Mr. Hay stated that he had only secured a quotation on the steel from one firm, but had written to other companies and there was a possibility that their prices might be lower than those he had based the $28,000 estimate on.

The new plans provide for an eighteen foot roadway with a sidewalk on each side. There will be two piers and two abutments and there will be no excavating required in the river bottom as the engineer considers t will make a satisfactory foundation without excavation. The bridge proper will be shorter than the present one and the approach at the western side especially will have to be raised. The engineer figures that it will cost about $550 to do this work on the west side of the river and $100 on the east side.

The plans provided by the engineer do not provide for waterworks pipe, gas pipes or wiring across the bridge.

The Board of Works will take up the matter in the near future.

The city has been invited to send representatives to the exhibition to be held in the St. Lawrence market, Toronto, March 1st to 6th, by the Canadian Cement and Concrete Association. It is likely that someone will go although the matter was not decided last night.

The exhibition promises to be of a most valubale kind.

ECONOMY THE WATCHWORD AS REGARDS THE FINANCES

Estimates are Now Being Prepared—To Keep Tax-rate Below Twenty Mills—Reduction in All Departments.

Economy has to be the watchword in municipal government if the tax rate is to be kept below twenty mills. Last year the rate was seventeen mills. The city Council are aware of the proposition ahead of them and are taking steps to keep the expenditure down. The Finance Committee has been dealing with the matter and the chairman of the committees have been notified that economy is the rule for the year.

It is understood that the appropriation of the Board of Works will be $14,000 this year. It was $16,500 in 1908.

This matter was discussed at the meeting of the Board of Works last night and suggestions were made as to how the Board could best economize. It was stated that the appropriation for all departments should be cut down on an equal basis.

The question of economy will come up at a meeting of the committee of the whole Council on Tuesday night.

A MESSAGE FROM THORNLOE MAY WITHDRAW FROM FIGHT

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Another day's ballotting in the election of a bishop for the diocese of Toronto has brought the conclusion of the matter appreciably nearer. A telegram received from Bishop Thorneloe during the day stating that he had just emerged from the woods and seen the newspapers, concluded with the words: "Have neither authorized nor approved what is being done." While some ambiguity may be allowed for, this was interpreted by most of those present as a withdrawal, taking the "unauthorized" to refer to his candidature, and the "nor approved" to the campaign on his behalf. In the succeeding ballot the clerical vote to Bishop Thorneloe dropped by 13, and it was generally admitted that Bishop Thorneloe was voted for by the others because they could unite on no one else.

Both parties finally agreed to a conference to-day, Provost Macklem and Dr. Hayes to choose representatives for the purpose from the clerical and lay majorities.

Four ballots were taken yesterday, at 10.30 a.m., 2 p.m., 4.15 and 8.30, making six in all so far cast. There was no appreciable difference recorded, until the reading of Bishop Thorneloe's telegram when there was a noticeable dismay among his clerical adherents.

WAS TOLD TO TAKE CATTLE TO NEIGHBOR'S IN ORDER TO EVADE THE BAILIFF

John Fustey, a young man employed on the farm of Mr. George Sexsmith, in Otonabee, was arrested last evening by Police Constable Newhall Meharry and this morning at the Police Court was charged with having taken from the possession of John McDonald, bailiff, four head of cattle.

The prisoner pleaded not guilty and the case was enlarged until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock in order to allow the prisoner to return the cattle. He was given his freedom on his promise to appear.

He said the cattle were owned by Mr. Sexsmith, but Mr. McDonald went down to claim them for rent which was overdue. According to the story of Fustey, Sexsmith told him to take the cattle over to a neighbor's and leave them there and when the bailiff would come, to say that he had sold them to a butcher for sixty-five dollars, the money he would receive to be for wages in arrears.

Fustey promised to return the cattle before tomorrow morning.

"I was only acting on the instructions of my employer," pleaded the prisoner.

"Well, if your employer sends himself to hell, have you got to do so, too?" asked his Worship.

"He says that his lawyer told him to do the same thing," Mr. McDonald said.

"Then his lawyer will be sure to go," the Magistrate replied.

COMPROMISE IN ELECTION OF BISHOP

Special to the Review.

Toronto, Feb. 19—At this morning's session of the Toronto Anglican Synod action was taken which probably will lead to a compromise in the selection for a Bishop of the dioceses

Chancellor Worrel seconded by Dr. N. W. Hoyles, presented a resolution authorizing the Rev. Provost Macklem and Dr. Hoyles to nominate seven clericales and seven lay delegates respectively and with them consider the name of some clergyman who might receive the votes of each order necessary for an election. The resolution was carried unanimously.

After each committee has made a decision there will be a meeting of the joint committee which will report to the Synod at 2 pm.

Being Introduced by Dr. Sproule.

Measure to Amend the Dominion Lands Act is Explained by Its Promoter.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—Two bills were introduced yesterday and what looks like a new school question is within the sections of Dr. Sproule's bill to amend the Dominion Lands Act passer last year. It was designed, the doctor explained, to correct an omission, and provided that the moneys realized from the sale of school lands in Alberta and Saskatchewan be funded for the purposes of the public schools. In the bill of last session the word "public" disappeared in some manner.

In the old Dominion Lands Act there was a provision by which certain lands were set aside for school purposes, and that the proceeds from the sale of such lands should be available for "public" school purposes in the north territories. In the amendment to the Dominion Lands Act of 1907 the same expression was retained with the change rendered necessary by the conversion of the Northwest Territories into the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, but in amendment to the Dominion Lands Act of last session the word "public" was omitted, thereby enabling schools of all denominations to participate in the proceeds of the land sales if the Provincial Governments saw fit.

When the bill was before the Senate, attention was drawn to this change, and the bill was amended by the restoring the word "public." The bill was returned to the House three days before prorogation, but the amendment made by the Senate was not noticed.

Mr. Turriff submitted a railway act amendment. This was passed last year by the Commons and returned from the Senate, where it was amended, but in its amended shape it was again not reached in the Commons. The bill provides that a railway company receiving a charter from this House must, if the road is to be under 250 miles, build 10 per cent. in two years, 10 per cent. in the third year, 10 per cent. in the fourth, and complete the road in five years. If over 250 miles in length one-twentieth must be constructed in two years.

Mr. Turriff declared the present system, which enables a company to hold a charter for years, was intolerable. He recalled that a company holding a charter graded a portion of the line and laid rails to keep out the Hill system, and when danger of the Hill invasion was removed, it tore up the rails.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT LOOKS TO A WORLD CONGRESS SOON

Washington, Feb. 19.—Conservation co-operation of world-wide scope was the keynote of an address of President Roosevelt, made at the White House yesterday before the delegates in attendance upon the North American Conservation Conference.

This sentiment, which was first voiced by the President, gathered considerable momentum during the day's proceedings and was reflected in the addresses of those who participated.

Characterizing the movement as of utmost importance to the world at large, President Roosevelt impressed the representatives of this Government, Canada and Mexico with the momentous possibilities of the work which has brought about this assemblage.

After the opening of yesterday's session President Roosevelt expressed the hope to Secretary of State Bacon that a universal conservation congress, in which all nations should be invited to participate, should become a reality in the not distant future.

"In international relations I think that the great feature of the growth of the last century has been the mutual recognition of the fact that instead of being normally to the interest of one nation to see another depressed," said he, "it is normally to the interests of each nation to see the others uplifted. I believe that the movement which you to-day initiate is one of the utmost importance to this hemisphere and may be of the utmost importance to the world at large."

"Canada," said Hon. Sydney Fisher, "has watched with the closest attention and interest the conservation movement in the United States," and expressed the conviction that his country can learn much of benefit from the United States. He declared that President Roosevelt struck the keynote of high constructive statesmanship when he spoke in favor of harmonious co-operation of all countries for the advancement of all.

Permanent organization of the North American Conservation Conference was perfected at the first regular session with the selection of Gifford Pinchot, a member of the American delegation, as chairman, no other name being presented. He was placed in nomination by Hon. Sydney Fisher of the Canadian delegation. Forestry formed the theme of discussion.

BROUGHT TO COURT FOR AN OFFENCE COMMITTED ABOUT EIGHT YEARS AGO

That a wrong doer is bound to be caught some day, no matter how long after the offence has been committed, was proven this morning by the appearance in police court of Walter Herron, against whom a charge has been standing for nearly eight years.

Herron came to the city yesterday with his brother, Edward Herron, and they were each fined two dollars for illegal fishing. P.C. Newhall took advantage of their visit to town and arrested Walter.

He appeared before the Magistrate this morning and was charged with overdriving a horse on the 20th of August 1901. He pleaded not guilty, stating that on that day he had just bought a horse from some gypsies and was trying the animal when it was said that he was overdriving it.

Chief Rossel said that only three out of the five witnesses subpoenaed were at present alive. The prisoner han kept out of town practically all the time.

Herron started to shed tears and asked that he be allowed to go as he had a wife and child dependant upon him.

Owing to the case being of such long standing the Magistrate dismissed the case.

As the two Herron men were leaving the court, Edward turned to the crowd and said,

"Well I thank the congregation—"

But before he could finish what he had intended to say, he was rushed out of court by P. C. Newhall.

STIRLING TO CELEBRATE ON MAY 24th

Tweed, Feb. 19.—Tweed has been honored by a special visit from no less a distinguished guest than "Cabot" the favorite dog of our Governor-General, Earl Grey. Last Thursday morning as the special train conveying Earl Grey and party to Toronto passed through here, the dog decided to see for himself, the town of which no doubt he has heard a great deal. He jumped from the train and leisurely walked back to the station.

THE NEW DAM

What has become of the new dam project? We are informed, and believe that the new dam must be begun without delay, if Peterborough is not to find itself in a very tight box. It is quite possible of course that our city fathers are not dead, but sleeping, in which event we may expect to hear something before long. In the meantime all the schemes proposed can be prepared in detail for public examination. People are very much interested and the subject is one of constant discussion by the ratepayers. We must get power and local power if possible, in addition to a supply of water which, if necessary can be purified by ozonisation instead of by the ineffective system of filtration.

FALLACIOUS REASONING

"If some natural obstacle such as a mountain, divided Canada from the United States, and it cost $35 to carry each hundred dollars' worth of Canadian goods sent to the United States over that mountain, and $35 to carry each hundred dollars' worth of American goods sent this way, what would happen? The Governments of the two countries would at once devote their energies by blasting or tunneling to the removal of the mountain. By some means no matter what the cost the obstacle to free intercourse would be removed.

"But what do we find? We find that millions have been spent in bridging the St. Lawrence and Niagara, and in tunneling beneath the St. Clair, to the end that the flow of traffic backward and forward may be facilitated. Then after having done this a paper wall, a tariff wall, has been erected on both sides, and officers have been stationed on the Canadian side to see that no American goods pass this way without first paying toll to the extent of $35 on each hundred; and other officers have been stationed on the American side to see that no Canadian goods pass that way without being similarly tolled.

"Of all the legislative follies the world has witnessed there are few which can surpass those of which the Canadian and United States Governments have been guilty in regard to trade relations between the two countries."—Richard Stutt, at Forest Grange meeting.

This essay upon free trade is all very fine but if in the case (supposed the U.S. said that on coming into the U.S. we should have still to climb a mountain no matter how much we helped to remove the tariff obstacles to goods coming into Canada what would we say? It would likely be "Rats!" The condition of the manufacturing trade in Canada is very bad. Trade, exports, manufacturing etc., have all suffered "a collapse." No longer are we deceived by a bounding revenue. The artificial conditions under which it increased have been exposed and having ceased to serve their turn are no longer utilizable. We must get back to reason and common sense as quickly as possible.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The British Columbia Supreme Court has declared the revived Natal or Educational Test Act for immigrants to be ultra vires of the British Columbia legislature. This contrasts with the power possessed by California to pass if not to enforce such a law.

The Montreal Herald says of the Conservative doctrines which The Standard has enumerated that 'Every one on the list reads like a Liberal doctrine."—Kingston Standard.

That is just what the Review maintained previous to the last election when the Grit press was rejoicing in the recalcitrancy of that presumably Conservative journal. The Standard is Liberal though, perhaps without realizing it or meaning to be so.

The temperance wave which has been spreading through the south, and now looks as if it were encroaching on northern territory, has quietly captured an important department of Yale, as is shown in the vote for the favorite drink by the members of the senior class of the Sheffield Scientific School. Water is an easy winner with 78 votes, and the only other drink which received any votes at all is milk, which was the first choice of 42 members of the class according to the Courier-Journal of New Haven.

Hon A. G. McKay is reported as being actively engaged in bringing pressure to bear on the Whitney Government with the object of inducing that Government to aid in the building of a line of railway with which it is proposed to connect Owen Sound and Meaford.

Even if we assume that the granting of public aid to a private railway enterprise is justifiable under some circumstances the fact remains that this particular project is one of the last on behalf of which assistance should be given.

It is a complete back-down in all the ante-election professions of that gentleman in this respect.

AN ADDRESS ON FRANCES WILLARD

At W. C. T. U. Meeting Wednesday — Mrs. Kenner's Able Effort

The W.C.T.U. of this city held a most interesting meeting on Wednesday in the drawing room of the Y. W.C.A. kindly granted for the afternoon. The president Mrs. A. R. Campbell, and the Hon. President, Mrs. Kenner, occupied seats upon the platform. The 17th of February is known among White Ribbon Women as Crusade Day, and is kept in memory of the late Frances Willard, founder of the World's W.C.T. U.

The room was filled with members and their friends. After a short musical programme, Mrs. Kenner gave an address upon the life of Miss Willard. She began by saying that Miss Willard came of good stock, the daughter of a teacher and granddaughter of Rev. Elijah Willard, for forty years a clergyman. While she received careful training from her parents she did not know they were training her for a career of teacher, author, orator, philanthropist and social reformer.

Beginning as a teacher in a small school, she soon became Dean of the Northwestern University at Evanston, Illinois. It seems as if the eternal forces had her life plan in their mighty onward sweep. It was the year of the Women's Temperance Crusade, when, as if by magic, armies of women, delicate, cultured, home women, filled the streets of the cities and towns of Ohio going from the door of the home to the door of the saloon pleading, praying with the rumsellers with all the eloquence of their mother hearts. The wave reached Chicago. Miss Willard in reading the reports of the Crusade became interested and aroused, soon began to speak, declaring that "this is everybody's war" and assuring the temperance women that she was with them "heart and mind and hand."

A short time after being freed from from her position in the university, she visited New York, Boston and Portland. It was in the slums of New York that the fire of pity was kindled in her soul for the physical and mental misery intemperance causes among the poor.

The crisis in the life of Miss Willard came while she was still in the east. Two letters, the same day, on offering her a position in a lady's school with a salary of $2,400 the other a call to the Presidency of the Chicago branch of the W.C.T.U.

She accepted the call to the W. C.T.U. work. This was her choice of a career. She afterwards said, "I have felt that great promotion came to me when I was counted worthy to be a worker in the organized cause for God, Home and Native Land."

Not long after Frances Willard saw for the first time the inside of a bar room. She describes it—the sickening odor—the bottles—the reading of a Psalm, the singing of "Rock of Ages"; then one of the women asked her to pray. She said: "I felt not the least reluctance kneeling on the floor among a crowd of ill-kept unwashed, hard looking drinking men—I was conscious that perhaps never but once before had I prayed as I did then." So Miss Willard's wonderful work began and continued till the end of her life.

She spoke in every city and town of 10,000 inhabitants in the United States; for twelve years she averaged one meeting a day.

The famous "Polyglot Petition" addressed to the governments of the world, signed by seven and a half millions in fifty different nationalities, was circulated by the World's W.C.T.U.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served in the reading room.

The W.C.T.U. meets regularly the last Friday in each month in the Y.M.C.A.

Canada's imports in January totalled $23,113,627, as compared with $23,273,475 last year.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The third meeting of the Otonabee branch of the Womens Institute was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs Wm. Campbell. There was a good attendance of members and visitors and a very pleasant and profitable time was spent. A sleigh load of ladies from Warsaw drove over and took charge of the meeting and gave several very interesting papers. Mrs D Miller president of the Warsaw branch presided and gave many valuable pointers on Institute work which were much appreciated.

Mrs. Choate of Warsaw gave a few ideas gleaned from the convention at Guelph in December and also read a paper on Women's Institute building.

After the meeting a dainty lunch was partaken of in the dining room.

The meetings of Otonabee branch are held the third Thursday in each month at 2.30 pm. A cordial invitation is extended to all ladies to attend.

OF INTEREST

Irrespective of the fate of recent anti-Japanese measures in California and aside from the more excited utterances of both legislators and editors, the controversy has brought out a number of calmer statements, like the following from the San Francisco Chronicle which must be considered as expressing the judgment of many in the Pacific coast region:

"Exclusion of Asiatics should be by law and not by treaty but it should be based on the broad ground of statesmanship as legal recognition of the unquestionable fact that Oriental and Western civilizations can not exist side by side and that if such juxtaposition is attempted the Oriental civilization must supplant our own by reason of economic conditions that no legislation can affect. That fact fully justifies an Oriental exclusion law, which we shall finally get by convincing the American people. In the mean time they are not fully convinced, and such legislation as has been proposed in Sacramento, by arousing passion and strong interests against us, will do us immeasurable harm, with no possibility of affording us any relief."

Still more important is a carefully written letter of Senator George S. Nixon, of Nevada, who was largely instrumental in repressing the anti-Japanese activities of the legislature of his State. Senator Nixon, writing to Governor Dickerson, of Nevada, says in part:

"We are finding it difficult to assimilate even the immigrants of the white race, and have been obliged to carefully restrict such immigration. We have drifted into a condition regarding the black race which constitutes the great problem and peril of the future.

"Confronting our Pacific coast lies Asia, with nearly a billion people of the brown race, who, if there were no restrictions, would quickly settle upon and take possession of our entire coast and intermountain region.

"History teaches that it is impossible to make a homogeneous people by the juxtaposition of races differing in color upon the same soil. Race tolerance under such conditions means race amalgamation and that is undesirable. Race intolerance means ultimately race war and mutual destruction or the reduction of one of the races to servitude. The admission of a race of a different color in a condition of industrial servitude is foreign to our institutions which demand equal rights to all within our jurisdiction.

"There is but one consistent position to assume, and that is to relegate the whole question to domestic legislation in each country, permitting each to make such laws regarding the regulation, restriction, or prevention of immigration as it sees fit.

"The time has come, in my judgment, when the United States, as a matter of self-protection and self-preservation must declare by statutory enactment that it will not tolerate further race complications. Our country should by law, to take effect after the expiration of existing treaties, prevent the immigration into this country of all peoples other than those of the white race, except under restricted conditions relating to international commerce, travel, and education.

"Japan can not justly take offense at such action. She is at liberty to pursue the same course. Such action constitutes no charge of inferiority against the race excluded, it may be a confession of inferiority in ability to cope economically with the excluded race.

"A temperate declaration made at this time by the legislatures of the Western States upon the lines here indicated will aid much to advance the enlightened, calm, and forceful presentation of this question in such a manner as shall convince the judgment of the world, including that of Japan herself."

In Oregon also the existence of a like sentiment is indicated by the indicated by the introduction of a resolution into the State Senate asking Congress to broaden the exclusion laws so as to shut out all Asiatics, specifically Japanese and Hindus as well as Chinese; but in that State we are told, the problem is not regarded as vitally important.

Recent criticism of the exclusionists has likewise evoked somewhat angry retorts calling in question the motives of the critics such as the following from the San Francisco Chronicle:

"The feeling against California in the East is entirely based on two main motives, both sordid. One is to keep solid with Japan and thereby promote the sale of cotton goods and kerosene, no matter at what cost to the people of the Pacific coast. The other is to force Congress to make heavier appropriations for the Army and Navy."

The answer has been that the Governments of Japan and the United States are co-operating to remove all cause of complaint without friction and that their efforts are only hampered by ill-considered agitation in individual States. Governor Gillett, in his message to the California assembly urging a reconsideration of the Japanese School Segregation Bill, deals mainly with the necessity for observing treaty obligations. The Governor says:

"There has been no general demand for such legislation, there is no immediate or present danger to our schools, and no bad influence exists therein by reason of any Japanese pupils attending our public schools and there is no occasion, at present at least for unnecessary alarm———

"Japan under its treaty being one of the favored nations, and being jealous of the rights of its citizens claims for them and their children the same rights and privileges as are accorded to the subjects of other favored nations. This claim our Government recognizes and stands ready to enforce. If the treaty, as claimed, guarantees to Japanese children the rights and privileges accorded to the children of aliens of other nations, then those rights and privileges so long as the treaty remains, should be observed, and if our morals and citizenship are to be endangered thereby, then the treaty, so far as it guarantees that right, should be annulled by the general government, as this State has no power to do so."

Some Eastern observers remark that there are not enough Japanese in the California schools to justify all this disturbance. The attendance figures for December, 1906, given in an article in The Outlook by George Kennan at the time when the school question was raised, are summarized as as follows:

"Of the 28,736 children in San Francisco schools on December 8th, 1906, there were in the primary and grammar schools 93 Japanese, a little more than an average of 1 to each school building.

"Of these 93 Japanese one-third were born in the United States and 28 were girls. Of the 56 boys, 34 were under fifteen years of age. Of the 31 who were more than 15, only 2 had reached the age of 20, and the average age of the remainder was 17.2. 25 of them were in grammar schools, so that the number sitting beside children of tender age—one of the chief reasons advanced by opponents of the Japanese for their exclusion from the white schools—was 6.

"Although the 93 Japanese scholars in San Francisco were distributed among 23 schools, 42 of them, or nearly one-half were in two schools —the Redding Primary and the Pacific Heights Grammar. In the former, the average age was 9.6 years, and in the latter, 16.5. Most of the Japanese in grammar schools were probably two or three years older than their white associates, but Mr. Altman, president of the Board of Education admitted that "nothing can be said against the general character and deportment of Japanese scholars."

Commenting upon these figures, one paper suggests that if the age of the Japanese pupils is an objection, California might easily establish a school age limit without obtruding a race question.—Literary Digest.

Tourists' Insurance!

It may not be generally known that the Insurance Company of North America, under its Marine Department issues a policy covering the personal effects of tourists against marine perils, including theft and fire, from the time of their leaving their homes in Canada, or the United States until their return. The policy is issued at a moderate rate of premium for the term that the insured expects to be away from home. One of the Canadian passengers on the SS. "Republic," who was far seeing enough to have one of these policies, put up after the return of the vessel's passengers to New York, at the same hotel there as Mr. H. Hampson, and the following day received a cheque for the face value of the policy. We would think that this protection would become very popular with the travelling public, as it appears well worth the premium charged. We understand the "North America" paid over $100,000 under such policies in the San Francisco conflagration.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Drops Dead on Street.

London, Feb. 19.—Capt. A. W. Porte of Oakville, former managing director of the Toronto Biscuit Co., dropped dead in front of the residence of his sister, Mrs. Geo. Brickenden, Queens avenue, at 6 o'clock last evening.

Mr. Porte was walking with a young lady and was apologizing for walking slowly. "My heart is bad, and it is dangerous for me to walk rapidly," he said. With these words he pitched forward dead. Capt. Porte, who was attending the Scottish rite reunion in this city, was one of the best known citizens of London before his removal to Toronto 12 years ago. He was manager of the McCormick Biscuit Co., and an expresident of Western Fair board.

He was about 60 years of age.

Treaty Goes Over.

New York, Feb. 19.—A special to The Tribune from Washington says:

It is formally announced in executive session of the Senate that the Canadian boundary waters treaty would be permitted to remain on the calendar until next session. This is due to the opposition of Senator Smith of Michigan, and to the feeling not only that no time remains for a protracted debate on the convention, but that Senator Root will be able to defend it against amendment better than anyone now in the Senate.

Negro Prefers Hanging.

Windsor, Feb. 19.—Jeremiah Jackson (colored) was convicted yesterday on three serious charges, and when sentenced by Judge Smith broke down completely.

He was given two years for assault, three years for bringing stolen goods into Canada, and five years for arson, sentences to run concurrently. When he heard his fate Jackson cried like a child, and begged the judge to sentence him to be hanged, saying he would prefer to die than go to the penitentiary.

Drawn Into Machinery.

Guelph, Feb. 19.—Oswald Bahn, 18 years of age, who operates a four-spindle tapping machine in the Standard Fitting & Valve Co.'s factory here, was drawn into the machine and found in a frightfully mangled condition. His right arm has been amputated.

Bank President Convicted.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 19.—W. W. Ramsey, former president of the German National Bank, yesterday was found guilty of bribing Councilman John F. Klein, by giving him $17,500 to procure the passage of an ordnance making the bank a depository for the city funds.

Two Hotelmen Fined.

Windsor, Feb. 19.—In the Police Court yesterday the proprietors of the British American and Walkerville Exchange Hotels pleaded guilty to selling liquor during prohibited hours, and were fined $50 each. Complaints against three other hotelmen were dismissed.

Gas Near St. Kitts.

St. Catharines, Feb. 19.—Natural gas was struck here Wednesday night at a depth of 200 feet by men boring for pure water on the Kinleith Paper Co.'s property, on the old canal bank. This is the first strike of natural gas at or near St. Catharines.

Impossible, Says Hays.

Stratford, Feb. 19.—In direct opposition to the anti-level crossing legislation before the House of Commons was the attitude of Chas. M. Hays, second vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway, at a banquet tendered him by the city last night.

Railway commissioners, courts and parliaments, could order the railways to make such changes as they see fit, he said, and insofar as possible the company would try and carry out these mandates, but an expenditure of $50,000,000, which would be required in separating the grades on the level crossing on the Grand Trunk system, was too stupendous and an impossible suggestion.

The dinner marked the opening of the new Grand Trunk shops. Many prominent citizens and railroaders were present.

Canada's Allegiance.

London, Feb. 19.—(C.A.P. Cable)—C. H. MacIntosh has a contribution in The Standard dealing with preference within the Empire, and says it is an historic fact that Canadians have never wavered in their allegiance and why should they do so now? To be sure, there is a feeling that policy procrastination upon the part of British statesmen is endangering the whole fabric, still, all reasonable Canadians appreciate the position of the United Kingdom.

Boy Killed.

Syracuse, N.Y., Feb. 19.—Matthew Dwyer, 13 years of age, died yesterday from injuries received in a coasting accident Wednesday night. The lad was unable to steer on the glassy surface of a steep hill and his sled struck a tree. His arm was broken, chest crushed and he received internal injuries.

Two Villages Obliterated.

Teheran, Feb. 19.—The governor of Burujurd, a town in southwestern Persia, has sent out agents to investigate the damage wrought by the earthquake of Jan. 23.

Fifteen villages are known to have been wholly or partially destroyed, and it is estimated that the total number will undoubtedly be more than fifty.

Some villages disappeared completely, and no trace can be found of the hamlets of Bahrem and Leben. It appears that not a single soul belonging to these communities was left alive.

Won't Leave Jail.

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—A Frenchman named Jules Higelin, who awaited in Bryson Jail 23 months for a trial on a charge of attempted murder at Ville Marie, was sentenced to two years' imprisonment there. He thus had only a month to serve, and that time ended three months ago. He is still in jail and will not leave. He does menial work and is occasionally coachman to D. R. Barry, K.C., crown prosecutor.

New Welland Hospital.

Welland, Feb. 19.—Welland County General Hospital will be opened on Monday, March 1, by Lieut.-Gov. Gibson. Hon. W. J. Hanna and Dr. Bruce Smith will also be present. The hospital cost $27,000, and it begins its career with a debt of less than $500. Miss Moore of the Brockville General Hospital has been chosen superintendent.

Another Hill Road.

Winnipeg, Feb. 19.—A bill introduced into the Legislature foreshadows the construction of another transcontinental railroad by the Hill interests, from Winnipeg west to Brandon thence to Elkhorn, and to the westerly boundary of the province.

FREIGHT RATES ON COAL SHIPPING

Comparison Show That There are Many Inequalities in Evidence

A Lindsay deputation was at Ottawa last week before the Railway Commission in regard to the freight rate on coal. The rate to Orillia from Suspension Bridge is $1.10 a ton. The freight charges on a ton of coal shipped from Suspension Bridge to Lindsay is $1.25. In Cambray, several miles to the northwest of the town dealers pay only $1.10 freight. Peterborough dealers get off with the same freight charges as the Lindsay dealers although that city is 30 miles further from Suspension Bridge. As far as Lakefield coal is shipped on the same rates as to Lindsay. To show further the inequality of the rates in comparison with the distance over which the coal is conveyed the charges to the following villages are given. Kinmount $1.25; Kirkfield $1.25 and Woodville $1.10. The Railway Commission considered the arguments advanced by the Lindsay men and will give their decision later.

SEEING THINGS IN THE SKY

Strange Tale From a Correspondent at Warsaw

A Warsaw correspondent of the Norwood Register, says that several citizens of that place were considerably mystified recently by the sight of what appeared to be a balloon, which came in view in the eastern sky about eight o'clock and continued in sight for about twenty minutes. That the light seen was not that of a star appears evident from the fact that after floating at apparently the same level for a few seconds, it descended a considerable distance. As before stated it appeared for about twenty minutes after which it was lost to view.

SUBSTANTIAL SUM FROM "AT HOME"

In Aid of Ladies' Aid of Knox Church Given at Residence of Mrs. Cox

An "At Home" in aid of the Ladies' Aid of Knox Church, was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Cox at 285 Wolfe street, and it yielded the substantial sum of $18.45. A large number of ladies were present and the afternoon was a most pleasant one.

Mrs Cox takes a deep interest in the work of the church and was much gratified with the result of the function.

The ladies expressed their appreciation of Mrs. Cox's hospitality.

A Query

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir—I see you are of opinion that a bad man cannot do a good action, i.e., write a healthy play, and that his name and work should both be forgotten as soon as possible. Is that right?

Yours, etc.,
INQUIRER.

Philosophy and Christianity both teach that a man and his work are one and that an elder-bush cannot at any time bring forth figs, although they may look and even taste like figs. To prolong the comparison, it is correctly maintained we think, that the practise of virtue for business purposes is at all times indefensible.—Ed.

Events To-night

Grand Opera House—Daniel Ryan and Company present "Salome."

Normal school lecture by Prof. James Cappon, of Queen's College, on "The Relation of Modern to Ancient Ballad Poetry."

Conservatory Music Hall—Alexandra Dramatic Company presents "The Three Musketeers."

RYAN'S ACTING WAS SPLENDID

In Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde---"Salome Will be Given Again To-night

The dual character of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, repulsive as Hyde is, always has an attraction for playgoers. The reason is probably that the play is interesting on account of the originality of Robert Louis Stevenson's grotesque creation and because such an opportunity for distinctive character acting is afforded in the expression of the double role.

Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde held the boards at the Grand last night and Mr Daniel Ryan assumed the same part. His delineation was of the amiable young doctor was clear cut and pleasing and he showed Hyde in a light that would satisfy the play-goer with an inclination for the most morbid and unshapely in stage portrayal.

Mr. Ryan's support as usual did excellent work and the interpretation of the story was given in a way that most favorably displayed the ability and balance of the company.

Tonight in response to popular demand, "Salome" will be repeated.

"QUEEN ZEPHRA" AT BRANTFORD

H. J. Booth, the "Queen Zephra" man, was in St. Thomas to-day en route from Brantford to Chatham, where another performance of the play will be given. Mr, Booth has made arrangements to put on "Queen Zephra" in Brantford, under the auspices of the John H. Stratford Hospital.—St. Thomas Times.

THE YOUNG CONSERVATIVE CLUB

Jobe, and the third a pouch by Mr. George Jamieson. The Mock Parliament has got fairly under weigh and promises to be a huge success on Saturday night. Some very animated debates are expected.

Bethany Dramatic Club

The advance agent of "The Bethany Dramatic Club" was in town on Tuesday arranging for the performance in the Opera House, of "The Witch's Secret," on the 18th inst. If the weather and roads prove favorable, a good house is anticipated.—Millbrook Mirror.

PREPARING TO STRING WIRES

Machine Telephone Company is Getting Active at Lindsay

Lindsay, Feb. 18.—The Machine Telephone Company has a number of men employed in town this week getting the company's poles in readiness for the stringing of the wires, which, it is understood, will be commenced in a few days.

A great many citizens in Lindsay have been wondering of late what the Machine Telephone Company intended doing in regard to the installation of their service, and the fact that the preliminary operations are now in progress gives ground for the supposition that something will be doing this spring.

SPORTING NEWS

FRANK GOTCH SAYS THAT HE IS GOING TO RETIRE

Frank Gotch had no difficulty in defeating his men at the Theatre Royal yesterday. In the afternoon he disposed of two local mat artists in eight minutes and in the evening he defeated Beauchamp, a local wrestler of some note, in six minutes.

Jack Curley, of Chicago, is sending on an unknown to wrestle Raoul de Rouen at Sohmer Park Friday evening, and there is a chance that the unknown, after tackling de Rouen, may go after Gotch's offer of $50 to stay fifteen minutes. "Glad to see him if he comes," was Gotch's comment when told this last night.

Gotch sprang a surprise on Geo. Kennedy and some friends here yesterday when, in the course of a talk, he stated that he would quit wrestling after June 1st. When the statement was received with open incredulity, Gotch reiterated it with emphasis. "Take it from me, it's all right," he said.

Besides theatrical engagements for which Gotch has been under contract for some time, and is now carrying out, his coming matches with Raoul de Rouen in Kansas City on March 25th and a meeting with the Turk, Yussiff Mahmout, in Chicago, or Kansas City in April.

Curley, the Chicago promoter, vouches for the unknown, who will meet de Rouen here on Friday, as a wrestler who will give de Rouen a tougher match than any man except Gotch or the Turk. In addition to the wrestling bout Friday night, Simard and Perrelli will go on in a 10 round boxing exhibition, which should be a hummer.

THE PACIFICS TOOK TWO GAMES FROM THE INDIANS

The mighty Pacifics met their Waterloo in the ten pin tournament yesterday afternoon when the Iroquios took two games out of the three. This is the first time that the Pacifics have lost a majority of games in a series. Still yesterday's loss does not mean that they are losing ground. It was the third game that was disastrous. Lillie and Connor both fell down, although Connors braced up a little at the end of the game but he was too late, while Lillie showed only juvenile class. McIlroy did his best and rolled a score of 204, and would have won out at that had not Paul Jones, for the Iroquois, made a strong finish, and with three strikes shoved his otherwise low score up to 175.

PACIFICS.

PERELLI, THE FIGHTING DAGO CHALLENGES HURTUBISE

Gene Hurtubise is getting well-known as a wrestler and the latest one to get after him with an application for a match is the widely known Italian mat artist Perelli, the fighting Dago. Perelli is a grappler who sets a mile a minute pace and is a fast performer. He has had quite a career on the mat since his first appearance in America some six years ago, or so and has a particularly large following of his fellow countrymen in Boston where he has often wrestled at Columbia Theatre.

It is probable that the Italian will meet Gene but nothing concerning the match has been decided. It will not be held for some time yet if arrangements are completed whereby the men will be matched.

SHRUBB WILL MEET DORANDO

Tommy Longboat says the Buffalo race, Feb. 25, is off—but it is not. His race at 15 miles with Alf. Shrubb there is off, but there will be a good race in its stead. This is sub rosa.

Shrubb is training hard and the chances are that his opponent will be Dorando Pietri, and the distance 15 miles.

It will be a grand race, too, for Dorando's 12-mile time, the other night as 1.05.33 only 8 seconds behind Shrubb's New York time. The Italian will make Mr. Shrubb step along in good style to beat him.

Shrubb refereed a wrestling bout last night and then addressed a crowd at the British Welcome League.

"I don't know what Longboat can do at 15 miles and I don't care," said Shrubb. "I shall just go ahead and run until I have not a breath left. Longboat says he won't race, but if he doesn't it will be very unsportsmanlike. That long distance race in New York was run on the understanding that there would be the shorter one in Buffalo. I gave the Indian a chance to make a reputation off me at the Marathon distance, and I think he should treat me as a man, and race me."

Alf. Shrubb yesterday told Manager C. W. Smith, of Riverdale Arena that he would positively run Fred Meadows or any other man he could name, here, inside of three weeks.

"I want to meet Longboat first, if I can, but wait until I get this Feb. 25th race off my hands, and I'll name a definite date" said Shrubb to Smith.

PETERBOROUGH CONGRATULATES

Lindsay Hockey Team on Winning the Championship of The District

The Lindsay Warder says;

The letter published below was received this morning by the Lindsay hockey team from Mr. R. Glover, manager of the Peterborough hockey team.

Peterborough,
February 17th, 1909

Mr A. G. Simpson,
Manager Lindsay Hockey Club;

Dear Sir,—Allow me, on behalf of the Peterborough Hockey Club, to congratulate you on winning this district. While we did not succeed in the last game in giving you quite as hard a game as some of the others, yet we feel satisfied with the series with you. We have enjoyed the season immensely and with four games with a team in one season with no hard feelings between the players goes to show that Peterborough and Lindsay are not hard to get along with. I trust you will continue to climb in the championship race, and while you have beaten us out this year, in the years to come, Peterborough and Lindsay no doubt will be still fighting it out with honors distributed as in the past,

Yours etc,
R. GLOVER.

KAISER WRITES

Will Probably Meet Hurtubise Later—Has a Busy Season Before Him

Charlie Kaiser writes that he will probably take Hurtubise on at a later date in a straight match, and admits that the resistance and general form of the Peterborough grappler is good. Kaiser says he has a busy season before him and anticipates many hard battles.

The wrestler "who has never been defeated by a man of his own weight," feels sure that he can beat Gene in a best two out of three match.

RETURN GAME WEDNESDAY

Straths. Will Play in Lakefield Next Week

The return game between Lakefield and the Strathcona will be played in Lakefield on Wednesday night. The champions will get into the best working order possible to defeat the Straths, if possible, and will make a big endeavor to overcome the lead of three goals against them and will have the advantage on the small ice.

STRATHS. WON THIS MATCH

Defeated Champion Lakefield Seven by Score of 4–1

There seems no doubt that the Straths have the best team in the City League. At least they would leave that impression good and strong after their game with Lakefield last night, when they trimmed the dry town seven by a score of 4—1 in the first of the home and home exhibition games between the teams. The match was played at the Brock street rink before 200 interested spectators. A good quality of hockey was displayed both in the matter of combination and individual play.

The local seven has been waiting for the opportunity to let the Lakefield seven see that they are still the superior team in spite of the fact that the coveted silverware rests in the northern village. Their opportunity came last night, and they took full advantage of it. From the face of the puck the better form of the High Commissioners was in evidence although they had to go on the ice without the services of their star performer, Charlie Ray. It was a makeshift seven to an extent that represented them, and yet every player was on his mettle. It is probable, too, that no more effective team has represented the Straths this winter than the one that carried off the honors last night.

After anticipating the cup from the beginning of the season it came as a disagreeable surprise to them when the local option septette snatched it from them in the game for the championship by a score of 8—6. Last night, however, the Straths were there good and plenty, and didn't win the game in the dressing room before it was played, as they did on the occasion of their last defeat. The whole team played championship hockey, and before Lakefield found the nets the tally was 3—0.

Despite their general good work the winners were a little off in their shooting or the score would have been a considerably larger one.

Lakefield put up a fine argument and presented an improved seven. Crawford's place in goal was taken by Moore, and Mark Quigley, of the T.A.S., played rover instead of Simpson. The change was a beneficial one. Moore and M. Sabatino did clever and effective work in defence of their citadel. Quigley was the pick of the forward line showed to advantage throughout the game.

The match was a hard one and the teams mixed it up a little at times. Referee Walter Miller, of the Brantford pros., handled the teams well, however, and gave splendid satisfaction.

The team alined up as follows:—

STRATHS—
Goal—Wilson.
Point—McWilliams.
Cover—Seymour.
Rover—Dusty.
Centre—Long.
Right—Weatherstone.
Left—McMillan.

LAKEFIELD—
Goal—Moore.

THE RING

New York, Feb. 18.—After a six-mile road run today Abe Attell, who will box ten rounds with Jem Driscoll for the featherweight championship of the world at the National A.C. on Friday night, jumped on the scales at his training quarters and tipped the beam at exactly 121 1-2 pounds.

Attell looked the picture of health and the many sporting men who visited his quarters predicted that he would put up the greatest fight of his career.

"Driscoll will score a knockout," said one of the Briton's camp followers to-day. "He has been under a pull in all his bouts in this country, but he wants to beat Attell decisively. He will make the required weight, 125 pounds, at six o'clock and will enter the ring in splendid condition."

Driscoll weighed 128 today. He indulged in a run of nearly eight miles with sweaters on, then boxed and wrestled and used the bells with great vigor. He did not stint himself as to food and looked as strong as a young bull. When told that Attell would weigh 122 pounds, Driscoll said that he was sorry that the American would not meet him at practically even weights and when informed that Attell expected to beat him with body punches, he said with a laugh; "That's jolly good, you know, but what'll I be doin' while 'es tapping me bread basket."

WRESTLING

Shad Link, the wrestler, who is meeting all comers at a burlesque house, lost $50 more last night. Yankee Rogers stayed 20 minutes with him. Rogers handled himself nicely, and gave the Baltimore giant more than he received in a rough bout.—Toronto Star.

PICTURES OF EARTHQUAKE

Being Produced at Royal Theatre the First in Canada---A Stroke of Enterprize

The management of the Royal Theatre yesterday again demonstrated the up-to-date spirit of progress that has always characterized the affairs of this popular place of amusement. Mr. Pappas, at large expense, secured and showed today the first original pictures of the sad Messina earthquake. A faked picture of the calamity has already been shown in some cities, but common sense would show that such pictures could not have yet reached Canada. The Italian earthquake and its consequences were today shown in moving pictures, as well as they were seen by those on the spot. Pathe Bros., of Paris, had expert photographers on the spot the day after the calamity and for the first time in Canada, these photographs were shown at the Royal. The pictures will be presented again tonight and tomorrow.

FAIR DIRECTORS WILL HOLD MEETING TO DISCUSS PLANS

Arrangements are already being made for the Peterborough fair of 1909.

A meeting of the Directors will be held in the City Council Chamber next Thursday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the preliminary arrangements for this year's exhibition.

It is understood that the exhibition will be again held at the Driving Park grounds and it is not likely that there will be any changes regarding the buildings. A big effort is going to be made to make this year's fair a success and if expectations are fulfilled there will be good prospects of securing new grounds and new buildings for the exhibition of 1910.

KNOX NEW STORE OPENS CROWDS IN ATTENDANCE

Long before three o'clock this afternoon, the time appointed for the opening of S. H. Knox's new store, the crowds were thronging to the door, waiting for it to open to let them in. It is a five, ten and fifteen cent store, there not being a single article in the whole establishment worth more than fifteen cents. Everything that a person requires in small lines can be had at Knox's. Tin and enamelware, glassware, stationery, hosiery, underwear, candy and numerous other lines of useful articles comprise the merchandise for sale. The music department is one of the special features of the store. All the latest and most popular music is sold at five, ten and fifteen cents, and Miss Eva Hurd, of this city, will preside at the piano. The goods are well arranged and the store presents a bright and attractive appearance.

The freight is all unpacked in the basement and on the second floor is kept the reserved stock. A girl's lunch room is also on this floor.

There is a beautiful floral display this afternoon and evening and an orchestra under the leadership of Prof. Gliddon, are giving a musical programme.

Mr. A. G. Caley will be the local manager, and to-day there is a staff of thirty-five girls to handle the people.

Mr. Knox has 98 stores in Canada and the United States and Mr. P. S. Patterson, the Canadian inspector, is here to-day looking after the opening.

TO BUILD THREE SCOWS AND DREDGE AT HASTINGS

Hastings, Feb. 18.—The canal engineering staff, returned from Trent Bridge on Saturday where they have been working for the past month. They will now start working from the bridge up to the lake.

Chief Engineer Grant of the Canal, was down from Peterborough on Monday in connection with some alterations to be made in the new dam on the south side of the river.

An extra staff of men has been engaged on the survey work of the canal this week, and we understand that the contractors will commence building three scows and a dredge here as soon as the timber, which is ordered, arrives from British Columbia.

MR. DANIEL RYAN REPLIES TO REV. MR. POGUE

Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—An article from a reverend gentleman of Peterborough appeared in last evening's Review relative to the much discussed "Salome." While appreciating fully that you must be thoroughly tired of the subject, I think this last article should be mentioned, inasmuch as it presumes to say much with a self-confessed lack of knowledge of the subject in point.

To wind up with a peroration from another religious gentleman apropos of "sending the willing public to hell with their eyes open," serves only to make one wonder if it is absolutely certain that the "sender to hell" may not be himself possessed of "blinders" in a greater or a lesser degree. If the reverend gentleman had had the courage of some of his congregation, he would have seen the much discussed—and I must say too often, ignorantly discussed— drama and after having seen it, he might be able to say harsh things about it in an intelligent manner. Not having seen it, he certainly is not entitled to go against the unanimous opinion of those who actually sa wit, heard it, press and public, and who pronounce it unobjectionable, clean, wholesome and in fact a lesson in the triumph of righteousness over the very "Spirit of Evil" itself.

Some people seem not to be aware of the fact that "Salome" was first brought into disrepute by a woman who had no regard for the ethics of the stage and was then hashed and re-hashed on the vaudeville and burlesque boards, by a score of vaudeville dancers who electrified the public with a lewd dance which they attempted to dignify by calling it "The Salome Dance." The two most prominent, although there were scores of others were Eva Tanguay and Gertrude Hoffman. The "Salome" dance of these vaudeville performers was a combination of anything they saw fit and varied in the lewd qualities according to seeming public desire.

The last performance of Mary Garden in New York despite the opinion of the Philadelphia Ledger or the North American Review, must have been wonderful. Miss Garden is a woman of high tastes, of a splendid moral character, an artist unqualifiedly and I can only presume that articles in the newspapers speaking of her performances of "Salome" as being over-licentious, can only have been brought about by Mr. Hammerstein's quarrel with the press writers, which was —at the time of the performances— in its very ascendency and is by no means over yet.

The general public and the Reverend gentleman may not be aware that in lal the larger cities of the United States there exists an organization of newspaper men called "The Friars' that stand shoulder to shoulder when they deem any of their prerogatives usurped.

I think to witness a performance of "Salome" by any decent and capable dramatic organization is spending an evening in as holy a manner and in as absolutely moral an atmosphere as if they listened to a hundred sermons on the subject from as many able preachers and in as many sacred tabernacles.

The Reverend gentleman would do well to "see and then speak himself" for "he who speaketh without seeing —" and "thereby hangs a tale."

DANIEL RYAN.

SEVERAL PETITIONS FOR SIDEWALKS AND SEWERS

The Board of Works will have to deal with a number of petitions for granolithic sidewalks and sewers that have been sent in. All of them are not sufficiently signed. The list to date is as follows, the majority of the petitions being carried over from 1908:—

SIDEWALKS.

East side of St. Joseph street from Charlotte to Gilmour streets.

West side of John street from Bolivar to King streets.

West side of Margaret Avenue from Charlotte to King streets.

East side of Benson Ave.

East side of Water street in front of lots 35, 36 and 37.

North side of Parnell street from Park street to the C.P.R. track.

SEWERS.

On Inverlea street. Petition not properly signed.

On Manning Avenue between Benson and Aylmer streets. Petition is sufficiently signed.

A COUNTER PETITION.

There is a counter petition to the one asking for a sidewalk on the south side of Crescent street. It sets forth that to lay a sidewalk on the south side would be of no use in the winter months, as it would be drifted over with snow. The claim is made that the new sidewalk should be placed on the north side where the one is located at present.

City Engineer Hay pointed out to the meeting of the Board of Works last night that it would not be feasible to have a new sidewalk on the north side as the crib-work was not secure. On the other hand it would be difficult to have it on the south side owing to the irregular manner in which the trees had been planted.

MAN WITH LOAD OF WOOD GOT LOST ON SMALL LAKE

Orillia, Feb 18—Mr Jas. O'Connor had a somewhat remarkable experience yesterday afternoon, being lost on Bass Lake for three hours during the snow storm. "It looks ridiculous" said James last night, "to talk about being lost on Bass Lake, for it is only about two miles long, but when I drove on to it about half past one this afternoon with a cord and a half of wood I could hardly see the horses heads for snow. I don't know just how it happened but in a few minutes I began to realize I was off the road. Not a bit of the shore line could I see and in half an hour more I had gone around in a circle and come across my own tracks. Some time later I ran across them again. Then I unhitched the team and started out light and hanged if I didn't come back to my own tracks again. It was now after four o'clock and I began to think that I was going to be on the lake all night when the storm lifted a little and I caught sight of the trees once more and then I got my bearings. I know it seems funny to think of being lost on a little lake," said Jim, "but I don't want another experience like that." Mr. O'Connor arrived in town about six o'clock with his wood and glad he was to be alive.

Each 5 years' Daily or 10 years' Weekly will constitute a "Club." This bonus vote will be given in addition to the regular certificates of votes on the payment of a subscription. Don't be satisfied with a few clubs; get as many as you can.

The figures today show the leaders very close, Miss Moore retaining the lead over Miss Dawson by less than 50 votes. Miss Perry has exactly 100 less than Miss Moore and Miss Adams' score about 1200 less than the leader. Sidney A. Smithson gained over 6000, having 15,867 votes.

Bruce W. Kemp leads the men in the city today, being over 3000 ahead of Norman Allison, his nearest competitor. The men ARE moving.

The leaders in each list, and the votes to the credit of each, follows:

Who will lead tomorrow?

As the time for closing the nominations draws near new names are being sent to the contest editor. Today Miss Nora Fitzgerald's friends place her in the list of competitors for the trip to Europe, starting with the good score of 1525. Remember, next Monday is the last day to enter. Hurry!

The gentleman conducting the Review's popularity contest, had charge of a similar campaign in another city last fall. It was won by the candidates who had the necessary backbone and good qualities that constitute really popular people. There was one very ambitious young man who was after the principal prize and who did make a very strenuous effort to capture it. He might have done so had he called in one of his friends and supporters earlier in the contest and taken his advice. He approached this friend one day and told him about the contest and asked him for a subscription. Mr. Friend intimated his willingness to take the paper and asked, "How much to you want?"

The Ambitious Young Man replied, "Oh, anything will do—three months or so."

Now what do you think Mr. Friend gave the young man. A full year's subscription or three months?

He gave him the three months and a little good advice.

The advice follows:

"You can start with a big subscription and drop to the small ones but if you start with the small ones that is all you will get. Moreover a business man will have more respect for you if you ask him for something that really amounts to something than he would if you timidly asked for a trifle. When you go into his place he does not show you the cheapest thing he has does he. Guess not; he waits until you are about ready to walk out before he remembers that he has that article in a cheaper line. That's your cue. Forget about those three and six months subscriptions and ask for the big business. The kind that counts up into the big votes where you have got to be if you expect to have a look-in at the end of this contest."

The Young Man heeded his advice and found the big ones as easy to get as the little ones, but he had found his weakness too late.

Profit by this young man's experience and get out after the subscriptions at once. Get as many as you can and as long as you can. That's the way to win.

LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION CALLS IT A GERRYMANDER

Disposition of Village of Tavistock.

Premier Whitney Makes Reply---Studholme Wants Technical Education.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Hon. A. G. MacKay attacked the Government in the Legislature yesterday for another piece of gerrymandering in attaching the new village of Tavistock to Oxford County instead of South Perth, to which, he said, it naturally belongs. The population belonged, 623 to Perth and 408 to Oxford; the assessment, $302,000 to Perth, and $164,000 to Oxford. A petition of 156 ratepayers asked to be united to Perth. One ratepayer petitioned for union with Oxford. The reason for attaching it to Oxford was to weaken the vote of Valentine Stock, who defeated Hon. Nelson Monteith in South Perth, said Mr. MacKay.

Premier Whitney hoped he would not have to prick many more bubbles of this description. Mr. Stock had desired to have his residence brought into Perth County. The Perth Council, which created Tavistock, voted 8 to 8 on the motion to join it to the county. Oxford was unanimous in desiring it, and the Government placed it there.

The address in reply to the speech from the throne was agreed to.

Allan Studholme resumed the debate on the address with a forty minute speech. He found little in the bill of fare, as he designated the speech from the throne. He called attention to the splendid technical school now being built at Halifax and taunted the Ontario Government on their backwardness. He was disappointed in not finding a technical school at Hamilton provided for after the speeches made by the Premier and other Ministers. (Opposition applause.)

Hon. A. G. MacKay disagreed with Hearst on his views of the Government's dealing with the Soo corporation. He was unable to follow him in the remarkable elasticity of his mental action. When the Soo works were on the point of closing down and the assistance of the Government was needed, the Conservative Opposition objected, and now Mr. Hearst wanted to give them credit for what had been done.

After repeating his views on making an annual grant to Toronto University, Mr. MacKay turned to law reform. He hoped the bill would start from the standpoint of the people, and while approving the removal of appeals, he thought cutting out the present mode of paying lawyers would do more than any other one thing. By doing away with the bill of costs and permitting a lawyer to charge a lump sum the habit of raising side-stepping motions would be curbed.

Mr. MacKay in the course of an hour's speech repeated former arguments, regarding the proceedings by which after arbitration the O'Brien Mine was leased, the signing of the C.N.R. mortgage by Hon. Mr. Matheson seventeen months after it had been left by the Ross Government; civil service reform, and the removing of licenses from party control.

Premier Whitney rose as to a banquet, and smote the Opposition Philistines from Dan to Beersheba. The attempted heroics of the leader of the Opposition did not deceive anyone who knew that when the Ross Government was in articulo mortis, waiting moment by moment to die, and afraid to die, two of its supporters threatened that if the Government did not vote the $2,000,000 guarantee to the Soo company, they would turn the Government out of power. Mr. McEwring was not in accord with Mr. MacKay with respect to the university. That institution had 3,760 students, 60 per cent. of whom were sons of farmers and no party dare to obstruct the progress of the institution.

If a brass band was sent through the province no excitement could be raised about railway taxation. Mr. McEwing would become a discredited public man, said the Premier, if he did not substantiate his imputations against the honor of some of the license inspectors.

WAS STRIPPED OF CLOTHING

Toronto Man Killed by Being Caught in Machinery---Whirled About in Shafting.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Whirled about in the shafting of machinery which he was adjusting, shortly before noon yesterday, George A. Ross, about 50 years of age, employed by Robert Watt, coal dealer, 201 Campbell avenue, was so badly injured that at 12.30 yesterday afternoon he died at the Western Hospital.

Ross was employed about the mill as an extra hand, and was at work adjusting a pulley on the second floor.

He was alone at the time of the accident, and when found lay stark naked beside the shafting on which he had lost his life.

It is supposed that either his trousers or his coat caught in the machinery. The shafting is only a foot above the floor, and into it Ross was drawn. It was not known how many times the unfortunate man was whirled about, but he was not released until his body had been wholly stripped of clothing. The machinery even tore off the top of his socks, and his heavy boots were cut to ribbons.

BAD STATE OF AFFAIRS AT PORT HOPE DUE TO JEALOUSY

Port Hope, Feb. 20.—Port Hope and surrounding district has been for some time in the grip of a smallpox epidemic, and that the local Board of Health and the physicians of the town have been neglectful in the handling of the trouble is an opinion heard on all sides.

When the disease first made its appearance some months ago, instead of the patients being isolated and one physician delegated to confine his entire attention to such cases, each local physician undertook to attend to his own patients. It is no whispered story that considerable political jealousy exists among the medical fraternity of Port Hope over a recent change in the appointment of a new medical advisor to Trinity school, and so each medical practitioner refuses to give up smallpox cases amongst his patients, except when eventually forced to do so by the progress of the disease.

Certain doctors, it is stated, deliberately walked from houses where they were in attendance upon the smallpox patients, to give medical attention to other patients.

In Port Hope town, two hotels and many private houses are under quarantine—in fact, up to the present no less than 30 cases have been reported, in spite of denials of town officials, who assign as their reason for denying the existence of so many cases a desire to save the town all the expense possible.

The citizens of the town forced the local board's hand, public meetings being called in order to do so, although the report of the local Board of Health officer tended to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

Compulsory vaccination and houses quarantined have been the local measures employed. One constable was assigned to watch all the houses, and during his absence the inmates were free to go and come as they pleased. No attempts has been made to isolate patients. A provincial official is absolutely necessary to look over the situation in this district.

GOOD PROGRESS ON MAT FACTORY

The work on the new Weatherstone mat factory on the old Hilliard farm in the north end of the city is progressing as rapidly as the weather will permit and the foundation is nearly completed. The building will be a fine structure. This progressive concern is to be congratulated on their new enterprise.

TAX RATE OF 19 MILLS FOR 1909

Decision of Finance Committee at Meeting Held Yesterday--Deputation From Board of Education Was Heard.

If the decision of the Finance Committee is approved by the City Council the tax rate of Peterborough for 1909 will be nineteen mills.

Last year it was seventeen mills.

A meeting of the committee was held yesterday afternoon, when it was moved by Ald. Phelan and seconded by Ald. Bradburn that the rate be 19 mills on the dollar. This was carried.

Mr. John Crane, of the Board of Education, waited on the committee and presented a statement showing that $4 445 more than provided for had been spent on permanent improvements for the public schools. Dr. Morrison also presented a statement showing that $10 267 more than provided for had been spent on permanent improvements on the Collegiate Institute.

It was moved by Ald. Gillespie and seconded by Ald. Bradburn—"That after having heard the deputation from the Board of Education this committee recommend that a by-law be passed to raise debentures for $10-000 to pay the balance of the expenditure on the permanent improvements for the Collegiate Institute, and that $4 000 be taken from this year's demand of the Board of Education for public school purposes and that a by-law be passed to raise debentures for that sum to pay the balance of expenditure for permanent improvements at the King Edward, Queen Alexandra, Park street and Central public schools, and that by-laws for these purposes be prepared.

Several other matters were also considered.

Those present were Ald. Morrow, chairman; Mayor Rush, Ald. Phelan, Gillespie and Bradburn.

SAYS DELAY IN NOTIFYING THE TREATY IS DANGEROUS

Annual Report of Railway Department Shows Expenditure of Thirty-Five and a Half Millions—Welland Canal Must be Enlarged.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—A. C. Boyce (W. Algoma) sounded in the ears of the Government yesterday the warning that Canada's interests were being jeopardized through the action of the United States Senate in delaying ratification of the waterways treaty. Certain interests on the American side of the Soo were endeavoring to secure amendments which would accrue to their advantage, and he warned the Government to keep its eyes open.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier assured Mr. Boyce that there was no occasion for alarm. Confusion existed, he said, between the waterways convention and the boundary and fisheries treaty, and this was possibly responsible for the apprehension to which the member for Algoma referred.

As a matter of fact, the waterways treaty now before the United States Senate was eminently fair to both countries. So far as the boundaries treaty was concerned, all the commissioners had to do was lay off and monument the existing boundary between Canada and the United States.

Sir Wilfrid added that the Government was now endeavoring to obtain the consent of the British Government to the publication in this country of the waterways treaty.

The annual report of the Department of Railways and Canals, tabled yesterday, shows that during the last fiscal year the total railway expenditure amounted to $35,495,196, of which $23,684,005 was charged to capital, $2,215,895 to income, and $9,595,295 to revenue.

Expenditure on capital included $18,910,449 for National Transcontinental Railway. Expenditure on the Intercolonial Railway was $13,577,491.

Deputy Minister Butler in his report strongly recommended as urgent the early enlargement of the Welland Canal. The time to be consumed in the execution of this work, with modern appliances, would not exceed five years.

"While making these remarks," says Mr. Butler. "I am not unmindful of claims to consideration due to the Montreal, Ottawa and Georgian Bay canal project, the economic and commercial aspect of which should be carefully looked into before it is undertaken." Many years would be required to complete it and meanwhile the demands for better water accommodation between the east and west must remain unmet. Both projects were desirable of execution and would probably some day be realized.

In the House yesterday resolutions were amended by increasing the number of standing committees by three, on Marine and Fisheries, and minerals, and on forests, waterways and water powers.

The House will adjourn over Ash Wednesday.

Ralph Smith (Nanaimo) introduced a bill to amend the Railway Act, by limiting the hours of work of telegraphers and despatchers on railways to eight hours a day.

E. N. Lewis introduced a bill to provide for Government inspection of vessels. Under the present act there is no provision for the inspection of barges not self-propelling. His bill provides for the inspection of these as well as of all steam vessels over five tons. Another requirement is that all vessels towing others must carry a rocket gun.

DID NOT KNOW THE LAW WHEN HE TOOK COWS FROM BAILIFF

The case against John Foskett for taking four head of cattle from the possession of Mr. John McDonald, bailiff, was dismissed this morning by Magistrate Dumble. The plaintiff had to pay the costs which amounted to six dollars. Mr. G. N. Gordon was present in the interests of Mr. McNamara, for whom the bailiff was acting. His Worship pointed out that while Foskett was technically guilty, he had not taken the cattle with the intent of stealing them. Not knowing the law, he had only acted upon the instructions of his employer.

The evidence of Foskett and Sexsmith was taken this morning in reference to the disposal of cattle and other things.

Mr. John Foskett went into the box and was examined by Mr. Gordon. He said that he was employed on Mr. George Sexsmith's farm. There was a seizure made by Mr. John McDonald for rent about two weeks ago. The bailiff seized 12 head of cattle, one horse, and Mr. Platt was put in possession of them. He stayed there by day and went away each night. Witness took four head of cattle to a neighbor's on Thursday. Geo. Sexsmith had told him to take them for wages. He took one bull, one heifer and two cows. He knew nothing of two sets of harness being taken away. He knew of nothing hid on the premises. Sexsmith owed him $110 for wages. He knew nothing at all about Sexsmith's business. He never old wittness where he was placing things.

Mr. George Sexsmith said that he was in possession of lot 9 in Otonabee as tenant. A seizure was made for rent by Mr. McDonald. Men were left on the property in charge of Mr. La Plante about two weeks before the landlord's seizure, seized eight cows three horses and one waggon.

He sold his milk route for $250. Mr. La Plante got the money. He sold a horse and waggon also. He did not know anything about the harness. Seven pigs and some fowl and two two-year-old cattle were taken, he thought, to Dunlop's. Mr. McDonald took twelve cattle, Mr. La Plante got eight, and two had been killed. There were 45 all told, but he could not account for them.

SUFFERER FROM GAS IS CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLING

Montreal, Feb. 20.—Charles Hill, one of the five men poisoned by gas in a little beanery on Cathedral street on Tuesday, got his name into the papers every day since then through that occurrence. This publicity was not welcome to him, however, for, as a result of it, he was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, and will be held pending extradition proceedings.

Hill is wanted in Foxborough, Mass., on a charge of the embezzlement of $600. The police of that town happened to read about the case here, which was given wide publicity, as at first it was supposed that the man had been poisoned by strychnine, and a sensational story was made out of the occurrence. They thought they recognized a cut of Hill in one of the Montreal papers as C. B. McGrath, for whom they have searched since Dec. 2, and yesterday morning Chief Detective Carpenter received a telegram from the chief of police of Foxborough, asking that Hill be placed under arrest.

The inquest on the body of Thos. Green, the man who succumbed, was concluded by Coroner McMahon yesterday morning. The autopsy showed that death was due to gas poisoning. After the medical men had submitted their report the jury returned a verdict to the effect that Green came to his death by suffocation from coal gas, and found that no one was criminally to blame.

VEN. ARCHDEACON SWEENEY IS NEW BISHOP OF TORONTO

New Bishop of Toronto Diocese

BISHOP-ELECT SWEENEY.

Elected After Factions Were Deadlocked.

Joint Committee Makes Compromise---52 Years of Age.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Ven Archdeacon J. Fielding Sweeney, rector of St. Phillip's Church, is the bishop-elect of Toronto.

He was selected by the committee of sixteen, representing the deadlocked Thorneloe-Cody factions, and appointed at the morning session as one who should prove acceptable to both. The committee consisted of Dr. N. W. Hoyles, S. H. Blake, K.C., Judge Harding, Rev. G. J. James, W. H. Hoyles, M.P.P., Rev. C. H. Marsh, Judge Benson, and Rev. W. H. Vance for the Cody party, and Rev. Provost Macklem, Rev. Canon Ingles, Rev. Canon Spragge, Rev. T. W. Powell, Dr. J. A. Worrell, K.C., A. R. Boswell, K.C., Dyce W. Saunders, and Lawrence W. Baldwin representing the supporters of Bishop Thorneloe.

Reporting to their respective meetings in the afternoon, Provost Macklem and Hon. S. H. Blake and Dr. N. W. Hoyles urged their adherents to ratify the choice. At 3.30, after two adjournments, the synod reassembled in St. James' Cathedral and at 5.35 the scrutineers announced that the result of the seventh and ratifying ballot was known.

Archdeacon Sweeny with emotion in his voice asked leave of the synod to have Chancellor Worrell read the result. When the last words of the chancellor had died away, the assembly rose and song the doxology, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," Dr. Ham accompanying on the great organ.

All the while this was being sung, the bishop-elect remained seated, with his face buried in his hands in silent prayer.

Then he rose and in low tones, almost choked with the feelings which were evidently surging up in his heart, announced that he would give his decision at 8.30 o'clock.

Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve then pronounced the benediction, and with the chimes pealing joyously the delegates dispersed to reassemble in the evening for choral service, when the bishop-elect expressed his acceptance of the distinction conferred upon him in an eloquent address and promised to devote his life to the work of the diocese.

Venerable Archdeacon Sweeney was born in London, Eng., Nov. 15, 1857. He came to Canada with his parents, his father, Col. Jas. F. Sweeney, being appointed a staff officer of pensioners at Montreal. He received his early education in the Montreal high school, and later at McGill Normal School. In 1878 he graduated from McGill University with the degree of B.A. He continued his studies in theology at the Montreal Diocesan Theological College. In 1880 he was admitted to the deaconate, and was raised to the priesthood in the ensuing year by Bishop Bond. In this year McGill conferred upon him the degree of M.A., and two years later was honored by Trinity University with the degree of M.A. and B.D., receiving his degree of B.D. five years later. On being ordained he was appointed rector of St. Luke's Church, Montreal, and also chaplain to the General Hospital of Montreal. In 1882 he came to Toronto as rector of St. Philip's Church, and in 1889 was appointed honorary canon of St. Alban's Cathedral.

He was elected rural dean of Toronto in 1893, holding that office four years. In 1905 he was made archdeacon of Simcoe and became archdeacon of York in 1907. In this year he was appointed secretary of the house of bishops of the General Synod of Canada. He was one of the Toronto delegates to the Pan-Anglican congress in London, Eng., last year. He is president of the Toronto branch of the Toronto Humane Society, and the Toronto branch of the Lord's Day Alliance.

WANT THREE NEW JUDGES

Deputation Asks for Three Ones For the Bar of Montreal—Reform is Needed.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—A deputation from the bar of Montreal interviewed the Government yesterday morning to ask that the Federal Government appoint three new judges for the district of Montreal, as provided in an act of the Quebec Legislature passed last year.

Sir Wilfrid, while admitting the congestion of legal business in the district of Montreal, pointed out the need of judicial reform in Quebec. Under the present system some of the judges were overworked, while others had practically nothing to do. He advised the bar to attempt to evolve some plan of redistribution of judicial work, keeping in mind the Ontario system of circuits, but promised that if such a plan were not feasible, the Government would be compelled to do something to relieve the congestion in that city.

The Star of Bethlehem

It is stated that the star of Bethlehem can now be seen in the heavens by anyone who will rise early enough in the morning. The star, which is unusually bright, can be seen in the east, where it was discovered about fifteen days ago. It now makes it appearance about daybreak. The star of Bethlehem, which 1909 years ago, guided the wise men, is said to appear at intervals of 500 years, so you had better look for it while it is in the heavens, as you will probably be too old when next it makes it appeaarance.—Belleville Intelligencer.

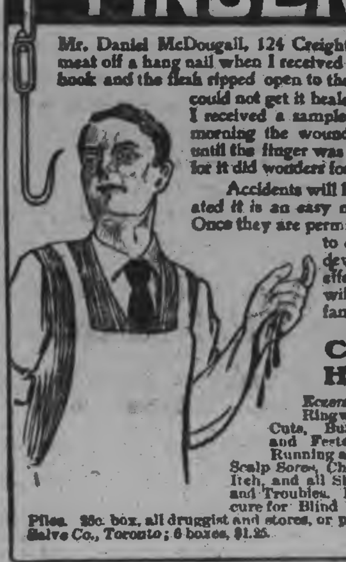
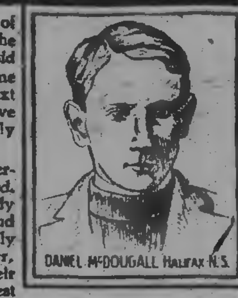
FINGER RIPPED OPEN





DANIEL McDOUGALL HALIFAX N.S.

Mr. Daniel McDougall, 124 Creighton St., Halifax, N.S., says:—"I was pulling a piece of meat off a hang nail when I received a nasty wound. One of my fingers got caught in the hook and the flesh ripped open to the first joint. I suffered much pain, and try how I would could not get it healed, or prevent the flesh from peeling off. Just at this time I received a sample of CUROL. It stopped the pain at once and the next morning the wound looked nice, so I continued using this wonderful Salve until the finger was healed completely. I cannot praise CUROL too highly for it did wonders for me."

Accidents will happen in every path of life and once the tissues are lacerated it is an easy matter for disease germs to make entry into the blood. Once they are permitted to do this (for the air is full of microbes all too ready to enter the body) they commence their deadly work and develop ugly sores and very often blood poison. The deadly effect of the latter is apparent to everyone—every mother, wife or sister should therefore protect the lives of their families by keeping on hand a Box of CUROL, the greatest antiseptic healing and soothing Salve the world has known. The timely use of Curol prevents festering and blood poison for no microbe or disease germ can live where Curol is. As a pain reliever it is a marvel and never fails to soothe and then heal.

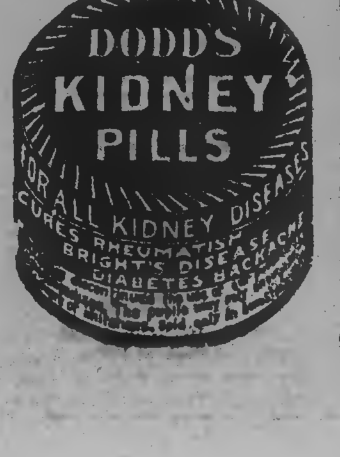
THE MARKET

Surely it is not proposed to take out of the hands of the people and their representatives any one of the public franchises acquired and operated by them. Such a policy is at once retrogressive and reactionary. In these days when public utilities, such as waterworks, electric power, etc., are coming rapidly within the range of operation by the people through commissions, etc. It is by no means proper or advisable that a public market should go back to the miserable days of "farming out," when competition in offers for the monopoly produced dissatisfaction both in the people and in the unfortunates who got "stuck." We are more concerned, however, over the suggestion that the principle of the operation of a public utility by public representatives is to be given up as unworkable in any instance, than by any other phase of the affair. It will be cited everywhere and in many important (and perhaps local) instances, where the loss of public utilities to private parties has aroused irritation and opposition in those parties. The violation of the principle is dangerous and much farther-reaching than it appears. It should on no account be allowed. Whatever is necessary to carry out the present plan satisfactorily may be done without apology or excuse, but a radical change and a recurrence to former conditions is not to be thought of.

A DANGEROUS PRECEDENT

The action of the Laurier government in "losing" the petition of the British Columbia Legislature which was being forwarded through Ottawa to the "foot of the throne," in Britain is a serious one. Nearly a year ago the British Columbia Legislature finding that Sir Wilfrid, et al, were determined to disallow all provincial acts looking to the exclusion of Asiatics, decided to implore the Home Government to intervene in behalf of British Columbia and save it from oppression and perhaps bloodshed. No one will deny that the Legislature of the western province was taking every proper precaution in that respect. But what did the department at Ottawa do through which as a matter of usual routine and courtesy the petition was to have been forwarded? It proceeded to "lost" the petition so obnoxious and so opposed to its own policy. It is being questioned in the House with respect to it and apart from the extraordinary statement of Sir Wilfrid that perhaps the petition had been forwarded to him personally and forgotten there seems to be no plausible excuse put forward by the department for its outrageous behavior. It is not long since that the word "public" was left out of the phrase "public schools" in the land-bills that were passed and that applied to the new western provinces. It is not long since The Globe averred in a special cable that all London was glorying in the new Canadian loan of which no journal in London had then said one word and when it knew that the loan had been an alarming failure. Have any corrections been made or attempted, of these cunningly-devised omissions? Not one. It is confidently hoped, on the other hand that the protests of the Opposition will be heard with incredulity, and be attributed to party bias. These trespasses upon fact and fairplay are like the garbled telegram doing a great deal to explain the apathy which can receive Judge Cassel's report without a ruffle and continue a system that has been ruthlessly condemned.



AYLESWORTH'S CANAL

The Mail and Empire, in an article on the "ditch" from Lake Simcoe to Newmarket, thus hits off the absurdities of the situation;

The question of providing water for the canal that is being built under the auspices of Hon. A. B. Aylesworth from Lake Simcoe to Newmarket, in the Minister's constituency, is one of the most interesting problems of the age. As has been explained already, the canal runs uphill. That is to say, it begins on the level of Lake Simcoe, and rises as it comes south towards the proposed harbor of refuge at Newmarket, where it is to end. Owing to the unfortunate height of land at Newmarket the water will not follow the excavation for its entire length. Thus, while the section of the canal near the lake will be navigable, that part of the canal near the tonw will be absolutely dry.

By the Government enquiries have been made with a view to getting the canal to work, and, as announced in Parliament the other day, certain engineers have recommended the digging of artificial lakes, or reservoirs, to catch the spring rains, and to guide them into the canal at Newmarkte as needed during the summer. It has been found, however, that, as Newmarket is on the ridge, the drainage of the surrounding country would have to be uphill in order to fill the proposed reserviors. Under these circumstances a pumping station has been proposed. If the Government can establish a pumping plant at Newmarket it might draw from Lake Simcoe, through pipes laid for the purpose, sufficient water to float the barges and canoes that may navigate the canal. A correspondent, however, dissents from the pumping station idea, on the ground that it involves great expense. He suggests the digging of artesian wells. These borings, if made at the head of the canal, might bring enough water up from below to keep the canal full. Another idea is the proposition to have the Newmarket end of the canal excavated to a sufficient depth to enable the water to flow naturally and on the one level from Lake Simcoe to the Newmarket terminus. But this would make the Newmarket end of the canal an underground channel. It is difficult to see how, under such a plan the cargoes that are to be handled at Newmarket could be carried on and off the vessels by the stevedores. Certainly the underground system would make the cost of transporting the wealth of the Orient to Newmarket unduly high.

It may be necessary, as in the Yukon a few years ago, to call in the aid of a "rain-maker." Such a functionary, with the aid of cannon, can summon water from the heavens and conduct it into reserviors. The price paid in the Yukon was only about $10,000 per rainstorm. However, that idea has not yet been officially promulgated. That some solution of the problem will speedily be reached everybody must hope, for the shipping of Lake Simcoe is awaiting the facilities that are to enable it to reach Newmarket, while Mr. Aylesworth, who in the election of 1904, wanted to give the canal to Durham, must be very anxious that the constituency he now represents shall enjoy at once and to the full the maritime advantages he proposes to confer upon it.—The Barrie Advance.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Not having the fear of the Toronto Telegram before its eyes the Peterborough Review calls for a new Canadian hymn and says "The Maple Leaf Forever" is very elementary not to say childish.—Orillia Packet.

That was a curious oversight of Mr. McDougall M.P.P., one of the Liberal members for Ottawa, in not taking the oath and signing the roll. The fine is $2,000.00 a day. It speaks poorly for the qualifications of the new lieutenant of Mr. McKay. In fact he is heralded as a possible leader—if the Liberals cannot find anybody else.

The announcement that the Grand Trunk has not paid the purchase price for the Major Hill site, and that the fence may be removed at any time, may be received with mingled feelings. Those whose aesthetic feelings have been outraged at the idea of a palatial hotel being erected on a corner of the park and a beautiful plaza constructed east of the post office, will no doubt be rejoiced. At the same time those practical people who think that this city needs a first-class hotel more than a few hundred feet of public park will come to the conclusion that if such a site at a nominal price could not tempt a wealthy corporation like the Grand Trunk to put up a hotel here, the chance of such a hotel being erected on an inferior site at a greater cost is not particularly bright.—Ottawa Journal.

OF INTEREST

A February magazine with no mention of Abraham Lincoln is as scarce as a December number with no allusion to Christmas. "Never before in the history of the world," as The Review of Reviews truly predicts "has the one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of any man been celebrated with such depth of feeling and such wide-spread concurrence of opinion and sentiment as will mark the tributes paid to the memory and achievements of Lincoln at this time." Every phase of the great war President's character and personality has been discussed from every conceivable point of view; his deep-hearted humanity, his strength, mastery of men, prophetic breadth of political wisdom, his splendid Americanism, and even the excellence of his literary style are the themes of the many writers who have added to the great store of literature relating to this man whom the nation delights to honor.

President Roosevelt, who has compared Lincoln with Great Heart in "The Pilgrim's Progress," contributes to the Review of Reviews a brief message whose main theme is Lincoln's wonderful kindliness as illustrated in his often quoted letter to a mother whose five sons had fallen in battle. Of this letter the President says in conclusion:

"The mother to whom he wrote, stood in one sense on a loftier plane of patriotism than the mighty President himself. Her memory, and the memory of her sons whom she bore to die for the Union, should be kept green in our minds; for she and they, in life and death, typified all that is best and highest in our national existence. The deed itself, and the words of the great man which commemorate that deed, should form one of those heritages for all Americans which it is of inestimable consequence that America should possess."

As an expression of the ideals of President-to-be, a particular interest attaches to these words of Wm. H. Taft in The Cosmopolitan Magazine:

"Certain it is that we have never had in public life a man whose sense of duty was stronger, whose bearing toward those with whom he came in contact, whether his friends or political opponents, was characterized by a greater sense of fairness. And we have never had in public life a man who took upon himself uncomplainingly the woes of the nation and suffered in his soul from the weight of them as he did, nor in all our history a man who had such a mixture of far-sightedness, of understanding of the people, of common sense, of high sense of duty, of power of inexorable logic, and of confidecne in the goodness of God in working out a righteous result as had this great product of the soil of our country——

"One can not read of Abraham Lincoln without loving him."

From a national standpoint perhaps the most significant tribute to Lincoln is that of Henry Watterson, "a Southern man and a Confederate soldier." Colonel Watterson in the Cosmopolitan, describes Lincoln as he saw him in Washington just before the war—"a wholly resolute man." But of the President's attitude both then and during the struggle he recalls that;

"Throughout the contention that preceded the war, amid the passions inevitable to the war itself not one bitter, proscriptive word escaped his lips or fell from his pen, while there was hardly a day that he was not projecting his great personality between some Southern man or woman and danger."

Of Lincoln's attitude toward slavery, his readiness to effect reconciliation and reunion on a basis of compensating slave owners for the effects of emancipation and of the incalculable loss that both North and South suffered through his untimely death Colonel Watterson writes with much feeling, saying:

"He stood in awe of the Constitution and his oath of office. Hating slavery he recognized its legal existence and its rights under the compact of the organic law. He wanted gradually to extinguish it, not to despoil those who held it as a property interest. He was so faithful to these principles that he approached emancipation not only with anxious deliberation, but with many misgivings. He issued his final proclamation as a military necessity; and ever then, so fair was his nature, he was meditating some kind of restitution——

"After that famous Hampton-Roads conference, when the Confederate commissioners, Vice-President Stephens, Campbell and Hunter, had traversed the field of official routine with Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Seward, Lincoln took the slim, pale faced consumptive man aside and pointing to a sheet of paper he held in his hand, said, "Stephens, let me write "Union" at the top of that page and you may write below it whatever else you please. . . . Mr. Lincoln took with him to Fortress Monroe two documents that still exist, in his own handwriting; one of them a joint resolution to be passed by the two Houses of Congress appropriating the $400,000,000, the other a proclamation to be issued by himself when the joint resolution had been enacted. These formed no part in the discussion at Hampton Roads, because Mr. Stephens told Mr. Lincoln that they were limited to treating upon the basis of the recognition of the Confederacy. 'In that case, case, Stephens,' said Lincoln sadly, 'I am guiltless of every drop of blood that may be shed from this onward.

"Had Lincoln lived! In that event it is quite certain that there would have been no era of reconstruction, with its repressive agencies and oppressive legislation. If Lincoln had lived there would have been wanting to the extremism of the time the bloody cue of his taking off to mount the steeds and spur the flanks of vengeance. For Lincoln entertained, with respect to the rehabilitation of the Union, the single wish that the Southern States—to use his familiar phraseology — 'should come back home and behave themselves,' and if he had lived he would have made this wish effectual as he made everything effectual to which he seriously addrest himself."

Among the best of recent pen portraits of Lincoln is that by T. B. Bancroft, who, in McClure's, describes the President as the writer saw him in Washington during the war. Mr. Bancroft gives an instance of Lincoln's quick judgment of men;

"As I came up to the railing in front of him, he was reading a paper that had just been presented to him by a man who sat in the chair opposite to him, and who seemed, by his restlessness and his unsteady eye, to be of a nervous disposition, or under great excitement.

"Mr Lincoln, still holding the paper up and without movement of any kind, paused, and, raising his eyes, looked for a long time at this man's face and seemed to be looking down into his very soul. Then, resuming his reading for a few moments, he again paused and cast the same piercing look upon his visitor.

"Suddenly, without warning, he dropt the paper and stretching out his long arm he pointed his finger directly in the face of his vis-a-vis and said, 'What's the matter with you?'

"The man stammered and finally replied, 'Nothing.'

"'Yes, there is,' said Lincoln. 'You can't look me in the face! You have not looked me in the face since you sat there! Even now you are looking out that window and can not look me in the eye!'

"Then, flinging the paper in the man's lap, he cried, 'Take it back! There is something wrong about this! I will have nothing to do with it!'—and the discomfited individual retired. I have often regretted that I was unable to discover the nature of this case."

Appleton's Magazine editorially compares Lincoln and Darwin, born on the same day and each, in his different way, an emancipator; in The Century Richard Watson Gilder treats exhaustively of Lincoln as a leader; and Army and Navy Life, after directing attention to the fact that while Lincoln drew his first breath in a log cabin he drew his last upon the bed of a private soldier, recalls his sad utterance between the two long graves on the battlefield of Antietam, "Brave men, all—and both sides American."

THE LOCAL OPTION MOVEMENT EXPLAINED

The Matter Appearing in This Department is Furnished by the Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for its Publication.

OUTSPOKEN WORDS BY REV. E. A. PEARSON

The meetings being held every Sunday afternoon in the Crystal are proving one of the most important lines of work being carried on by the temperance workers in the Peterborough local option campaign. Leading citizens are attending and speaking, and the interest and enthusiasm is growing.

Rev. E. A. Pearson, pastor of the George street church explained at a recent meeting how it is that the local option movement is spreading so rapidly both in Canada and the United States. The following is an outline of Mr. Pearson's remarks;—

People Are Aroused

The people of the United States and Canada were never so aroused upon the matter of temperance reform as they are to-day. Some things have become settled as a result of the agitation and discussions of the past fifty years. As a rule those who are the opponents of temperance to-day, were their antagonists yesterday; those who so pleadingly urge us to let well enough alone, and tell us that, if we will but cease this agitation for Local Option, they will co-operate with us in the enforcement of the excellent law we now possess are the very people who have so bitterly fought us at every step. Things would not be as they now are, if they could have had their way.

1. We are agreed to-day that "Wine is a Mocker." It was so written by inspiration some thousands of years ago but the world has been reluctant to concede it. It mocks the dignity of man. It industry and prosperity. It mocks industry and prosperity. It mocks religion. It mocks God. It mocks day accepted as a self-evident fact, that "Wine is a mocker, and he that is deceived thereby is not wise."

2. Another fact which the people have come to understand is that the bar-room is the citadel of this entrenched evil. There may be a difference of opinion as to the individual right of indulgence. There is no difference of opinion as to the character of the bar room. It has done evil and only evil all the days of its life and there is not one good thing to be said for it.

From these places multitudes of men stagger along to fill our gaols and insane asylums and later our poor houses dragging with them pale faced women and weeping children. The citizens of Canada have to maintain these institutions so largely the creation of the liquor traffic. Out of the bar room they reel into the world to wreck their own lives, ruin their homes, to burden society—on they go to dishonored graves, often to potter's fields, always into that awful night from which returns a voice, "No drunkard shall inherit the Kingdom of God."

Behind the bar room and its victims is an organized liquor traffic, the greatest of all ungodly trusts and syndicates. It has been stated that in the city of New York 6000 of its 10,000 saloons are under chattel mortgages and these mortgages are held by a combine of distillers and brewers who are controlled in turn by an executive board of about 20 men. In other words the majority of the saloons are practically owned and controlled by 200 men.

The bar is never decent; it is bad, always and only bad. It is accursed of God and man and the people are thoughtfully and deliberately determining that it must go.

3. The people have at last come to the conclusion that the remedy is in their own hands and that the remedy is law. The first method of meeting the ravages of the drink habit was moral suasion. But we have now come to see that it is a waste of time to coax a mad dog or argue with a rattle snake. The conviction of the people to-day voices itself in this way;—

"Mental Suasion for the man who thinks.
Moral Suasion for the man who drinks;
Legal Suasion for the drunkard maker;
Prison Suasion for the Statute breaker."

After moral suasion the people come to favor regulation of license. But slowly and surely this method is coming into disrepute as men see that every vote cast for license—high or low—is the personal permission given by the voter to the traffic to carry on its work of making the earth a hell.

Apart from suasion and regulation the only alternative is prohibition. Local option is simply prohibition by separate single municipalities. By this method in America wonderful progress is being made toward national prohibition.

Objections Answered

There are two main objections urged against Prohibition or Local Option.

1st. It is an interference with personal liberty. To put it bluntly the friend of the liquor traffic says "Mind your own business. If you don't want to drink refrain from it and don't meddle with us." But surely this old cry about personal liberty and sumptuary legislation is worn out to-day. A great liquor journal in the United States recently stated that henceforth the liquor trade must fight its battle from the standpoint of the general good as opposed to personal freedom for "the people to-day will not have it otherwise." Surely we see that the only freedom we have in this country is not personal but social freedom. "Salus Populi suprema lex"—the welfare of the people is the highest law. And we are well within our rights in Peterborough in passing Local Option even though it curtail the personal liberty of some, if such action is for the general good of our city. Every red placard on the door of a dwelling in Peterborough indicating that scarlet fever is in that home means to us no objection, that the welfare of the people must override personal liberty.

Two statements once made in my hearing by Mr. Haverson, the legal adviser of the liquor party in Ontario, will show the unbrotherly and unchristian viewpoint of many of our opponents. When urged, at the meeting of a certain License Board, to desist from seeking to secure a bar license for a certain young man, as it would be a blessing to him to be free from the business, his reply was "If he swims in whisky that is his own concern not mine."

Again he said "whisky is a heaven sent method of weeding out the incompetents of the world."

Lovers of humanity what think you of such statements. Has not this liquor dragon devoured many of our brightest and best.

2nd. It is claimed that prohibition does not prohibit.

If this means that it does not wholly prevent the use of intoxicating liquors the point is well taken; but a like objection can be made against any one of the Ten Commandments. In neither case should failure to prevent the evils aimed at be regarded as a good reason for displacing them to make way for license laws. But the facts are all against this statement. Nobody says that local option in Peterborough will mean the entire elimination of the consumption of liquor but everybody whose eyes are open, sees and knows that it will be enormously lessened.

If prohibition does not prohibit, "what fools these mortals be" who oppose it. If prohibition does not prohibit who is to blame. The makers and sellers of intoxicating drinks who, generally speaking, have always been arrayed against and willing to break the law. The liquor traffic is the greatest law breaker in the community today; and those who thus wink at our laws should receive the same treatment that any lawbreaker would receive at the hands of justice.

We are in this fight to win—victory may be delayed, but it is assured

"For right is right since God is God,
And right the day must win,
To doubt would be disloyalty
To falter would be sin."

CAMPAIGN NOTES

Mr. Denis O'Shea, of Norwood, formerly of Peterborough, while in the city this week, informed some of our local temperance workers that local option is proving a great success in Norwood. He stated that the moral tone of the village has improved so greatly that Norwood is like a different place.

An encouraging feature of the local option campaign in Ontario is the splendid manner in which the law is being enforced where it has been carried. Every week or so the papers report the case of some lawbreaker being sent to gaol for a second offence and not merely fined as used to be the case. Recently Frank Miller, a hotelkeeper in Stouffville, a local option district, was sent to gaol for four months for illegal sale of liquor.

As a result of the unseating of the St. Catharines city council on a technicality the License Reduction By-law that was voted on and carried there on election day cannot now come into operation this year. The time having passed when the bylaw can be read a third time, and the reading it has received by the now defunct council being illegal, like all the other acts of the council, it will not now be possible to legally give the third reading which is necessary to bring it into operation. It is to be hoped that the people of St. Catharines will now decide to go in for local option and wipe the whole thing out.

The interest that the ladies are showing in the Peterborough local option campaign shows that they are going to do their part. They will have charge of the meeting that will be held in the Crystal tomorrow afternoon at 4.15. Ladies representing the different churches will give five minute addresses. A lady will preside. Everybody welcome.

AN EXPRESSION OF GRATITUDE

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roberts Thank Thoughtful Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roberts, 452 Stewart street, wish through the medium of the press, to express their sincere thanks to all those who demonstrated their neighborly sympathy by sacrificing their time and jeopardising their health in the search for the body of Maxwell Roberts, who was recently drowned in the rock. They wish to especially thank the employees of R. Hicks & Co. and J. E. A. Fitzgerald, and also the fire chief and his men, for their able services. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts also feel a deep sense of gratitude to the many kind friends who sent tokens of their sympathy.

SUFFERED TORTURES FOR 70 YEARS

Wife of a Prominent Physician Tells How She Was Cured.

Mrs. J. R. Flock is the widow of one of the best known physicians in London, Ontario. She was treated by her husband and many other medical men yet never received any lasting benefit. Just by accident, she tried a well-known remedy, and now, after 70 years of suffering, she is well. Read her letter to Fruit-a-tives Limited.

"Dear Sirs,—Since my early childhood (and I am now in my seventy-third year) I have suffered indescribable torment from stomach trouble and indigestion, complicated with liver disorders. Being the wife of a prominent physician (the late Dr. J. R. Flock), I, naturally enough, had a prejudice against proprietary remedies. I was, however, unable to benefit to any great extent through my lifetime, from taking the ordinary remedies of physicians, being constantly in delicate health from stomach disorder and vomiting. Accidentally I came into possession of a sample of "Fruit-a-tives"—tried them, and found myself wonderfully benefitted. I take them now as my only medicine and they are keeping me in the most satisfactory health.

After finding out the wonderful medicinal qualities of "Fruit-a-tives" I have recommended them to many of my friends and acquaintances, who have also had the best results from their use—and one lady friend that I have recently recommended them to, has used them for Sciatica, from which she suffered constantly and was unable to procure any remedy that would relieve her. She is now taking "Fruit-a-tives" and is cured.

I am glad to be able to recommend "Fruit-a-tives" and will be glad if you will use my name in any way that will be the means of bringing your remedy before the public."

OUTSIDE DISTRICT LEADING CONTEST

Several Changes in District Leadership To-day

What is proving to be one of the most interesting contests ever conducted hereabouts is now in progress under the auspices of this paper. Although still in its infancy it is the talk of the city and country. The "contest man" who is in charge of the affair claims no credit for the great success of the enterprise which is already assured as it is the candidates the people who are participating in the struggle that are making it a success. It is the quality of the racers that makes the race. From the quality of the entrants we are sure to have a memorable contest. The leaders to-day are;—

- W. G. Rundle Peterborough.

"Salome" Praised

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—It seems really remarkable that such excitement should reign over the production of the drama "Salome." If it is produced elsewhere as it has been in Peterborough I should imagine that only good could be derived from seeing and hearing it.

For my part I saw only a powerful religious tragedy, inspiring one with more earnest trust in his Maker, and teaching the great lesson, The way of the Transgressor is hard.

The pathetic supplications of "John the Baptist," to the "God of Hosts" and his terrible spurnings and denunciations of the wicked, is indeed, a powerful sermon, and which is no doubt moving to the wayward and wanton, should any such be present!

On comparison with some of the comic operas, this play makes the latter look woefully poor and ignorant and indeed I think that all Peterborough persons who witnessed "Salome" will agree with me in saying that this is a master creation of a master mind.

Yours, etc.,
HARAZE.

FARMERS SHOULD BUY EARLIER

The Saturday Crush at Grocery Stores Would Then be Considerably Lessened

Editor of the Review.

Peterborough,
February 20, 1909

Dear Sir—As a merchant of this city I would like to say a few words about the habit the farmers in the vicinity of Peterborough have been doing their Saturday buying at local stores much later than their is any need of doing. Of course, the storekeepers are naturally very glad to get the farmers' patronage but it would convenience them greatly if the shopping were done earlier in the day and thus avoid a congestion of shoppers in the store, the overworking of the merchant and his staff and possibly poorer service than would be given under more favorable conditions.

If the farmers did their buying at an earlier and more opportune hour than the majority of them do, it would be to their own advantage and to the merchants' as well.

Yours truly,
MERCHANT.

IMPRESSIONS OF OLD EDINBURGH

Beautif ulSights That Await the Review's Guest on the European Trip.

The candidate in the Review's great Trip to Europe and Diamond Contest who is fortunate enough to be declared the winner over such an array of formidable rivals as our list contains will be one who has enough fighting blood coursing their veins to fully appreciate the privilege of personally going over and examining the old buildings and streets where royalty and aristocracy in ages past were wont to parade and feast in the sunshine of peace or suffer the tortures of bloody strife, the fruits of family feuds and conspiracies of a semi-barbaric period.

Edinburgh is two cities in one — the old town that might have stepped out of five centuries ago and the new, with its stately terraces, its mansions and gardens and monuments a world of wide tree-lined streets, every inch of which speaks of modern advancement and comforts.

High street in Edinburgh, Scotland, from Holyrood Palace to the Castle, and a mile and a half distant is lined with old residences and ancient buildings, all of which are connected with tales of historic interest. Many of these have subterranean passages, which were used for escape in case their strongholds were assaulted by forces too powerful to resist. These underground passages have undoubtedly been the means of saving many lives, but they have also been a very important factor in crimes that have had a direct bearing on the destiny of nations. It is claimed that there was a secret passage underground, running clear from the Palace of Holyrood to the Castle, which for centuries were the residences of kings and queens. It is very easy to believe this to be true, as it is only natural that royalty especially during such uncertain times, should want some means of keeping their precious bodies away from the clutches of some ambitious rascal or strenuous claimant to the crown and be able to reach another residence in safety.

There are several historic spots and houses on High street that are worth a chapter to themselves, and many of the old-fashioned palaces in which the Dukes and Earls and Princes lived in olden times have ghostly visitants, but all the houses in which men have lived and died are haunted houses, and there seems no reason why the spirits of the tough old Scotchman who used to be so energetic in life should not continue their interest in modern affairs.

In the centre of the wide place in the street, under the shadow of the statue of the Duke of Buccleuch, is the form of a heart made with colored stones in the pavement. It is called "The Heart of Midlothian," and around it was the meeting place of popular assemblies for several centuries. Here stood the guillotine, and hundreds of people were executed upon this spot. The noblest victims were the Earl of Morton, who was regent under James VI, and was hated by everybody; the proud Earl of Montrose, and the two Dukes of Argyle, father and son, whose executions were thirty years apart. The heads of these and thousands of lesser men were impaled upon the iron pickets of a fence that surrounded the place. That gruesome spectacle was quite familiar to the people of Edinburgh at one time.

Here stood also the old Tolboth, the prison which Sir Walter Scott has immortalized in his story called the "Heart of Midlothian," and which tells the terrible experience of Effie Dean.

The new part of the city is very modern and up to date but the old city is still as old-fashioned as one could wish. The old town and the new town are about evenly balanced in population The old city has nearly all of the public institutions except the post office, the art gallery, the portrait gallery, the historical museum and the public records office.

St. Giles' Cathedral stands in the centre of High street, as already stated. The statue of the Duke of Buccleuch is at one end and at the other is a fat and ungainly figure of Charles I, in bronze on horseback On one side are the law courts and on the other the city hall, which was formerly a royal palace.

Attached to the city hall is a very interesting municipal museum, which is visited by comparatively few strangers because they do not know anything about it. Its greatest treasure is the original copy of the covenant signed by some twelve hundred clergymen and others who refused to accept the dictation of the King in religious matters and started the civil war that lasted so long. There are many manuscripts and relics of Robert Burns, Sir Walter Scott and other famous Scotsmen. The custodian insists that they have more of Burns' manuscripts than can be found in any other place, and among them is the original of "The Kirks Alarm," which begins:

> "Orthodox, Orthodox, who believe in > John Knox,
> Let me sound an alarm to your > conscience."

The building that was formerly the meeting place of the Scottish parliament is now the seat of the highest courts of the land, and many of their customs are quaint and curious, having been preserved from ancient times

There are two great libraries in this building containing many rare and curious manuscripts and books and the most complete collection of legal lore in Scotland. In a case in the centre of the principle reading room are the original manuscripts of Waverly and Marmion, and the original "Confession of Faith," signed by James VI, in 1590, in which he proclaims himself a Protestant — but he changed his mind shortly after.

PROF. CAPPON OF QUEEN'S DELIVERS FIRST OF COURSE AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

First of Series of Four Lectures Given Under Auspices of Government at Normal School—Prof. Cameron the Next Lecturer—A Most Instructive Evening

The fine new, Normal School building was thrown open to the public last night on the occasion of the first of a series of lectures provided by the Legislature for the information and refreshment of the pupils. The attendance was large and the lecture was thoroughly enjoyed. Professor Cappon of Queen's is one of a staff of university men who have done so much to influence Canadian thought and give it that impetus which it so much needs. Mr. Duncan Walker, M. A., the headmaster, introduced Professor Cappon in a few words of appreciation. The subject of Professor Cappon's lecture was "Ancient and modern ballad poetry." The scope of it was confined largely to British ballads, but the lecturer's analysis gradually and vividly unfolded the growth of the simple, popular sentiments in a rude age, of love and romance, into the more subtle and artistically-expressed lyrics of a later day. What they gained in artistry they lost, it might almost be said, in force and directness. The lecturer compared "Sir Patrick Spens" with its

> "To Noroway, to Noroway,
> To Noroway owre the faem,
> The King's daughter to Noroway
> 'Tis thou maun tak her hame."

with—

> "Beneath her father's roof, alone.
> She seemed to live; her thoughts > her own.
> Herself her own delight;
> Pleased with herself nor sad nor > gay;
> And passing thus the live-long day,
> She grew to woman's height."

of Wordsworth's "Ruth," showing how the simple and purely popular character of the one became the literary and artistic work of the other. A hearty vote of thanks moved by Dr. Park in a highly appreciative and reminiscent speech was enthusiastically received by the audience and tendered the learned lecturer.

Miss Davies' glee club sang very sweetly and appropriately "The Woodland Voices" as an introduction to the lecture.

Prof. Cameron of Toronto university will lecture next Friday evening in the same hall upon "English pre-Raphaelite painters," a subject that will especially interest the Art Association. The public is invited.

MASTER PAINTERS WILL HOLD THEIR ANNUAL CONVENTION IN THIS CITY NEXT JULY

The Master Painters' Association of the United States and Canada will hold their next annual convention here in July. This was decided at a meeting of the executive of the association held in Toronto at which Messrs. Watson, Cooke and Duncan, were the representatives of the local branch and they are to be congratulated on securing so important a fixture for Peterborough.

When the convention is held it will mean that five or six hundred visitors from different parts of the United States and Canada will be here and it will be another opportunity of showing the attractiveness of Peterborough and her environs in the summer season as well as advertising the city as a most progressive and hospitable city.

The local executive has been negotiating for some time to secure the convention and must be complimented on doing so in face of the efforts of the societies of Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, St Johns, and other large places

After the meeting of the executive in Toronto on Wednesday a delightful "At Home" to the members of the association assembled in the city was given at the Temple Building under the auspices of the Toronto local.

SEASON OF LENT BEGINS ON WEDNESDAY

The season of Lent begins on Wednesday next, which is Ash Wednesday. Lent is a season of fasting and special prayer, and is observed in the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches. It commemorates the 40 days' fast of the Saviour in the wilderness, commencing on Ash Wednesday and continuing until Easter Sunday.

Special services are held daily in the churches and members are urged not to attend places of amusement during this holy season of Lent. It is a time for self-denial, when greater efforts should be made to do something in the cause of Christ.

Then followed a very interesting programme consisting of music, readings and impromptu addresses. After dinner had been served, the guests sang "For they are jolly good fellows" and left for their homes, feeling that they had been royally entertained by their amiable host and hostess.

Be sure and hear Princess Chrysanthemum produced at the Conservatory on Tuesday evening, next by fifty young people. It will be well worth hearing.

PESENTATION TO SUPERINTENDENT

Mr. J. J. Hartley Given Handsome Electric Lamp by Officers and Teachers of Grace Church S. S.

The officers and teachers of Grace church Sunday School gathered at the home of Mr J J Hartley, 234 Antrim street, last evening and an enjoyable time was spent in amusements of a very entertaining nature. Mr. Hartley is the superintendent of this flourishing Sunday School and the esteem in which he is held by his fellow workers was evidenced when Mr. Norman Allison, on behalf of the Sunday School leaders presented him with a handsome electric lamp and Miss Mabel Curtis read the following address;

Peterborough,
February 19, 1909

Dear Mr Hartley;

It is with feelings of great pleasure that we meet with you tonight We rejoice in the relation of Christian fellowship which has bound us as teachers and officers of Grace church Sabbath School to you during the past years.

Your noble record of faithful service in connection with our Sabbath School leaves its impression on our lives. your humble, consistent Christian walk and your diligent self-sacrificing efforts in the Master's cause are a constant example to us all, and in accord with this we wish to express our appreciation to you.

We would ask you to accept this lamp and the earnest prayer of our hearts is that He who directs the paths of those who commit their ways unto Him, may still be your constant guide, as the cloud of Jehovah's presence [illegible] the tent in the wilderness, so may His presence abiding in you, glorify your life and make all your work devine.

We trust that you may yet be long spared to us in the relation of superintendent of our Sabbath School, and—

When working days are o'er for thee,
May the rich music of thy life,
Flow on eternally.

Signed on behalf of the officers and teachers—

William Hartley,
Mabel Curtis.

SPORTING NEWS

WHICH TEAM WILL WIN THE CHURCH LEAGUE TROPHY

Although both St. Andrew's and Knox church claim to have the championship as good as won, you can't always sometimes tell, and this has been the case in other sporting affairs this season. Up to the last game with Knox church, St. Andrew's showed championship form, as they always managed to secure a good lead in the initial stages of the game, and then use their weight to good advantage in the remainder. But the other teams have got on to their style of play, and Park street claim they will give them a hard jolt when they meet in their next game, which will be played on Monday night if the weather permits. Knox church have struck their gate and claim they can take both games from the George st. seven, which would put them on even better terms with Manager Johnston's aggregation. The other teams still have a chance and may make a big noise yet. But whoever takes the honors will deserve all that is coming as only those who have had to play on the open air rinks can know what troubles and inconveniences each team has to put up with.

THESE FALLS WERE SECURED IN VERY SHORT ORDER

Those who have seen wrestling matches in America will be surprised to learn of the quick falls secured by grapplers at the recent Alhambra tournament held for amateur competition by the National Sporting Club of London, England.

A few extracts from Health and Strength the well known English physical culture and sporting publication will show in what short order some of the falls are obtained:

A Judaean victory in double quick time came next. Dave Brown and Johnny Jacobs met, looked at each other and down went Jacobs, backheeled and flattened out in thirteen seconds.

Jack Bentley beat even this record in the next bout, disposing of Harry Seymour of Judaean Athletic Club in ten seconds.

Harry Tonge, of Bolton, had a little more trouble in disposing of Gibbs, the Londoner, although in difficulties from the start, managing to stave off defeat for 1 3-4 minutes.

Tom Rose, one of the likely men in this section had little difficulty with Joe Kippele, of Stratford, polishing him off in lively style in one minute and three seconds, while Edward Yungi, of Switzerland, took 2 1-2 minutes to remove Alf Marshall of Croydon from the competition. He might have done it sooner however, but was pulled up when first dangerous for interlacing his fingers.

Tommy Monk had no trouble in defeating Louis Nemo, the Norfolk man losing in 1 min 55 secs. while Ted Vaughan, of Islington, cut no time to waste, throwing Adams, of Hounslow at once and flattening him out in 16 seconds.

MAY PLAY AT PETERBORO'

Kingston and T. A. A. C. May be Ordered to Play Sudden Death Game Here

Kingston, Feb 20—The TAAC wants a sudden-death game in Peterborough with the 14th Regiment. The Soldiers want home and home games. The TAAC. team says it cannot get its players away for another game here. The 14th Regiment has been at much expense staying in the OHA. and expects the fairest of treatment.

Peterborough hockey fans would no doubt be glad to see these two fast aggregations play off here. The rink should meet with the approval of both teams and it is to be hoped the game will be ordered to be played here.

His place on the team will be a hard one to fill as he could always be relied upon to deliver the goods. His many friends in the city will wish him every success in his new home.

HOCKEY

The Strathconas and T.A.S. teams will practice to-night at Brock street rink from seven to eight. As the ex-champions have a big proposition before them for Wednesday night, when they play Lakefield, its up to them to get in the best of shape.

The intermediate game last night in the semi-finals went pretty much the way they were doped out to go on paper. Lindsay put it all over the Toronto Rowing Club on their own ice and Stratford got a good lead against Wiarton, and should win the round by a big lead. Ingersoll tied the score in Milton against the seven of that town, but have not got the round cinched by any means, as Milton played with a crippled defence and will be sure to put up a stiff argument in the return game.

In the junior series Midland secured a good lead on Barrie and should be on easy street when they play the return game in Barrie. Berlin easily defeated Mount Forest in the second game of the series and look good for further honors.

A practice of the Straths will be held tonight from 7 to 8 o'clock.

Challenge to Auburn Team

The Tame Banties hereby challenge the Auburn hockey team to a game of hockey as soon as the rink can be secured. The Banties have had a very successful season and have had no losses against them, so it's up to the Auburns to get busy. Wiggins Fagan, manager and captain.

A tax rate of 20 mills is foreshadowed to be erected in London.

SPORTING TALK

The Lindsay Midgets ran away from the Toronto Rowing Club in the return game at Toronto last night by the score of 5-1, thereby winning the round by 11-2. Lindsay played their usual cool, heady game and won the game on its merits.

Fritz Mohl won the handicap wrestling match in Hamilton last night by throwing Zellar in 12 minutes, Chrysler in 21 minutes and Conkle in 24 minutes. He was to throw the three in one hour and did, so with three minutes to the good.

If the Indian is a ward of the government it is time the government looked after its ward.

GOOD HOCKEY IN CHURCH LEAGUE

Picked Team Should Give Either Lakefield or Straths. a Close Run

Just now while each team is hurling challenges to each other, what about a picked team from the Church League to play the champion Lakefields or the Strathconas. The class of hockey dished up by this league is a close second to the City League, and a good heavy and speedy seven be got together to give their opponents a stiff struggle. There will be plenty of good ice for a long while yet, and the teams are sure of the support of the hockey fans, if good arrangements are made.

GOOD HOME MADE BLADDER CURE

Old Folks Who Suffer Find Prompt Relief in Simple Home Mixture

Here is a prescription that anyone can mix at home. Any good prescription pharmacy can supply the ingredients named at little cost, being composed of vegetable extracts, it is harmless and inexpensive. Best of all it does its work well, relieving even the worst forms of bladder trouble, frequent urination, backache kidney complaint, and by its direct action upon the eliminative tissue of the kidneys makes these most vital organs rid the blood and system of waste matter and uric acid which causes rheumatism.

Here it is; try it, if you suffer, Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce, Compound Kargone one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

Former sufferers often state that one week's use shows curative results in nearly every instance, and such symptoms as lame back, frequent desire to urinate, pain in bladder and even chronic rheumatism are generally relieved within a few days the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

Wm. German, M.P., denies he is to be solicitor fro the Railway Commission.

WRESTLING

Now that Frank Gotch has returned to this country efforts are being made to get on a match between him and Yussif Mahmout, the Bulgarian wonder, who has thrown all of the American mat artists he has met without any trouble. His list of victims includes all of the best mat artists in this country outside of Gotch. A purse of at least $10,000 would be put up for a go between the American champion and the Bulgarian. Those who have seen the latter in action, declare that he is one of the greatest grapplers that ever came to this country and his big string of victories since his arrival in this country bears out this statement. It is to be hoped that Gotch will consent to a meeting with the foreigner.

The Iowan has just been matched to meet Raoul de Rouen, the French champion in Kansas City on March 25th for the world's championship at catch as catch can. Mahmout defeated the Frenchman at Chicago, although the latter's work was so rough that he was barred from future exhibitions there. There is also a possibility of another match between Gotch and Hackenschmidt, which the Iowan was unable to bring about on his recent trip to Europe.

Wrestling is a calling that cannot be picked up in less than six years of hard work. This is the opinion of Jack Carkeek, trainer of Frank Gotch in his match with Hackenschmidt. Carkeek holds that the variety of grips possible on the wrestling mat requires at least a couple of years of study alone. Then each muscle has to be trained to meet any emergency that may arise. He points to the Hackenschmidt match with Gotch as an argument. There could be no disputing Hack's tremendous strength. He could whirl Gotch around like a child. But when Gotch first put the toe grip on him Hackenschmidt was at a complete loss. Only his tremendous strength enabled him to throw Gotch off. He could never have resisted the grip with his leg as lighter men, such as Fred Beell, could have done. He simply encountered a grip that was new to him and for which he was not prepared.

HAVE COMBINED FOR THIS GAME

T. A. S. and Lakefield Will Play Against Strathconas

The Lakefield and T.A.S. hockey teams have joined forces and have challenged the Strathconas. This game should be a big drawing card, as both teams could be depended upon to put up the biggest kind of struggle. The Strathconas have accepted and the game will take place as soon as arrangements can be made.

HOW MANY MEALS HAVE YOU SAVED?

Do you show your meals do you good, as the saying goes? Have you the product of former good dinners tucked away around your waist line? Do they reproach you? Do they lie heavily on your physical conscience, as it were? Are you anxious to reform?

Well, then contemplate a period of penance. What do you say to a month of unmodified breakfast food diet—made thin; to be follwoed or accompanied by thirty days of road work or weight lifting. No?

How about a few months' course of some acrid (put your teeth on edge) acid, heart-burn-causing, wrinkle-forming, stomach-upsetting, high-priced patent advertised "fat remedy" then—No?

All that remains for you to try, then, if you really wish to reform, is Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets possess special virtues — the most important of which is; they cause not one ripple of internal uneasiness. Neither do they leave wrinkles behind; nor is dieting and exercise required to help out. Yet, in a reasonable time they are capable of reducing possibly, any man or woman on this green earth a pound or so daily.

How about your trying this safe and well indorsed plan if you do not care to exercise or diet? The Marmola Company of Detroit, Mich., or any druggist will give you, for as little as 75 cents, one large case, so well stocked that just that one case will show you the problem of reducing safely and quickly on three full meals a day has been solved.

Did Not Go to 'Caygeon

The T.A.S. hockey team did not go to Bobcaygeon today as word was received that the ice was in poor condition. This is the second time the weather has been against them, but better luck will be expected next time.

Jimmy McNern's puck-chasers had a good workout last night from 7 to 8. Arrangements have been nearly completed for a trip to Bobcaygeon in the near future when they will play the team of that village and as been the case with other teams who have made the journey will have a big time.

THIS IS A DELIGHTFUL OPERETTA

"Princess Chrysanthemum," which will be given at the Conservatory Music Hall on Tuesday evening by a company of seventy young people, is an operetta of decided merit, both in libretto and music. The story is a pretty and interesting one of a clingingly tuneful and appealing quality. The romance and haziness of the Orient are delightfully in evidence throughout the piece, which is written and composed by King Proctor, who is responsible for many well-known operatic successes.

Among the many song hits of "The Princess Chrysanthemum" some of the most prominent ones are, "Whether you like it or not," Little Japanese Sailor Man," "Tulip," "The Kittens Tale," "Du-du" "Which shall it be," "Top-not." There are also many attractive choruses which will serve to display to advantage the singing strength of the company. The characters are picturesque and varied and all the roles will be taken by local artists and vocalists of ability.

Mr. Gliddon who is directing the production has been conducting rehearsals for some time and the cast will be thoroughly rehearsed for the presentation of the operetta. A descriptive and appropriate scenic setting will be employed in the presentation of the operetta which gives every promise of being one of the most enjoyable and successful affairs of the local amusement season.

To Examine Election Lists.

Winnipeg, Feb. 20.—In the Legislature Premier Roblin, in reply to the Opposition request for a committee of enquiry into alleged grave irregularities in the preparation of the provincial voters' lists used in the late Dominion elections, said he would grant a committee of enquiry, not because of the Opposition's demand, but because of Premier Laurier's allegation that the provincial lists were the cause of the Liberal defeat, and because of Hon. Clifford Sifton's subsequent statement to the same effect.

The committee has been given power to take evidence under oath and send for all persons, papers, etc.

Sarnia Man Drowned.

Sarnia, Ont., Feb. 20.—Yesterday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock, William Lowrie, a man about 35 years of age, who for many years had been employed in the Imperial Oil Works here, was accidentally drowned. While changing the lines to one of the underground tanks, it would appear he slipped and fell into the oil. Not returning in a reasonable time, he was inquired for, and the latch of the tank was found open. Afterwards his body was recovered by the other employes.

He was a well and favorably known young man, a son of the late Warden Lowrie of Lambton. He had many relatives in these parts.

Strait In Dispute.

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—The question of the Canadian ownership of Hecate strait and the Dixon entrance is one which has not yet been settled. It must be determined by mutual agreement or by arbitration. A prominent Ottawa official who has carefully studied the question said yesterday that it is one of the points which might very well go to The Hague convention. The question has some importance in connection with the determination of fishery rights on the west coast.

Outlines Staff Scheme.

London, Feb. 20.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The text of the scheme for an imperial general staff has been issued in a Parliamentary paper. The following are the points:

1. All forces of Empire to be organized for war on the same principles by a general staff, which must be an entity throughout the Empire.

2. Uniformity of training officers for general staff to be secured by recognizing the staff college at Chamberley for some years to come as a central school for military education for the Empire, and sending its graduates to over sea dominions. There will be uniformity in officers' curriculums and examinations.

3. Uniformity in carrying out staff duties to be attained by encouraging graduates of staff colleges to undergo further training in England or India, and systematically interchanging with Imperial general staff officers throughout the Empire.

De Castellane Appeals.

Paris, Feb. 20.—Count Boni de Castellane has appealed from the decision of the French court, handed down Dec. 3, that his three sons remain in the custody of their mother, the present Princess de Sagan, who before she married De Castellane, from whom she secured a divorce, was Miss Anna Gould of New York. It is said that the count's purpose in trying to reopen this issue is to compel the De Sagans to come to a private settlement. The De Sagans are at present living quietly here. They say they are "saving money to pay De Castellane's debts."

Excellent music was supplied by the Sprague orchestra of Belleville, and Mr Archie Moore of Peterborough officiated as floor manager.

Dancing was indulged in until midnight when a dainty luncheon prepared by the ladies was served in the basement. HE FOUND THEM THE BEST OF ALL

What Rufus Harris Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

After Trying Five Doctors for His Kidney Disease He Found Relief in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Hurdville, Ont. Feb 19— Special —"After trying five doctors for Kidney Trouble, from which I had suffered for three years, I find that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieve me best of all. If I keep on feeling as I have since I began taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I shall be well pleased and I am hoping they will cure me."

So says Rufus Harris, well known in this village. "I had stiffness in the joints," he continues, "cramps in the muscles, backache and was heavy and sleepy after meals. I was depressed and low spirited, perspired freely, was often dizzy and always thirsty, but since taking Dodd's Kidney Pills I am feeling very good."

If you have any of the symptoms, Mr. Harris tells of, it is time for you to beware. They are the symptoms of Kidney Disease, and may be the forerunners of Rheumatism, Dropsy, Lumbago, Heart Disease, or even the dread Bright's Disease, itself. Take warning and guard against suffering or even death itself by putting the Kidneys in good working order with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

More bread and Better bread

—And the Reason for it

A STRONG FLOUR can only be made from strong wheat. Manitoba hard wheat is acknowledged the strongest in the world—and that is the kind used for Purity Flour.

But that's not all. Every grain of this wheat contains both high-grade and low-grade properties. In separating the high-grade parts from the low-grade the Western Canada Flour Mills put the hard wheat through a process so exacting that not a single low-grade part has the remotest chance of getting in with the high-grade.

Of course this special process is more expensive to operate but it means a lot to Purity flour users—that's why we use it.

It means that Purity Flour is made entirely of the highest-grade flour parts of the strongest wheat in the world.

It means a high-class, strong flour and therefore yields "more bread and better bread."

Purity may cost a little more than some flours, but results prove it the cheapest and most economical after all.

Tourists' Insurance!

It may not be generally known that the Insurance Company of North America, under its Marine Department issues a policy covering the personal effects of tourists against marine perils, including theft and fire, from the time of their leaving their homes in Canada, or the United States until their return. The policy is issued at a moderate rate of premium for the term that the insured expects to be away from home. One of the Canadian passengers on the SS. "Republic," who was far seeing enough to have one of these policies, put up after the return of the vessel's passengers to New York, at the same hotel there as Mr. H. Hampson, and the following day received a cheque for the face value of the policy. We would think that this protection would become very popular with the travelling public, as it appears well worth the premium charged. We understand the "North America" paid over $100,000 under such policies in the San Francisco conflagration.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS

Probably the heaviest production ever attempted by local amateurs in Peterborough was the "Three Musketeers," which was produced at the Conservatory Music Hall last night, under the direction of Mr. D. Oscar Waring.

The celebrated Dumas drama has long been a favorite attraction when given by professional players of high ability, and the local artists are to be commended on the showing they made as amateurs, the majority of those taking part never having appeared on the boards before. The costuming of the presentation was excellent, and the scenic settings were also acceptable considering the disadvantage for the lack of material for giving the proper effect in this latter respect. Rehearsals of the play have been held for a considerable time and the cast were well drilled in the lines and the business of the respective parts. A story of depth and interest is told in the interpretation of the piece.

The clever acting of Mr. D. Oscar Waring as Cardinal Richelieu, was the outstanding feature of the play. He portrayed the part of the intriguing and crafty Cardinal in a most convincing manner, and showed his ability as an intelligent interpreter of a heavy and difficult role.

As the impulsive and bold D'Artagnan, Mr. Herb Rush was seen to much advantage. Miss Ethel Packenham assumed the role of Queen Ann, of Austria, and her expression of the part was most satisfactory. As Athos, Porthos and Aramis, the three soldiers of the musketeer guard, Messrs. H. E. Potter, Ed. Gardiner and George Marshall took their parts well. Miss E. Gardiner gave a good reading of the role of Lady de Winter. The audience at frequent intervals by its hearty applause, expressed its appreciation of the work of those taking part.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

The cast of characters was as follows:—

King Louis XIII of France—Mr. A. Weart.

Cardinal Richelieu—D. Oscar Waring.

Duke of Buckingham; Capt. Lo Tour (Capt. Cardinal's Guards)—Mr. A. Packenham.

Lady De Winter (an agent of Richelieu's)—Miss E. Gardiner.

Constance (the Queen's Tirewoman, a foundling)—Miss E. Strong.

ACT II.

Between the scenes of the play Miss Choate gave an artistically played and much enjoyed violin solo. Miss Reesor sang in fine voice and Miss Foy gave a much appreciated piano selection.

EUROPEAN TOUR CONTEST A TREMENDOUS SUCCESS

It is the One Topic of Conversation, No Matter Where One Goes—It is Gaining Momentum With Every Passing Moment.

Each Candidate

Sending or bringing to the Review office 5 NEW yearly subscriptions to the Daily by March 8, at 9 p.m., will be given a

SPECIAL BALLOT FOR 10,000 EXTRA VOTES

Ten NEW yearly subscriptions to the Weekly will entitle the candidate to a

SPECIAL BALLOT FOR 5,000 EXTRA VOTES

Each 5 years' Daily or 10 years' Weekly will constitute a "Club." This bonus vote will be given in addition to the regular certificates of votes on the payment of a subscription. Don't be satisfied with a few clubs; get as many as you can.

Popularity

Popularity has absolutely no protection against competition—the patent office doesn't issue caveats on ability, and recognized ability is the true cornerstone of popularity. To make yourfellowmen recognize you as one above the ordinary you must prove to them your strength and your fitness to occupy your position by some accomplishment. Everywhere you will find people ready to acknowledge merit, but merit means work. You must work to attain and then keep working to retain, because every hour of the day others are keeping after you and are coveting what you possess. We only get what we deserve. Ambition and ability are not always comrades. A wish is like a motor car—absolutely useless unless it carries you somewhere. The people who just want what you possess aren't dangerous, but those who want and CONTEST are. No one can be successful without effort, and the greater the effort required to be successful the greater your achievement and the more honor is your due. Fight to the finish if you would win.

New Nomination

An additional nomination was handed in for the men's list in the country, the friends of P. G. Towns believing he should compete for the free trip abroad. There is plenty of time for a wideawake candidate entering now to "make things hum" during the remaining four weeks of the contests

To-day's Vote

While the vote today was not particularly heavy as a whole, all the active candidates made gains, W. G. Rundle being the heaviest voter and getting back into first place in the city list. Sidney A. Smithson, of Keene, now leads the men in both lists.

The country district remains the lead in the contest, but there is really little difference in the four leaders. Miss Moore is first, with Miss Perry, Miss Dawson and Miss Adams following closely.

The question has been asked many times, and answered as often, whether a candidate withdrawing can transfer their votes to another. Positively NO. After newspaper coupons are marked they can not be counted for another candidate. Neither can the free certificates issued with subscriptions be voted for another candidate than the one in whose name they were issued.

TURKEY HAS WON AND LOST MORE LAND THAN ANY OTHER COUNTRY

One Time a World Bugbear—Then the Tide Turned, and One Great Misfortune Followed Another Till it Was Almost Swept Out of Europe by the Treaty of Berlin.

The "Terrible Turk," who may be taken as typifying the empire of the sultans, holds one record at least which he is not likely to be deprived of. He has won and lost more territory than any other nation.

There was a time when the sultan was the bugbear of the world. Even little children in England shook in their shoes when they heard his name mentioned, and those people who lived anywhere near him dared not call their lives their own.

But at last the tide turned. The Turk began to lose, and one great misfortune followed another.

Spain was the first big bit of the Turkish empire to break free. The Moors, who were subject and paid tribute to the sultan, were driven from province after province until at length they were cooped up in the solitary kingdom of Granada.

The last Moorish king to reign in Spain was Boabdil-el-Chaco, or Boabdil the Unlucky. In 1482 Ferdinand and Isabella, the king and queen of Aragon and Castile, declared war on him, and in 1492 he had to surrender everything.

Hungary, which now forms half of the dual monarchy of the Emperor Francis Joseph, was a province of the sultan for 150 years. Then it was torn from him by the sword.

After this came the turn of the czars. The Russians, whom he once despised, have been the Turk's worst enemies. They have either robbed him themselves or encouraged others to rob him.

Peter the Great set the example, but was not, on the whole, very successful in his wars against the Moslems. At one time the Turks could have captured and massacred Peter and his army, but were frustrated by the slave girl, Catherine, whom Peter had married.

Catherine the Great tore the Crimea from the unhappy Turk, together with thousands of square miles of territory along the shores of the Caspian.

In 1821 the Greeks, who had been slaves of the sultans for many centuries, rose in rebellion and drove the Turks out of the country. But then the Greek leaders began to quarrel among themselves, and civil war followed. The Turk took the opportunity to seize the country once more.

But the massacres and other horrors which followed aroused Europe. In 1827 the Turkish fleet was destroyed at Navarino. The combined fleets of Britain, France and Russia took part in the operation.

In 1828 Greece was acknowledged as a free and independent kingdom, with a king of its own.

For nearly a century Egypt, which the Turk conquered in 641, has been part of the sultan's empire in little more than name, and since 1882, when the English occupied Pharaoh's country after Arabi Pasha's rebellion, the Turk has had practically nothing to do with Egypt.

The Moorish corsairs who had their lair in the pirate city of Algiers acknowledged the sultan as their suzerain, but were defiantly independent as regarded all the rest of the world.

Their swift sailing dhows preyed on the commerce of all Europe, and from start to finish they seized many thousands of white captives, many of whom they ransomed, while others they doomed to slavery.

When asked to keep his piratical subjects in order the sultan declared himself helpless to do anything. The freebooters went on doing as they liked for a long time. Then France became weary of patience and forcibly took possession of the city in 1830.

Since then she has annexed 307,980 square miles of Algerian territory once subject to the sultan.

Then came the Turk's worst time. Russia made war on him, and the Balkan states, which had been held as provinces by Turkey for hundreds of years, revolted, flew to arms and did everything they could on the side of Russia. Had the czar been left to himself the Turkish empire would have been practically destroyed. The other great powers, however, were afraid to see Russia too powerful. They insisted on summoning the congress of Berlin.

By the terms of the treaty of Berlin the Turk was almost swept out of Europe. Bosnia and Herzegovina were handed over to Austria to keep in order. Roumania, Servia and Montenegro were declared absolutely independent of him. Bulgaria was created into a principality, nominally under the sultan's suzerainty, but in reality free. And then Austria annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina.

The True Bohemian.

"A true bohemian is a man who borrows a dollar and then invites you to lunch with it."

"Wrong again. A true bohemian is a man who invites himself to lunch with you and then borrows a dollar."

THE TRUE CAUSE OF RHEUMATISM

Caused by Uric Acid in Blood and Can Only Be Cured Through the Blood

Not many years ago doctors thought rheumatism was only a local pain caused by exposure to cold and wet. Now they know that rheumatism is caused by the blood becoming tainted with uric acid. This acid contracts the muscles, stiffens the joints and irritates the nerves. Then the cold and wet make the joints and muscles groan with aching rheumatism. You blame the weather, but the real cause is acid in the blood. If not promptly treated, the stiffness spreads and the pain grows worse each year until you are a helpless cripple, tortured day and night. If the disease touches the heart it means sudden death. You can't cure rheumatism with liniments, plasters or hot cloths. You must go to the root of the trouble in the blood. The one sure, scientific way to cure rheumatism is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because they actually make new blood. They sweep out the poisonous acid, loosen the joints and muscles, and bring ease and freedom where before had been pain and misery.

Mrs. Fred. Sabeau, Canada Creek, N. S., says—"Three years ago I was taken with a severe pain in my right hip. It grew gradually worse, until it finally settled in both my hips and legs. The pain was really almost unbearable. At first I tried foot drafts and liniments, but this gave me only the most temporary relief, and I felt as if I was to go through the rest of my life as a suffering cripple. A neighbor whose daughter had been cured of rheumatism by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills advised me to try this medicine, and I purchased three boxes. Before they were all gone I was able to get my foot up on my knee and untie my shoe, something I had not been able to do for two years, and I began to feel I had at least found a medicine to cure the trouble. I kept on taking the pills until I had used, I think, a dozen boxes, when I was completely cured, and I am as well and strong to-day as ever I was in my life. I want every sufferer to know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is a sure cure for rheumatism, and that if they will give this medicine a fair trial, their pains and aches will disappear as mine did."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SOME STORIES OF THE SEA PRANK OF A LIVELY MASCOT

There Were Lively Times on Deck When the Big Monkey Got Himself Mixed up With Hot Pitch and Gun Cotton and Took a Trip Aloft.

We were making passage from Norfolk, Va., to Lisbon, Portugal, in the United States steamship Alliance. It was shortly after 4 o'clock. I had just gone to my room for a pipeful of tobacco when the sailmaker came to my door with a scared face. "Got any water in your room, Mr. Du Bois?" he said.

"Yes; here's a pailful."

"For God's sake give it to me quick! The sail room's afire, but don't say anything! I'll have it out in a minute!"

I handed him the pail of water, but was not going to take any chances of a fire on a man-of-war with fifteen tons of powder not six feet away, so I ran to the ship's bell and rang the fire alarm as furiously as I could. In less time than it takes you to read this hand grenades were being thrown and water was pouring into the now stifling mass of burning canvas. Men jumped in among the great bundles of furled sails and passed them out, and when one could not endure the smoke any longer another took his place. At last the danger was over, and I began to look around and take stock of the affair.

I had often wondered what I would do in case of a fire on the ship. I would save my watch. A watch is never used at sea, so it hung from a hook over my desk. I would be sure to take along my best girl's picture, and there were a few other little belongings which must not be parted with. Well, when the thing was over, what had I gathered together? Not my watch, not my best girl's picture, not anything that I had thought I would, but I had filled my pockets with extract of beef and nothing else. Dumb instinct, not a thought of anything but of something good to eat in dire extremity.

How did the fire start? The sailmaker, whose duty it is to keep the sails in good order, is privileged to go to the sail room at any time, but he is supposed to always carry a peculiar lantern, consisting of a common candle set in a globe of horn, sufficiently opaque to give enough light for his needs there. The candle does away with any danger from oil that might be spilled and catch fire, and the globe, being of horn instead of glass, precludes a possibility of breakage. This time the sailmaker, desiring a little more light, had taken out the candle. It had dropped from his fingers away down into the bight of a furled sail, and the cloth had caught fire. There was a terrible mess of burned and smoky sails in there, and they were all hauled up on deck and spread out in the sun to dry and to find out just what the damage was. In the bottom of the room on the floor one of the men found the stump of candle and put it in his pocket. The sailmaker was a favorite on board, and the officers never found out how the fire started. They thought they knew. The captain "broke" the sailmaker—that is, reduced him to the decks. But he couldn't prove anything. So after a week or so he restored him to his old rank.

We came near having another fire once, and, while it might have been very serious, it was really funny.

We had several hundred pounds of gun cotton on board, and, fearing that it might have gathered dampness, the gunner's gang got up the cases from the magazine, pulled it all out and spread it on the warm decks far aft in the sun to dry. Away forward the boatswain's mate and his gang were busy with tar pots and ropes putting some of their stuff in order.

We had on board a mascot in the shape of a monkey, one of the largest I have ever seen. He would stand quite three feet high, and he was the very Old Nick for mischief. He was a great nuisance, that monkey, and must always be doing what he saw any of the men doing.

Well, Mr. Monkey saw the men with the warm tar, and nothing would do but he must have a hand in the job literally, so he ran forward and dipped his hands into the pot and in a minute was all besmeared with the sticky stuff; then he bolted aft as fast as he could scamper and rolled in the gun cotton, got himself well covered with it and ran aloft into the rigging. Sailors have a saying, "The devil to pay and no pitch hot," but the pitch was hot this time, and the condition was actually appalling. Some of the men ran after him, but it was impossible to catch him. He was too shrewd for that. The gunner's gang gathered up that gun cotton as men never did so fast in their lives before and put it back into the cans, for had that fool monkey dropped from aloft into it he would have blown the ship to kingdom come. They got it out of the way without disaster, but for several hours that creature sat up there picking gun cotton from himself and throwing it overboard. As I said, the episode would have been comical had it not been fraught with so much danger. It might have been "another sea mystery," but it was not.—Stanley Du Bois in Los Angeles Times.

He bears misery best who hides it most.—Shakespeare.

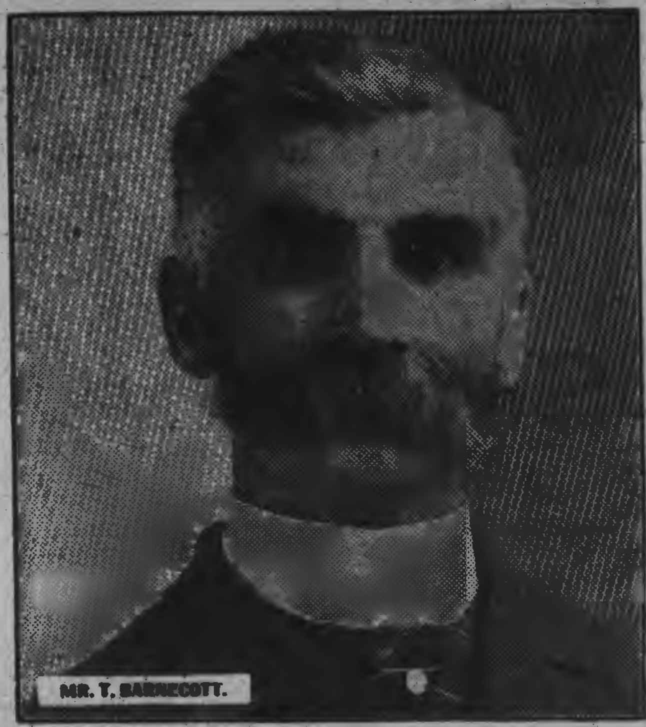
Pe-ru-na Promptly Relieves Severe Cold and La Grippe.

Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes:

"Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well, and I can say that any one can be cured by it in a reasonable time and at little expense. Every time I take a cold, I take some Peruna, which makes me well again.

"I also induced a young lady, who was all rundown and confined to the house, to take Peruna, and after taking Peruna for three months she is able to follow her trade of tailoring.

"I can recommend Peruna for all such who are ill and require a tonic."



MR. T. BARNECOTT.

EVERY year, during the inclement weather of winter, there is an epidemic of la grippe. The disease is really catarrhal in nature, but from the form it assumes, has been commonly termed the "grip."

Splendid Remedy for La Grippe.

Mr. Frank H. Fielder, 213 Pleasant Ave., Montgomery, Ala., formerly principal of Haynesville High School, writes:

"I can truthfully say that Peruna is a splendid remedy for la grippe and a good tonic for building up the system."

La grippe is very tenacious when it once gets a firm hold upon the system, and in addition to a thorough, systemic catarrh remedy, a great deal of patience and persistence in the treatment are required to eradicate the disease.

Peruna, an internal catarrh remedy, is one of the best medicines ever devised to meet the exigencies of these cases. The large number of commendatory letters received by Dr. Hartman, the inventor of Peruna, in behalf of his remedy is proof sufficient of its value as a reliable medicine for the "grip."

Prompt Relief.

Mr. Frank Bauer, Minneiska, Minn., writes: "I suffered with la grippe. My lungs felt as if knives were sticking in them. I took Peruna and in four days I was able to go out."

THE UTICA GLOBE MAKES ATTACK ON UNCLEAN DRAMA

Paris Furnishes the Fashions—Women of the Streets the Heroines—Strong Condemnation of Undesirable Plays.

The following is an editorial clipping from the Utica Globe, of Utica, N.Y.:—

"The length to which nastiness and indecency have been carried by the conscienceless theatrical managers is arousing indignation among good people as well as those of the stage who, appreciating its lofty purpose, deplore the abuses which are dragging it down in the estimation of those who stand for the best in the estimation of our complex society.

The disreputable drama has been steadily growing because the authorities are lax in the performance of their duty and refuse to interfere lest they may clash with the interests of this or that political boss. If the clergy assail the evil, the proscribed plays are advertised in a way that enriches the manager. In the meantime the theatre-goers are regaled with filth and immodest posturing which, in the young at least, leave anything but a wholesome impression.

Paris furnishes the fashions for the salacious playhouse productions as well as it does in feminine attire. London has copied her ideas in both. Last summer several of the fashionable theatres in that city staged performances what would have shocked London 10 years ago and which were quite as bad as any that Paris delights in. Salome was running without as much as a protest, and others even worse did not lack for patrons. They have a censor over there, but he must be either blind, deaf and dumb or on a vacation, for all that decent people know of such an official. New York copied London as the latter did the capital on the Seine. Now we have it on the authority of Charles Burnham, President of the New York Theatrical Association, that there are five shows running on Broadway which are indecent and which the police should close if they had the interests of the people at heart. These plays appeal to the baser passions. A woman of the streets is made a heroine; is held up as a model for callow youth to weep over and rejoice in her so-called triumphs in making the world worse by her noxious presence. Another dissolute is made to make love to an unprincipled and cruel husband and to elope with him. As one who separated the husband and wife who lived unhappily she is made to render a service to domestic bliss, by running off with the head of the house. The posturing no less than the score is lascivious, and yet the theatres where these spectacles are presented are better patronized than those which appeal to the noblest in our natures.

The churches can do much through organizations to bring to its senses a part of the public which craves for the indecent on our stage. In this way the good plays can be advertised and the indecent ones ignored. Indiscriminate denunciation from the pulpit will not do. The theatre is here to remain and fulfil a praiseworthy mission. It is only when it departs from its high purpose that there should be called down upon it the wrath of an outraged people. That this departure is more evident now than ever is plain and the remedy lies in the public being educated to keep away from the impure and revolting. It is something of a task but it must be done."

NORWOOD MAN APPARENTLY IS A GREAT INVENTOR

The Review has been forwarded a circular issued by Mr. R. Stewart, of Norwood, which is headed;

"A complete and true account of the discovery of the new electro-motor power. Also called the C.P.R. new motor force, because first discovered on a C.P.R. express train."

It is as follows;

When on my return trip from Ottawa Fair to Norwood on C.P.R. west bound express train for Toronto, on 24th Sept., 1908, I found out one of the most wonderful discoveries ever made known to man. Some miles westward from Smith's Falls (this knocks the Toronto World out in the first round. It is no good in this respect. The compass did it all. What balder dash! It had nothing to do with raising the power at all) I took out my Mariner's compass, laid it on the seat, and began certain peculiar movements about it, unexplainable at present, when to my surprise the train began to increase her speed beyond her usual. The stronger I operated, the greater the speed of the train which at times nearly flew. The speed being so terrible, that the engine-driver blew the whistle occasionally to lessen the power. A lady and gentleman who sat in the seat ahead of me took in the situation of affairs, but could not understand what caused so great a speed. She said to him "that's a wonderful system and seems amusement to him," and often whispered to each other about "the new power sprung on the train so suddenly. Some one said at the station, "that a new power was on," but could not tell how it was done. Remarks were made by the train hands and passengers regarding the unusual speed they experienced and they seemed almost dumb-founded.

Ay, this remarkable discovery in electricity seemed something wonderful to myself.

The writer has maintained for years past that there is a great eternal and latent force or power in nature, about us and in ourselves, which if we only knew how to utilize it, we would be able to do wonders.

Other prominent scientists have also entertained the same ideas. Consequently the great electro-motor force at issue is plainly electricity continually operating in unison with unseen countless electro motor forces or powers, being from eternity to eternity, and they are the wonderful drive-wheels of the world, also the great life powers of the animal, mineral and vegetable kingdoms, and whirling all the celestial orbs about in their courses, as if they were feathers tossed in the wind. Why, the very air we breath is an ocean of electro-motor forces. The mode of operating these electro-motor forces in and about us secretly, is known only to the writer and cannot be disclosed at present.

The great power is so tremendous when put into action that if placed into the hands of dishonest and malicious persons, fearful havoc would be wrought and they would slay each other without mercy. Only strictly honest people will get or have exclusive right to secretly operate the new electro-motor power, sometime hence.

The efficiency of the E. M. Power will be applied to improve and lengthen human life, promote the general good of mankind, reduce the ravages of warfare, revolutionize the many mechanical systems, and turn on the lights on many departments of the world, and also new electric machines will probably be productions of the future. The powers favor the righteous in every way, but they are awfully against wrong-doers. What has recently been demonstrated by the electric powers is comparatively in its infancy as it were, to the wonders yet to be accomplished.

Where is the Toronto Sunday World in its description of the new electro-motor power! Nit. Nit.

What a piece of impertinence and gall to mention Marconi, Edison and the other fellows to get out of the way. The World has no call to publish such a thing. Shame on him.

The new electric motor power has been and is being applied on the C.P.R. express and freight trains with the greatest success possible, a wonderful improvement has taken place in the running of the railway trains in Canada and the United States, never experienced before, and far less destruction of train passengers than formerly. Now briefly, the N. E. M. power has been repeatedly demonstrated on the C.P.R. express many times. N.Y. Central Railway and Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo expresses by myself, twice, and the speed of them was something terrible indeed.

The power was also applied to the Grand Trunk Special which was thought then to run at an awful rate but the Buffalo, Hamilton and Toronto express out run G.T.R. Special all hollow. The Electro motor power or energy was put to the Chicago flyer which was reported to have run at a tremendous speed and a record breaker. The reason for all this ado is to show to the public what wonders can be done by the powers of electricity through human agency.

Lastly the most wonderful exposition of the electric powers was observed on a prominent spot on Broadway's thoroughfare New York, when and where a policeman left his position for a while and let the powers do the regulating of the throngs of people, the numerous street cars and the multitudious carriages of every description, which passed hither and thither continuously without a word of command, while the manager (myself) stood on a corner. The best of all, everything passed by gloriously and no one was hurt, and all passed off as if it were done by clockwork. The like doings but more vigorous took place at the New York Central Union Station, 31st Jan., 1909, where the powers performed vigorously, when the buzz of street cars, carriages, etc., also the rush of people to and fro was something terrible, and another fearful eye-opener to the howlers of fake, fraud or crazy old fool, but the tables have turned in favor of the discoverer.

R. STEWART.

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $526,939,378

The Company issues policies for from $1,000 to $1,000,000 on individual lives, premiums payable quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

All policies are non-participating. They are plain business contracts which tell their whole story on their face; leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions and make definite promises in dollars and cents.

PREMIUMS ARE LOWER THAN ARE OFFERED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY

In the Intermediate Branch policies are adapted to the working classes. Each policy is for $500 and the rate lower than that offered by the Savings Bank system of Massachusetts. Two of the Metropolitan's Intermediate forms recently standardized by the New York and Massachusetts Departments provide for attractive combinations of insurance and annuities at the lowest rates offered anywhere.

The Ratio of Expense to Premium Income was the Lowest in the Company's History being over 8 per cent. less than five years ago and more than 15 per cent. less than ten years ago

The Company wrote more business in 1908 than any other Company in the world, and this for the fifteenth consecutive year

The number of policies paid in 1908 averaged one for each sixty-five seconds of each business day of 8 hours, and in amount $128.48 a minute, the year through.

The value and timeliness of its policy payments may be gleaned from the fact that of the claims paid during the year, 3,479 were under polices less than three months old, 6,890 were on policies under 6 months, and 12,806 were within the first year of insurance.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $1,334,951,425

Number of Industrial policies in force, 9,301,001—insuring over six and a half millions of individual lives in the families of wage-earners. Cash bonuses on all whole life policies are annually allowed, amounting to over 8 per cent. of the premiums for a year. Additions of from 5 to 30 per cent. are made to policies maturing as claims, according to time policies have persisted. By the Company's present practice whole life policies are made free after age 75 or paid as endowments at age 80.

Industrial Insurance is Family Insurance, covering all ages from 1 to 70 on life, endowment and annuity plans.

Amount of Canadian securities deposited with the Dominion Government for the protection of policy-holders in Canada, over $5,500,000.

PRINCE RUPERT TO BE A MODEL CITY

Survey Has Been Completed—Some Interesting Information About a Coming Place

The Financier and Bullionist, Thursday, December 18, 1908

Writing from Prince Rupert in the "Monetary Times of Canada" a special correspondent says;—Many different impressions have been published in the press of Canada and the United States regarding Prince Rupert the western terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Too often these are from the pens of correspondents who have spent but from one hour to perhaps a few days in the city-to-be.

Prince Rupert will not suffer greatly from exaggerated reports, be they favorable or adverse. The place is so situated geographically, and has so many natural advantages, that it will become a city upon its merits alone. It has its disadvantages. No new place is without them. The fact that it has been knocked by other coast cities, even before it has attained a dignity beyond that of a settlement, is evidence of something substantial in its future in the commercial and shipping world.

At this time the only owners of real estate in Prince Rupert are the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Provincial Government. The Grand Trunk Pacific owns three-fourths of the townsite and the Provincial Government one-fourth, which they have not yet selected except as regards the water-front. The water frontage has been selected by the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Grand Trunk Pacific on the same basis — three-fourths to the Grand Trunk Pacific and one-fourth to the Provincial Government. It is generally understood that the Government will make its selections, and that, together with the Grand Trunk Pacific, they will be ready to offer their portions of the townsite to the public for purchase about May 1909. Many lots have already been sold in a place named Prince Rupert, but which is not in the townsite of the Grand Trunk Pacific at all. Other lands not on Kaien Island, but on the mainland, are held by outside parties.

There are probably 600 or 700 residents in Prince Rupert nearly all of whom are squatters. They are waiting to purchase their property when the opportunity is given them. Nearly every line of business is represented here. Intending purchasers or visitors will require to bring with them nothing but money. They may come with a confidence that charges are not exorbitant. The necessaries of life can be bought here at a cost little, if any in excess of Vancouver or Victoria prices. Liquor is not sold here. There is not a licensed hotel in the place. The Provincial Government it is understood, do not intend to grant a license to sell liquor until Prince Rupert has been incorporated.

The Government and the Grand Trunk Pacific, jointly, will probably begin the work of grading and improving the streets and installing the sewerage system at an early date. A liberal appropriation has been made for these necessities.

Surveying is being actively pushed forward and Christmas time will doubtless see it finished. Prince Rupert is being laid out as a model city. The land is rolling in contour and in the planning of the city advantage has been taken of every possible beauty spot to show it when improved, to the best advantage.

Prince Rupert has a harbor which in itself should ensure a permanent city. It is completely land-locked, deep, and has the best of anchorage. About 14 or 15 miles of water-front are available. On this the Grand Trunk Pacific have built 2500 ft of wharfage and two large freight warehouses.

These are resources which will help build Prince Rupert city, in addition to the shipping which should accrue from the opening up of the northern portion of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Handling the trade of the Yukon, Prince Rupert will have a decided advantage, being nearly 550 miles nearer than Vancouver or Victoria. Then there is the rich but as yet scarcely developed mining industry of Skeena district, the Queen Charlotte Islands, and all the northern portion of the province, where gold, copper, silver, and lead and coal are in large quantities. The agricultural and fruit industries of the Bulkley and Nechacoo valleys through which the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific will pass are another asset in addition to lumbering in all its branches. The fisheries, including the great halibut fishing banks of the Pacific and the salmon canning industries of the Skeena and Nass and other rivers of the northern coast of British Columbia will make for further development.

PROBLEMS OF REAL ESTATE.

The real estate situation is a poser. Undoubtedly there will be money made and lost in real estate in Prince Rupert in the next few years. It is the writer's opinion that an effort is being made to boom beyond its actual value Prince Rupert real estate at the opening of the townsite. Undoubtedly real estate will increase in value for a time. But unless the resources surrounding the embryo city are developed at an unusually rapid rate or the Grand Trunk Pacific is built much more quickly than at present there will surely be a time of depression should a real estate boom occur next summer. The present development of the industries from which Prince Rupert may hope to profit will not support a city of any great magnitude until the completion of the railway.

The labor situation seems to be complex. The wages paid by the contractors are from $2.25 to $2.50 per day for common labour. This is thought by some not to be sufficient when it is remembered that the coast has a moist climate, the labourers thus being subjected to much lost time. They pay $5.25 per week for board, work or no work. There are few Asiatics in Prince Rupert. The residents are making a hard fight to keep them out. If the people who come in during the next year are of the same mind, the movement may succeed, and Prince Rupert will be a white city.

NOTES OF THE CLIMATE.

The climate is not all that could be desired in some respects. Wet weather is the greatest objection, but there is no more rain here than in other coast cities. On the whole we hear few weather complaints in Prince Rupert. The climate is healthful, anyway. The present population have had little sickness of any kind, though as yet the place is without modern sanitation. A hospital is maintained by the Grand Trunk Pacific contractors. Nearly all the cases which have been treated resulted from accidents. Snow falls at intervals in winter, but remains only from a few hours to a day or two.

To see for one's self before investing in Prince Rupert is not bad advice. Prince Rupert is destined ultimately to compete with Vancouver, Victoria or Seattle. We are 500 miles nearer the Orient.

"ORANGE LILY SAVED MY LIFE"

These words or expressions, having the same meaning, are contained in hundreds of the letters I have received during the past year. Many were from women who have suffered agonies from falling of the womb, others from women who had escaped dangerous surgical operations, as the tumors and ulcers had been removed by the action of Orange Lily, and others who had suffered from suppressed menstruation, leuchorrhœa painfull periods, etc, etc. For all these and other troubles known in general as Women's Disorders, Orange Lily furnishes a positive scientific never failing cure. It is applied direct to the suffering organs, and its operation is certain and beneficial. As a trial actually proves its merit, I hereby offer to send, absolutely free, a box worth 35c, sufficient for ten days' treatment, to every suffering woman who will write for it. GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

"Nothing much. Oh, yes, he did say—in that nasty way of his—that he saw her on the street the other day chatting with one of the richest swells in Chicago. He didn't say who he was except that he was the man who once made his wife sit up all night in the day coach while he slept in the only berth to be had on the train. Do you know who that could be?"

"I'm afraid Droom was romancing," said Bobby, with a smile.

"Say, Mr. Rigby," said Eddie earnestly, "what sort of business does Mr. Bansemer handle?" Rigby had difficulty in controlling his expression. "I was wondering, because while I was there yesterday a girl I know came out of the back room where she had been talking to Bansemer. She's no good."

"Very likely she was consulting him about something," said Rigby quietly.

"She soaked a friend of mine for a thousand when she was singing in the chorus in one of the theaters here."

"Do you know her well?"

"I—er—did see something of her at one time. Say, don't mention it to Rosie, will you? She's not strong for chorus girls," said Eddie anxiously. "A few days ago I saw a woman come out of his office heavily veiled. She was crying, because I could hear the sobs. I don't go much on Bansemer, Mr. Rigby. Darn him, he called me a pup one day when I took a message up for Judge Smith."

"See here, Eddie," said Rigby, leaning forward suddenly, "I've heard two or three queer things about Bansemer. I want you to tell me all you hear from Droom and all that you see. Don't you think you could cultivate Droom's acquaintance a bit? Keep this very quiet—not a word to anybody. It may mean something in the end."

"Gee whiz!" murmured Eddie, his eyes wide with interest. From that day on he and Bobby Rigby were allies—even conspirators.

Later in the day Rigby had a telephone message from Graydon Bansemer suggesting that they lunch together. All he would say over the wire was that he would some day soon expect Rigby to perform a happy service for him. Bobby understood and was troubled. He suspected that Graydon had asked Jane Cable to marry him and that she had consented. He loved Graydon Bansemer, but for the first time in their acquaintance he found himself wondering if the son were not playing into the father's hands in this most desirable matrimonial venture. With a shudder of repugnance he put the thought from him, loyal to that good friend and comrade.

James Bansemer came into his office late that morning. He had not seen Graydon the night before, but at breakfast the young man announced his good fortune and asked for his blessing. To his son's surprise the elder man did not at once express his approval. For a long time he sat silent and preoccupied to all appearance, narrowly studying his son's face until the young man was constrained to laugh in his nervousness.

"You love her, you are very sure?" asked the father at last.

"Better than my life," cried Graydon warmly.

"She has good blood in her," said Bansemer senior slowly, almost absently.

"I should say so. Her father is a wonderful man."

"Yes, I dare say," agreed the other, without taking his eyes from the son's face.

"But you don't say whether you approve or disapprove," complained Graydon.

"Would it change matters if I disapproved?"

"Not in the least, father. I love her. I'd hate to displease you in"—

"Then, of course, I approve," said the other, with his warmest smile. "Jane is a beauty, and—I am proud of her."

"She is too good for me," lamented Graydon happily.

"I can't very well contradict her future husband," said the lawyer. There was a hungry look in his eyes as he glanced from time to time at the face of the boy who had his mother's unforgettable eyes.

A messenger brought Mrs. Cable's note to Bansemer soon after his arrival at the office. He and Elias Droom were in the back office when the boy came. They had been discussing the contents of a letter that came in the early mail. The lawyer accepted the note and dismissed the boy with the curt remark that he would telephone an answer in person.

"It looks to me as though this is going to be a rather ticklish affair," Droom resumed after the boy had closed the outer door behind him. Bansemer's mind was on Mrs. Cable's note. A queer smile hung on his lips.

"I'm rather touched by her astuteness," he said. "She's cleverer than I thought. Oh," suddenly remembering that it was not Mrs. Cable's letter they were discussing, "you always see the dreary side of things, Elias!"

"I haven't forgotten New York," said the clerk dryly.

"Ah, but Chicago isn't New York, you know."

"Well, I was just reminding you. This man is going to fight back, that is plain."

"That's what Mrs. Norwood promised to do also, Elias. But she was like a lamb in the end."

"I wouldn't be very proud of that affair if I were you."

"See here, Droom, you're getting a trifle too familiar of late. I don't like it," said Bansemer sharply.

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Bansemer," said Droom, scraping his foot across the floor and looking straight past his master's head. "It's for the good of the cause, that's all. It wouldn't do on Graydon's account for you to be driven from Chicago at this time. You see, he thinks you are beyond reproach."

"Curse your impudence, Droom! I won't be spoken to in that way," exclaimed Bansemer, white with sudden rage and loathing.

"Am I to expect my discharge, sir?" asked Droom, rubbing his hands abjectly, but looking squarely into Bansemer's eyes for the first time in their acquaintance. Bansemer glared back for an instant and then shrugged his shoulders, with a nervous laugh.

"We shan't quarrel, Elias," he said. "Speaking of Graydon, he is to be married before long."

"I trust he is to do well, sir. Graydon is a fine boy."

"He is to marry David Cable's daughter."

"Indeed! I did not know that David Cable had a daughter."

"You know whom I mean—Jane Cable." He turned rather restlessly, conscious that Droom's eyes were following him to the window. He glanced again at Mrs. Cable's note and waited.

"I suppose you are pleased," said Droom after a long pause.

"Certainly! Jane is a splendid girl. She's beautiful, accomplished and—well, she's thoroughbred," said Bansemer steadily, turning to face the old man.

"It is not necessary to remind you that her parents are unknown," said Droom.

"Still," said Bansemer, and he sat down and leaned forward eagerly, "she has good blood from both sides."

"Yes—the so called best."

"You speak as if you know the truth."

"I think—yes, I'm sure I know. I have known for twenty years, Mr. Bansemer. I had the same means as you of finding out whose child she was."

"That's more than Mrs. Cable knows."

"She did not take the trouble to investigate. It's too late now."

"I don't believe you really know the names of her father and mother," said Bansemer shrewdly. "You are trying to trick me into telling you what I do know."

"There are portraits of her ancestors hanging in Fifth avenue," said Droom promptly. "Here," and he picked up a pencil, "I'll write the initials of her parents. You do the same, and we'll see that they tally." He quickly scratched four letters on a pad of paper. Bansemer hesitated and then slowly wrote the initials on the back of an envelope. Without a word they exchanged the papers. After a moment they both smiled in relief. Neither had been tricked. The initials were identical.

"I imagine the ancestors hanging in Fifth avenue would be amazed if they knew the story of Jane," said Droom, with a chuckle.

"I doubt it, Droom. Ancestors have stories, too, and they hide them."

"By the way, now that your son is to marry her, I'd like to know just what your game is."

Bansemer turned on him like a tiger, his steely eyes blazing.

"Game? There is no game. Listen to me, Droom. We'll settle this now. I'm a bad man, but I've tried to be a good father. People have called me heartless. So be it. But I love that boy of mine. What little heart I have belongs to him. There can be no game where he is concerned. Some day perhaps he'll find out the kind of a man I've been to others, but can always remember that I was fair and honest with him. He'll despise my methods, and he'll spurn my money, but he'll have to love me. Jane Cable is not the girl I would have chosen for him, but she is good and true, and he loves her."

For the first time in his life Elias Droom shrank beneath the eyes of his master. He hated James Bansemer from the bottom of his wretched soul, but he could not but feel at this moment a touch of admiration.

Through all the years of their association Elias Droom had hated Bansemer because he was qualified to be the master, because he was successful and forceful, because he had loved and been loved, because they had been classmates, but not equals. In the bitterness of his heart he had lain awake on countless nights praying—but not to his God—that the time would come when he could stand ascendant over this steely master. Only his unswerving loyalty to a duty once assumed kept him from crushing Bansemer with exposure years before. But Droom was not a traitor. He remained standing, lifting his eyes after a brief, shifting study of his bony hands.

"You have nothing to fear from me," he said. "Your boy is the only being in the world that I care for. He hates me. Everybody hates me. But it doesn't matter. I asked what your game was because we know Jane's father and mother. That's all. Mrs. David Cable, I presume, can be preyed upon with safety."

"Mrs. Cable has much to lose," significantly.

"And how much to pay?" with a meaning look.

"That is her affair, Droom."

"I wouldn't press her too hard," cautioned Droom. "She's a woman."

"Never fear. I'm going there for dinner tonight. It's a family affair. By the way, here's a letter from a distinguished political leader. He suggests that I act on the city central committee for the coming year."

They heard some one at the outer door at that moment, and Droom glided forth from the inner room to greet the visitor. It was Eddie Deever.

"Say, Mr. Droom, do you suppose Mr. Bansemer would object if I sat down for a few minutes to look over his books on 'Famous Crimes In History?' Old Smith hasn't got 'em."

"Go ahead," said Droom, taking his seat at the desk.

CHAPTER XI.

SEVERAL weeks later Eddie Deever announced quite breathlessly to Rigby that he was going to visit Droom in his Wells street rooms. The two had found a joint affinity in Napoleon, although it became necessary for the law student to sit up late at night, neglecting other literature, in order to established anything like an adequate acquaintance with the lamented Corsican.

Rigby was now morally certain that James Bansemer was all that Harbert had painted. To his surprise, however, the man was not openly suspected by other members of the bar. He had been accepted as a man of power and ability. Certainly he was too clever to expose himself and too wary to leave peepholes for others engaged in that business. Rigby was debating the wisdom of going to Bansemer with his accusations and the secret advice to leave the city before anything happened that might throw shame upon Graydon. The courage to do the thing alone was lacking.

Graydon was full of his happiness. He had asked Rigby to act as his "best man" in September, and Bobby had promised. On occasions when the two young men discussed the coming event with Jane and Miss Clegg, Rigby's preoccupied air was strangely in contrast with the animation of the others. Graydon accused his liver and advised him to go to French Lick. Far from that, the old quarterback was gradually preparing himself to go to James Bansemer. To himself he was saying as he put off the disagreeable task from day to day: "He'll kick me out of the office, and that's all the reward I'll get for my pains. Graydon will hate me in the end."

James Bansemer had proposed a trip to Europe as a wedding journey, a present from himself, but Graydon declined. He would not take an extensive leave of absence from the office of Clegg, Groll & Davidson at this stage of his career.

The morning after his visit to the abode of Elias Droom, Eddie Deever strolled into the office of Bobby Rigby. He looked as though he had spent a sleepless night. Mr. Rigby was out, but Miss Keating was "at home." She was scathingly polite to her delinquent admirer. Eddie's visits of late to the office had not been of a social character. He devoted much of his time to low toned conversations with Rigby. Few were the occasions when he lounged affably upon her typewriting desk as of yore.

"You look as if you'd had a night of it," remarked Rosie. Eddie yawned obligingly. "Don't sit on my desk. Can't you see those letters?"

"Gee, you're getting touchy of late. I'll move the letters."

"No, you won't," she objected. "Besides, it doesn't look well. What if some one should come in suddenly?"

"Well, it wouldn't be the first time I got out suddenly, would it?" He retained his seat on the desk. "Say, where's Rigby?"

"You mean Mr. Rigby? He's out."

"Gee, you're also snippy. Well, give him my regards. So long."

He was unwinding his long legs preparatory to a descent from his perch.

"Don't rush," she said quickly. He rewound his legs and yawned. "Goodness, you're not affected with insomnia, are you?"

"I've got it the worst way. I got awake at 8 o'clock this morning, and I couldn't go to sleep again to save my soul. It's an awful disease. Will Rigby be back soon?"

"It won't matter. He's engaged," she snapped, cracking away at her machine.

"I've heard there was some prospect. She's a fine looker."

"Rubberneck!"

"Say, Rosie, I'm going to ask a girl to go to the theater with me," said Eddie complacently.

"Indeed! Well, ask her. I don't care."

"Tomorrow night. Will you go?"

"Who? Me?"

"Sure. I—I wouldn't take anybody else, you know."

"What theater?" she asked, with her rarest smile.

At that instant Rigby came in. Without a word Eddie popped up, a bit red in the face, and followed the lawyer into the private room, closing the door behind him. Rosie's ears went very pink, and she pounded the keys so viciously that the machine trembled on the verge of collapse.

"Gee, Mr. Rigby, that old Droom's a holy terror. He kept me there till after 1 o'clock. But I'm going back again soon some night. He's got an awful joint. But that isn't what I wanted to see you about. I ran across May Rossbel, that chorus girl I was telling you about. Saw her downtown in a restaurant at 1 this morning. She wanted to buy the drinks and said she had more money than a rabbit. There was a gang with her. I got her to one side, and she said an uncle had just died and left her a fortune. She wouldn't say how much, but it must have been quite a bunch. I know all of her uncles. She's got three. They work out at Pullman, Mr. Rigby, and they couldn't leave 30 cents between them if they all died at once."

After hearing this Rigby decided to confront Bansemer at once. It did not occur to him until later that the easiest and most effective way to drive Bansemer from Chicago without scandal was through Elias Droom. When the thought came to him, however, he rejoiced. The new plan was to sow the seeds of apprehension with Droom. Bansemer would not be long in reaping their harvest—of dismay. Ten apparently innocent words from Eddie Deever would open Droom's eyes to the dangers ahead.

POLICE OFFICER IS SLAIN BY MAN FROM BERLIN, ONT.

Who Was Also Fatally Wounded

Was Burglarizing Office of Lumber Company---Black Sheep of an Ontario Family.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Nelson Dessler of Berlin, Ont., discovered in the act of burglary, shot and killed a police officer at Olean, N. Y., early Sunday morning and was himself fatally shot, it is believed, in a revolver duel with another policeman. He escaped, but was found practically dying in his room in a hotel during the afternoon.

The details of his murderous affray of yesterday are given in an Olean despatch, saying:

"In a hand to hand pistol duel with Nelson Dessler of Berlin, Ont., whom he caught in the act of burglarizing the office of the Droney Lumber Co. in the Masonic Temple yesterday, Police Captain Thomas Hassett was shot through the head and instantly killed. Dessler was shot four times. He escaped, but was caught yesterday afternoon in his room in the Olean House, where he registered yesterday from Pittsburg. He will probably die before morning.

"A night telephone operator in the telephone exchange which is located in the Masonic Temple, heard some one in the lumber company's office early to-day and called police headquarters. Capt. Hassett responded. As he entered the lumber company's office Dessler stepped from behind a door and grappled with him. Both men went to the floor and they struggled for supremacy for fully five minutes. Then shots were heard and Dessler came dashing down the stairs. He was met in the corridor by Patrolman Vollmer who had been summoned by the telephone operator. Dessler and Vollmer exchanged pistol shots, but the burglar eluded the officer and got away.

"Capt. Hassett was found on the floor with a bullet wound in his head. He had been instantly killed. Dessler escaped for the time, but was found at the hotel this afternoon. He had two bullet wounds in the abdomen, one in the arm and one in the leg."

In the circular issued by the Toronto police in 1905 Dessler is described as "alias Geo. McDonald," 30 years old, 5 feet 9 inches in height, weighing 175 pounds, with auburn hair and sandy complexion.

Dessler is 33 years of age. His parents are respectable residents of Berlin, but Nelson is given the reputation of having always been regarded as a "bad boy." Six years ago he was convicted of burglarizing a jewelry store and stealing some rings, and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary at Kingston. He was released on parole after serving two years and came to Toronto on Dec. 20, 1905, and while employed at the Mason & Risch piano factory, a warrant was sworn out for him for the theft of a suit of clothes and an overcoat from Emil Niepage, a tailor at 95 Shaw street. He disappeared, and although Chief O'Neill of Berlin kept a keen lookout, it being thought he would turn up there, no trace was found of him.

Nelson, after leaving school, worked five years in the furniture factory. Although the police gave his age as about 38, it is said he is perhaps five years younger.

Olean is 90 miles south of Rochester. Hassett, the dead policeman, leaves a large family.

ITALIAN STABBED AND RIBS BROKEN

Toronto Foreigners Indulge in Game of Cards Which Ends in Row.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Stabbed five times in the left shoulder, and three times in the middle of the back, two of his ribs broken, a cut on the back of his head, administered with a stick, a great contusion on his forehead, raised by repeated blows with a stove lifter, and, bleeding profusely, Liberato Pignotti, an Italian, was able to walk to No. 2 police station when arrested with two other Italians by P. C. Davidson at the conclusion of a Sunday evening game of cards.

The other prisoners are Raffale Madalino and Dominico Caperchino, living at 68 Edward street, where the row occurred.

The former declares that Pignotti attempted to murder him with a revolver which was discharged once in the melee and that he and his wife and brother-in-law used the knife and cudgels on him in self-defence. Pignotti, however, says he was attacked by the trio first and that he caught up the revolver from a table and fired it to protect himself.

WANTED HELP TO GET THE WOMAN

New Westminster, Feb. 22.—Representing that he could not get possession of a comely young woman whom he had purchased from her husband for $20, a man named Barker applied to the city police for assistance.

The sale of the young woman took place while she was in the maternity cottage at the Royal Columbian Hospital, she being, it is alleged, a party to the deal. The husband has since left town.

The trouble arose because the purchaser wished the woman to enter his home at once, she insisting on delay. The woman has been placed in the care of a female relative. All the parties are white.

JUDGE ANGLIN IS PROMOTED

Ontario Judge Goes to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—Mr. Justice F. A. Anglin of the Exchequer Division of the Ontario High Court has been appointed to the vacancy on the Bench of the Supreme Court of Canada caused by the retirement on superannuation of Hon. Jas. Maclennan. In making the appointment the Minister of Justice had adhered to the policy of promotion from the Provincial High Court followed in making the recent Supreme Court appointments. It is understood that promotion was first offered to Mr. Justice Osler, but the latter again decided not to leave Toronto. The vacancy on the Ontario High Court Bench thus caused will probably not be filled for some weeks.

Judge Anglin, who is the son of the late Hon. Timothy Anglin, at one time Speaker of the Commons, was appointed to the High Court Bench in March, 1904. He brought to the duties of his high office "an infinite capacity for taking pains," which is an admirable trait in a judge.

At 11 o'clock last night the fire brigade was called to 373 Burnham street, the residence of Rev. Father Sweeny, to put out a couple of small fires in the yard.

They were near some sheds and it was feared the flames might spread to the sheds if the blaze was not extinguished. Hot coals from ashes in a waste barrel caused the fire which was put out before any damage was done.

QUEBEC CELEBRATED FOUNDING OF ITS BOARD OF TRADE

Big Gathering of Distinguished Canadians Present at Hundredth Anniversary of Organization of Body Designed to Protect Canada Against U.S.

Quebec, Feb. 22.—The centenary of the organization of the new Quebec Board of Trade was observed Saturday night by a banquet, attended by many prominent men, and by delegates from Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal and other Boards of Trade.

Among the speakers were Hon. Mr. Lemieux, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Premier Gouin, Hon. S. N. Parent and Sir C. A. Pelletier.

Major Hetherington, chairman of the board, outlined the history of the Quebec Board, which was organized at the request of the Halifax Trade Committee, in 1809 for the object of protecting Canada's trade with the West Indies against the United States, and its progress ever since.

Hon. R. Lemieux, in response to the toast to Canada, elucidated the growth and independence of the Dominion under English protection during the past one hundred years, likewise the country's vast resources and future prospects.

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick spoke of the drawbacks Quebec had to contend with in the past that retarded its progress, and pointed out that it was not until 1878 that the city obtained communication with the rest of Canada by the building of railroads, and only from this date did the prosperity of Quebec begin. He also referred to the G.T.P. and the building of the Quebec bridge, which was to benefit Quebec, and asked the Quebec Board of Trade if the city of Quebec were getting ready to meet the demand that those transportation interests would involve by the construction of terminals and docks to accommodate the shipping, etc. He showed how the people of Port Arthur were getting ready, and said Quebec should emulate their example if they desired to benefit by the Grand Trunk Pacific and Quebec bridge when completed.

RECOMMENDS THAT CITY AND COUNTY COME TO TERMS

In Regard to Taking the City's Poor at the House of Refuge—Mr. Justice Clute's Address to the Grand Jury at the Assizes To-day.

The Winter Assizes of the High Court were opened this afternoon at one o'clock before Mr. Justice Clute of Toronto. There was a very small court, a number of the cases having been previously settled. The members of the bar present were Messrs. D O'Connell, F D Kerr, R L Gordwill, A E Dixon, and D W Dumble and Crown Attorney Drayton of Toronto.

The following gentlemen compose the Grand Jury:

Messrs. Harry Phelan, foreman; W Buller, W Browne, R J Devey, J E A Fitzgerald, Robt A Edmison, J C Oke, J Lancaster, T Mahoney, D Maloney, A Morellzambert, R C Strickland and J Trotter.

His Lordship in addressing the Grand Jury remarked that their labors would be rather light. Apart from examining the gaol and such other public institutions as they deemed advisable to visit. "There is one matter which I desire to ask you to give your earnest consideration, he continued. In the county gaol at the present there are seventeen prisoners, twelve of whom are confined there for no more serious offence than vagrancy. I am further informed that several of these are very old and should be in a poor house instead of a gaol. It is, I believe, because the city and county cannot come to terms that these persons are not living at the County House of Refuge. If you have a poor house in the county it is not proper that these people should continue incarceration in the gaol but suitable terms should be reached."

The Grand Jury then retired.

The case of Fowler vs Fanning and Brummell was next proceeded with.

TORONTO MAN PLANNED BIG SWINDLE IN PHILADELPHIA

Had Arrangements Almost Completed.

Scheme Involved $80,000 and Implicated Toronto Banks--Other Charges.

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Christopher M. Holland, arrested in Philadelphia by Supt. Walsh of the Canadian Detective Agency on Thursday, has been positively identified as the man posing as David Newhall of the Geo. M. Newhall Engineering Co., Ltd., of Philadelphia, who in two days laid what looks like the foundation for an $80,000 forgery swindle on a number of Toronto banks, and who got away with a marked check for $5,000 from the Imperial Bank branch at Queen and Yonge streets.

Inspector of Detectives Duncan was assured of the identification by the chief of Philadelphia detectives.

Holland will also be charged with theft of a book of Canadian Express Co. money orders, obtained from the company Aug. 11, 1908, by means of an order forged in the name of White & Co., Ltd., Toronto. Of these, it is claimed, he cashed a number throughout Ontario, to the extent of $1,000. Robert Ford, an ex-employe of the company, was tried for the theft in the September session, but was acquitted, though at first it looked as though the case against him would be strong.

In addition to this Holland will be charged with obtaining at St. Thomas on Aug. 7, 1908, a book of Dominion Express Co. money orders on a forged order purporting to be signed by Thomas Bros., Ltd., of that city. Of these, $2,500 worth were forged and cashed in different parts of Ontario.

Inspector Duncan said Saturday: "All credit for this arrest belongs to Supt. Welsh. He did good work."

Holland is well known in Toronto. He was a prominent resident of Parkdale until some three years ago it came out that he was an embezzler from the firm for which he was accountant. He was arrested in England.

He was brought back and sentenced to the Central Prison. A week ago, a writ was issued by him here claiming $10,000 damages from a bank manager in British Columbia, alleging alienation of his wife's affections. Holland saw service in South Africa.

It appears that Holland, passing as en engineer of large mining interests, came to the city Feb. 11 and stayed at the King Edward. He brought letters of introduction, forged and genuine, from bankers and prominent legal firms in Philadelphia, Buffalo and other large American cities. He used the name of Newhall.

At the Imperial Bank, Queen and Yonge streets, he deposited a check for $10,000, drawn to his own credit on the First National Bank of Philadelphia, a forgery; another for $5,000 was deposited later in the day from another American bank, and still another for $5,000 on the Imperial Bank of this city to which was forged the name of Cassells, and the acceptance marking of the bank. He then obtained a marked check for $5,000, which he drew against this account. That was Friday, the 12th, and he left the city for Philadelphia at 3.45 that afternoon. He had made similar deposits with nearly all the city banks, but nowhere else, as far as is known, made any effort to draw any money.

The letter with which Holland introduced himself to Joseph Henderson, manager of the Bank of Toronto, and to whom it was addressed, is typewritten on the letter paper of Messrs. Bartlett, Chamberlain and Smith, a prominent firm of attorneys in Buffalo. It is signed in the name of the firm and reads:

"As we have had some very satisfactory dealings through your bank, we take pleasure in introducing to you Mr. David Newhall of the George M. Newhall Engineering Co., Ltd., of Philadelphia—a very good client of ours. Mr. Newhall is going to Toronto and thence north to the new silver district of Gowganda in the interests of himself, his brother, George M. Newhall, Senator Boice Penrose of Philadelphia, Jacob C. Dold, Edward L. Hengerer and others of Buffalo."

TAFT CHOOSES HIS CABINET

President-Elect's Executive Staff is Now Almost Complete.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 22.—J. M. Dickinson of Tennessee will be Secretary of War in the Taft Cabinet.

Chas. Nagel of St. Louis will be Mr. Taft's Secretary of Commerce and Labor; R. A. Ballinger will be Secretary of the Interior.

This statement is not made upon the announcement of Mr. Taft but its correctness may be accepted without question.

Mr. Dickinson is a Tennesseean, although temporarily residing in Chicago, where his duties as general solicitor of the Illinois Central Railway system required his presence. He is a Democrat, although always having opposed Bryan.

Mr. Taft admits he is making headway in the selection of a Secretary of the Treasury, but maintains that the place is not yet filled. Franklin MacVeagh and Byron T. Herrick are two of the men under consideration.

With this exception the Taft Cabinet is complete, and when officially promulgated shortly before his inauguration the other members will be found to be as follows:

Secretary of State, Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania.

Attorney-General, Geo. W. Wickersham of New York.

Postmaster-General, Frank H. Hitchcock of Massachusetts.

Secretary of Agriculture, Jas. Wilson of Iowa.

In this list are five lawyers, of whom Mr. Taft believes, there are none better in the country.

THE PLAN OF MR. HALDANE

War Secretary's Scheme For Territorial Staff in Colonies.

London, Feb. 22.—Speaking at Newcastle Saturday morning on the subject of the proposed imperial general staff for the army, Secretary of War Haldane gave a general outline of the strength of the overses forces as contemplated under the imperial scheme.

Canada, he said, could easily raise five or six territorial divisions, Australia five, New Zealand one, and South Africa four or five.

These, in addition to the existing 14 divisions of the territorial forces of the United Kingdom, would give a total of 30 divisions for home defence. With the 16 divisions of regulars ready for oversea service, it was thus hoped to attain an imperial army of 46 divisions, equivalent to 23 army corps.

This was just the strength of the German army, Mr. Haldane said, and no other army in the world had such a great organization.

Canada, added Mr. Haldane, had cabled warmly accepting the imperial general staff scheme. (Cheers.) Mr. Haldane hoped the other colonies would speedily follow suit.

HAD A BOARD NAILED TO FACE

Buffalo, Feb. 22.—Mrs. Catherine Cooley of 202 Elk street was brought to the Emergency Hospital with a two-foot board nailed to her face. It took the surgeons nearly an hour to remove the nail, which was three inches long and very crooked.

The police are looking for Mrs. Kate O'Day of 47 Moore street. According to Mrs. Cooley she had words with Mrs. O'Day over family affairs. In a scuffle which followed, it is alleged, Mrs. O'Day picked up the board and struck Mrs. Cooley a powerful blow across the left side of the face. A nail in the end of the board pierced Mrs. Cooley's lower jaw. A doctor who was called found it impossible to remove it and called an ambulance.

The woman's condition is serious.

AUSTRALIAN READERS

The bond of sympathy between Australia and the United States, so strikingly illustrated in the exchange of courtesies, the speeches, and the demonstrations attendant upon the recent visit of the American fleet at Australasian ports, is further illustrated also in the matter of literature. Thus, in speaking of the taste for books in that quarter of the Globe, H. H. Champion's publication, The Book Lover, which is an authority upon such matters in Australia, says;—"Our taste is being more rapidly assimilated to the popular taste in the United States than to than in England. If a book is sold by the thousand in America it is a pretty sure thing that it will go here, but the vox populi of Merrie England is by no means an indication that a book will be suited in tone, subject, or plot to the masses of the people of Australasia." The general reason assigned for this is that the American book in all for "action," while the British book indulges in much "moralizing" analysis of character, motive, and the like, for which Australians do not much care.

A STABLE TAX-RATE

There can be no doubt that one of the best suggestions ever made by political economists referred to a stable municipal tax-rate. There is no reason why a municipality's income should be trespassed upon. It is precisely analogous to the case of a private individual. A man who found his resources at the end of the year taxed beyond their natural or income-bearing capacity, would be considered a poor business man, and rightly so. The idea that municipalities can even up at the end of a year by increasing the burden of taxation, is one that belongs to an effete and ignorant past and has no place in the intelligent methods of modern business and municipal systems.

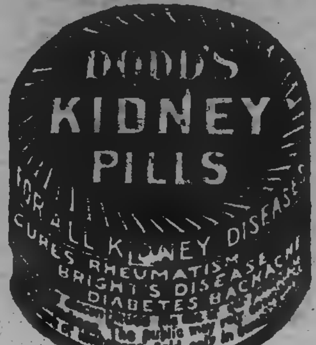
EDITORIAL NOTES

The Royal Templars of Temperance give the Whitney government all praise for its desire to carry out the provisions of the license law fairly and thoroughly.

It is to be hoped that the Council will revise any determination it may have arrived at to go back to the old farming-out of public enterprises. Investigate, improve and if possible, cheapen the market accommodation, but do not give up the ship. A principle is being attacked. The principle is one that the public endorses and its usefulness must be preserved to the public that endorses it.

Dr. McCulloch, of Charlotte St., is to deliver a lecture on "The Beginnings of Medicine," before the Historical Society. He might tell at the same time where it ends. But does mankind really want to live longer? Are we not constantly asking to be taken "home," away from this scene of earthquakes and heartaches? If so why do we grumble if fate overtakes us in the form of a faulty diagnosis? Medical men are probably not more liable to make mistakes than others but then certainty with them gives way to surmise in the others. "In the beginning" the human stomach was made a seething cauldron of undigested but fermenting herbs assisted by psycho-therapeutic influences of a doubtful character and purpose. The isolation of the microbe, the work of the great Pasteur has enabled the physician who used to go wholly by guess work to discern his enemy and fight him in the open. Yet, for all this, inherited weaknesses prevent the realization of the physician's dream which since it is to see a perfectly healthy race, means his own extinction by suicide. Fortunately for him there is not yet eliminated the possibility of mistakes in diagnosis which enables us to hope that despite "recent discoveries" we shall reach our final resting place, pretty much as usual. The village doctor being determined to pilot us there, shall continue to lead the procession in the old way, as if to make assurance doubly sure.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS



THE METROPOLITAN LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

For the information of its army of policyholders, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, of New York, has issued a statement of its standing at the end of the year 1908. The facts set forth show that this great insurance organization continues to carry more policies and to distribute greater benefits among the whole people than any other like institution, while its own resources gain steadily in proper ratio to its increasing volume of business.

The magnitude of the Company's operations is astounding. The total amount of outstanding policies at the end of the year was $1,861,890,803.

The Company owns nearly one hundred million dollars worth of United States bonds, city bonds, and railroad bonds and stocks; more than ninety millions of bonds and mortgages; more than twenty-two millions of real estate, and much other tangible property, all held as assets available for the payment of its obligations. Nearly ten million policies —9,960,166 — are carried by individuals in the Metropolitan Life. If these policyholders were gathered together into one community they would constitute a city of more than the combined population of the twelve largest cities of the United States.

Instead of leading its policy-holders to hope for more than they eventually receive, the Company has voluntarily taken a directly opposite course. Within the past few years it has distributed sums amounting to nearly eighteen millions of dollars among its policy-holders in bonuses in addition to what the policies promised. This has been done under no other obligation than a moral conviction that the Company should share its prosperity with those who contribute towards its success.

The confidence and good-will secured under this enlightened policy account for the fact that for fifteen consecutive years, including 1908, the Metropolitan Life has received more new business than any other insurance company in the world.

Castro Suspended.

Caracas, Feb. 22.—Cipriano Castro has lost his title as President of Venezuela, the high court having rendered a decision that sufficient evidence had been presented in the suit brought against him by the Attorney-General at the instance of Senor Alcantara, Minister of the Interior, on the charge of having attempted to bring about the assassination of Juan Vicente Gomez, the acting President.

In its decision, the High Federal Court transfers the suit to the Criminal Court and declares that Castro in consequence of this disclosures, is constitutionally suspended from the Presidency.

Body Is Cut In Two.

St. Thomas, Feb. 22.—Jas. Dickey, a yard employe, aged 42, was instantly killed in the local M.C.R. yards on Saturday morning. He was assisting to change engines on the express train and had just finished a coupling and stepped back on the opposite track, to be instantly knocked down by the uncoupled engine, which was backing up. Dickey's body was cut in tow. Dickey came from Corinth, Ont., six years ago, and had been on the railroad two years. Two sons and two daughters survive.

Roosevelt and the Catholics.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Rev. A. P. Doyle, rector of the apostolic mission house, called at the White House on Saturday and introduced to the President 25 young Catholic priests from all parts of the country, who are members of the class of 1909.

The object of the visit was to personally thank the President for what he had done for the Catholics of the country during his administration and the "square deal" they had received.

To Visit Dying Wife.

Winnipeg, Feb. 22.—Charles Rover, a Belgian workman, has arrived here, on a desperate tramp across Canada in the heart of winter, in the forlorn hope of working his way back to Europe to see his dying wife, who is a victim of consumption, and is appealing to him to come home and see her before she dies. He has no money, but is determined to comply with her wish, nevertheless, or perish in the attempt.

Jane Cable

...By...

GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON,

Author of "Beverly of Graustark," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY DODD, MEAD & COMPANY

Young Mr. Deever met with harsh disappointment when he came forth to renew his conversation with Rosie Keating. She was chatting at the telephone, her face wreathed in smiles.

"Thank you," she was saying; "it will be so nice. I was afraid I had an engagement for tomorrow night, but I haven't. Everybody says it's a perfectly lovely play. I'm crazy to see it. What? About 7:30. It takes nearly half an hour down on the Clark street cable. Slowest old thing ever. All right. Goodby." Then she hung up the receiver and turned upon Eddie, who stood aghast near the desk. "Oh, I thought you'd gone."

"Say, what was that you were saying over the phone? Didn't I ask you"—

"I'm going to the theater with Mr. Kempshall. Why?"

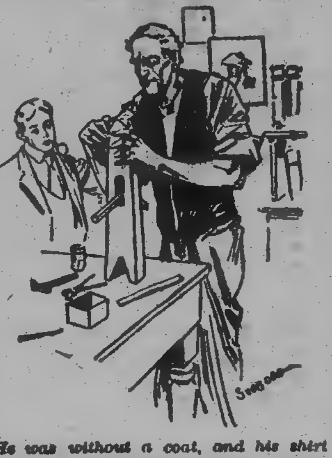
"Why? Why, you know I asked you to"—

"You didn't specify, Eddie, that's all. I'll go some other night with you. Goodby." Clackety clack went the machine, throwing insult into his very face, as it were. He tramped out of the office in high dudgeon.

"Confound this detective business anyhow," he might have been heard to remark. Three nights later, however, he took Rosie to the play, and on the fourth night he was Droom's guest again in the rooms across the river. He was well prepared to begin the campaign of insinuation which was to affect Bansemer in the end. Sitting stiff and uncomfortable in the dingy living room overlooking Wells street, he watched with awe the master of the place at work on the finishing touches of a new "invention," the uses of which he did not offer to explain.

He was without a coat, and his shirt sleeves were rolled far above the elbows, displaying long, sinewy arms, hairy and not unlike those of the orang outang Eddie had seen in Lincoln park.

"I've got a new way of inflicting the death penalty," the gaunt old man said, slipping into a heavy, quilted dressing gown. "These rascals don't mind hanging or the penitentiary. But if they thought their bodies would be everlastingly destroyed by quicklime they'd hesitate before killing their fellow men."



He was without a coat, and his shirt sleeves were rolled far above the elbows.

"But they already bury them in quicklime in England," said Eddie loftily.

"Yes, but not until after they're dead," said Droom, with a cackle. He grinned broadly at the sight of the youth's horror struck face. "Go ahead and smoke, my boy. I'll light my pipe. Make yourself at home. I keep the window closed to keep out the sound of those Wells street cars. It's good of you to come over here and cheer up an old man's evenings. I'm—I'm not used to it," he said, with a wistful touch which was lost to Eddie.

"You ought to have a wife and a lot of children, Mr. Droom," said Eddie, with characteristic thoughtlessness. Droom stirred the fire and scowled. "Were you ever married?"

"No. I don't believe in marriage," said Droom sullenly. "I saw the girl today that young Graydon Bansemer is to marry—Miss Cable."

"Say, she's swell, isn't she?" said Eddie. The old man slunk into his chair.

"She's very pretty. Mr. Graydon introduced me to her."

"Gee!" was all Eddie could say.

"They were crossing Wells street down below here on the way home from a nickel plater's in Indiana street. I saw her years ago, but she didn't remember me. I didn't expect it, however."

"I—how could she have forgotten you?"

"Oh, she'd have forgotten her mother at that age. She was but three months old. I don't think she liked me today. I'm not what you call a ladies' man," grinned Elias, puffing at his pipe as he picked up the volumes on Napoleon. Eddie laughed politely, but uncomfortably.

"How old are you, Mr. Droom?"

"I'm as old as Methuselah."

"Aw, go way!"

"When he was a boy," laughed Elias, enjoying his quip immensely. "Miss Cable seems to be very fond of Graydon. That will last for a couple of years, and then she'll probably be like two-thirds of the rest of 'em. Other men will be paying attention to her and she looking for admiration everywhere. You'd be surprised to know how much of that is going on in Chicago. Women can't seem to be satisfied with one husband. They must have another one or two—usually somebody else's."

"You talk like a society man, Mr. Droom."

"Well, I've met a few society men—professionally. And women, too, for that matter. Look out for a sensational divorce case within the next few weeks. It's bound to come unless things change a good deal. Terribly nasty affair."

"Is Mr. Bansemer interested?" asked Eddie, holding tight to his chair.

"Oh, no. We don't go in for that sort of thing."

"I wonder if Mr. Bansemer knows about the mistake that came near happening to him a week or two ago. I got hold of it through a boy that works in the United States marshal's office," said Eddie, cold as ice now that he was making the test. Droom turned upon him quickly.

"What mistake? What do you mean?"

"It would have been a rich joke on Mr. Bansemer. Seems that some lawyer is likely to be charged with blackmail, and they got Mr. Bansemer's name mixed up in it some way. Of course nothing came of it, but—I just wondered if anybody had told him of the close call he'd had."

Droom stared straight beyond the young liar and was silent for a full minute. Then he deliberately opened the book on his knee and began to turn the pages.

"That would have been a joke on Mr. Bansemer," he said indifferently.

"I don't think he would have enjoyed it, do you?"

"No one enjoys jokes from the United States marshal's office," said Droom grimly. "By the way, who is the lawyer that really was wanted?"

"I never heard. I believe it was dropped. The young fellow I know said he couldn't talk about it, so I didn't ask. Say, who was that swell woman I saw coming out of your office this afternoon? I was up at Mr. Hornbrook's."

Droom hesitated a moment. He seemed to be carefully weighing everything he said.

"I suspect it was young Bansemer's future mother-in-law," he said. "Mrs. David Cable was there this afternoon about 3."

"Gee!" laughed Eddie. "Does she need a lawyer?"

"Mr. Bansemer transacted business for her some time ago. A very small matter, if I remember correctly. Here, listen to this. Now, here's a little incident I found this evening that interests me immensely. It proves to my mind one of two points I hold in regard to Marshal Ney. Listen." And he read at length from his book, a dry sepulchral monotone that grated on the ear until it became almost unendurable.

The little clock on the mantelpiece clanged 10 before they laid aside Napoleon and began to talk about something that interested Eddie Deever far more than all else—Elias Droom himself and such of his experiences as he cared to relate. The old man told stories about the dark sides of New York life, tales of murder, thievery, rascality high and low, and he told them with bloodcurdling directness—the Walker wife murder, the inside facts of the De Pugh divorce scandal, the Harvey family's skeleton—all food for the dime novel producer. Eddie reveled in these recitals even while he shuddered at the way in which the old man gave them.

"Ah, this is a wicked old world!" said Droom, refilling his pipe and showing his teeth as he puffed. "That's why I have those pictures of the Madonna on the wall—to keep me from forgetting that there are beautiful things in the world in spite of its ugliness and hypocrisy. I haven't much"—

He stopped short and listened intently. The sounds of footsteps on the stairs outside came to his ears. They clumped upward, paused for a moment down the little hall and then approached Droom's doorway. Host and guest looked at the clock instinctively. Eddie heard Droom's breath as it came faster between puffs at his pipe. Then there was a resounding rap at the panel of the door. Eddie Deever never forgot the look that swept over the old man's face—the look of wonder, dread, desperation. It passed in an instant, and he arose unsteadily, undecidedly, to admit the late caller. His long frame seemed to shake like a reed as he stood cautiously inside the bolted door and called out:

"Who's there?"

"Messenger," was the muffled response. Droom hesitated a moment, looking first at Eddie and then toward the window. Slowly he unbolted the door. A small A. D. T. boy stood beyond.

"What is it?" almost gasped Elias Droom, quickly drawing the boy into the room.

"Mr. Droom? No answer, sir. Sign here." The boy, snow covered, drew a letter from his pocket and handed it to Droom.

Tourists' Insurance!

It may not be generally known that the Insurance Company of North America, under its Marine Department issues a policy covering the personal effects of tourists against marine perils, including theft and fire, from the time of their leaving their homes in Canada, or the United States until their return. The policy is issued at a moderate rate of premium for the term that the insured expects to be away from home. One of the Canadian passengers on the SS. "Republic," who was far seeing enough to have one of these policies, put up after the return of the vessel's passengers to New York, at the same hotel there as Mr. H. Hampson, and the following day received a cheque for the face value of the policy. We would think that this protection would become very popular with the travelling public, as it appears well worth the premium charged. We understand the "North America" paid over $100,000 under such policies in the San Francisco conflagration.

THE LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN PROGRESSING

The Matter Appearing in This Department is Furnished by the Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for its Publication.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON'S MEETING

How the ladies may succeed in conducting political meetings when the time comes for them to do so is not yet determined. If, however, their mode of conducting a temperance campaign meeting is any indication it may safely be said that their political meetings will be marked by enthusiasm, and be remarkable for the earnestness, vigor, good taste and pointedness of the addresses. The meeting yesterday afternoon at the Crystal was in the hands of the ladies. The meeting was presided over by a lady. The devotional exercises were conducted by ladies. Six ladies, representing different churches, gave brief, pointed and eloquent addresses on different phases of the temperance question. The orchestra of the George street church was there and assisted in their usual pleasing and efficient manner with the music. Mrs. Batten led the assembly in the opening prayer and the closing prayer was offered by Mrs Kendry.

Mrs W D Scott presided with dignity and grace. In her opening remarks she said that no christian woman could be indifferent to the temperance cause. Especially every Christian should do her utmost to help on a cause that if possible meant more to the women than to the men.

Is Temperance a Work for Women?

Miss Marting, of Murray street church discussed this question. She gave reasons why women should be specially interested in this work.

1—They are personally affected by it. It is on the wives and children of drinkers, that the burden, disgrace and misery press with peculiar force. Even if the husband and father never becomes a drunkard, the loss of efficiency, of coming power and most of all of attention and devotion to home that accompany even moderate drinking crush the spirit and life out of many a woman.

2—Drunkards are recruited from the ranks of the children. Women have the greatest influence on the early lives of their children and should be faithful in implanting temperance principles.

3—Women should be always consistent advocates of temperance because to them is given charge of social arrangements and they may be cause of ruin to many lives by putting temptation in the way of their guests. No woman would place poison before her guests, but if she tempts them to the use of strong drink she was doing worse.

Influence

Miss McCalla, of the YWCA. spoke on "Influence" saying that we exert an influence on all with whom we come into contact. Who has not felt in his own life, the influence for good or evil of those with whom we come into touch.

We must therefore remember that we similarly help or hinder others. Influence has been compared to a shadow. Just as we are in the light of the Son of righteousness, do we reflect from us His light. Indifference in the cause of temperance or any other good, is influence exerted on the wrong side.

How to Vote Without Going to the Polls

Mrs. H. B. Collier, of the Charlotte street church discussed this topic. She had been of the opinion that women were all in favor of temperance but has been told by some of those who engaged in the canvas for signatures to the local option petition that the women were as bad as the men. It was therefore necessary that the women with votes should be roused to take more interest in the matter. This was not so in the case of women who were directly connected with the drunkards or tipplers. But there are women who think that the drink evil has never hurt them, and others who have used alcoholic liquors as medicine and in other ways that are by some considered harmless. These should be aroused by education and personal work. A visit to the home of the drunkard might help many of them. A series of experiments carried on by a German professor was described as showing the damaging effects on different classes of beer drinking in even moderate quantities.

Some Questions for Our Brothers

Miss Hill of Park street Baptist church, spoke on "How shall we vote and why." She said the final decision of the temperance question was in the hands of the men as they had the votes. No need to answer the question how, but the speaker dealt with reasons why everyone should vote for local option.

1—Man is intended to be the protector of his home and family. He should therefore strike at what is a source of great danger. The children of today will be the drunkards of tomorrow. Could the fathers look forward and see their boys the poor sots of a few years hence, would they be aroused. To endeavor to put down this evil is a privilege of Christian citizenship, a responsibility that every man owes to his Home and to God.

2—We are our brothers' keepers. It is an obligation resting on every one to do to the others as he would be done by. If we could see into the whole history of a drunkard's case, see his struggles and broken resolves, his ever lessening will power, his hopeless despair, and all that preceed the complete ruin we do see, we would not hesitate about the obligation to remove the temptation.

What the Traffic Takes From the Home

Mrs. Rankins, of St. Andrew's said that her work among the poor in connection with the Dorcas Society had impressed on her the greatness of the loss this traffic is causing the homes.

In Chicago a hundred thousand go every year to fill drunkards' graves. To make this immense army the fathers and mothers are being taken from the homes. Then for recruits the boys and girls must be taken. From the home of the drinker, all that constitutes home is taken. The father and husband leaves his rural home for the market for instance, sober, and respected. He returns at night—What. No home is entirely free from the curse and certainly none is safe. It is too bad that such a country as ours should be debased by drink and its citizens made slaves.

A Womans' View of Peterboro' on Saturday

Miss Campbell representing the WCTU, was to speak on this subject but she said a woman could not deal with the question. She could not go into bar rooms and other places to see the things that go on there. If she could she would not see for the restraining influence of her presence would make things different. She would rather quote a sentence from an old book and make it the basis for some remarks, "Except the Lord build the house they labor in vain that build it." Real prosperity does not consist in fine streets nor parks nor churches, nor great factories, nor even plenty of work. The moral is of more importance than the material. The greatest influence for the destruction of Peterborough's good is the bar room and the drinking habit it fosters. We legalise this evil, hedge it about with difficulties and make it as hard to put down as possible. If all the Christian people will come to the help of the Lord against the mighty, if men and women will vote as they pray we will have this greatest curse of our city removed.

ALMOST SENSATIONAL

There is General Surprise at the Great Number of Persons in Peterboro' Who Praise Booth's Kidney Pills.

It's but a short time since the first box of Booth's Kidney Pills came to Peterborough.

What a work this stranger has accomplished. Dozens of residents benefitted and cured of lame, weak and aching backs, urinary and kidney troubles. It is remarkable; the reason for it is Booth's Kidney Pills are a new blend of vegetable ingredients, having a peculiar action on the kidney tissue that brings quick help.

Mrs. M. J. Cook 494 Aylmer street, Peterborough, Ont., says;—

"I always find quick relief in Booth's Kidney Pills. They strengthen and relieve my back of a dull heavy pain which settles in the small of it and extends into my shoulders. For years I had suffered with these symptoms of kidney trouble and could find no relief. I would have frequent spells of dizziness and headaches. I was restless and weak and would often awake more tired than on going to bed. I had never found relief for these painful and weakening symptoms of kidney trouble until I used Booth's Kidney Pills procured at McDermid & Jury's Pharmacy. I have had little trouble since as I use Booth's Kidney Pills occasionally and they keep me in the best of health."

PRESENTATION TO HERB LONG

Strathconas Honor Member of Team Who is Leaving for Fort William

The officers and players of the Strathcona Hockey Club gathered after practice Saturday evening to say good-bye to Herb Long who left this morning for Fort William. Manager Metheral on behalf of the boys, thanked Mr Long for the valuable services he had rendered the club during the two years he had played on the hockey team and Mr. Alex. Weatherstone presented him with a handsome suit case while Mr. Fred Craig read the following address:—

Dear Herb—,

We, the officers and players of the Strathcona Hockey Club, feel that we could not allow you to take your departure from the city without expressing in some tangible manner our appreciation of the services you have rendered our club during the past two years. As a player you have been of invaluable service to us, and have always done everything in your power to help us in the City League race.

We regret that you are leaving us and hope that you will be successful in your new sphere of life. We are sure you will be, if you show the same persistency that you have displayed in hanging around the front of the nets in our league games. We ask you to accept this token of our esteem for you, with the only regret it could not be a better recognition of your services.

Wishing you every success.

Signed on behalf of the Strathcona Hockey Club.

Charlie Ray, W. J. Metheral, H. McMillan, C. Curtis, L. Dobson, C. R. Wilson, Jack Seymour, P. A. Weatherstone, J. H. Ellis, W. Milburn, B. Parnell, W. Regan, Fred. D. Craig, Ben Dusty, J. W. Thirubeck, Amos McWilliams.

Mr. Long made a suitable reply in which he thanked the club for the many little kindnesses which he had received at their hands during his connection with them. While it was necessary for him to leave them he assured the boys that the beautiful present they had presented him with coupled with the pleasant relations that had always existed would keep them in remembrance in the future.

Dr Carswell who has been in charge of Dr. Neal's practice, during his absence, is proving very successful.

MEETING OF THE R. T. O. T.

R.T.O.T. Dan Spence Council No. 28 will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. Reports will be heard of the convention in Toronto last week and the secretary will be present to received the quarterly dues.

At St. John's

Rev. Canon Davidson in the morning gave a report of the proceedings at the recent meeting of the Synod of the diocese leading up to the election of a bishop. The newspapers had not given, he said, a quite correct account of them, since they had accentuated unduly any differences of opinion that might exist very naturally and properly. The reason that there is what is called a Trinity College faction is that the Bishop of Toronto is ipso facto chairman of Trinity Corporation, hence the election of a Wycliffe professor would mean a practical confusion or emergence of the two. There was, however, at no time any friction, and Bishop's Sweeny's election was heartily acclaimed by both sides.

The following are the notices for the week:—

Monday 4.15 p.m., Boys' choir practice. In the evening at 7.30 Girls' Auxiliary.

Tuesday—Confirmation class in the Guild room at 7.30 p.m.

8 p.m.—Young People's Pancake social. A splendid programme has been arranged.

Wednesday— Ash Wednesday, also St. Mathias' Day, Communation service at 11 a.m. Evensong at 8 p.m. with sermon by the Rev. Mr. Trumpour.

The choir will practice immediately afterward.

Thursday — Evening service at 5 p.m.

Friday—Mission Band.

Saturday—Boys' choir practice at 9 a.m. Evening service at 5 p.m.

At St. Luke's

The Provost of Trinity College took the service both morning and evening. In the evening he laid special stress on the necessity of remembering that how we lived was vastly more important than the manner in which we worshipped. Observance of Christian forms was the shelter behind which many reposed in a wholly mistaken confidence. Besides it gave the world a wrong idea of Christianity. Such an example did unending harm. Our lives must be the fruit of our teaching and a holy and acceptable sacrifice.

The Canadian Medical Association applies to be incorporated.

NOTE:—Extensive alterations are now in progress on every floor—new depatments are being added, others enlarged to meet the demand. Stocks are to be lowered this week to assist in making room for the carpenters to work and for Spring and Summer goods that are daily arriving. THE YOUNG CONSERVATIVE CLUB

The second sitting of the mock parliament was held on Saturday evening at the club rooms. There was again a large attendance, much interest being taken in the Women's Franchise Bill.

After a number of questions had been disposed of, and a question of privilege raised by the Provincial Treasurer was ruled out of order, the second reading of the Enfranchisement of Women Bill was moved by the Minister of Public Works—Mr S. W. Lowry. Mr Lowry supported his motion by an able address. Mr. J W. Chambers seconded. The member for East Peterborough (Mr Geo Coons) moved an amendment that the Bill be read this day six months. His attack on the Bill was forcible and able and created a strong impression on the House.

He was followed by the Provincial Treasurer, who supported the measure.

The member for Parry Sound moved the adjournment of the debate at 10 o'clock.

It is expected that a division will be taken next Saturday night.

Members are requested to be on hand at eight o'clock.

The result of the division is doubtful. Both sides are confident and strong efforts will be put forward by both parties.

CHANGE LIKELY

In the Collection of Dog Taxes—Will Go to Police Department.

It is likely that a change will be made in the manner of collecting the dog taxes of the city of Peterborough. At present it is in the hands of the city tax collector but it is proposed to transfer it to the police department.

The matter was considered at the last meeting of the Finance committee and a resolution was passed recommending that the collection of dog taxes be transferred to the police department, the city clerk to furnish the Chief of Police with a list of persons having dogs and the police to co-operate with the tax collector in collecting the taxes.

As the police can institute legal proceedings in a simpler form than that which it would be necessary for the tax collector it is expected that the collection of the dog taxes will be done to better advantage.

PAST YEAR A SUCCESSFUL ONE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

Annual Meeting of Charlotte-st. Methodist Church on Thursday—Total Receipts for Year $7,370.07—Various Societies Have Had Prosperous Year.

A year of prosperity in all departments was the encouraging state of affairs shown at the annual meeting of the Charlotte street Methodist church which was held in the lecture room of the church on Thursday evening. There were a large number of the members of the church in attendance and during the evening supper was served and an interesting musical programme was given by Mr. Downey, Miss Olive Howell and Miss Dawson. All the soloists had to respond to cordial encores.

Rev. G. W Henderson, whose pastorate has been a most successful one presided at the meeting and the reports of the various societies in connection with the church were presented.

An outstanding feature for the past year has been the growth of the Sunday School which has been most satisfactory. The membership is the largest in the history of the school and there are 676 scholars on the roll with an average attendance of 376. The average collection per Sunday was shown to be $9.57.

The membership of the church has also been growing very rapidly, so rapidly in fact that the edifice is becoming inadequate in the matter of seating capacity. If all the school pupils went to church there would not be sufficient accommodation for them.

The total receipts from all departments for the church year amounted to $7,370.07.

The Boys Guild, the new society formed during the past year has attained much success and is meeting with great favor among the boys of the congregation and Sunday School. The principle of the club is to stand for total abstinence and against smoking and bad language and to encourage its members in good morals generally.

The missionary movement has also been very prominent and some splendid work has been accomplished in this department. There has been over $1000 revenue from the church and its societies in the missionary section.

The adoption of a new envelope system which has been under discussion for some time met with general approval and will take effect at once. Particular attention was called to the fact that so many families desiring sitting could not be accommodated.

The Women's Missionary Society's report for the year ending May 1908 showed the receipts to be $115.04 with expenditures of $110, thus leaving a balance of $4.40. The Mission Circle report gave the receipts in this department as $203.62 and the expenditures $171.65, leaving a balance of $31.97.

The receipts of the Olive Mission Band were $42.68 with no expenditures.

The Sunday School report was as follows:

The annual business meeting of the Charlotte Street Methodist Sunday School was held Tuesday evening, the 16th inst. After the usual routine of business was transacted the following teachers and officers were el-

BOURBON BROOK IS A GOOD ONE

Well Known Stallion Shows Class Against Fast Steppers

The standard bred stallion Bourbon Brook, record 2.21 3-4, won second money in the 2.20 class and the free for all at the Hastings races on January 21st and 22nd. and second in the same class at Campbellford on Feb. 10th and 11th, beating such good horses as Paterson, Holland Boy, Grace Pointer, Jap and Lou Keswick and proved himself a game race horse. He is bred on winning lines, being an in bred Wilks. He is owned by Wm. Henry Elmhirst, Otonabee.

THE RING

Driscoll's lightning foot work and his skill with his hands was a revelation to the spectators. The first round went to Driscoll. They divided the honors in the second and third rounds. The fourth and fifth were Driscoll's. The seventh round went to Attell, while the eight was even. Driscoll got the best of the American in the last two rounds, which closed with both men fighting hard.

Driscoll is hailed as one of the best of the present day mit artists and has the proud distinction of never having lost a match.

WRESTLING

Two good preliminaries have been arranged for the handicap wrestling match at the Armory hall to-night, when Fritz Mohl will attempt to throw Charlie Conkle, Sam Zeller and Conkle's unknown in an hour. Cox and Wall will box six rounds and the other preliminary will be between the midgets, Johnson and Burns, who made such a hit the night the returns of the Shrubb-Longboat race were given out. Mohl missed his train connections at Buffalo yesterday and did not arrive in the city in time to give his exhibition of standing at the foot of the alley and catching the balls when they were going through the pins. He will do the stunt this afternoon or this evening before the wrestling match. Mohl did the trick on the Toronto bowling alleys last week so that there is no doubt as to his being able to do the dare-devil stunt.

NOT THE ICE MAN.

Some wise guy in New York writes to the Spectator to-day that Fritz Mohl, who wrestles here to-night, is not "the Terrible Iceman." It was not necessary for his brainlets to inform local wrestling fans of the fact for it is well known here that the real Fritz Mohl never had to deliver ice, his ability as a wrestler earning his money for him. The man who meets Conkle Zeller and an unknown to-night is the same chap that wrestled in Toronto last week.

STRATFORD AND LINDSAY TEAMS

Classic City Seven Will Play in Lindsay on Thursday

Lindsay, Feb. 20.—The dates have already been arranged for the next round for the intermediate championship and Lindsay will play Stratford in Lindsay on Thursday, and Lindsay in Stratford on Monday.

The above dates were arranged by Secretary Hewitt this morning, who is evidently taking it for granted that Stratford will win from Wiarton in Stratford.

WHERE NEXT WILL THEY WRESTLE?

Mohl and Rogers Have Picked Upon Galt as Next Battle Ground

Toronto, Feb. 19, 1909.

To Reporter, Galt, Ont.

Arrangements were completed at noon today by John D. Eagan with W. B. Naylor, manager of Yankee Rogers, the well known heavyweight wrestler, and George Constaintine, the manager of Fritz Mohl, the German, for a match to finish for a $200 purse. The match will take place at Scott's Friday, Feb. 26th.

LOU E. MARSH,
Toronto Star.

Arrangements are in progress to have Alfred Shrubb referee this bout and also give his twenty minute monologue.—Galt Reporter.

FRITZ MOHL AND NOT FRED MOHL

W. B. Naylor Explains re the Celebrated German Wrestler

Sporting Editor Hamilton Spectator,—In reference to the letter from Wolf, manager of Mohl, the "Iceman."

On behalf of Fritz Mohl, the German champion, who wrestled here last night I beg to state that far from wishing to appear in any fraudulent fight, to assume the record of a man like the New Yorker, would certainly not be to our advantage.

Fritz Mohl, the German, wrestles before nearly every club in this country, whilst the "tradesman" wrestler is only heard of once each season at Montreal. He is at present laid away with a fractured limb, which he received in a bout with De Rouen at the Columbia theatre, Boston, in November.

It can thus be seen; in fact, the matter was never a question, that Fritz Mohl, the German, never attempted to mislead the public in Hamilton or elsewhere by assuming another wrestler's title when his own records are upon a higher plane.

If Mr. Wolfe sees this letter he can be accommodated with a match at any old style or terms.

Yours truly,
W. B. NAYLOR,
Manager F. Mohl.

SPORTING TALK

Auburns accept the challenge of the Tame Banties.

The Auburn hockey team have a game arranged to be played with the Bridgenorth seven, who were contestants in the City League last year, but the boys from the village may not be able to come. The Auburns have secured the rink from 7 to 8 on Thursday night, and in case the Bridgenorth team are unable to get here; they will take on the Tame Banties and will endeavor to put a stop to their winning streak.

The Toronto Star of Saturday night has a fine cut of Randall, the clever puck chaser of the Lindsay Midgets.

Frank Gotch, the wrestling champion, is billed as an extra attraction for the Star Theatre this week. Gotch delivers a spiel and also forfeits $50 to all comers who stay the limit of 15 minutes with him.

Tom Longboat is trying the Rube Waddell act these days, and if he keeps on will have that eccentric ball tosser put in the shade.

Nothing is too good for the Haileybury professional team and the sports of that place are making a big fuss of them these days. But if the players are wise they will salt down their little jack-pots, for the warmer weather, when they will become ordinary, like the rest.

The Toronto Star is out with a large cut of the managers of the Eastern baseball teams for the 1909 season, and the happy smile of Joe Kelley shows out prominently.

Christy Matthews wants $8,000 for the use of his arm from the New York Giants, and he can get it too, as his services are badly needed by this same club.

HOCKEY

Josh Craig was conspicuous at the Brock street rink Saturday evening when the T.A.S. and Strathconas indulged in a light practice. The Examiner's goal tender is aware of the awful exhibition he put up for that seven last year, and took good care to keep as far away from the nets as possible. Josh will be seen on the same banties' line-up if he can convince the manager that he can deliver the goods at right wing.

WILL PLAY IN KEENE TO-NIGHT

Leo Derocher will take a team to Keene to-night to play the Trent Valley seven of that village. The bus leaves at 5.30 and the following players are asked to be on hand;—Wade, Henry, Coughlin, Geroux, Corkery, Hayes and Seymour.

CONKLE MADE MOHL HUSTLE

It was a fair-sized crowd that attended the wrestling match at the Armory roller rink and, although the programme was far from elaborate, the sport furnished was fairly good. Fritz Mohl, the big German champion, who is appearing under the management of W. B. Naylor, of Montreal, undertook to throw three local men, Charlie Conkle, Sam Zellar and Norman Chrysler, in an hour. The big German succeeded, but the local trio managed to hold him off for fifty-seven minutes, it taking twelve minutes to put Zellar under, twenty-one minutes to floor Chrysler and twenty-four minutes to get the call on Conkle. Of the three Chrysler and Conkle naturally put up the best argument. Chrysler was in good form and gave the big fellow some fun at one stage of the game being on top. Conkle supplied the amusement by his refusal to come within reach of Mohl for some time, leading the latter a merry chase around the ring until taunted to get down to business. When he did Charlie was there several times just about putting the big chap down and out.—Hamilton Spectator.

ICE RACING

Doris B., owned by Herrington, of Picton, broke the world's record for a mile in a free-for-all, held in Montreal on Friday. She went the distance in 2.14 3-4.

Mr. Martin Connors officiated as starter in the ice races held at Port Hope last week.

CHALLENGE FOR GENE HURTUBISE

Gene Hurtubise, through his manager, Mr. Chris. Graham, has received a challenge from a well-known wrestler in Kingston. The articles in the agreement are being looked after and the match will likely take place in Napanee in the near future.

Church League Notes

There will be nothing doing for the Church League teams tonight, as the open air rinks are flooded with water. A double header will likely be played on Thursday night at Brock street rink, if there is any ice. There are quite a few games to be pulled off yet, and it is up to the different managers to help the officers of the league in getting these games played.

The George street hockey team will practice at Brock street rink tonight from 6 to 7 and the full team is asked to be out in uniform.

Another Boundary Dispute Looms.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 22.—The fishing interests of Puget Sound will carry to the State Department in Washington a protest against the reported seizure by the Canadian Government of Hecate Strait under Dixon entrance. This action is said to be an attempt to extend Canadian jurisdiction within the three mile limit. If the Canadian contention be granted, the halibut trade of Tacoma and Seattle will be seriously crippled, it is alleged.

Canadians accuse Americans of crossing the three-mile-limit repeatedly and of violating other regulations. Capt. Newcombe of the British cruiser Kestrel accuses Americans of stealing 1,500 pounds of halibut this month.

Mother Charged With Abduction.

Brantford, Feb. 22.—William Symons, a well-to-do resident, returned here yesterday with his three children, Edward, Annie and May, all under 14 years of age, who were sent to Detroit prior to an intended elopement which his wife was alleged to have been about to make with John McDonald until prevented by the local police. The woman is at present in jail awaiting trial on the charge of abduction.

Capital and Surplus	22,122,907.12
	$236,927,361.19

A REASONABLE INDICATION OF THE DESERVED POPULARITY of its plans and of faith in its management may be fairly claimed in the number of Metropolitan policies in force. It is not only greater than that of any other company in America, but greater than that of all the other regular companies combined, less one. It exceeds, in fact, the COMBINED POPULATION of 24 of the States and Territories out of the 52 forming the American Union; and as to CITIES, it exceeds the combined population of Greater New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, New Orleans and Buffalo.

The Metropolitan has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company.

The Metropolitan has in force one-third of all the legal reserve policies in force in the United States. Its Industrial policies in force nearly equal in number all the Industrial policies of all the other companies in the country combined.

$126,996.37 per day in Increase of Assets.

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $526,939,378

The Company issues policies for from $1,000 to $1,000,000 on individual lives, premiums payable quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

All policies are non-participating. They are plain business contracts which tell their whole story on their face; leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions and make definite promises in dollars and cents.

PREMIUMS ARE LOWER THAN ARE OFFERED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY

In the Intermediate Branch policies are adapted to the working classes. Each policy is for $500 and the rate lower than that offered by the Savings Bank system of Massachusetts. Two of the Metropolitan's Intermediate forms recently standardized by the New York and Massachusetts Departments provide for attractive combinations of insurance and annuities at the lowest rates offered anywhere.

The Ratio of Expense to Premium Income was the Lowest in the Company's History being over 8 per cent. less than five years ago and more than 15 per cent. less than ten years ago

The Company wrote more business in 1908 than any other Company in the world, and this for the fifteenth consecutive year

The number of policies paid in 1908 averaged one for each sixty-five seconds of each business day of 8 hours, and in amount $128.48 a minute, the year through.

The value and timeliness of its policy payments may be gleaned from the fact that of the claims paid during the year, 3,479 were under polices less than three months old, 6,890 were on policies under 6 months, and 12,806 were within the first year of insurance.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $1,334,951,425

Number of Industrial policies in force, 9,301,001—insuring over six and a half millions of individual lives in the families of wage-earners. While the contracts are and always have been non-participating, the Company will this year have spent nearly EIGHTEEN millions of dollars in voluntary bonuses and concessions to the holders of these policies in thirteen years.

Cash bonuses on all whole life policies are annually allowed, amounting to over 8 per cent. of the premiums for a year. Additions of from 5 to 30 per cent. are made to policies maturing as claims, according to time policies have persisted. By the Company's present practice whole life policies are made free after age 75 or paid as endowments at age 80.

Industrial Insurance is Family Insurance, covering all ages from 1 to 70 on life, endowment and annuity plans.

"WHOSE IS THIS IMAGE AND SUPERSCRIPTION?"

Uplifting and Interesting Sermon at All Saints' by His Lordship Bishop Reeve—Moulding the Character in the Likeness of Christ.

That a true Christian is a coin of Christ's realm, the same as an ordinary coin is of the commercial realm, was the essence of the lucidly expressed and powerful sermon delivered at All Saints' church last night by Bishop Reeve, of Toronto, assistant bishop of the diocese of Toronto. The preacher took his text from Matthew 22, 20, "Whose is this mage and superscription!" The question that has been asked our Saviour by the Romans. The image and superscription of Caesar was on the coin they had reference to and so should the image and superscription of Christ mark us as his faithful followers.

Our blessed Lord's enemies were constantly on the watch to entrap Him. On this occasion they asked whether or not it was lawful to give tribute to Caesar. The bishop wanted to make the words of the text a personal matter with all his hearers. He wanted them to look on their faces in the glass when they went home and ask themselves "whose is this image and superscription." If those who did this could not answer it was Christ's they were in a dangerous condition. And they should not rest until they could answer the question satisfactorily.

Christ came into the world in order to restore in man that image that was lost; to bring him back into God's fold.

THE LIKENESS OF CHRIST.

We are taught at our baptism that we are brought, in a sense, into the likeness of Christ. The sign of the cross is made on the child in order that thereafter he may be a soldier. How many there are though, who don't live up to the precious privileges to which we are heirs.

The likeness of Christ is very often not as visible on those who are baptized, who are confirmed as it should be.

We must be born again.

There must be the birth from above, the spiritual birth, if we have any hope of salvation.

In many instances we can tell the occupation or calling of people by their dress and the spirit of the true Christian should be reflected in him both in the expression of rest and peace in his countenance and also shown by his character. What we have to aim at is what will show what we are in this life—our character.

MOULDING THE CHARACTER.

The young people with their lives before them were administered by the preacher to be careful what thoughts they permitted to enter their minds and to show care and judgment in the selection of what they read. They should try to build up good characters for "A good name is more to be desired than riches."

One way in which we can gain this character is by following the teachings of St. Paul to give ourselves to God, "be not conformed to the world."

We are too much inclined to follow the world's standard instead of walking in the faith o fthe Lord.

If we are willing to do what other people do simply because they do it we will be moulded into the way of the world. For that reason we must be careful of the friends we make and see that they do not draw is away from God.

We cannot help evil thoughts entering our minds, that we can prevent them remaining there. If our minds are filled with good and holy thoughts we shall attain a steady building up of character and become more and more like Christ until at length we shall attain the fullness of the stature of a man in Christ.

It is the will of God for us to show that we belong to Him and that our life is not a vain one.

This will mean that we must turn our backs on the world and our faces heavenward. It will involve sacrifice and suffering, but it is necessary if we are to be one of our Lord's.

We are all coins, either good or counterfeit, and we should be true coins of Christ with his image and superscription on us.

THE WIRELESS AGE

Our history, in moving on,
  Has turned another page,
Upon the top of which we note
  The words, A Wireless Age.

The farmer's wildest cattle will Securely graze inside
The new barbed-wireless fences which
  Some genius will provide.

Our pet canary-bird will sing
  More sweetly, I'll engage,
And cheerfully will hop about
  Within a wireless cage.

And, best of all, we ought to find,
That when it comes to pulling wires
  There'll be no wires to pull.

PRINCESS CHRYSANTHEMUM A DELIGHTFUL OPERETTA

"Princess Chrysanthemum," which will be given at the Conservatory Music Hall to-morrow night by a company of seventy young people, is an operetta of decided merit, both in libretto and music. The story is a pretty and interesting one and the music is of a clingingly tuneful and appealing quality. The romance and haziness of the Orient are delightfully in evidence throughout the piece, which is written and composed by King Proctor, who is responsible for many well known operatic successes.

Among the many song hits of "Princess Chrysanthemum" some of the most prominent ones are, "Whether you like it or not," "Little Japanese Sailor Man," "Tulip," "The Kitten's Tale," "Du-du!" "Which Shall it be," "Top-not." There are also many attractive choruses which will serve to display to advantage the singing strength of the company. The characters are picturesque and varied and all the roles will be taken by local artists and vocalists of ability.

Mr. Gliddon, who is directing the production, has been conducting rehearsals for some time and the cast will be thoroughly rehearsed for the presentation of the operetta. A descriptive and appropriate scenic setting will be employed in the presentation which gives every promise of being one of the most enjoyable and successful affairs of the local amusement season.

Two Votes

EUROPEAN TOUR and DIAMOND CONTEST

OF

The Peterborough Review

2 Votes For ....
(Name of Candidate)

As the most popular person in district No. (....)

VOID AFTER 15 DAYS FROM DATE.

BONUS VOTE PROVES A GREAT BOOSTER

The Review Contest Has Reached a Fever Heat, and the Winners Will Have to go Some to Beat Out Their Competitors.

THE TIME FOR WORK HAS ARRIVED

Anything Worth Having is Worth Working For—We Don't Care Which One of the Prizes You Win—Why not go After the Tour.

Each Candidate

Sending or bringing to the Review office 5 NEW yearly subscriptions to the Daily by March 8, at 9 p.m., will be given a

SPECIAL BALLOT FOR 10,000 EXTRA VOTES

Ten NEW yearly subscriptions to the Weekly will entitle the candidate to a

SPECIAL BALLOT FOR 5,000 EXTRA VOTES

Each 5 years' Daily or 10 years' Weekly will constitute a "Club." This bonus vote will be given in addition to the regular certificates of votes on the payment of a subscription. If you can secure more than one of these DO SO. Get as many as you can. This is the biggest offer of the contest.

These special ballots will not be issued until after March 8.

Everyone has identically the same chance during the club offer. And all the time the candidates are working to get the clubs they will be piling up votes to count at the finish, so that they have everything to gain and nothing to lose by making extra effort now.

Suppose you secure one daily club and the extra 10 000 votes that go with it.

Of course these subscriptions must be new to count. New subscribers are names of those who were not taking the Review prior to the beginning of the contest. Subscribers whose names were on our books before January 25th, are old subscribers. After March 8, the close of the offer, it will require over eight yearly subscriptions to get as many votes as can be secured now for five years. Ten yearly subscriptions to the Weekly draws a special ballot for 5 000 extra votes. After March 8 it will require fifteen yearlys to get that number. Don't lose a minute. The work done before March 8 will "cut a big figure" in deciding the winners of the nine valuable prizes.

A word to the candidates who have just entered and those low down in the list. There is plenty of time to win if you start NOW. The gates to the City of Success are never shut but the goal will not come to you; you must go to it and there are no short cuts, electric cars, automobiles or flying machines to help you along in this contest.

A little hard work now may mean weeks of enjoyment in a few months from now and a pleasant memory to last the rest of life. There are many points of interest that have been the Mecca of travellers in all times and some of these will be visited by the Review's guest abroad. Edinburgh London and Paris, and their romance and history and literary fame will be seen. The itinerary for the trip has been decided upon, and the dates may be had on application at this office. Thomas Cook's & Son's personally conduct party, of which the winner of the Review Grand Prize will be a member, will sail for Boston on July 9, on the Allen Line steamer Laurentian. The party will land at Montreal on the return trip. Total time of tour about 40 days.

There was unusual activity in the voting line to-day in the Review's Eurpoean Tour and Diamond contest. The ladies' list in the city remains the banner one, the vote in this quarter of the contest reaching 120,000. Miss Maude Perry made a great gain, heading the list and the entire contest by a wide margin. Mrs. W. A. Jones also voted heavily, and improved her position in the standing.

No change in the leadership of the ladies' countryl ist, but Miss Ada Holcombe steps into second place, Miss Lila Finlay, Miss Murtin Col'n an dMiss Holcombe are less than 1,000 votes apart.

Wm. A. Mowry moved up one round in the ladder in his division and is now in third place, less than 500 votes below Bruce W. Kemp, who is second. W. G. Rundle retains the lead, consequently is captain of the men's city brigade.

In the county John McFarlane doubled his score. No change in the figures of the other candidates.

◆

Candidates who have taken short time subscriptions for one, two, three or six months may secure credit for a full year's vote by getting the subscriber to increase the length of his subscription to one year. The contestant will be given credit for the difference between the number of votes issued on the short time subscription and the full number scheduled for a year.

Where contestants can increase the time of a subscription for Daily or Weekly from one year to two or more years this same rule will apply.

GLASSES ARE PLENTIFUL

But it is almost a certainty that they would be even more common still if everybody wore them who should. You find people doing without them just as long as they possibly can which is a very wrong thing to do, indeed, every day makes the case harder to deal with. If you, reader, have the slightest cause to believe that your eyes need the attention of an optician, we shall be pleased to advise you if you need glasses, and if glasses are not necessary we will tell you so. ANNUAL MEETING

Of 57th Regiment Will be Held on Monday, March 1st.—An Important One.

The annual meeting of the 57th regiment will be held on Monday evening, March 1st, when reports for the past year will be presented and other important business transacted. The meeting this year will be of a particularly interesting nature in view of the fact that the opening of the new armouries will likely be discussed. Splendid progress is being made on the new home of the militia in Peterborough and it will be ready for occupation in the latter part of the spring.

NEW ARMOURIES AT BELLEVILLE

The new armouries at Belleville are being opened today and the military men of the Bay of Quinte city are having a gala time. Five or six officers of the 57th regiment left today to attend the function.

SLEIGHING PARTY WAS ENJOYABLE

The members of St. John's Junior Chapter Brotherhood of St Andrew. held a sleighing party last evening. The drive around the city was heartily enjoyed ,the boys spending the time in song and story, winding up the evening by a visit to the home of Mr and Mrs John Bell, Park St. south, where refreshments were served and a general good time indulged in. The cordial spirit existing between the three local junior chapters was manifested by the presence of several members from St Luke's and All Saints' Chapters.

ELECTRIC BLANKET

New Article Being Placed on Market by Collier Cunningham Company

The Collier Electric Company are placing another new article on the market. It is an "electric blanket" and it is used for much the same purposes as the ordinary hot water bottle. The blanket is composed largely of asbestos, is made in convenient sizes, is pliable and can be kept at any temperature desired by the regulation of the electric current.

Wants the Senate Done Away With

E. A. LANCASTER.
Who Argued Yesterday For the Abolition of the Senate.

THE TELEGRAM IS EXPLAINED CONFESSION HAS BEEN MADE

Leader of Opposition Presents Statement in the House Which Ends Charges of Liberals—Lancaster Tells Why Senate Should be Abolished.

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—The last word has been said in connection with the alteration of the now famous telegram which R. L. Borden sent to The Victoria Colonist, assuring the people of the Pacific Province that he believed in "a white British Columbia," and to which the words were surreptitiously added, "and the absolute exclusion of Asiatics."

Rising in the House yesterday to a question of privilege, Mr. Borden said the following document had been sent to him by the management of The Colonist, to whom apparently it had been delivered by the Bishop of British Columbia:

To whom it may concern:

"After hearing a full statement in the nature of a confession from a man who altered a telegram sent to this city by Mr. R. L. Borden, so that the telegram was read to the public and published on a basis of untruth, I have been requested by this man to make public the fact that this telegram was handed to him by the telegraph editor of The Colonist, to be delivered at a public meeting.

"That instead of going directly to the meeting he went into an office, copied out the telegram as altered by him and destroyed the original and had this altered telegram sent to the meeting, passed on to the platform, before it came into the hands of those in charge of the meeting, and was read to the public and published.

"The man guilty of the act had no confederate or confident. No one knew of his act or had any reason for suspecting him, and the only reason for making this public is to remove all suspicion from the management of The Colonist newspaper and from members of the executive of the Conservative party, at whose meeting the telegram was read.

"It was an individual act arising from misguided political zeal, and not due to any incitement or persuasion.

(Signed) "W. W. Columbia."

Feb. 5, 1909.

E. A. Lancaster's Senate abolition resolution had the right of way after the preliminaries in the house. He presented some excellent arguments, but his proposal was generally considered too drastic. Reform, not abolition, seems to be favored.

Mr. Lancaster desired that the question be discussed in a non-party spirit. It was a wrong thing that the Senate should be in a position to refuse supplies to the Government and if there was no other reason for abolition that would be sufficient. Even the Senators themselves agreed that the Senate was not working well, and as it appeared there could be no agreement as to the best way to bring about reform, the best thing to do was to remove the institution altogether.

It would be no good to reduce the number of Senators. Why should you give fewer men the veto power over 221 commoners who are responsible to the people? The veto power would still be in the King, through his representative.

The cost of the Senate was about $318,000 a year and this amount would go a long way to establish free rural mail delivery, cheap rural telephones, or to abolish level crossings.

E. W. Nesbitt (N. Oxford) defended the Senate, declaring it to be a necessary and useful body. There were measures rushed through the Commons which should properly be stopped and if the Senate was not doing the work it should do, Sir Wilfrid Laurier could be relied on to bring about reforms. The Senate included some of the ablest men in Canada, and if a board of directors were required for a great corporation, it could be better furnished from the Senate than from the House of Commons.

Mr. Turgeon (Gloucester, N.B.) strongly opposed abolition and suggestions of reform did not meet with his approval. He preferred an appointive to an elective Senate.

Dr. Sproule thought what the Senate required was reform, not abolition. The Senate had been debased by the character of the political appointments made by the present Government.

ADVANCE IN FLOUR

Has Gone Up 30 Cents Per Barrel in Peterborough Now Sells at $5.80

Flour has advanced thirty cents per barrel in Peterborough. Best grades are now selling wholesale at $5.80 per barrel, the advance from $5.60 taking place last Saturday.

The advance in the price of flour is due to the high price of wheat, a dollar per bushel being paid at Peterborough for Ontario wheat. The best Manitoba wheat costs about $1.20 per bushel laid down here.

NARROW ESCAPE

Horse Kicked at Small Boy, Who Was Trying to Catch on to Sleigh.

A boy about ten years of age had a narrow escape from injury on George street north, at noon yesterday. He was attempting to catch on to a passing sleigh and in doing so came near the heels of one of the horses. The animal kicked viciously and its hoof shot by the boy's head, missing it by a few inches.

Drivers are complaining about the practice of catching on to sleighs practised by boys and girls. There have been several narrow escapes lately, and the drivers say they are usually blamed when an accident of this kind occurs.

INDIAN CHIEF RUNS AMUCK

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 23.—With an ear-splitting warhoop, a Navajo Indian war chief ran amuck in the Union Station on Sunday and fatally stabbed and cut Mrs. Anna Devord of Huntington, W.Va., and Max Meyers of Cincinnati, and seriously wounded Joseph W. Gordon of Cambridge, Ills. The Navajo with four Sioux chiefs from Kansas alighted from a crowded Chesapeake & Ohio train. As the passengers stepped from the train the Indian, with a yell, drew a long knife and started through the crowd slashing right and left.

The Indian, who had been to Washington to see the Secretary of the Interior, was sullen while in the train, passengers say, but he evinced no signs of frenzy, until the passengers were leaving the train.

THE BELMONT CLUB "AT HOME"

One of the most enjoyable social functions that have been held this winter was the 'Belmont Club "At Home," held in the Conservatory Music Hall last evening. It was attended by about two hundred young people. The hall was prettily decorated with flags and bunting. Prominent among the decorations were the colors of the club, mauve and purple.

The Grand Opera House orchestra occupied seats on the stage, which was well arranged and looked very attractive .The music was especially good and numerous encores had to be played.

At midnight a recherche supper was well served by the members of the club, who are to be congratulated on the way they looked after their guests.

The patronesses of the "At Home" were Mesdames E. G. Patterson, G. L. Stevens, Frank Schneider, J. D. Tully F. L. Ray and R. Denne.

Mr. Walter T. Belleghem was honorary secretary and to him and his able assistants a great deal of the credit for the success of the first annual Belmont Club "at Home" is due.

HE STOLE TWO MILES OF WIRE

Toronto Lineman Gets Three Years for Unusual Theft.

Toronto, Feb. 23.—David Wells was sent to Kingston Penitentiary for three years yesterday, when he pleaded guilty in the Police Court to theft of about two miles of wire from the poles of the Electric Light Co. in broad daylight.

He, with George Wilson, a lineman, and Newton Snodden, an expressman, was arrested Saturday, charged with the theft. The latter two were discharged, as it was shown that they had assisted Wells, believing that he was employed by the company.

Wells, who is also an experienced lineman, and lived at 240 Delaware avenue, has served time before, having been sent to the Central for two years by Judge Winchester for theft in 1904.

Wells showed unusual nerve in his operations, as he not only risked detection on all hands, but he also braved death in cutting down "live" wires.

His mode of operation was to cut down the wires from the poles. Wilson coiled it as it came down, and Snodden carted it to a second-hand shop in West Adelaide street. In this way he secured over two miles of the wire, which was sold for only a small fraction of its value.

IT WAS BUTTER IN NAME ONLY

Montreal, Feb. 23.—A factory which was turning out daily some 2,800 pounds of oleomargarine, which was sold as creamery butter to the trade, has been unearthed at Cote, St. Paul, a suburb of Montreal, and the proprietor, G. Dumas, has been apprehended at the instance of D. M. McPherson, inspector of dairy food for the Dominion.

The so-called butter, which was made from animal fats, was put up in 56-pound firkins and the factory had a capacity of [illegible] of these a day. It was sold to the trade for 20 cents a pound.

The proprietor, it is announced, has agreed to confess judgment, and will pay the maximum fine, which is $400. A few days ago a dealer in Quebec was fined $500 for selling the product.

SIMCOE CHIEF'S COUNSEL PUTS UP UNUSUAL PLEA

Gets Indictment Quashed on Magistrate's Bias and Then Demands Acquittal on Second Indictment—Judge Denies Motion and Case Goes On.

Simcoe, Feb. 23.—The unusual procedure of a judge quashing the indictment of a prisoner charged with attempted murder and immediately ordering a new indictment and recalling the jury to bring in a true bill a second time, followed by a legal battle in which the defence claimed that the quashing of the first indictment amounted to an acquittal, was an occurrence in the Assizes of the High Court of Justice here yesterday afternoon, when Archibald W. Malone was placed on trial for the sensational shooting of William Wilkins on the early morning of Dec. 1 last year.

Magistrate Beemer, who committed Malone for trial, had previously moved in the sessions of the peace that Malone be discharge as a constable, and the prisoner's counsel, Mr. Kelly, yesterday objected to his commitment of the prisoner on the grounds of bias.

There were five indictments against Malone, two for arson, two for shopbreaking and one for attempted murder. The jury returned a true bill in each case.

Mr. Kelly moved that the indictment be quashed on account of the magistrate's bias. Though his lordship pointed out there was nothing to be gained, he decided, for safety, to quash the indictment. The jury was again given the indictment and returned a true bill.

Once more the prisoner was asked to plead, but this time his counsel, instead of allowing him to plead not guilty, put in the plea of "Autrefois acquit," contending that the prisoner had been tried and acquitted by the quashing of the first indictment. The legal battle continued over this point, but his lordship ruled that the prisoner, having never been tried nor having ever been in danger, had not been acquitted.

Mr. Blackstock, with dramatic effect, described the crown's version of the shooting as given at the preliminary hearing. He intimated that new evidence would be produced to show that immediately following the shots and screams, a man who lived within 60 feet of the place, looked out the window and saw a man whom he took for Malone. This man is Lloyd Barber, who was the second witness examined last night.

The first witness was S. M. Sovereen, whose place had been robbed of furs and who described the finding of some of them on his doorstep after Wilkins began to get better.

Then came Barber, a young man who lives near the scene of the tragedy. He testified to hearing the shots and looking out of the window when he saw a man running toward his house. He could not swear that he recognized him, but he thought he did. Counsel for defendant objected but his lordship said if the witness had reached a conclusion, however doubtful, it should be evidence.

SHIP'S CARGO ON FIRE A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

Flames From Burning Sisal in Her Hold Leaped Over the Top of the Vessel's Funnels—Men Dragged Out of Gas-Filled Hold With Chain Hooks.

Halifax, Feb. 23.—The Elder-Dempster liner Sokoto, Capt. Pierce, arrived from Mexico yesterday morning, with four passenger and a full cargo, including 5,000 bales of sisal. When the Sokoto was off the coast of Florida and three days' sail from Newport News, the sisal in No. 3 hold was discovered to be on fire. The hatches were battened down and steam was injected into the hold to smother the blaze. For three days the crew fought the fire, and when they arrived at Newport News it was still raging. Four fire-boats were alongside as soon as the steamer dropped anchor, and the hold was flooded. The fire was put out and the sisal was removed to pump out the water. Outside of the deck being slightly buckled there was no damage done the ship. The crew had a thrilling experience fighting the flames, which at one time were leaping over the top of the steamer's funnels. When the flames were subdued it was found that the hold in which was the refrigerator containing the food supplies was filled was gas. Two stewards and the chief engineer were overcome trying to get food out, and had not use been made of the electric fan, which was kept going in the face of a man lowered into the hold to ward off the gas, the crew and passengers would have fared badly. The gas was so overpowering that the men who went into the hold had to be dragged out with chain hooks.

LINDSAY FREE PRESS HAS GONE OUT OF BUSINESS

The Lindsay Free Press, which came into existence on May 8th, 1908, has gone to the wall. Saturday the last issue was turned out and the Post and Warder are slapping themselves on the back. It is plain that a town of 8,000 people cannot support three daily papers—as many are to be found in Ottawa and other cities of ten times the population of Lindsay.

Speaking of the demise of the Free Press the Warder says;

Lindsay's third daily was short lived—about ten months—but at the start it enjoyed to a small extent the support of the citizens, perhaps more than anything else due to the fact that it was something new. But its popularity diminished as it grew older in existence. The editorial columns of our late cotem at times contained some good spicy comments but at other times these editorials were very effusive and were too much of the self-praising style. In fact the egotism was so pronounced that it became nauseous.

The paper itself was a fairly good one, but the field was not available and it was forced to succumb.

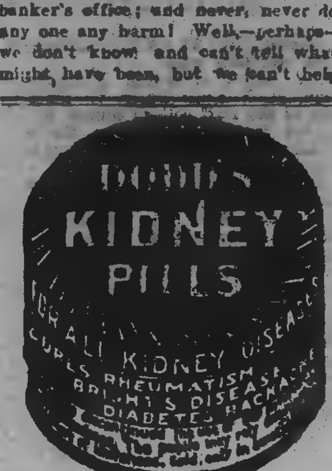
A "WORTHY" REPRESENTATIVE

There is a loud and united cry of protest from the journals and people of Canada against the Conmee bill now before the Dominion House. which seeks to corrall the powers of some New Ontario rivers for the use of a private company, which, like the powers aforesaid, will be maintained at the public expense. This is all set down in the Conmee bill as "for the general benefit of Canada" so that the jurisdiction of the Whitney Government may be defied and the desired end gained. It is one more proof of the callousness of the money-grabber. It is also a tribute to both governments, to the Ontario Government that it is not to be lured into any such outrage upon the rights of the people, and to the Laurier Government as the one much more likely to capitulate. Some of these hold-up men will get more than is coming to them some of these days if they are not careful. It is a pitiable and suggestive thing that the New Ontario of the West should have a man who haunted the halls of the Ontario chamber once, as its representative, but who on the advent of a different lot to power, fled from the legislature to a more congenial and perhaps profitable clime.

WHERE WE COME FROM

What would modern educational experts have made of Lincoln if, as a baby he had been put in their care? They would probably have started him on sterilized milk, clothed him in disinfected garments, sent him to kindergarten where he would have learned to weave straw mats and sing about the Blue Bird on the beach. Then the dentist would have straightened his teeth, the oculist would have fitted him with glasses, and in the primary grade he would have been taught by pictures and diagrams the difference between a cow and a pig, and through nature study he would have learned that the catbird did not lay kittens. By the time he was eight he would have become a young gentleman," at ten he would know more than the old folks at home, at twelve or fourteen he would take up manual training, and within two years make a rolling-pin and tie it with a blue ribbon. In the high school at sixteen, where in four years he would learn that Mars was the reputed son of Juno, and to recite a stanza from "The Lady of the Lake." Then to college, where he would have joined the Glee Club and a Greek Letter Fraternity, smoked cigarets and graduated, and then become a clerk in a banker's office; and never, never do any one any harm! Well,—perhaps—we don't know and can't tell what might have been, but we can't help feeling thankful that Lincoln's training and education were left to Nancy Hanks—and God.—Exchange.



A WILL AND A WAY

It is now stated that the cost of the new addition to the Parliament buildings nearly completed is to be about $580,000. The contract was for $237,000 and the contractor has been paid in addition $44,000 for extras, for which there was no competition. Mr. Pugsley states that $80,000 will be paid to the contractor for the new Geological Museum for one item only in addition to the amount of his contract. It is pointed out by a number of members, and especially by those that are now in Parliament for the first time and have not become accustomed to the ways of this government, that this is a convenient method of favoring contractors without appearing to depart from the tender system. Any contractor with a pull can afford to tender low if he knows that he will receive from ten to fifty per cent above his own figures for work done at prices that are privately arranged.

It is astonishing that such audacity is perpetual in the very teeth of a long-suffering people. It is these "extras" or rake-offs, extravagances, pull-backs, campaign fund resources, divvy-ups, etc, that skim "the cream" which our honest workers are working so hard to produce. Surely there is no longer any pretence that a "buoyant revenue" justifies such work as this.

We have got a good man. I am sure he will be a fair man." Has not this every appearance of being a criticism of God's choice of a Bishop for the Toronto diocese. Instead of being hailed with joy as such he is patronisingly spoken of as a "good, fair" man. Evidently some men think that God's choice can be strictly commended only when it has been theirs also.

It was reported on Saturday that a woman, accompanied by two small children went out seeking her husband, who had been on a protracted spree and finding him leaning against a telegraph pole on King street west, she asked him for money to procure food for herself and children. Archbishop Farley is reported to have declared that "the stage is worse today than it was in the days of paganism," and the New York Evening Post, "looking at the theatre as it is in this city," thinks that "there is much ground for this sweeping assertion." TOWN EXCITED BY TELEPHONE KISS

Ipswich, Mass. Feb 23— The young people of Ipswich have evolved, invented or discovered a 'telephone kiss' which they assert has proved quite as satisfactory as the original when the parties involved are not in each other's presence.

Since the formula was made public, this style of kissing has become very common, judging from the stories told by party line subscribers, who have broken in on tender exchanges of this nature by day or night. The formula is at present known only to the initiated, but the knowledge is spreading so rapidly that it is expected that soon it will be available for publication and the practice spread over the whole country.

It is not known who the originators of the idea are, but it is probable that a medal would be awarded them if they were known, in recognition of the esteem in which they are now held by the younger set of Ipswich.

THE FLAG AT MONTREAL

'When the ice palace was built, Dominion flags were put out from each of the towers. A grievance was at once made because the tri-color had not been hoisted, and the threat was made that a party of youths would make a demonstration in front of the ice palace, pull down a Dominion flag and substitute the tri-color. Certainly no slight was intended on our part, and two of the Canadian flags were taken in and the French and United States flags were put in their places. Then it was complained that the tri-color was larger than the Dominion flags. With a determination to please everybody if we possibly could, we put out a Union Jack as big as the tri-color, and I suppose this was satisfactory for no more criticisms have been heard about the flags.

'We lost through non-realization of the promised subscriptions I have already referred to quite $5000 and it was in consequence that we had to make a charge to the public for admission to the ice palace. These receipts will, I think, enable us to cover expenses, which have amounted to about twelve thousand dollars altogether. I hope we shall not have to fall back on the guarantee fund.

'In my opinion, the carnival has justified itself. The interest of the public, the very marked enthusiasm in every event since the first storming of the ice palace, the unreserved congratulations that we have received from citizens of all classes—I say all this goes to show that a very strong case has been made out for an annual winter carnival — The chairman of committee's report on carnival.

What Zam-Buk Did in a Western Home

Here is just one illustration of the wisdom of keeping a box of Zam-Buk always handy. It is a true record of the varied uses to which this great balm was put —with highly satisfactory results in every case—in just one family and during a few months only. Mrs C J Irlam, of 907, William Avenue, Winnipeg, makes the report as follows:

"I have found Zam-Buk so very useful as a household balm that I want to make its merits still more widely known. Some eight weeks ago my brother, Mr O Proctor, happened with a serious accident. While at work, a rusty nail penetrated the palm of his right hand. The rust of the nail poisoned the flesh and inflammation set in quickly. He went to the General Hospital and consulted a doctor, who advised poulticing to draw out the poison. This was applied but when there was no improvement after a few days I began applying Zam-Buk balm leaving off poultices.

"The effect was almost magical. Zam-Buk soothed the pain, drew out the poison and allayed all inflammation. Healing then commenced and in a few days he was able to resume work.

"Six weeks ago, my husband, Mr C. J. Irlam while returning from work quite late in the evening was bitten by a dog, the dog's teeth penetrating the flesh on his thigh just above the knee. Directly he came home Zam-Buk was applied to the wound, and in a fe wdays the soreness was gone and the wound thoroughly healed.

"A third instance of the healing power of Zam-Buk was provided when my little boy had a nasty fall. He is five years old and was playing one day when he fell. His head struck on a sharp stone, which cut a nasty gash As soon as I had washed the cut I applie Zam-Buk in the usual way, and it was really wonderful how quickly it relieved the little fellow's pain. Within a week the cut —a deep one —was quite healed.

"Every mother who once proves the all-round value of Zam-Buk will never be without it."

Zam-Buk is a pure herbal balm, and cures cuts, burns, bruises, abscesses, ulcers, eczema, scalp sores, ringworm, chapped hands, cold sores, frost bite, bad leg, inflamed patches, etc. It also cures piles. Used as an embrocation it will be found to remove rheumatism, sciatica, and neuralgia. All druggists and stores sell at 50c a box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Haven't Considered Merger.

Sydney, N.S., Feb. 23.—J. H. Plummer of the Dominion Iron & Steel Co. says that the present agreement with the Coal company expires in March and discussion of a new one will take place immediately.

Asked as to a possible merger, he said that the present was no time to discuss future action along that line.

Would the Steel company purchase from the Coal company?

He answered that such had not been considered, neither had a merger with the Coal company; but he did not consider that it was wise for the Steel company to carry on coal mining as a commercial proposition.

They were sold by Dunn & Levack. The next highest price reported was for a load of 21 steers, 1230 lbs. each, sold by Corbett & Hall, at $5.40 per cwt., and $10 over on the lot; Maybee & Wilson sold one lot of 15 steers, 1280 lbs. each, of very choice quality at $5.40. These were the only three lots that reached $5.40 and over, the rest selling at $5.25 down to $5 for medium light exporters. Bulls sold at $4 to $4.65, the bulk selling at $4 to $4.25.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending Feb. 20, were 2126 cattle, 661 sheep and lambs, 1098 hogs and 221 calves. The offerings for local consumption this morning were 1050 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 700 hogs and 100 calves. A firm feeling prevailed in the market for cattle, owing to the fact that the supply was smaller than a week ago and the quality of the stock better, but on account of the near approach of the Lenten season the demand was not so keen as the consumption of beef for the next few weeks will be curtailed to some extent. There was some demand from exporters for small lots to complete shipments with, and this coupled with the buying for Quebec account, helped the market considerably, and on the whole a fairly active trade was done. Cables from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade in cattle firm and noted an advance in prices of ½c per lb., as compared with those of last Monday. Choice steers here sold at 5¼c to 5¾c; good, at 5c to 5¼c; fair, at 4½c to 4¾c; medium, at 4c to 4¼c; good cows, at 3½c to 4¼c, common, at 2¾c to 3¼c; choice bulls, at 4¼c to 4¾c, and common, at 2½c to 4c per lb. There was no further change in the condition of the market for sheep and lambs, prices being firm under a good demand for local consumption and small supplies. Choice lots of lambs sold at 6¾c to 7c, and good, at 6½c to 6¾c, while choice lots of sheep brought 4¼c to 4½c, and culls, 3½c to 4c per lb. The demand for calves continues good, of which the offerings are small and prices rule strong, with sales at 5c to 7c per lb., live weight. Supplies of hogs were considerably smaller than a week ago, there being only 700 head on the market, as against over 2400 last Monday, and this, coupled with the fact that advices from Winnipeg state there will be no more shipments of dressed hogs this way for the balance of this season, has created a stronger feeling in the market, and higher prices are predicted later on. The demand this morning was good and sales of selected lots were made at $7.50 per cwt., weighed off cars.
